THE HATCHET BURIED

Conclusion of Hostilities Between the Classes of 1907 and 1908

The Last Events of the 17th of March Celebration—The Freshman Parade—Speeches of the Four Orators on the old Campus.

When the final cheer for 1907 was given by the freshmen on the old campus Friday night, the last vestige of enmity between the two lower classes vanished. The celebration itself was entirely successful. The "shirt-tail" parade, the transparencies, fire-works, and march to the old campus, the huge bonfire the short, fierce struggle of the two classes, speeches of more than ordinary eloquence and wit, the burying of the hatchet and at last, the singing of "The Mountains" by the college—were all present to bring a happy conclusion to the events of the week before. The speeches deserve especial mention. The efforts of the senior orators were masterpieces. The freshmen and sophomore speakers, besides demonstrating their power of sarcasm and invective, seemed never at a loss for anecdotes to illustrate their comparisons.

The Parade

The freshman class gathered at the opera house at 7:30 p. m., attired in night-shirts and armed with Roman candles. At the head of the procession, as it formed, was the senior drag, containing Fulton and Murray, the senior orators; Fisk, Judson, Eldred, Miller, Shedden, the senior committee; Mann, Lincoln, Gregory, Pettit, A. P. Newell, Wright and Howe; the sophomore orator William Mansfield Clark of Salisbury, Conn., and the freshman orator, George Edgar Hite, 2d, of White Plains, N. Y.

Following the drag was a brass band, and next marched the freshman class, in the midst of a blaze of fire-works. The parade started from Water street, and made its way westward on Main street, to the Greylock hotel. Returning by Main to Spring street, it passed down behind the gymnasium to the old campus.

The Transparencies

1908 started out with four transperencies which, however, were but short-lived. Some of them exploited the victories of Williams in basketball, others called to mind the career of the class of 1908 and their triumphs in baseball and football. One bore the inscription: "How about the canes?" and had pictures of 1907, before and after the class football game, and of a bowl of soup bearing the numerals of the sophomore class. Still others referred to certain members of the faculty in terms of too local an interest for publication.

Conflict on Old Campus

When the parade reached the old campus, the senior drag was stationed near the blazing bonfire, and the underclasses arranged themselves around it, the freshmen inside. At a signal from the band, the classes rushed together, and the conflict waged for two minutes. At the end of the time limit, the combatants extricated themselves from each others' embrace and the mud, and gathered around the drag to hear the speeches.

Introducing the Speakers

Clifford H. Fulton 1905 introduced the speakers. He said in part: "Friends, countrymen, citizens of North Adams, members of the faculty, etc., we have come to bury the hatchet, not to raise it. We have seen the hatred manifested by the two classes—in constantly avoiding one another — though we are still far from the realization of——s' Utopia and the precepts of the—Cook-book. All of us in this institution for higher loafing have something to put out of our minds, 1907 to forget the 'guardian angel' juniors, and especially every man to forgive himself for presuming there was anything going on on the 17th." **

"The sophomores have fought an uphill fight. Their capacity for defense has been ruined by adverse legislation. We will hear their further exploits from their class orator."

The Sophomore Speaker

W. M. Clark 1907, rose in the coach and was greeted by a hearty cheer from the sophomores. "We approach not to haze the freshmen, but to thrash them." * * * * * Because Dr. Graham Taylor advised us recently to rub elbows with the poor and desititute, a sophomore, on leaving the hall, jostled a freshman, that he might rub elbows with the rank and vile.

"1908 won in baseball and football, to be sure, but was obliged to take all 1907 men to win every out-of-town game. The sophomores won the track meet, and that too,

1905 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Eleven Games, Five at Home—Dartmouth at Hanover

The football management has announced the following schedule for the season of 1905:

Saturday, Sept. 23, Williston at Williamstown.

Saturday, Sept. 30, Harvard at Cambridge.

Saturday, Oct. 7, Union at Schenectady.

Wednesday, Oct. 11, M. A. C. at Williamstown.

Saturday, Oct. 14, Columbia at New York.

Saturday, Oct. 21, Dartmouth at Hanover.

Wednesday, Oct. 25, Worcester Tech. at Williamstown.

Saturday, Oct. 28, R. P. I. at Williamstown.

Saturday, Nov. 4, Colgate at Albany.

Saturday, Nov. 11, Wesleyan at Middletown.

Saturday, Nov. 18, Amherst at Williamstown.

Five games will be played on Weston field, instead of four as in the past. The game with Dartmouth will take place at Hanover, instead of Newton Center. Hamilton and West Point do not appear on the schedule, and in their place Union, R. P. I. and Worcester Tech. have been substituted. The Columbia and Dartmouth dates are fixed a week later than last year, and the season ends at the same time as before with the Amherst game at Williamstown.

The Profession of Law

The high standard thus far set by the Y. M. C. A. for its "Life Work Talks" was ably sustained last night by Daniel C. Brewer '86 a prominent Boston lawyer, who spoke on the profession of law. He prefaced his remarks by telling what an advantage the college man has over other men through having four years, to decide upon the profession which he will enter. He then went on to tell what were the requirements necessary to produce a good lawyer. These, he said, were a just appreciation of the profession, backbone, ability to collate facts and to present them forcibly, patience, will-power, and commonsense. He concluded by telling what a training in law had done for many of the great men of the past and predicted that the present century would offer greater opportunities than ever before to men trained along legal lines.

PRELIMINARY DEBATES

Williams Chooses Affirmative Against Dartmouth

In Lawrence hall Thursday evening, at a meeting of the men selected from Philologian and Philotechnian to take part in the Dartmouth preliminary debates, Williams decided to take the affirmative of the question submitted by Dartmouth: "Resolved, That the Monroe doctrine, as interpreted by President Roosevelt in his last annual message, should be adopted as a rational policy."

It was determined to hold the preliminary debates as early as possible, probably about April 1. The two preliminary debates may be held on the same evening, instead of on successive days as heretofore. Drawings for places in the debate resulted as follows, Westermann '07 alternate, replacing Case '07 for Philologian:

Negative.	Affirmative.
First Debate.
Smith '05	Hulst '06
Stevenson '05	Westermann '08
Matthews '07	Perry '06
Second Debate.

A Noble Life

Rev. John Frederick Fitschen, jr., of the class of 1889, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Ithaca, N. Y., addressed the college in chapel yesterday morning on the life and work of Boon Itt, the Siamese missionary. He told of his brilliant and successful career first at Williston, where he graduated in 1885, then at Williams and finally at Auburn Theological Seminary, where he finished his education in 1893. From here he returned to his native land, and devoted his life to missionary and philanthropic work among his countrymen.

While in the midst of his labors for the foundation of an institution in Bangkok, similar to the Y. M. C. A. in this country, he died, a victim of cholera. Rev. Mr. Fitschen closed his address with an eloquent appeal for contributions to the fund which is being raised among Americans to carry out the work to which this ardent young missionary devoted his life.

Boon Itt Memorial

The Systematic Giving Committee is sending a Boon Itt Memorial Fund card to every man in college, with the request that each man designate on it the amount he feels he can give. The committee will call for the cards within a few days.

Record Elections

To complete the number of six new members chosen from the sophomore and freshman classes to fill the vacancies caused by the retirement of the senior editors, the Record takes pleasure in announcing the election of the following men: Northrop Clarey 1907 of Great Barrington, Mass., Alden Ellis Moore 1907 of Plainfield, N. J., and Thomas Rochester Wheeler 1907 of Buffalo, N. Y.

The New Board

The work of the new board of publishing the Record for 1905-6 begins with this number. There may be some interest or curiosity concerning the policy which will be followed this year. In answer we wish to state what to our mind is the purpose of a college paper: (1) To express through the editorial column the opinion of a majority of the student body on matters of vital college interest, to suggest a course of action which seems to us best, and to comment on events of lesser importance. (2) to print all the news as accurately as possible; to serve as a bulletin (3) to keep the alumni in touch with the college, and with each other by publishing in full the news of graduates.

In the last issue the editor from 1905, in reviewing the Record's first year of existence, unconsciously expressed our views on the meaning of the editorial column in a college paper. A word might be added on the importance of perfect fairness in dealing with any matter which may come up. Broadcast and heedless animadversions breed opposition at first, then distrust and finally absolute disregard of the opinions offered. If the Record hopes to express to the faculty the true undergraduate sentiment, this must constantly be borne in mind. On the other hand, if any faculty action seems to us unjust or unwarranted, we shall not hesitate to say so by way of criticism, not stricture.

We believe that constant reference to a student's lack of gentlemanly qualities, when witnessing an athletic contest, for example, will effect little towards the end in view when presented to him on the printed page. Therefore, editorial criticism of conduct at games, except in rare instances, will be omitted. The privilege of reproof, in showing popular disapproval of such action, should be exercised in college meetings and not flaunted before the public eye.

In presenting the news of the college the Record asks the co-operation of faculty and students. By this means alone can we hope to secure correct information of the many events of college interest and to cover the field thoroughly. We have endeavored not to fall into the common error of making unnecessary alterations merely for the sake of getting something new. Nevertheless, several changes have been made which we believe to be for the direct improvement of the paper. The calendar will be restricted to events of college interest. Meetings of organizations, rehearsals, etc., will appear in a separate column of notices. The third change in the make-up of the Record is apparent at first sight.

We congratulate the 1905 board on the success which has attended its efforts in instituting the change from a weekly to a semi-weekly publication. Through the work of the old board the Record has justified itself and given ample proof that, though Williams is the same in spirit today as always, its undergraduate interests are becoming broader, greater and more varied, and consequently need for their expression a paper which can furnish accounts with some news quality, and not "stale with age."

The Seventeenth

The March 17th celebration has taken its place in history with the other college events of the year. In view of the abolition of hazing, the sophomore class petition, and the temporary dissatisfaction of a large part of the student body resulting in a second college meeting reaffirming its first decision by a greater majority, the college should feel no little satisfaction at the spirit with which the celebration was conducted. One of the strongest arguments of the antiabolitionists was that interest would flag. No one who saw the conflict in Hopkins and the struggle in front of Griffin will say there was "nothing to bury the hatchet over." Credit is due the sophomore class for its fair-minded attitude in the face of a so-called infraction of its "rights."

The Sun on Williams' Claim

In yesterday's issue of the New York Sun, appeared a long write-up of the Williams basketball season. After mentioning the various victories of the Williams team this season and its two well-atoned-for defeats, the article says:

"When it is considered that Colgate defeated Princeton, Yale and Harvard by very large scores, and that both Cornell and Holy Cross defeated Pennsylvania and Harvard, the victories of Williams over Cornell, Colgate and Holy Cross are very significant.

The only disputant to the title won by Williams is Columbia, but the latter five has only played one team of any strength—Yale. Columbia has confined her efforts during the season to the large university teams which, by their exhibitions against the crack smaller college teams, have shown clearly that they are the weakest teams among the colleges. * * * * * Furthermore, Williams has greatly improved on Columbia's scores against Minnesota, Yale, Cornell and others."

Changes in Courses

Owing to the fact that Easter comes one month later than usual this year, changes in courses for the second semester that would ordinarily end at Easter, will be made as follows: Gym. work will be continued to Easter, Math. 1 will drop algebra and take up trigonometry the last week in March, Latin 1 will replace Terence by Tacitus the first week in April, arrangements for Latin 2 will rest with those taking the course, and no change will be made in the Greek department from the regular arrangement of the course.

Dr. Scott at New York

Rev. Willard Scott of the class of 1875, of Worcester, Mass., was one of the speakers at the fifteenth annual banquet of the Empire State Society, Sons of the American Revolution, which was held in the white and gold ballroom of the Hotel Astor, New York, on Friday evening. Dr. Scott responded to the toast "The Culture of Patriotism." Among the other speakers were Theodore Roosevelt, Albert Bushnell Hart, Maj. Gen. James F. Wade and Brig. Gen. Fred D. Grant.

without being obliged to hide the hammer. In cross country, relay and everything else, 1907 finished on top. Most important of all was the winning of the basketball championship of Williams college—of Williams college, for a mere victory over the freshmen who attempted to play basketball is not worth mentioning." * * * * * To be sure, the cane committee escaped—all but one, who should remember the toast. "Here's to the light that lies in women's eyes, and lies, and lies, and lies."

In conclusion, 1908 has been a "heterogeneous mass," has not hung together, and needs a strong dose of college spirit. In the future, with no seniors to lead them, they will have to stand together for their class and for Williams. Let them follow the example of the class of 1907, a class that always hangs together, a class that Williams ought to be proud of and of which she certainly is proud."

The Freshman Speaker

The next speaker to be introduced was the representative of the freshman class, G. E. Hite, 2d. He opened by addressing "Gentlemen, and members of the class of 1907." He pointed out how great a crime it seemed to the freshmen for them to destroy the fond hopes and delicious illusions of the sophomores in relation to the class baseball game, but as "the upperclassmen wouldn't let them win it, the sophomores at least had a good excuse." * * * * *

"The sophs. showed signs of being dead, but they were never really interred until the day of the football game." Continuing, the speaker told the assembled multitudes of the wealth of material for Sherlock Holmes in the heterogeneous mass of sophomores at his feet, and stated that his classmates had dwelt gently with the hot-house plants who composed the sophomore class. He then enumerated "the large blots on the lustre of the sophomore class,—the huge man who believed that discretion is the better part of valor, the crafty president, the brave and fearless denizen of Bemis', the fire-eater from Omaha, and the most excellent combination known to the world of Rattles and Sherlock Holmes."

His speech ended with a kind offer of sympathy from the freshman class, to the sophomores, "in the hope that they may some day become a class."

Burying the Hatchet

The duty of burying the hatchet, the outward sign of the close of hostilities between the classes, was entrusted to William H. Murray 1905, who spoke substantially as follows:

"General Grant said 'Let us have peace,' and I agree with him. As the lines of war were withdrawn from around Richmond, so the sturdy bands of sophomores have forsaken their camp-fires in the vicinity of Williamstown. As the Federal troops invested the capital of the Confederacy, so the sophomores beleaguered Morgan hall, the refuge of President Elder. As the swift ships of the South ran the blockade, so the freshmen broke through the opposing lines of the sophomores, and brought in the canes.

But now the gentle dove of peace has deacended upon the land; atrife is at an end. Sophomores and freshman must now desist from spoiling one another's beauty; they must never hereafter beapatter dwellings and fences with the foul and unseemly insignia of their respective classes; they must behave themselves with decorum and with due propriety of manner. They are now to forsake the severities of warfare, and devote themselves to the arts of peace; Petersburg Pass is no longer to resound with the tread of marching men, bnt the halls of learning are once again to be visited by ready disciples of knowledge.

The speaker concluded with a serious exbortation to the underclasses to abide by the ideals of Williams, and to sink class strife in a broad and deeply-founded college spirit.

By Prof. J. L. Kellogg

The Louisiana State Board of Agriculture and Immigration has had published recently in pamphlet form, "Notes on Marine Food Mollusks of Louisiana," by Dr. J. L. Kellogg, professor of biology. This report is the result of six weeks of investigation at the Gulf Biological Station at Cameron, La., and of a visit to the oyster beds of St. Bernard Parish. Prof. Kellogg was accompanied by Dr. R. P. Cowles of Johns Hopkins university.

The aim of the investigation was to determine the possibilities of the oyster industry in the rivers and along the coast of Louisiana. Examinations of oysters taken from varions natural beds show that the Louisiana oyster grows at a wonderful rate. The natural enemies of the oyster, the starfish and "oyster drill," are seldom found in Louisiana waters. The oyster industry has not been extensively developed in Louisiana and the findings of Dr. Kellogg will be of great interest and value to everyone interested in the further development and protection of the oyster fields.

Yale, Harvard and Princeton are negotiating over the use of the foul strike rule in baseball. Princeton has asked Yale not to use it in the Yale-Princeton series.

COLLEGE NOTES

The following alumni were in town last week: Rev. Carroll Perry '90, Budington '96, Barrell '97, Bacon '98, Squires 1901, Callan 1903, Hun 1904, Parsons ex-'07.

Dr. Carroll Perry '90 delivered a lecture in the Episcopal church Friday evening on St. Augustine.

Steele '07 has gone to his home in Rochester, N. Y., with a threatened attack of appendicitis.

The footballs won from Wesleyan, The University of Vermont, and Hamilton have been placed in the trophy case in Jesup hall.

The Easter trip of the musical clubs announced recently has been cancelled.

Wadsworth '05, Morgan '06, Moore '07, Frank '08 and Meeker '08 are confined to the infirmary with German measles.

Dr. Bascom will deliver the sermon to the student body on Sunday, April 30.

The 1907 debating manager has received a challenge for a joint debate with the class of 1907 of Amherst in return for a similar debate held at Amherst last year. Action on this matter will be taken at the class meting held Tuesday noon.

Mr. Charles Bulkley Hubbell, of the class of 1874, a prominent lawyer in New York city, has been in town during the past week, recuperating from injuries sustained in the subway collision in New York over a week ago. He has spent several days at his summer home on the Green river, two miles south of town. Mr. Hubbell returned to New York Saturday.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES

The Oberlin Review names the following staff as one which might prove satisfactory to the critic of the average college paper: Assistant editor, Horace Greeley; financial manager, Baron Meyer de Rothschild; assistant manager, Jay Gould; news editors, Mercury and William R. Hearst; exchange editors, James Boswell; athletics, Hercules and Caspar Whitney; literary editor, Marie Corelli and Brander Matthews; alumni editor, Methuselah.

It has been announced that the Cornell-Princeton dual track meet will be held at Ithaca, May 6, and the Cornell-Pennsylvania meet at Philadelphia, May 12.

Harvard football candidates were recently called out for spring practice in the gymnasium. Outdoor practice will be begun later, and will continue for a month.

Minnesota has decided not to be represented by a baseball team this spring.

H. D. Thrall 1905 has been elected captain of the Dartmouth track team, in place of Patteson, resigned.

Basketball Issue

A CHAMPIONSHIP TEAM

Unprecedented Record of the 1905 Basketball Five

The famous Williams 1903 basketball team was remarkable for losing but twice in its entire season, and the 1904 team for winning a succession of games from some of the strongest teams in the country. The 1905 team, by accomplishing both these feats, has surpassed all its predecessors. Again but two games were lost, and each one of these was amply atoned for by a victory over the same team by a much larger score. So hard, but gratifying a schedule had been arranged by the management that all but three of the twenty-three games scheduled were with college teams both from the east and west, of national reputation. The winning of the national championship, an honor never before secured by any athletic team under the Purple, has placed the 1905 basketball team in an unprecedented place of honor.

The season began auspiciously with a victory over Cushing in which Capt. Wadsworth's men rolled up the largest score ever reached by a Williams basketball team. Fast play defeated Dartmouth in the first two championship games, and Yale, later able to hold Columbia down to a victory by a scant two points, succumbed to the Purple by a seven point margin. During January the team lost its first game to Brown, but, besides defeating Fitchburg and Cornell, won an easy victory over the exceptionally strong Holy Cross five.

On the Western trip Cornell and the University of Rochester were beaten by decisive scores. February saw the team at its best. Colgate was defeated by a few points in a fast game, and Amherst by a large score in a slower one. The speedy Syracuse five was beaten after the hardest kind of a struggle in overtime play. The team, however, undoubtedly were at their highest pitch of excellence in the game with Minnesota two days later. On that night the team's weakest point—basket-shooting— was its strongest, and the Western champions received their worst defeat of the season.

Two games with Wesleyan on Wesleyan's floor were won easily, and Brown was beaten in Williamstown by almost three times the margin which had previously defeated the Purple in Providence. After the two victories over Dartmouth earlier in the season, the loss of the close game at Hanover was little discredit to the team. The season closed with a second victory over Amherst and two home games in which Wesleyan was snowed under.

"W" For 1905 Basketball Team

Early in the year, with the record of the basketball five still unbroken, the advisability of awarding them the 'varsity "W" was much discussed. Now that the season has been so successfully concluded, the question has been brought to the attention of the athletic council, and we understand is being considered. The college is divided on the subject, but a majority seems in favor. The underlying objection of those opposed, whatever may be their open declaration, is based on a traditional sentiment. "Something grates in giving the "W" to a basketball team. The letter would be cheapened."

The objection is indeed no light one. Such a feeling can only be prompted by a loyal jealousy for the college and its best interests. But consider, what is the "W" granted for, and what does it mean? Since the letter was first awarded, it may be safely said that it has been given solely to men who have done Williams high honor in athletics. The only reply that can be made to the above objection is that we must not allow an unreasoning sentiment to influence our judgment. If the 1905 basketball team has had an equal share with the other athletic "W" teams in maintaining the prestige of the college, as we believe it has, its members should receive the official recognition of the college in the form of the Williams insignia.

In the first place, the Williams five has won the New England intercollegiate title without dispute, Holy Cross, the only other claimant, having been defeated by Dartmouth at Hanover last Thursday. This would, perhaps, be sufficient in itself, even granting that basketball is a "minor" sport. We have a precedent, the letter having been awarded last year to an association of the same standing, under similar circumstances.

Of more importance, however, is the claim of Williams to the national championship. The team's right to the national title seems to be founded on (1) comparative scores (2) the fact that Williams has been defeated only twice, and both times by teams from which it has in turn won by a greater score. It is not the purpose to enter here into an exhaustive review of the season's scores. Colgate's chances were lost by the Williams game, which went to the Purple by an easy margin. Holy Cross, Brown, Dartmoutth and all other teams, except Columbia, have no claims.

Columbia has played throughout the season with an unbroken list of victories. This would at once decide the question against Williams, if Columbia had met the strongest college teams. The New York Sun says: "The latter five (Columbia) has only played one team of any strength—Yale." Columbia defeated Yale by two points, Williams by seven. In the comparisons of five games of Columbia and Williams with the same teams, the Purple, besides outranking Columbia in every instance, leads by twenty-eight points. Certainly, as to the championship, Williams can stand on its record.

"Let the "W" be awarded when Williams' claim is recognized by the rules-book committee." Was a national basketball championship ever undisputed? We fail to see why the question, as far as Williams is concerned, should rest with the committee. Williams is not registered in the rules-book; we must decide for ourselves according to the facts. The committee has, however, taken no action as yet one way or the other.

There are many other arguments for and against, which cannot be taken up in detail here. If a precedent is required, Amherst awarded the letter for the New England championship three years ago. Other colleges and universities have granted the letter for basketball. In addition to the success of the 'varsity basketball five, the constant practice and training necessary for such a team, must not be overlooked. The season extends over three months. In no other branch of athletics, football not excepted, is there demanded greater endurance on the part of the players.

years, 1 month; height, 5 feet, 10 inches; weight, 146 pounds.

OSWALD TOWER 1907, of North Adams, Mass., has played for two years at the position of left guard. He prepared for college at Drury Academy, where he played left guard for two years. Tower has played left guard both in his freshman and sophomore years. Age, 21 years, 2 months; height, 5 feet, 11 inches; weight, 146 pounds.

ROBERT ELWELL MOFFETT 1907, of Brooklyn, N. Y., substitute, played center in several games. He prepared for college at Williston Seminary. Age, 20 years and 2 months; height, 6 feet, 2 inches; weight, 173 pounds.

ALFRED HECTOR APPELL 1906, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., substitute, entered college from Mount Vernon High School. He played left guard during his freshman year, but was prevented from playing last year by typhoid fever. Age, 19 years; height, 5 feet, 8½ inches; weight, 156 pounds.

THE MANAGERS

GEORGE CHARLES APPELL, Jr., 1905, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was the efficient manager of this year's basketball team. After graduating from the Mount Vernon High School, he entered Williams, and during the latter part of his sophomore year was elected assistant basketball manager. During his senior year he managed the team, assisted by RUSSELL VALENTINE HOBSON, 1906 of Wallingford, Conn. Hobson graduated from Williston Seminary in the class of 1902. During the latter part of his sophomore year he was elected to the office of assistant manager and will be manager for 1906.

STYLE OF PLAY

Capt. Wadsworth's strong point is his ability to shoot baskets from a distance, balancing an occasional tendency to miss easy shots by an amazing number of baskets scored while completely covered by his opponent. Though sometimes failing to guard closely, he is the hardest man on the team to keep from scoring.

Gardner excels at one-hand and overhead shots, and can score from nearly any position. He plays an excellent floor game, and is the best guarder on the team, but often finds it difficult to break away from his opponent under his own basket.

Though poor at the jump, in other respects Naild has shown himself the equal of all the great number of first-class centers he has met this year. He covers his man well, but finds difficulty in getting free when near the basket, is an excellent shot from a distance and a reliable, accurate foul thrower.

Cowell excels at getting free from his man and securing shots for the basket, but is apt to miss easy chances for goals. His guarding is effectual, and he passes finely, seeming able to catch the ball in almost any position. He is the most brilliant individual player.

Tower plays a fast, hard game against men who often greatly outweigh him. He passes finely, guards well, and is especially proficient at breaking up an opposing team's passing. Though the poorest shot in the team, he obtains shots from every position, and very few forwards can outscore him.

TRACK CANDIDATES

Call For First Meeting on Saturday Afternoon in Gym.

Regular track practice will begin as soon as the track on Weston field is ready for use. The usual work in the gymnasium will be omitted this year as it is the intention of Trainer Seeley and Capt. Newell to make the season as free from monotony as possible and it is therefore expected that the men will compensate for this omission by more consistent work after the track can be used.

In order to be in shape for the harder work, all hurdlers and runners are expected to take long walks as often as three times a week, thereby accomplishing the building-up processs without the drudgery of indoor work. Unless any man shows signs of needing the work, the practice will be omitted during Easter vacation. Mr. Seeley is giving individual attention to the high jumpers, pole vaulters and weight men and candidates for these events should report daily until the form is thoroughly mastered. A meeting of all candidates is called in the gymnasium office at 1:30 p. m. sharp. Saturday.

The Moonlights

The orations of the competitors for the Moonlights must be handed to Mr. Lewis before Monday, April 3. Twenty men from the junior and sophomore classes have entered the competition and from this number five men from each class will be selected for the final contest.

—Prof. Henry Loomis Nelson will address the City Government Club in Jesup hall Monday evening at 8 o'clock on "City Government in the United States."

1907 GUL. EDITORS

At a meeting of the Sophomore class held in Jesup hall Tuesday afternoon, the following members of the class were elected to constitute the 1907 Gul board: Editors—Northrop Clarey of Great Barrington, Mass.; Horace Gillette Cleveland of Ridgewood, N. J.; George Burwell Dutton of Buffalo, N. Y.; Reginald Davis Johnson of Pasadena, Cal.; and Carroll Atwood Wilson of Westfield, Mass. Art editors—Alfred Phineas Hanchett, jr., of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and George Ryer Hotaling of New York city.

At the same meeting the class voted not to accept the challenge from the sophomores of Amherst to a joint debate in return for the Amherst 1906-Williams 1906 debate held last year at Amherst. The reason for this is the fact that the challenge was not received until too late for good preparation, and that it would conflict with the Williams freshman-sophomore debate.

Gun Club Program

Weather permitting, the college Gun Club will shoot at clay targets on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 2 o'clock during the remainder of the month of March. Ammunition will be sold on the grounds on Saturday, March 22.

A handsome cup has been presented to the club by A. A. Sercomb '03. Each year, the name of the member of the club making the highest average in three handicap shoots will be engraved on the cup. These three handicaps will be shot in April and May of the present year.

To have his handicap determined (this will be by distance), each member must enter at least two shoots before the cup events begin. The arrangement will aim to give the inexperienced an equal chance with the more expert.

Those who have not yet joined the club may become members by paying a fee of $1 to J. B. Pratt '05. Meet at the Biological laboratory Saturday at 1:45 p. m.

Dr. J. H. Twichell of Hartford

Dr. Joseph Hooker Twichell, one of the most prominent and popular ministers of Hartford, Conn., will address the college body in chapel Sunday morning on "Giving that which is holy to the dogs." He will also speak before the Y. M. C. A. in the evening on "Working out our salvation." All those who heard Dr. Twichell's interesting address last June on Fidelity, illustrated by his touching story of a friendship cemented in Yale stronger even than the animosities engendered by the War of the Rebellion, will remember him an one of the most original, entertaining speakers who preached before the college body last year.

COLLEGE NOTES

J. M. Woodhouse '07 has resigned from college.

McGuckin '08 is in the infirmary, suffering with a slight case of German measles.

President Hopkins is in New York city.

The Philologian society will hold a mock trial on May 3.

The seniors held a smoker in Jesup hall last evening.

W. M. Clark was chosen captain of the sophomore debating team Monday.

Townsend '07 and Scott '08 are ill with German measles at the infirmary.

Wadsworth '05, Moore '07 and Meeker '08 left the infirmary yesterday after a few days' illness.

The gun club held a preliminary practice shoot at the golf links yesterday afternoon.

Steele '07, who has been in Rochester threatened with an attack of appendicitis, returned to college Tuesday.

The combined musical clubs will give their regular program at a concert to be held in the Congregational chapel at North Adams on Monday evening, April 3.

There will be a seventh entertainment in the Thompson course this year, an account of the eruption of Mt. Pelee. The talk will be given April 6 and will be illustrated with stereopticon slides.

A fortunate opportunity has enabled Prof. Rice to secure the loan of thirty valuable paintings by the Japanese artist Hokusai, which will be placed on exhibition in 13 Hopkins hall, tomorrow. The paintings are water-colors from the collection of Charles L. Freer of Detroit, and form a part of the gift to be made to the Smithsonian institute at Washington. The exhibition will be public and will continue until Wednesday.

MASS. RHODES SCHOLAR

Williams Senior Chosen Holder of Scholarship in Oxford

Roy Kenneth Hack 1905, of South Waterboro, Me., was elected on Thursday morning holder of the Massachusetts Rhodes Scholarship in Oxford University. According to the provisions of the will of the late Cecil J. Rhodes, the South African premier, a scholarship is awarded the first two of every three years, beginning with 1904, to one student from each of the United States. Having passed the qualifying examination, and received the approval of the Massachusetts Committee, Hack will recieve $1,500 a year for a three years' course at Oxford University.

The Rhodes scholarship Committee of Massachusetts met at the office of the State Board of Education in Boston on Thursday to decide upon one man for the scholarship, out of the four whose names had been presented by the trustees of the fund at Oxford as having passed the qualifying examinations. Of these four men, two were Harvard students who passed their examinations early in January 1904, and two, Hack of Williams and Hildreth of Amherst, who qualified this year. In determining the choice, the committee, following the spirit of the testator's wishes, took into consideration not only excellence in scholarship but also "marked qualities of manliness, leadership among men, and proficiency in athletic sports."

This is the second year that Rhodes scholarships have been awarded. Examinations were held in January and the papers forwarded to Oxford for correction and

DOWN THE RHINE

Prof. Wahl Speaks Before German Club

Last Friday evening before the members of the Deutscher Verein, Professor Wahl delivered an interesting lecture illustrated by lantern slides, taking as his subject "The Rhine." This famous river, he said, has acquired its celebrity not chiefly through its beauty, although it certainly is extremely beautiful, but rather because of its grand history, the legends and myths which cluster about it, and the ruined castles which crown its shores.

At Cologne, there stands what is probably the finest Gothic cathedral in the world. Begun in the twelfth century, it was not completed until 1880. Its lofty towers reach a height of 511 feet. Proceeding up stream, the next point of interest is Bonn, renowned for its university, which was founded by Frederick William III in 1813. Further on are Siegenbirge, the legendary spot where Siegfried conquered the dragon, and Coblenz and Ehrenbreitstein, old Roman towns at the junction of the Moselle and the Rhine. Still other castles in this vicinity are those at Lahneck, Stolzenfels, and St. Goarshausen.

As the traveller proceeds he reaches the castle of Rheinstein, one of the most beautiful in Germany, then Bingen, with its national monument commemorating the close of the Franco-Prussian war, and the Lorelei, famed in song as the treacherous whirlpool where the unfortunate fisherman is engulfed. And now comes Mainz with its cathedral, which contains the tomb of the wife of Charles the Great.

The country north of Cologne and south of Mainz is for the most part uninteresting, but there are two points which deserve a visit—the cities of Speyer and Worms. The first contains a cathedral, the burial place of many ancient German emperors. It was in this country that the Protestant Reformation was cradled, and Worms was the place where Luther made his famous declaration, "Here I stand. I cannot do otherwise. God help me. Amen." A statue has here been erected to the memory of the great reformer.

Death of Mrs. Carter

News was received last evening of the death, at Camden, S. C., of Mrs. Franklin Carter, wife of ex-President Carter. No particulars are known.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTIONS

J. E. Perry 1906, President—The Work of the Past Year

At the annual business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. held in Jesup hall Friday evening, the president's report for the past year was given and officers elected for the coming year. The following men were chosen officers of the association for 1905-1906: President, Joseph Earl Perry 1906 of Shelburne Falls; vice-president, William Hanford Curtiss 1906 of Olean, N. Y.; corresponding secretary, William Mansfield Clark 1907 of Salisbury, Conn.; recording secretary, John Scott Russell 1907 of Massena, N. Y.; treasurer, James Atkins Bullard 1908 of East Orange, N. J.

President Gregory's report was as follows: The work of the different committees is the only tangible report of the Y. M. C. A. that can be given, since a report of the religious activity of the college must be essentially a report of thoughts and purposes. The membership of the association has increased substantially over last year, now amounting to 246, 56 per cent of the entire college.

The systematic giving committee has, as usual, aided during the past year in the support of Pasumalai College, India, founded by Rev. George T. Washburn '55. During the year, nineteen men have taught in Sunday schools at White Oaks, Briggsville, Braytonville, Sweet's Corners, Clark Chapel, and Hemlock Brook. The attendance in the bible-study classes during the year has averaged 35.

The missionary committee's report was less favorable, largely because of the impossibility of finding a proper time for the class to meet. The attendance at prayer meetings has been fully kept up. The Sunday evening meetings have been particularly helpful. Especial mention should be made of the life work meetings. A prominent feature this year has been the deputation work. Speakers have been sent to the associations at Troy, North Adams, Bennington, Fitchburg, Cushing, Exeter and Mt. Hermon. A full financial report will be published in a later issue of the Record. In closing, reference was made to the visit of Robert E. Speer on April 9.

Lit. Board Meeting

A meeting of the Lit. Board will be held Tuesday evening, April 4, to elect new members and a business manager for the coming year. All material for the April Lit. should be handed to some member of the board before 6:00 o'clock that evening.

MR. POWERS TOMORROW

Impersonator in "Lord Chumley" —Another Entertainment April 6

As the last regular Thompson course entertainment, Leland Powers, the Boston impersonator, will present in Jesup hall Tuesday evening, scenes from Belasco and De Mille's farce "Lord Chumley." Williams students need no introduction to Mr. Powers, whose presentations have served as course entertainments for several years past. He is well known in the world of entertainment as a voice impersonator of superior talent, and the presentation of "Lord Chumley," necessitating the assumption of eight or ten male and female roles, shows him at his best.

Professor Jaggar, geology professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will give an illustrated lecture on Mount Pelee, in Jesup hall Thursday evening, April 6. This lecture will be given as a supplementary entertainment in the Thompson course and has been made possible by a balance of the regularly assigned fund. The stereopticon plates excellently reproduce views of the disaster.

1907 Gul. Editor

The seven members of the 1907 Gul board met in the press room Thursday evening and elected Northrop Clarey editor-in-chief. The question of a manager was considered but was left for final decision at the next meeting, to be held March 30. The date for issuing the book was set for not later than May 20, 1906. G. B. Dutton was elected secretary of the board.

Freshman Preliminaries

At the preliminaries for the freshman oratorical contest, held in Alumni hall Saturday evening, the list of fifteen men was cut down to the following eight: Colman, Corwin, Fischer, Ford, Groben, Hite, Murray and Williams. The judges were Dr. Wetmore, Mr. Northrup, and Mr. E. Herbert Botsford.

VOL. 19 MARCH 27, 1905, No. 3

A Rhodes Scholarship

In our devotion to athletics, and our satisfaction for the successes of a 'varsity team, we are perhaps prone to overlook the victories on the other side. The choice of a Williams student as Massachusetts Rhodes scholar in Oxford is as much a victory for the college, and as such should be the cause of equal gratification, as the defeat of a strong rival on the athletic field.

The gain to Williams and to the holder of the scholarship is obvious. The name of the college and its methods of training are, to a certain extent, brought to the attention of Oxford undergraduates. The value of such a scholarship to the individual has been well expressed by W. E. Schutt of Cornell, New York Rhodes scholar at Oxford. He says: "Book-lore we can get at any one of the great universities of the world; but the combination of social and intellectual training, the easy informal intercourse with men old and young, of education and thorough good breeding, can be found nowhere as at Oxford. There lies the lasting benefit of an Oxford education."

The Football Schedule

Experience has shown that Williams cannot produce a football team of sufficient strength to cope successfully with the larger university elevens. It is doubtful if any Williams team ever played so near its capacity and bore up so well under a hard schedule as that of 1904; yet, in the number of games won, the season was unsatisfactory. However great the odds, dissatisfaction, criticism and half-hearted support are sure to follow a losing eleven.

In making out the schedule for 1905 the management seems to have kept this in mind. The list of games is decidedly weaker than last year. The eleven will meet no stronger teams than it did last fall. Furthermore, West Point is not played. On the other hand, four games are added with teams hitherto inferior in football to Williams, and certainly less strong (with one exception) than any which appeared on the 1904 schedule. We regret the appearance of a preparatory school on the list, though it could not have been better placed than it is, beginning the season and a week before the Harvard game. The game at Cambridge about October 1 is a fixture, but it has one great practical disadvantage, exemplified two years ago by the injury to players so short a time before the Columbia game. This is obviated in the 1905 schedule by placing the Columbia and Dartmouth games a week later—unquestionably an improvement. The games with Wesleyan and Amherst remain unchanged, the Purple and White playing on Weston field this year to end the season.

Williams meets Dartmouth at Hanover on Oct. 21, the change in place, we understand, being unavoidable. In return, we trust an arrangement has been made for a game at Williamstown in 1906. Compensation for the loss of the Newton Center contest is partially made in the Colgate and Union games at Albany and Schenectady, respectively—both games being played away from home for financial reasons.

The 1905 football schedule has two things to recommend it. In the first place, the arrangement of the minor games will tend to the development of a winning team. Generally speaking, the season will start in easy, and end up hard. In the second place, the schedule will give the college an opportunity to see what the eleven can do on its own grounds.

A Forward Step

Harvard and the University of California have already adopted association football, and a movement has been begun at Columbia favoring its introduction there. While candidates for the team at the latter university will be expected to go into training, yet everything tending to make a business of the game will be avoided. Although in itself but a small matter, this statement really implies something of considerable importance. The present tendency is undeniably to place athletics in the hands of the few, to the detriment of the many. Therefore, when three representative universities take steps to establish a new branch of athletics as a pastime rather than a burden, it may certainly be considered a forward step in placing undergraduate sport upon a more rational and popular basis.

This evening in Jesup hall Prof. Henry Loomis Nelson will speak on "City Government in the United States." The meeting is under the auspices of the City Government club and the college is invited to attend. Judging from Prof. Loomis' lecture before the club last year, the talk tonight should have great educational value as an exposition of the nature and workings of city government by one who has been on the inside for many years.

Art Exhibition

To secure a more wide-spread knowledge of art and art centers, the art department has decided to keep pictures on exhibition in the hallway of the second floor of Hopkins for the rest of the college year A frame has been placed on the north side of the hallway, and copies of paintings by famous artists, as well as photographs of buildinga of artistic value in the old world, have been placed there, the exhibit to be changed every two or three weeks.

The exhibit for this week consists of fourteen paintings by Correggio, Giovanni Bellini, Botticelli, and among others, the well-known Mona Lisa of Da Vinci. Titian's Assumption, and Raphael's Leo X, as well as views of exteriors and interiors of buildings in Pisa, Lucca, Milan, Vienna and Rome.

inspection. The examinations were not competitive, but qualifying, and were based on the requirements for "Responsions," the first public examination required of each candidate for a degree.

Roy Kenneth Hack, the successful candidate, was born at Ballston, N. Y., July 3, 1884. He is the son of Rev. Rolin T. Hack, a retired clergyman now residing at South Waterboro, Me. He graduated from the Portland High School, and entered Williams in the class of 1905. Throughout his college course Hack has shown high scholarly attainments, and for three years has held the Horace F. Clark scholarship. In his sophomore year he won first Erastus C. Benedict Prizes in Latin and in Greek, and junior year the first Delano Prize in Greek 3, and also the Prize for Prizes. At the end of the first half of his senior year he was elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa society, and received a commencement appointment.

Throughout his course Hack has made a specialty of classics and will continue to do so during his residence abroad. He will commence his university course at Oxford this fall.

Dr. Munro's New Book

Students of history, government, or economics who had the pleasure of working under Dr. William Bennett Munro, during his three years at Williams, will note with interest the appearance of the book entitled, "Canada and British North America." After outlining the early voyages to North America, the history tells the story of the several provinces welded into the Dominion. In the middle portion of the work, the politics of this middle period of Canadian history are depicted with great interest and much lucidity. The concluding portion embodies a presentation of the Canadian form of government of today, and portrays with exceptional fidelity the life of Canadians, their political deeds and prejudices. Such treatment of a hitherto inadequately covered field will afford students of comparative governments abundant opportunities to contrast English colonization with French.

Dr. Guy Carleton Lee, of Johns Hopkins University, and editor of the series in which Dr. Munro's work appears, in reviewing the volume says: "I may, therefore, in conclusion recommend the volume of 'The History of North America' because of its vigorous style, its clear grasp of the facts, and its accuracy of conclusion, all combined with a breadth and depth of learning which causes confidence to walk hand in hand with appreciation."

ALUMNI NOTES

'65—Rev. Frank Thompson is Seaman's Chaplain at Valparniso. Chili.

'74—Lilian Herbert Andrews is counselor of the legation of the United States of Colombia. For the last three years he has been the general adviser of the Colombian government, having been selected for that position by the late Dr. Martinez Silva, former minister from Colombia to the United States. Mr. Andrews is the nearest living relative of Gen. Nathaniel Greene, of Revolutionary fame. He was born in Saratoga in 1853, and graduated from Williams at the head of the class of 1874. He immediately took up the study of law, and became associated with the late David Dudley Field '25. Mr. Andrews practiced law in New York city until his recent connection with the South American republic.

'77—Hon. Samuel S. Rogers, business manager of the Chicago Daily News, has just been elected president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. Mr. Rogers was born in Lee in 1857, and graduated from Williams in the class of 1877. He went west soon after graduation, and in 1880 joined the business department of the Chicago Daily News. Ten years later he became business manager, and has held that position for the past fourteen years.

1900—Chester D. Stiles, who is now teaching in a private school for boys in Plainfield, N. J., was chosen on Monday, principal of the Prospect Hill school at Westfield, Mass. He will assume his new duties about April 15.

1901—John C. Jay, jr., is assistant manager of the New York office of the Pennsylvania Steel Co., at 71 Broadway.

Ex-'02—Bertrand Wells holds a position with the Aeolian company of Syracuse, N. Y.

1903—Joseph M. Bradley is employed in the motor department of the Narragansett Electrical Co., at Providence, R. I.

1903—Richard W. Hubbell is in charge of the New York office of the Medina Stone Co.

1904—Edward E. Kemp has recently received a position in the New York offices of the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe Co.

1904—Roscoe R. Mitchell is employed in the office of the Albany county clerk, in Albany N. Y. He expects to enter the Albany Law school next fall.

1904—William H. Peabody, now in Chicago University law school, at the annual indoor meet of the Chicago Athletic Association last week cleared 11 feet, 4 inches in the pole vault. This betters his outdoor record, and incidentally the Williams record by 1 inch.

FIRST CALL FOR TRACK

Fifty Candidates Report For Work—Change in System

In answer to the call for track candidates about fifty men reported at the gymnasium office on Saturday. Captain Newell outlined the work of the season and explained that a radical change in the preliminary work would be introduced. Each candidate will be allowed to choose his own time for working in the gymnasium, three hours a week, thereby avoiding the monotony of three extra weeks of regular work at stated hours.

The advantage of long walks on alternate days was emphasized. Individual attention will be paid to the physical condition of each candidate. Mr. Seeley then spoke of the value of a number of second and third string men in the dual meet with Dartmouth, as the loss of even a third last year, would have meant the loss of the meet.

Since success on the track this spring depends more than ever before upon a wide-spread competition, it was strongly urged that every man, with any athletic tendencies whatever, begin practice at once with the squad.

The Works of Hokusai

The art department has secured for exhibition in the art room, 13 H. H., during this entire week, with the exception of Monday and Friday afternoons, a collection of about thirty paintings of Japan's greatest artist, Hokusai, who flourished in the first quarter of the present century. These paintings exhibit the successive stages in the development of Hokusai's art, the earliest dating from about 1780 and the latest from 1849. The works are especially valuable to Americans, showing a scheme of art entirely unknown to Occidentals. The delicate silk on which the paintings are made, the vertical line predominating throughout his work, instead of the horizontal line, the crude but vigorous broad stroke effects, particularly in the earlier productions, together with the unusual landscapes and figures common to all Oriental art, all tend to make this exhibition of exceptional importance to both art critic and layman.

Papyrus Club

A meeting of the Papyrus club was held in Jesup hall last Thursday evening. Thomas Nelson Page was the subject of the meeting's discussion and two of that author's short stories were read. The proposition of fining members who fail to attend the meeting was discussed and laid on the table. This question will again come up at the next business meeting, which will take place on Thursday night. All members are requested to be present as matters of importance will be discussed.

COLLEGE NOTES

Phelps '08, Wood '08 and Hobson '06 are ill at the infirmary.

Hatch '03, Chase '04 and Mason ex-'04 were in town yesterday.

Wheeler '07 returned to college Saturday.

Neild '06 has joined the baseball squad.

The preliminary Dartmouth debate will be held on Wednesday, April 5. The judges will be announced later.

A quartet consisting of Curtiss, Robbins, Yarnelle and Pevear sang before a Y. M. C. A. mass-meeting at the Colonial theatre in Pittsfield yesterday afternoon.

Brainerd Mears '03 will work with Captain Newell in developing the track team, and as soon as Weston field is in shape will take charge of the distance men.

At the last meeting of the Philologian society, Bowman '06 and Scholle '06 were made a committee to revise the constitution and compile a catalog of the names of all members since the society was founded in 1795.

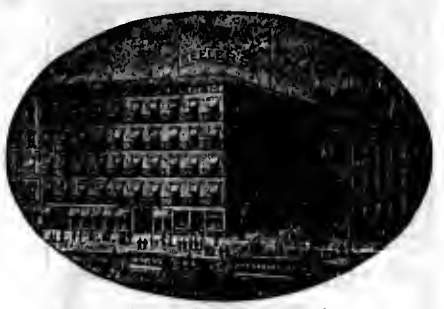
Rev. Joseph H. Twichell of Hartford was prevented by a severe cold from keeping his engagement to preach in the college chapel yesterday, and will probably be unable to visit Williamstown this year. Dr. Bascom, who was to have preached April 30, occupied the pulpit.

Latin Grammar of 1806

Mr. Justin Kellogg '65 of Troy, N. Y., has presented the college library with a curious old volume entitled, 'The Rudiments of Latin Grammar'' by Alexander Adam, LL. D., published in 1806. It was used a hundred years ago in the classical department, and was "Recommended by the President and Trustees of Williams' College to be used by those who are intended for that seminary." The book is prefaced by an "Advertisement of the President and Trustees of Williams' College," in which the value of the abridged edition is emphasized, over the former edition, which contained many "useless parts."

NOTICES

—Senior class meeting to consider report of class day committee, Wednesday, 1:30 p. m., J. H.



—Cap and gown pictures of Gargoyle and of the entire senior class will be taken by Kinsman Saturday afternoon. Seniors are requested to secure their caps and gowns before that day.

—The newly elected executive committee of the Mills Y. M. C. A. will meet tomorrow evening in Jesup hall to make preliminary arrangements for publishing the 1905-1906 handbook.

—All men who have not yet ordered suitable track shoes, please leave orders at gymnasium office tomorrow. This is important, as it is desired to have all men fully equipped by April 5th.

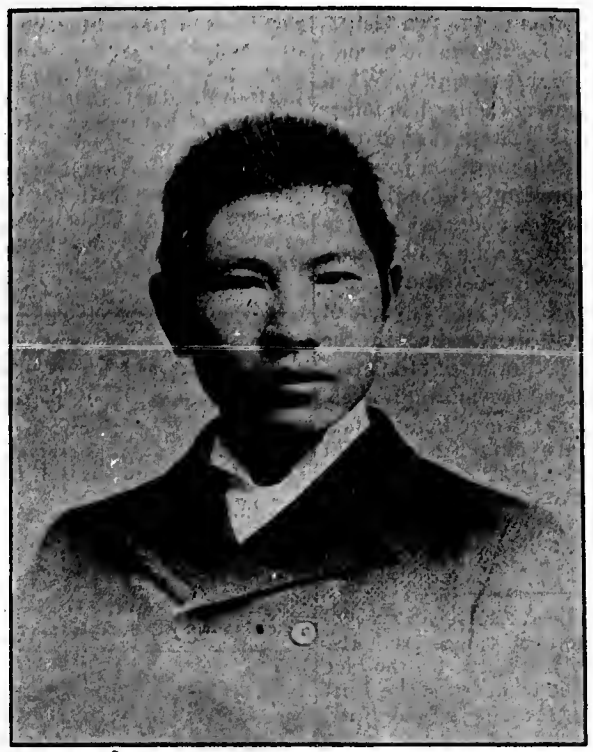
The President will attend the commencement exercises on Thursday, but will probably be forced by other engagements to leave on that day.



A NEW DIAMOND

Improvements to Old Campus and Weston Field.

At the meeting of the athletic council held yesterday, important improvements were voted for the old campus and Weston field. The old campus will be levelled and a new permanent baseball dismond will be constructed for the use of the second teams and the class teams. Work will begin immediately on this diamond, that the baseball squad may have a suitable place for early practice. Announcement is made that henceforth none but teams from the college will be allowed the use of this campus.

An appropriation of $50 was made by the council to repair the 220-yds. straightaway on Weston field. Another noticeable change will be made on the baseball grounds, where the skinned portion of the diamond will be extended farther into the outfield. Instead of sitting on benches along the base lines, as before, the teams will be provided with seats directly in front of the grandstand on the running track. The reporting table will be moved into the grandstand.

A still more noticeable improvement will be made at the entrance. The old unsightly ticket-office and gates are to be replaced by the fine stone tower and approaches of the Gargoyle gate, now under process of construction. On each side of the tower will be entrances, on the left for carriages, on the right for pedestrians. In place of the curving stone approaches to be built later on each side of the entrances, strong fencing will be put up this year. A very welcome improvement will be a concrete walk from the street to the field. A crosswalk may be built across Latham street at the entrance. The whole appearance of the entrance will be still further enhanced by the grading and levelling of the land about the approaches of the gate.

REV. BOON BOON-ITT '89

FOR THE MEMORIAL FUND

Appeal for Contributions to Continue Work of Boon Boon-itt, '89

Rev. Boon Boon-itt was born in Bangkok, Siam, February 15, 1865. He graduated from Williams college in the class of '89, and returned to Siam in 1893 to carry on missionary work among his native people.

Such was the goodness of Boon-itt's life and such the greatness of his work, that at his death in 1903, the missionaries in the field proposed "the erection of a suitable building for the work which was in Boon-itt's heart when he died, as a memorial to him, for the highest good of his people." The memorial for which money is now being raised will be built in memory of Boon-itt, for the purpose of educating and uplifting the young men of Siam.

Boon-itt was a Williams man, and Williams should have a share in the work which will be carried on for young men in Siam. For some years Williams has been associated in helping to support Pasumalai College and Training School, an institution which is doing a grand work in educating young men in India.

Boon-itt memorial cards have been sent to all men in college, and within two weeks the members of the systematic giving committee will call for these cards, and for any contributions either for the Boon-itt memorial or for Pasumalai. It is sincerely hoped that the student-body will respond with all the support that they are able to afford.

Contributions which members of the faculty or any others wish to make may be sent to H. W. Mellen, Box 452, Williamstown, and will receive prompt acknowledgement.

THE SYSTEMATIC GIVING COMMITTEE.

Class Day Report

At a 1905 class meeting held yesterday afternoon the report of the class day committee was offered by the chairman, Goodwillie, and was accepted in its entirety. The class tax was placed at $21 with the probability of a rebate after paying all expenses. Contracts were approved as follows: Music for class day and prom., Gioscia of Albany, decorating, Murray of Springfield, flowers, Whittle of Albany.

It was decided to wear the caps and gowns for the first time on April 9. The committee was instructed to provide a class cup. It was announced that the class day would probably be on Tuesday, the dedication of the new chapel Wednesday and commencement Thursday. Seats for the dedication ceremonies will be reserved for the class in the chapel.

Squad at Blackinton

Three successive days of fine weather allowed the 'varsity squad to take its first outdoor practice of the season on the Blackinton dismond yesterday afternoon. Besides the regular pitching and batting practice, the outfielders were given fielding practice, as well as the first and second infields.

REVIEW OF MARCH LIT.

Dr. C. E. Lyon Writes on Current Number of Literary Monthly

It is to be regretted that the circle of contributors to the Williams Literary Monthly is so comparatively small, for under such conditions it is inevitable that a particularly good edition, such as the February number, must be followed by one much less conspicuous for merit. When two men have to contribute five articles, it is greatly to their credit when, as in the March number, there is no appearance of padding simply to fill out. Still, an occasionally heavy pressure on the blue pencil would have done no harm.

While the mellifluous verse of the author of "The Quest" is missed, still the poetry in this number is particularly good. "The Prisoner", from the prolific pen of Mr. Westermann, portrays the despondent gloom of a prisoner in a rat-infested dungeon; at the end however, his gloom gives way to faith when the prisoner invokes death to lead him into "fragrant fields of marigold and rose", where life can start anew. The metre, that of Gray's "Elegy in a Country Churchyard", is well adapted to this type of poetry, and Mr. Westermann shows much facility in its use.

The Canoe Song, "A Nocturne", is excellent, and is made doubly attractive when the closing lines,

"Ah! Come to the trysting place again,
Where we see, like star-tears that flash and wane
The fire-flies darting" suggest the closing lines of Thomas Moore's "Ballad", written at Norfolk, Virginia:

"But oft from the Indian hunter's camp,
This lover and maid so true
Are seen at the hour of the midnight damp
To cross the lake by a fire-fly lamp,
And paddle their white canoe!"

There is in "Old Songs", by Mr. Gibson, the lovely touch

The Interclass Debate

However large may be his opportunities in the literary and debating life of the college as a whole, a Williams man with no athletic ability has at present little chance to help his class. After the St. Patrick's day ebullition, his class spirit can express itself only by his general attitude towards class matters, and can in no way assume definite shape. To such a man—and his case is that of the great majority—the coming interclass debate, the first of a series of similar debates to be held in Williams, affords this needed outlet, and is, therefore, to be welcomed.

Nor is this debate of value to the individual alone, but should tend to spur on the debating interests of the college as nothing in recent years has done, or has had the power to do. Nothing thrives except by competition. Just as our athletes (to take the obvious parallel) are developed by the system of class athletics, so by this newly inaugurated custom will our debaters be fostered and developed. It has taken many years to rid ourselves of the fond delusion that the competition of the two debating societies is sufficient to accomplish this development. When debating society rivalry has fallen so low that its sole outward expression, the Adelphic union joint debate, has, apparently through sheer indifference, been omitted for the past two years, we must obviously look elsewhere for a stimulus.

The second, and larger value of the interclass debate lies in the fact that it will bring out the "second string" of the more intellectually inclined, where before class rivalries have only brought out the "second string" of the athletes, and thus will strengthen a branch of college activity in which at present far too little interest is taken.

We have been requested to call the attention of some students, particularly freshmen, to the fact that the right of wearing the Purple in any form is an acquired privilege.

Review of March Lit.

familiar to readers of the offerings of this author.

The prose articles are not so uniformly good as the verse. In "Number Sixteen" and "Rest for the Weary" Mr. Morgan shows a keen sense of humor, and a considerable degree of skill in the handling of dialogue, an art to be fully appreciated by those who have tried to master it. The plot of "Number Sixteen" is rather trite: a case of mistaken identity leads a young man into complications which he tries to avoid by a plentiful use of 'nerve'. The chief point to such stories is the denouement, and as this is not striking in "Number Sixteen", one would infer that the author began the story without a clear conception of the way in which the hero was to emerge from his difficulties. The sense of humor is the redeeming feature of the story, as is the case in "Rest for the Weary". This sketch opens very attractively, but toward the end becomes a little too serious. There is no padding in Mr. Morgan's stories; an idea is ever present and consistently developed.

The author of "Dux Femina Facti" and of "Pure Grit" has a facile style which tends to run away with his pen. The two stories could stand some trimming down. In its present shape, the outcome of the house-party love intrigue is not quite apparent, and in "Pure Grit" the colors might be laid on a little more heavily to atone for a plot which is not fully adequate. But the author of these two stories is quite at home in his discursive 'Chat', in which he treats amusingly the queerness of the college man's apparel. One-fourth of the criticism launched at the college man is vacuous and vain, says 'Chat'; to the other three-fourths he says: 'why cavil at our queer customs? They make college life dearer to the memory'. 'Chat' is right; the student in bizarre apparel helps to beautify the landscape, and keeps life in a small town from becoming too prosaic.

Apropos of a recent episode, 'Sanctum' contends that the prerogatives of the senior class ought to be extended to it, and that in them should be vested the directing power—that thereby the democracy of the college is in no way attacked.

The March number of the Monthly closes with several book reviews. The usual thoughtful essay is a little conspicuous by its absence.

GOVERNMENT OF A CITY

Lecture by Prof. Nelson Before City Government Club

On Monday evening in Jesup hall Prof. Henry Loomis Nelson delivered a very entertaining and valuable address on "The character and functions of city government." Dr. Nelson outlined the broad principles of city government and the ideals for the city voter, making clear his points by a wealth of practical illustrations drawn from his own personal observation. The great life of the United States is the life in the city, where minds touch minds, where dwell the great producers of spiritual and intellectual achievement. He who gets the most out of country life is the man who has come from the city, and not the man who has all his life been a "lawyer in the main street of North Adams, or a minister in the country pulpit of Ashfield."

The city's political functions fall, first, into two divisions, (1) its functions not proper to itself, but accruing to it as a servant of the state, as, for example, the police department; (2) its great local functions. Its duties, then, are to protect the property and liberty of the citizens under the law of the state, and to act as the agent of the common people in the transaction of business. Again, the control of the water-supply and the lighting ought to be in the hands of the city. If not, it is a sure sign that corruption exists.

The city has besides certain functions as a co-operative body. It must see that the buildings within its limits be built securely. It must provide for a police department, a health board, a park board, for its public schools, and, to the credit of the cities, let it be said that all but two of the large ones in this country spend more for education than for police protection. But one department in the American city, however, can be really called a success, the fire department, a single-headed, non-partisan department.

It is as much the duty of the young man going into the city to take part in helping the city as it is to take care of himself. The trouble with city government in the past has been that the power to look after city affairs has been taken from the cities and lodged in the states, that, in short, rural politicians control city legislation. Enter, then, into this struggle for home rule for the city as a thoughtful, persistent reformer, and keep a strictly non-partisan basis, always remembering that what is wanted is an administration of affairs by business men in a business way.

The board track was taken up Tuesday and the work of levelling the old campus will be begun soon.

COLLEGE NOTES

Hobson '06 is at the infirmary with a light attack of scarlet fever.

Rev. Robert Weeks '59 of Riverhead, L. I., is in town this week.

Amherst has decided to have no freshman baseball team this year and the game scheduled with 1908 has been cancelled.

J. M. Woodhouse ex-'07, who resigned from college last week, has gone to New Britain, Conn.

Prof. H. D. Wild has consented to serve on the state executive committee of the Y. M. C. A.

Charles J. Bullock, formerly professor of economics at Williams, and now teaching at Harvard, has an article in the April number of the Atlantic monthly on "The Cost of War."

Dr. Donald Sage Mackay, who was to have occupied the college pulpit next Sunday, has been forced through illness to cancel his engagement. As yet no preacher has been secured.

At a meeting of the athletic council held Wednesday afternoon the subject of basketball "W's" was laid on the table, to be taken up again at a full meeting of the council to be held this week.

Dr. H. F. Cleland has a very important bulletin in the series recently published by the United States Geological Survey, on "Fauna of Hamilton Formation of the Cayuga Lake Region in Central New York."

The Williams-Pennsylvania baseball game, originally scheduled for Saturday, April 22, has been transferred to Tuesday, April 18. The game will be played at Philadelphia.

The library has just received copies of two books by prominent Williams alumni, "The front line of the Sunday School Movement," by F. N. Peloubet, D. D., '53, published by the W. A. Wilde Co., Chicago, and "A Group of Great Lawyers," by Peyton F. Miller '67, treating of the life and work of such men as Van Buren, Tilden, Robert R. Livingston and Ben Butler.

Resolutions of the Faculty

At a special meeting of the faculty held Monday evening Prof. Clarke, Prof. Hewitt, and Prof. Russell were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions on the death of Mrs. Franklin Carter. President Hopkins, Prof. Hewitt, Prof. Wild and Prof. Clarke attended her funeral at Waterbury, Conn., today.

Oscar J. Brown, managing editor of the Syracuse university Daily Orange, has been expelled from the University, because he refused to prove or deny an editorial printed in the Orange on March 22. This article classifies several Syracuse courses as "cinch" courses, and states that Syracuse is obtaining the reputation of a college where no work is done.

ALUMNI NOTES

'44—Hon. Marshall Wilcox, the oldest living member of the Berkshire bar, celebrated his 84th birthday on March 19. A number of attorneys called at his home and extended congratulations. Mr. Wilcox was admitted to the bar in Otis in 1847, and has been practicing law in Otis, Lee and Pittsfield nearly sixty years. He has served in both branches of the State Legislature.

'59—Rev. Washington Gladden, moderator of the General Council of the Congregational Churches of this country, preached a sermon to his congregation in Columbus, O. last Sunday in which he stated in emphatic terms that the American Board of Missions should not accept the gift of $100,000 which Mr. Rockefeller has offered. There has been much controversy among Congregationalists as to whether or not this gift should be accepted, and Dr. Gladden has set himself strongly against it, saying that "the money he proffered comes from a colossal estate whose foundations were laid in the most relentless rapacity known to modern commercial history."

'66—Theodore Edwin Button, a well known mechanical engineer and designer, died at his home in Schenectady, N. Y., on February 22. He was employed as an engineer and designer by the General Electric Co. Mr. Button was born in Waterford, N. Y., in 1844, and prepared for college in that city and at Greenwich, Conn. He graduated from Williams in 1866, and was immediately offered a professorship in mathematics at the Annapolis Naval Academy. Declining this offer, he entered into business with his father, who was one of the pioneer manufacturers of hand and steam fire engines in America. Here he displayed his mechanical genius in the perfection of many improvements, the first patent on the modern reciprocating type being issued in his name. In 1891, Mr. Button made his home in Schenectady, where he resided until his death.

'74—Charles Bulkley Hubbell was the principal speaker at a large anti-cigarette mass-meeting attended by eight hundred public school children, in Faneuil hall, Boston, last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Hubbell is ex-president of the Greater New York Board of Education, and for ten years has been in active work against the cigarette evil, especially in connection with truancy among school children.

'96—Asst. Prof. Karl E. Weston, who is absent on leave in Europe, is taking a two years' course in the Sorbonne at Paris. He will spend the summer in Italy and Spain.

LELAND POWERS

Presentation of Belasco and De Mille's "Lord Chumley"

Last Tuesday evening in Jesup hall, before an exceptionally large audience, Mr. Leland Powers, the celebrated impersonator, demonstrated his ability as an actor by his rendering of "Lord Chumley," a play written by Belasco and DeMille. This production was the sixth of the series of the Thompson course entertainments this year. Mr. Powers took all the parts of the cast, and acted them exceptionally well, from the gruff old Adam Butterworth, a retired merchant, to his emotional sister-in-law, Lady Adeline. The contrast between the different characters was distinct, and the audience at all times had a clear conception of the action of the play. In his emotional work especially, was the acting of the impersonator clear-cut and convincing.

Lieutenant Hugh Butterworth, about to depart for Africa with his regiment, has fallen into the clutches of Monsieur Le Sage, a French adventurer who holds a letter which compromises young Butterworth's honor. The latter confides his difficulties to his friend, Lord Chumley, who dearly loves his sister, but has been rejected by her. During the absence of her brother, Le Sage forces Miss Butterworth to consent to marry him, thus hoping to secure her fortune. Lord Chumley, in the meantime, by means of his self-sacrifice and a stroke of good fortune, is enabled to unmask Le Sage's villainy, and the play ends with the recognition by Eleanor Butterworth of her lover's true merit, and a realization of the great service which he has done for her brother.

Town Votes for License

The annual town meeting of the town of Williamstown was held in the opera house on Monday. By the close majority of 45 votes, it was voted to have license in Williamstown, for the year commencing May 1, 1905. At the town meeting last year the town went no-license by a majority of 148 votes, for the year ending May 1, 1905.

At the opening of the meeting, Dr. John Bascom '49 presented a resolution, which was adopted unanimously, expressing to Mrs. F. F. Thompson the town's "appreciation of the fine chapel with which she has adorned the main street."

The following Williams men were elected to town offices: Town clerk, George W. Grundy ex-'97, re-elected; school commissioner for one year in place of Willard E. Hoyt '92, Prof. Henry D. Wild '88; library trustee, Prof. Wild '88; auditor, Chas. S. Cole '70.

AT WOODS HOLL

Description of Work Done—Income of Walker Fund Available.

At a meeting of the Lyceum of Natural History, held in the Biological laboratory lecture room Monday evening, Prof. Samuel F. Clarke told of the work done at the Zoological station at Naples and D. L. Belding 1905 and W. H. Curtiss 1906 outlined the methods followed at Woods Holl.

Prof. Clarke traced the development of biological research work and the foundation of scientific stations. The first of these was the Zoological station at Naples, founded by Prof. Anton Dohrn. Advanced biological investigation of all sorts is carried on, and Williams was the first American institution of any kind to have a table for research work there. Prof. Clarke also mentioned various other biological stations throughout the world, the first among the American stations being that at Woods Holl, Mass.

D. L. Belding 1905, who attended the Marine Biological laboratory last summer, told of the work done by the students at the summer school at Woods Holl in collecting, classifying and studying various forms of marine life, as well as in the courses of Botany and Physiology. This summer a new course, one in "Life Histories," will be offered.

W. H. Curtiss 1906, who for two summers has been an assistant at the U. S. Fish Commission at Woods Holl, explained the methods and lines of work followed there. Both fish-culture and scientific research are carried on, and the especial utility of the station is the work in studying, breeding and developing fishes which are of commercial value.

It is probable that several students of Williams will be present at Woods Holl this summer, as the fund established by the late William J. Walker, the income awarded every fourth year, will be available this year.

Lecture on Hypnotism

Professor Russell delivered a lecture on "Hypnotism" last Tuesday evening to seniors and juniors. After tracing the history of the science from its inception, he contrasted the theories of the two present schools, composed of the followers of Charcot and Bernheim. Next Tuesday at the same hour Professor Russell will lecture upon another phase of the subject, taking up the actual phenomena of hypnotism.

Y. M. C. A. Handbook

The Y. M. C. A. hand-book will be issued at the usual time this year, just before the summer vacation. The following officers have been elected: Editor-in-chief, Lowe '06; editors, Smith '06, Case '07, Kincaid '07, Anderson '08; manager, Klauser '07.

A GENERAL SECRETARY

Important Change Found Necessary for Work of Y. M. C. A.

Plans are being made to secure for the year 1905-1906 a general secretary for the work of the Mills Y. M. C. A. The scope of the Christian Association's activity has now become so extended, that one man's time, taken up as it is by curriculum work and other college duties, can no longer suffice to give the association the constant, careful supervision its manifold activities demand. In the past this available time has in a way been sufficient, though it has always been true, as all former Y. M. C. A. presidents have testified, that the work of the association could be made more far-reaching and more effectual, if one man could have his entire time to devote to it. As the work of the association grows to keep pace with the growth of the college, however, this available time cannot suffice in the future, and permit the association to become the factor it should in college life. For this purpose, following the policy already adopted by Yale, Brown, Dartmouth, Amherst, and others, the Y. M. C. A. will attempt to secure a general secretary for next year's work.

The work of this secretary will in no way supersede the work of the student president of the Y. M. C. A., but rather the work of the one will supplement that of the other. Besides having general supervision of all the detailed departments of association work, the general secretary will pay particular attention to the outside religious interests such as, for example, the constantly growing deputation work in surrounding cities and preparatory schools. To further the systematization of association work thus inaugurated, a room will be set aside on the second floor of Jesup as a Y. M. C. A. office, where the general secretary and student president will have desks, and where the new secretary can be accessible to the student body at stated hours.

Hon. D. Chauncey Brewer '86, of Boston, chairman of the Massachusetts state committee of the Y. M. C. A., is interesting himself in the work of securing the general secretary, and is being assisted by a committee of the faculty. Letters have been written to the alumni in the hope that enough contributions may be secured to endow the position for three years, a long enough time to find out whether the plan will prove as feasible at Williams as it has at other colleges. At all events, it is planned to obtain $1,000 to provide for a general secretary for 1905-1906.

ELY FOOTBALL COACH

Hatch '03 as Assistant.—The System of Graduate Coaching

Morris Ely, Yale '98, coach of the 1904 Williams eleven, has been re-engaged by the football management, through the co-operation of New York alumni, to act as head coach for the season of 1905. James Arthur Hatch '03, captain of the 1903 Williams eleven, will act as assistant and work with Mr. Ely, thus inaugurating a new plan which it is hoped will be the beginning of a system of graduate coaching at Williams.

Football practice will begin about September 11. The coach will be on the field early and for three weeks will conduct practice in person, aided by Mr. Hatch. About two weeks before the close of the season Mr. Ely will again take charge of the eleven in preparation for the Wesleyan and Amherst games. It is also expected that he will be in town at least a part of each week. During his absence the assistant will have full control and will continue the Yale system as taught by Mr. Ely.

Morris Ely is well known to Williams men as a football coach and player of the first order. Throughout his course at Yale he played on the 'varsity squad and in '98 was regular quarterback on the eleven. For the past six years he has been closely connected with the game of football, and has become widely known as an official and coach.

James Arthur Hatch 1903, of Cazenovia, N. Y., played on the Williams 'varsity team for four years at right tackle. At the end of the 1901 season he was elected captain of the 1902 eleven. Graduating from Williams, he entered the Albany law school, from which he will graduate in June. He coached the Colgate team in 1903, and the R. P. I. team in 1904.

ON THE DIAMOND

'Varsity Squad at Work on Old Campus—Prospects for Season

With the coming of fair weather the baseball squad has left the cage and begun outdoor work in earnest. Under the direction of Captain McCarty the team is developing rapidly. Mr. Lewis, captain of the '96 team has been coaching the pitchers. In regard to the prospects for the season as a whole, and the work of the candidates to date, Captain McCarty says:

"The recent change in the weather has been very beneficial to the baseball squad. For four days the squad has been outdoors and the work of the men, especially of the infield, has been good for so early in the year. The prospects for a fine fielding team have not been so bright in years. If the team can hit, there is no reason why Williams should not make a strong showing this year.

"For catchers there is an abundance of material, Waters showing up especially well. Southworth is also doing good work. In the box Williams will be as strong as any college team in the country with two veteran pitchers, Wadsworth and Westervelt, and Ford as reserve. Among the other pitchers, Mills and Pierce are doing the best work.

"For first base, Parsons, Willcox and Harman are the candidates. The latter appears to be doing the best work at present. For second base Bonham is by far the most likely candidate, as both his fielding and batting have been of a high standard. Nesbitt is a fixture at short-stop and at third Neild and Mahan are the two leading candidates.

"For the outfield there are many candidates, including Hogan of last year's team. He will probably play left field with Westervelt and Wadsworth alternating in center. For right field there will undoubtedly be a hard struggle.

"The second team men will be chosen from the present squad, and any time a member of the second team shows his superiority over a man on the 'varsity, he will win the position. At present the squad consists of McCarty, Nesbitt, Wadsworth, Mills, Shedden, Austin, Osborne, Stocking, Parsons 1905; Westervelt, Hogan, Neild, Willcox, 1906; Ford, Warren, Domett, Southworth, Pierce 1907; Bonham, Waters, Mahan, Harman, Gillett, Osterhout, Stower, LaMent, Waterworth, 1908."

Further baseball news will be found on page 7.

AFTER FIFTY-FIVE YEARS

Reunion of the Class of 1850—Twelve Members Living

Among the classes graduated from Williams in years ending with 5 and 0 which are making extensive preparations for reunions at Williamstown in June, one of the earliest is the class of 1850. William D. Porter of Summit, N. J., who has been secretary of the class since its graduation, is making every effort to have all the surviving members present at commencement. Many of them, owing to the great distance they have removed from their former homes, have not met since they parted fifty-five years ago.

The class of 1850 has secured the Manix house on Water street for its headquarters, and the reunion will be held there at 1 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, June 20.

VOL. 19 APRIL 3, 1905, No. 5

The General Secretary

In giving over to a general secretary the direction of the Mills Y. M. C. A., we find an attempt to extend the religious interests of the college. A student president cannot give to his office the time it requires. Aside from this, however, is the inefficiency of student administration. The president assumes his duties, prepared perhaps a little better than most men in college, but with a previous knowledge entirely inadequate to the task before him. In short, he cannot guide religious efforts in the light of experience. The change is commendable, for it aims to correct a fault in the system. Success depends upon the choice of a general secretary. With the wrong man at its head, the association will be no better off than at present, and will fail to fulfill its purpose in college.

The new secretary must be in sympathy with college men, and though not necessarily a Williams man, yet a graduate of recent standing. Such a one would be best qualified to direct voluntary interests, that is, to assist one whose natural tendencies lead him into Y. M. C. A. work, but who has given up on finding conditions unsuitable. Furthermore, the secretary should have the insight to answer the questions: What preachers does the college want? What men will it look forward to?—and the judgment to choose only the topics vital to the time.

He must be a man of administrative ability. With careful control, the work of the seven committees of the association can be greatly enlarged. Certainly there is an opportunity in college for a more active interest in some departments of the Y. M. C. A.

The value of the coach to his team or the instructor to his class lies in effectiveness of method and in originality. So it is with a general secretary. He must do more than tread the old paths. He should be quick to gauge the needs of the college in so far as these are affected by the work of the association, and to broaden the influence exerted by the college through the Mills Y. M. C. A. in the world outside.

Amendment to Constitution of Baseball Association

On Wednesday a college meeting will be held to consider a proposed amendment to the constitution of the baseball association. The amendment provides that the assistant manager be elected a month earlier than heretofore, that is, on or after May 1, and not June 1, according to the present reading of the constitution. The amendment should be passed unanimously. We can conceive of no possible objection to the proposal. On the other hand, an earlier election would be a practical advantage both to the student-body and to the management.

Under the present method, the choice of a baseball manager may or may not be the expression of the wish of a majority of the college. After June 1 examinations and preparation for them take precedence over events of college interest. College meetings held at this time, under such conditions, have more than once been attended by less than half the college. It is thus possible for a minority to successfully oppose the wish of a majority three times as large. It seems to be decidedly unfair to deprive a man of his vote because he fails to be present at a meeting, held at a time when his attendance might mean great sacrifice to his curriculum work.

If the amendment offered is passed, the work of the baseball management will be greatly facilitated. Under the present arrangement, a second team playing in Williamstown, on days that the 'varsity has out-of-town games, must be left in charge of the manager, usually the assistant. To satisfactorily conduct a game on Weston field, is more than one manager can do without the help of an assistant. The expense of hiring men to perform the excess work is unnecessary and avoidable.

—Seniors are requested to hand in cap inscriptions immediately.

BASKETBALL "W"

Council Awards Team Football "W"s—Hockey Insignia

At a meeting of the athletic council held Saturday afternoon the following motion was passed: "That in view of the unprecedented record achieved during the season of 1905 by the Basketball Team, who have won not only the intercollegiate championship of New England, but have laid well-grounded claim to the intercollegiate championship of the country, the Athletic Council award to the team, including the manager, the privilege of wearing the 'W'." The men affected by this notice are Capt. Wadsworth, Mgr. Appell 1905, Cowell, Gardner, Neild 1906, Tower 1907. As the basketball association is under the control of the football association the letter awarded will be the football "W."

At the same meeting the council voted to award the hockey team the insignia "HWT," with crossed hockey sticks, the design of the insignia to be submitted to the athletic council for approval. The following men will receive this monogram: Mellen, Nesbitt '05, Brady '06, Rudd, Townsend '07, Frank, Stower '08.

Lecture by Prof. Clarke

On Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the Biological laboratory Prof. S. F. Clarke will speak on "Some important results of food experiments on the faculty and athletes at Yale." The lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon slides.

ALUMNI NOTES

Ex-'49—David Smith Pierce, a prominent resident of Troy, died at his home in Upper Troy on February 23. His life has been an active and varied one, as he was prominent for years as an artist, an educator and a public spirited man. Mr. Pierce was born in Lanesboro, Mass., where he received his preliminary education. He entered Williams in the class of 1849, but did not stay to complete his course. He was one of the delegates to the first convention of the Republican party.

Ex-'97—Everett Henry Thayer, for three years a member of the class of 1897, died at his home in Yonkers, N. Y., after an illness of a few days, on Friday, March 31. He left college at the end of his junior year, and became associated with Charles Dudley Warner, Edmund Clarence Stedman and Hamilton Wright Mabie '67, in the preparation of the "Library of the World's Best Literature." For six years he was connected with Tiffany & Co., in New York. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at Yonkers.

ON THE TRACK

Regular Practice Wednesday—Outlook for Dartmouth Meet

Daily outdoor track practice will begin on Wednesday. The track on Weston field is in remarkably good shape for so early in the season, permitting outdoor work a week earlier than was expected. Captain Newell and Trainer Seeley will take charge of the candidates at once, and every effort will be made to develop a team to defeat Dartmouth in the dual meet at Williamstown on May 13.

Up to the present time the work of the 'varsity candidates has been largely indoors. A relay squad of 20 men has been given seven weeks of winter practice, and many of the 'varsity men are in fairly good condition. During the past ten days cross-country and individual gymnasium work have been required of the fifty candidates for positions on the track team. While a certain amount of routine will be necessary, an effort will be made to bring variation into the daily practice. It has been thought advisable to keep a small squad over Easter vacation.

One week before the contest with Dartmouth, the regular college meet will be held, when the individual championships will be decided. On the results of the events in this meet will depend largely the choice of a team to represent the college the following Saturday.

The fact that a larger number of men than usual is out for the different events, augurs well for a point-winning team. The prospect for the half, mile and two-mile runs is especially encouraging. The team will be materially strengthened in the weights by Marshall 1908 and in the high jump by M. Brown 1907 and A. M. Brown 1907, whose work has shown constant improvement.

Dartmouth Trial Debates

The Dartmouth preliminary debates will be held Wednesday, April 5, at 7:30 p. m., in the Biological laboratory lecture-room. The subject, the same as for the Williams-Dartmouth debate, is the following: "Resolved, That the Monroe doctrine, as interpreted by President Roosevelt in his last annual message, ought to be adopted as a national policy." Prof. Nelson, Prof. Maxey, and Mr. Clark will serve as judges. The debaters will speak in the order below:

AMHERST LETTER

Studying a Feature of Winter Term—Debate with Bowdoin

Amherst, Mass., April 1.—At Amherst it is perhaps true that the winter term is the time of least activity along lines of outside work and interests. In fact the complaint has been heard that there is nothing to do but study. Whether or not the lamentation can be justified, it is certain that a great deal of studying has been done at Amherst during the past year. Elections to Phi Beta Kappa on the absolute ranking system show eleven seniors attaining a general average of at least 85 per cent, and twelve juniors with a marking of at least 88 per cent.

During the early winter the relay team proved the most important and most satisfying branch of athletics. Cornell was defeated at the B. A. A. and Trinity college in some dual events held at Hartford. The basketball team has had a most disappointing season, losing every game played with a college quintet. Baseball practice is held daily, and the first game will be played with Yale on April 11.

On March 24 was held the fourth intercollegiate debate with Bowdoin. The question was: "Resolved, That President Roosevelt's recommendation that the Interstate Commerce Commission be empowered to fix railroad rates subject to judicial review should be adopted." Amherst had the negative. Bowdoin won the debate.

On March 22 the oratorio "Elijah" was presented by Professor Bigelow's chorus and orchestra in the Town hall. Among the soloists secured for the occasion was Carl Dufft. This is the fifth year in which oratorio work has been successfully carried on at Amherst, and the college is justly proud of its unique attainments along this line of work.

A pleasant feature of the chapel exercises this term has been a series of talks by President Harris on some phases of college life. He has spoken of college classes, college fraternities, college publications, and the intellectual side of college.

THE AMHERST STUDENT.

Concert at North Adams

This evening the combined glee, mandolin and banjo clubs will give a concert at the Congregational chapel in North Adams. This is the first regular concert since that given in Northampton. Some slight changes have been made in the program. "Fill Your Steins" by Carl Mittel will be sung for the first time by the glee club, and Gale 1906 and Smith 1907 will give a banjo duet.

COLLEGE NOTES

Freshman baseball practice will not begin until after Easter.

Assistant-Prof. Perry will take one hour of English 10 for the rest of the year.

The inter-class debate will be held in Jesup hall Friday evening, April 14.

Whittlesey '05 has left college temporarily, owing to trouble with his eyes.

The senior class had its picture taken in caps and gowns on Friday in the entrance to the new chapel.

The annual Lit. meeting, which was to have been held tomorrow evening, has been postponed until Thursday.

Bullard has been elected leader of the 1908 bible-study class for next year, with McIntyre as assistant.

Perry 1906 has been attending the convention of Eastern college Y. M. C. A. presidents, held under the auspices of Wesleyan at Middletown, March 30 to April 2.

At a meeting of the 1907 Gul. board held Thursday evening, Kellogg Patton of Newark, N. J. was elected business-manager of the Gul.

At the organization meeting of the town selectmen, G. W. Grundy ex-'97, was appointed clerk of the board and Clarence M. Smith ex-'77, town counsel.

All men who expect to room in West college next year must pay the treasurer a preliminary deposit of $25 upon signing the room obligations.

The following alumni were in town last week: Ide '71, Hubbell '74, Mann '78, Ide '98, Holmes ex-'98, Palmer '02, Bissell '04, Heermance '04.

A union prayer-meeting for students of each class and for the faculty was held Friday evening in Jesup hall, on the subject "Watchfulness." President Hopkins spoke.

A twelfth subject has been added to the list for the Graves prize essays: "The movement against corporate abuses, as typified by recent attacks on the Standard Oil interests—its sources, phases, extent, and effectiveness."

At the request of Appleton and Co., New York city, who are about to publish a book of short stories by college men, the editor-in-chief of the Lit. has recommended a story by Royal E. T. Riggs 1902, published in Vol. 17 of the Lit. in 1901, entitled "One Thing Thou Lackest."

A practice game between the 'varsity and the second baseball teams was played on the old campus Saturday afternoon. Mills and Wadsworth pitched for the 'varsity and McCarty caught. The second team battery was Pierce and Southworth. The teams showed up well in both fielding and batting.

Coach Expected Today

Coach Dowd is expected today, instead of April 10, as announced before. His five weeks will therefore end on May 7, instead of May 15, as planned. The training table opened this noon, with the following men: McCarty, Wadsworth, Nesbitt 1905; Neild, Westervelt 1906; Ford 1907; and Bonham 1908. Two more men will be taken on Wednesday or Thursday.

The second team will meet Amherst second at Williamstown on May 24.

College Meeting

In accordance with Section 2, Article VI, of the constitution of the baseball association a special college meeting is called for Wednesday, April 5, at 1:30 p. m., to consider an amendment to the constitution. Section 1 of Article VI reads, "The annual meeting shall be held on some date not earlier than June 1st—". It is proposed to amend that section to read, "The annual meeting shall be held on some date not earlier than May 1st—".

Papyrus Club

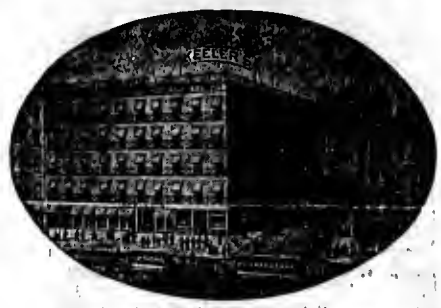
At the last meeting of the Papyrus club a motion was passed to the effect that all members of the club absent from three successive regular weekly meetings shall be dropped from the club. This motion is to go into effect April 6.

The author for discussion at the Thursday meeting will be James Lane Allen.

NOTICES

—Candidates for the moonlights are expected to hand in their essays to Mr. Lewis not later than today.

—Students are requested not to cross the lawn at the northwest corner of Hopkins hall during its present muddy condition.



—Inasmuch as seniors are allowed to pass off their February conditions any time before the Saturday preceding commencement, no notice of the Easter examinations for the removal of these conditions will be sent to them. Time for examinations must be arranged with the instructor.

Columbia has again awarded the 'varsity "C" to the members of the basketball team.

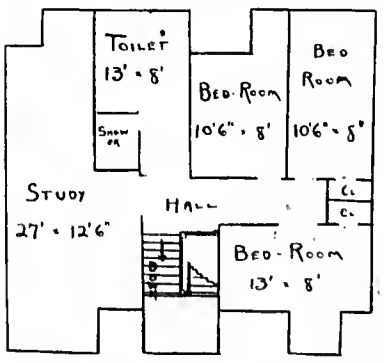
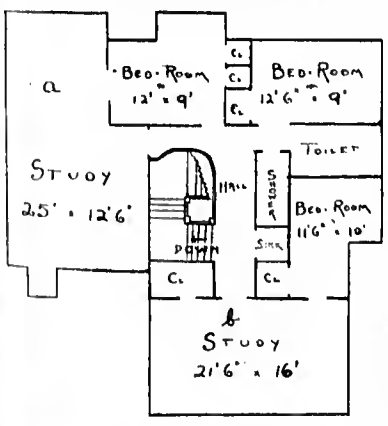
MORGAN HALL REBUILT

Extensive Improvements to the Dormitory—The Plans



The improvements in Morgan Hall, the aggregate cost of which will amount to $32,000, over 60 per cent of the value of the building before the fire, are progressing rapidly under the direction of contractor Perry A. Smedley, and have now reached a stage where a good general idea can be obtained of the building when finished. Work on the west wing of the dormitory has proceeded so far that the rooms will probably be ready for occupation, since all that remains to be done is the plumbing and a little papering, by April 15, while in the central sections the plastering is so nearly completed that the paper-hangers will go to work the last of this week. These two central entries are expected to be finished by the middle of May. No work will be done on the east wing till summer. The roof has been entirely re-slated, and only waits the arrival of of the capstones for the middle fire-walls, to be in its completed form.



1st, 2d and 3d floors, east and west wings.
A—Rooms 3-6-9 (west wing), 30-33 36 (east wing).
B—Rooms 2-5-8 (west wing), 29-32-35 (east wing).
C—Rooms 1-4-7 (west wing), 28-31-34 (east wing).

1st, 2d and 3d floors, central sections.
A—Rooms 12-14-16 (W. Sec.), 20-22-24 (E. Sec.).
B—Rooms 13-15-17 (W. Sec.), 21-23-25 (E. Sec.).

4th floor, central sections.
Room 18-19 (west section), 26-27 (east section).

4th floor, east and west wings.
A—Room 11 (west wing), 37 (east wing).
B—Room 10 (west wing), 38 (east wing).

Interior Alterations

In spite of the reconstruction of the interior, the exterior differs so slightly from that of old Morgan that one not in college during the actual work of improvement could scarcely detect the difference. Two large double dormer windows have been built on the south side of the fourth floor, and four other windows have been cut, one on each floor of the west end. Corresponding openings will be cut in the east front during the summer. The interior has been entirely torn out and the suites constructed on a totally different plan. Not to go into minute details, the new Morgan Hall will be characterized by this complete rearrangement of the partitions, and by extensive improvements in plumbing and fire-protection.

Protection Against Fire

Besides the fire-walls extending through the roof, further fire-protection will be afforded by the new sliding fire-doors provided for the break in these walls at the basement corridor, and by a system of fire-mains in each entry, with a hose on every floor.

Plumbing Facilities

The improved plumbing facilities are easily the leading features of the reconstruction. The large toilet-room in the basement will be completely refitted, with the addition of new showers and tubs. There will be built besides, completely equipped bath-rooms on every floor of the two wings and on the top floor of the two central sections. A shower will also be put in on the three lower floors in the central section, with a lavatory

REV. R. E. SPEER TO SPEAK

In Chapel Sunday Morning and at Y. M. C. A. Evening Service

Rev. Robert Elliott Speer, secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, will occupy the chapel pulpit on Sunday and will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in the evening. Rev. Mr. Speer has been prominent in missionary and international Y. M. C. A. work for over fifteen years. In 1889-90 he was traveling secretary of the volunteer movement for foreign missions, in 1891 was elected secretary of the Presbyterian board, and in 1896-7 made a tour of visitation of Christian missions in Persia, India, China, Japan and Corea. He is the author of numerous books on missionary and religious subjects, and is an eminent authority on all questions of religious and missionary interest.

His greatest fame, however, is as pulpit orator. All those who have at any time heard Mr. Speer will remember him as one of the most earnest, eloquent and convincing of present day American speakers. Besides addressing the students at the morning chapel and Y. M. C. A. meeting, Mr. Speer will take part in a union bible-class meeting in 17 Jesup directly after after chapel. A further opportunity for conference with him by all those interested in religious work will be held in the afternoon, the exact time and place to be announced in chapel.

SITE FOR DORMITORY

Committee Decides on Situation Southeast of Clark Hall

The committee on grounds, buildings and improvements, at a meeting held in Williamstown yesterday, decided to invite architects to submit plans for the new dormitory. The dormitory will be situated on or near the present site of the Sewall house, occupied by Mr. E. M. Lewis, southeast of Clark Hall. Until the presentation and acceptance of the architects' proposals, the plans for the size, style, material and details of the building cannot be decided.

The committee inspected the gymnasium, and decided upon improvements to the locker rooms and bathing facilities. The members of the committee are Dr. Hopkins, Hon. James M. Barker '60 of Pittsfield, Dr. Henry Lefavour '83, President of Simmons college, Boston, and Hon. Bentley W. Warren '85 of Boston.

DARTMOUTH DEBATERS

Gregory '05, Swan '05 and Perry '06, Chosen—Wells '05, Alternate

On Wednesday evening the Dartmouth preliminary debates were held in the biological laboratory, eleven men competing from the different societies. As a result of the debates, the following men were chosen to represent the college against Dartmouth at Hanover, in May: Russell Gregory 1905, of Salem, N. Y., Walter Albert Swan 1905, of Geneseo, N. Y., and Joseph Earl Perry 1906, of Shelburne Falls, Mass.; with Clarence Elmore Wells 1905, of Riverhead, N. Y., as alternate. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, That the Monroe doctrine, as interpreted by President Roosevelt in his last annual message should be adopted as a national policy." The first debate was won by the negative, while on the merits of the second the opinion of the judges was a tie.

The debaters spoke in the order published in the last issue of The Record. The debates as a whole were spirited, and lacked the statistical flavor so often found in debates on more technical subjects. The rebuttals were particularly well done, all the speakers avoiding parallelism of argument, meeting their opponents' reasoning squarely. Judges of debate were Asst. Prof. Webster and Prof. Cleland; the judges of debaters, Prof. Maxcy, Prof. Nelson and Mr. Clark; the presiding officer, Mr. Rees.

Capt. Watson to Coach Hamilton

Harry T. Watson 1905 has consented to coach Hamilton in football next fall. The Hamilton Life says: "He has had a fine record as a player, both in preparatory school and in college, and comes to us highly recommended. With such a man for trainer we should be successful in the majority of our games."

The Football Coaches

If not a mistake, the choice of any other coach than Mr. Ely for the football season of 1905 would at least have been a dangerous experiment. The system, of which he is so thoroughly master, was successfully introduced by him at Williams last fall. Its further development will come in 1905, perhaps even in 1906, and is properly intrusted to a man in whom the college has every reason to feel confidence.

Although graduate coaching has been tried and is now being practiced in other colleges and in universities with satisfactory results, at Williams it is an innovation. With Mr. Hatch '03 as assistant to Mr. Ely, the system is begun under very favorable conditions.

The Hockey Insignia

The action of the athletic council in awarding a monogram to the hockey team is a radical change in the policy of granting athletic insignia. To the team itself it is the recognition of a successful season, of a schedule of matches concluded without a defeat, and an incentive to the players for a stronger team and a more extended schedule next year.

To the lesser branches of athletics in general, the award is of greater importance, for it is the first step in placing them on a fairer working basis. If the policy is carried out, competition for these teams will certainly be keener. As a result, the college will be better represented in the minor sports than it has been in the past.

Teams That Do Harm

Last Saturday a basketball team composed of five Williams men, one or two from this season's college team and the rest drawn from the class teams, played a game in Pittsfield. The team was unrecognized by the athletic council and the men on it played under assumed names, yet the team appeared on the program and in the newspapers as the "Williams Collegiates." During the winter a number of other teams denominating themselves the "Electric Five of Williamstown," the "Williams Fast Five," or the "Williams Athletic Associates," have played in various parts of the State. Late last fall a football team wholly unknown to the athletic council played in Shelburne Falls, was advertised quite without the consent of the managers, as the Williams 'varsity team, and was utterly overwhelmed by a squad of blacksmiths and plowboys.

The Record is optimistic enough to believe that the players on these teams will discontinue the practice of using the college name in any manner whatsoever, if they can be made to realize first, that they are infringing on the rights of others in assuming a privilege not rightfully theirs, and second, that great harm results to the athletic prestige of Williams from indiscriminate use of the college name.

It is almost unnecessary to emphasize the fact that these teams have no legal status under the athletic council, the body which governs all the college athletic teams and from which only they secure their right to use the name of Williams. As a matter of fact, the players tacitly admit that they are ashamed of the practice, since they always appear under false names. The use of "Williamstown" as a means of escape from using the name of the college, is of course, an empty quibble.

But aside from the matter of legality, Williams athletics have more than once suffered from this practice. People who usually witness these games do not as a rule have sufficiently fine discrimination to distinguish between the "Williams Collegiate" and the "Williams College" team. Luckily the game on Saturday was won by a good margin, but supposing the team had lost, as have so many of these irresponsible aggregations, the injury that would have resulted to Williams athletic prestige is obvious.

In short, all teams playing under the college name in games outside the 'varsity or class team schedules, are not only taking upon themselves the exclusive rights of authorized college teams, but are acting directly against the best interests of Williams athletics.

RESOLUTIONS

The faculty of Williams College send to you, our colleague, friend, and former president, our sincere sympathy in the death of Mrs. Carter. We have our share in your loss, for we recall with deep appreciation the fineness and nobility of her character, the sweetness and gentleness of her disposition toward all. We recall, also, the grace and dignity with which, during your long administration, she discharged the varied social duties of her position.

We gratefully remember her unfailing courtesy toward us and our families, as well as her devotion to the best interests of the students, which won for her the esteem and affection of all connected with the college.

We desire, also, personally to extend our heartfelt sympathy to the members of your family.

Samuel F. Clarke,
John H. Hewitt,
John E. Russell,
Committee of the Faculty.

Geological Trip

Through invitation of Prof. W. M. Davis, geology professor at Harvard. Dr. H. F. Cleland and six or eight members of his geology class, will join an expedition to go from Harvard next week for the purpose of geological study in the vicinity of Syracuse, N. Y. Probably a dozen Harvard men will make the trip, which is to start April 15. Several days will be spent in practical study of the vicinity. The region around Syracuse is of especial interest to geologists because of the passage of a glacier over the country, and the destruction of the original outlet to the Great Lakes, in the days when there is thought to have been a waterway from them to the Mohawk, and thence to the Hudson river. This glacial structure will be the principal object of study of Prof. Davis' expedition. A special dispensation of cuts will be granted to those who make the trip.

For Work at Woods Holl

At a recent meeting of the Lyceum of Natural History it was stated that through the kindness and liberality of Mr. Edmund Seymour '82, the tuition fee of fifty dollars was provided, in order to send a member of last year's class in Biology 2 to attend the summer course at the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Holl.

—Because of the danger of damage to adjacent buildings, ball playing on the campus behind Hopkins hall is prohibited. Students are requested to comply with this notice.

LECTURE BY PROF. JAGGAR

Thompson Course Entertainment—Mont Pelee and St. Pierre

A supplementary Thompson course entertainment, a stereopticon lecture on Mont Pelee and St. Pierre, will be given this evening in Jesup hall at 8 o'clock. The lecturer, Prof. T. A. Jaggar, is geologicnl professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and has for some years been engaged in study of the geological structure of the islands of the Caribbean Sea. At the time of the St. Pierre disaster, Professor Jaggar visited the scene of the eruption of Mont Pelee and La Soufrriere and took photographs of the volcanos and the destroyed city. The stereopticon slides to be shown tonight are from these views. In connection with an explanation of the views, Prof. Jaggar will speak briefly of the volcanic structure of the vicinity.

Second Lecture on Hypnotism

Tuesday evening, Professor Russell delivered to the members of the upper classes the second of his series of lectures on "Hypnotism." Three main topics were treated, the conditions necessary to produce hypnotic suggestion, theories which are advanced by experimentors concerning its nature, and some of the actual phenomena which may be produced. The subject of next week's talk will be "The Effects of Hypnotism."

ALUMNI NOTES

'72—Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall, president of Union Theological Seminary, will deliver the William Belden Noble series of six lectures next year at Harvard University. The general theme of his lecture will be "The Attitude of Christ towards foreign Races and Religions." The lectures will be delivered during the last week of March and first two weeks of April, 1906.

Ex.'85—Hon. John Todd Hill, American consul at San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua, died suddenly in his office on Sunday evening, February 19. For some time Mr. Hill had been complaining of spinal trouble, but little was thought of it. However, on Sunday evening, he arose from his desk, where he had been writing, was suddenly seized with a hemorrhage, and died before aid could reach him. Mr. Hill lived until recently at Saybrook, Conn., where he had been devoting his time to the art of sculpture, in which he was very proficient. He was appointed to the Central American consulate, and took charge March 23, 1904. Mr. Todd was for two years a member of the class of 1885 at Williams, but left college before graduation.

1902—Orwell B. Towne, formerly of Saratoga Springs, who has been instructor of oratory in Washburn college at Topeka, Kansas, has recently been made professor.

1904—Herbert L. Gutterson, who has been teaching in the winter school of Paul C. Ransom '86 in Florida, has decided to take up the study of law next year.

in each suite of rooms. There will thus be shower-baths on every floor of every entry. All the plumbing will be equipped with special fixtures.

Special Features

Special features are the hardwood floors throughout the entire structure, the electric lights in every room and corridor, the corridor walls finished in hard English cement, the fine quartered oak stairs, and the clothes-presses, which have been everywhere enlarged.

Explanation of Plans

The rearrangement of the partitions can best be explained by the plans themselves. The plans are drawn for the west wing and west central section. The east wing is exactly like the west wing, except, of course, that the room, marked a, plan 1, is on the inside in the east wing and would thus be on the right-hand side of a similar plan. The true relation of the rooms can be seen by holding the editorial page to the light and looking through at the cut from the back. The same reversal is true of the east central section with the west, for example, the long study, plan 3, in the east central section adjoins the one in the west central section. The first floor of the west wing differs slightly from the plan, since the entrance comes on this floor instead of in the basement, as in the east wing. Cl.=closet. Lo.=locker. Prices for these rooms are posted in Hopkins.

Baseball Practice

Coach Dowd's work with the baseball squad for the past few days has been confined chiefly to batting grounders to the infield candidates. In addition to the usual batting and fielding practice, a practice game was held between the 'varsity and the scrub on the old campus yesterday afternoon. The 'varsity line-up was as follows: Westervelt, Mills, p, McCarty c, Harman 1b, Bonham 2b, Nesbitt ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Wadsworth, Westervelt cf, Waters rf. Pierce and Gillett pitched for the scrub. The 'varsity won by a score of 14-2, scoring nine runs in the last two innings.

For Earlier Elections

At a college meeting held in Jesup hall Wednesday at 1:30 p. m., section 1 of article VI, of the constitution of the baseball association was amended exactly as proposed in the manager's announcement in the last issue of The Record, changing the earliest date for election of an asisstant baseball manager from June 1 to May 1. The same change was made in section 1 of article VI, in the track association's constitution.

55's SEMI-CENTENNIAL

A Distinguished Class—Twenty Members Still Living

In the old village meeting-house where Field Memorial Park is now, in June, 1855, fifty-one men received their degrees, and became alumni of the college. Years later four sometime members received "nunc pro tunc" degrees and became enrolled as members, bringing the total to fifty-five. Today twenty men survive, of whom the youngest is sixty-eight, and the oldest seventy-eight years of age. It may be doubted whether any Williams class embraces a stronger array of names of men who have distinguished themselves. On the roll of the class are sixteen lawyers, four college professors, two journalists, five authors, three physicians and seventeen clergymen, of whom three were foreign missionaries in India and China, and one President of Pasumalai college in India. Ten members of the class served in the Union army, one chaplain, two captains, one major, and six colonels. Two died from diseases contracted in service. Two state senators, two representatives in the lower house of congress and two United States senators belong to '55, a statue of one of the latter, the late John James Ingalls, being placed in Statuary hall in the capitol at Washington.

Prof. Charles Elliott Fitch, Regent of the University of the State of New York, and Chief of Records in the New York Department of Education, is secretary of '55. He is making plans to reunite the class at commencement. Its surviving members are residents of eight eastern states. It is probable that at least one half of the class will be present to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary. The class will meet in the senior prayer-meeting room No. 8 in Jesup hall, on Tuesday afternoon, June 20, at three o'clock. The members will then take a drive over the old scenes about Williamstown and at seven o'clock will hold a dinner at the Richmond hotel in North Adams.

Concert in North Adams

The musical clubs gave a very successful concert in the Congregational chapel at North Adams, Monday night. On account of the illness of Pevear '07, his solos were omitted. In their place, Lord '05 sang with his usual charm two dainty little German songs,—"An Episode" and "The Young Maidens," by Herrmann Noehe. The well-known "Dixie Kid" by the entire glee club was substituted for "If you love me, Lindy" and Gale and Smith gave a taking banjo duet.

Barrett '06 and Ford '07 have left the infirmary.

A STRONG SPEAKER

Three Inspiring Addresses by Robert E. Speer Yesterday

Mr. Robert E. Speer, one of the most brilliant of American orators, and most inspiring of American religious workers, visited the college on Sunday, delivering three of the most searching, helpful addresses given before the college in a long time.

At morning chapel Mr. Speer spoke from the text John 1. 42; Thou shalt be called Cephas, which is by interpretation, rock. Mr. Speer divided men into three classes, those who appear good on the outside but are rotten inside, those who, like the rich young ruler, are good inside and out, but their goodness negative, and those who are very good inside, but often have a rough exterior, like Peter in the text. Mr. Speer pleaded for the third class, advising each man to ask himself to which class he belonged.

Immediately after the chapel service Mr. Speer addressed a union meeting of the bible classes in 17 Jesup hall. Speaking on reasons why men should study the Bible, he said, in brief: Some books are valuable for the greatness of their author, some for the importance of their subject matter. The Bible excels in both of these respets. It is a book which all should study, since it treats of three questions we all naturally ask ourselves; where did man come from, what are we here for, and whither are we going. It is a "streak of treason" in a college man not tostudy the Bible, and then pretened to be an educated man.

Mr. Speer's third address was given at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday evening on "The ideals of manliness, as embodied in Jesus Christ." Mr. Speer said that no one was a man, in the complete meaning of the word, because of mere intellectual or athletic prowess. No "beast body" or intellectual cleverness can atone for lack of moral qualities. To be a man, one must have the five great moral qualities of Jesus: Truth, purity, decision and energy, gentleness, holiness. Mr. Speer also gave personal conferences to men interested in missionary and religious work, at four o'clock Sunday afternoon and after the Y. M. C. A. meeting. During his stay at Williams he was the guest of President Hopkins.

Moffett '07, Brockway' 07, C. D. Sheldon '08 and Crombie '08 are in the infirmary.

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Reunion of the Class of '65—Thirty-five Members Survive

The class of 1865, the last class which graduated in the old village meeting-house at the head of Main street, will celebrate its fortieth anniversary at Williamstown at Commencement. The class graduated fifty members; today twenty-eight of them survive, besides seven sometime members. The class entered college during the stirring days of the first campaigns of the Civil war, and graduated only a few months after the surrender of Lee at Appomattox. Their whole course was spent in the disquieting days of the nation's greatest struggle. Seven of the class were in the Union army, one of whom died in service in 1864. The class includes two college presidents, five ministers, seven doctors, three lawyers, one of whom is a member of Congress, and one a judge of the supreme court of California; a state senator, and two missionaries, one in Chili and one in China.

The thirty-five survivors are well scattered, some of them living in Kansas, Colorado, Texas, California, Valparaiso, Honolulu and Shanghai. Justin Kellogg of Troy, is making extensive plans to bring together as many as possible at Williamstown. It is expected that at least twenty members will be here, and will attend the reunion banquet at the Greylock hotel on Tuesday evening, June 20.

Special Meeting Held Saturday at Pittsfield

The Williams College Interscholastic Track Association held a special meeting at the Hotel Wendell in Pittsfield last Saturday, to discuss the question of admitting the Albany High school and the Sedgwick school of Great Barrington to the organization and to consider several proposed changes in the constitution. Delegates representing Williamstown, Adams, Pittsfield, Drury and Searles High schools were present at the meeting, at which Manager Goodwillie of the track association presided.

It was decided to put over the question of admitting the two schools until the annual meeting in December. Henceforth, through a change in the constitution, an athlete will be allowed to compete in different events only four years in succession, instead of five, as

LIT. ELECTIONS

Three New Members Chosen—Dutton '07 Elected Chairman

The annual meeting of the editors of the Literary Monthly, held last Thursday evening, resulted in the election to the board of Albert Francis Buchanan '06, of Indianapolis, Ind., Shepard Ashman Morgan '06, of Rochester, N. Y., and George Burwell Dutton '07, of Buffalo, N. Y., the last named being chosen chairman. Barnaby Matthew Hogan '06, of Williamstown, was made business manager. John Adams Lowe '06, of Fitchburg, Mass., is the only member remaining on the board from last year. The number of the Literary Monthly which appears in May will be the first issue of the magazine by the new board.

Saturday afternoon Buchanan tendered his resignation, which was accepted by the board.

'VARSITY BASEBALL

Second Team Defeated in Seven Innings 7-1

A second game between the 'varsity and the scrub was played on the old campus Saturday afternoon, the 'varsity winning in seven innings by a score of 7-1. Ford and Westervelt pitched for the 'varsity, and Pierce and Gillett for the scrub. The 'varsity line-up was as follows: Ford, Westervelt p, McCarty c, Willcox 1b, Bonham 2d, Nesbitt ss, Neild 3b, Hogan lf, Westervelt, Osborne cf, Warren rf.

Improvements to Diamond

As a first step in the improvement of the old campus, the baseball management has put up a permanent backstop at the northwest corner of the campus. The backstop is eight feet high, and built in three sections, the central one twenty-six feet in length, the two wings each thirteen feet.

During the week men have been at work on the Weston field diamond, enlarging the skinned portion of the field, so work on the old campus will not begin until tomorrow on Wednesday. Since third base is at present eighteen inches higher than home plate, about half of this rise will be cut off and used to fill in around first base. The whole ground, especially about third, will be rolled and levelled.

VOL. 19 APRIL 10, 1905, No. 7

The Literary Monthly

At their last meeting the senior editors of the Literary Monthly severed their connection with the magazine, and intrusted its publication for the coming year to the new board from 1906 and 1907. Although one more number will be given to the college by the 1905 board, its active relation to the literary interests of the college is practically ended. There is far less to criticise in the work of the retiring board than there is to praise.

The Lit. has broadened its field. It has succeeded in getting an intimate view of the college, and without discarding for a moment its old-time dignity, has discussed the balder phases of our every-day life. Sanctum has made our democracy its theme, compared it with that found elsewhere, and arrived at a square conclusion. It has taken a fair position on the vital questions which the college-body has this year been called upon to decide. Sanctum has dipped its pen even into the fraternity system at Williams, writing hard and furiously against the methods "pursued by some fraternities" in undergraduate elections. Chat has gone less deep, and in lively phrases has presented a true picture of our superficialities.

The thoughtful essay takes its place at the head. Though by no means new to the magazine, the essay has this year occupied a place which we trust it will retain. Except in one instance, the short story has lacked the chief requisite, originality. The verse has been uniformly excellent, reaching its high-water mark in "The Quest," "A Nocturne" and "The Father's Children." The Record extends to the Literary Monthly congratulations and wishes for its continued good-fortune.

A Sophomore Chairman

We notice with disapproval the election of a sophomore as chairman of the Literary Monthly board, to the exclusion of upperclassmen members of the board. Underclassmen have been placed in charge of undergraduate interests before, but under far different circumstances. A sophomore was chosen captain of the 'varsity basketball five two years ago, there being at that time no senior or junior on the team.

In the present instance, custom has been disregarded, precedent to the contrary notwithstanding. The precedent, however, is not clear. In April 1896 the election of a sophomore editor was made by a board, five of whom were members of '98, and one only from '97. A change was subsequently made in the constitution, elections being held by the retiring board instead of the incoming board, perhaps for the purpose of meeting such a contingency. In connection with the question of hazing and democracy, the Lit. (Vol. XX, No. 8, p. 373-4) argues that the prerogatives of the senior class be reserved to it. "If a college education is at all valuable for giving a man good judgment, then necessarily the average senior is more mature and of better judgment than the average member of any other class, and, this being true, it is ordinary common sense to entrust the complete direction of affairs to the senior class." The writer says further that, although the distinction between the sense of juniors and seniors may be difficult, we must construct our society on the law of averages. If this last is so, is it not equally true that, wherever possible, the direction of affairs which have passed out of senior control, should devolve upon the junior class?

The Thompson Course

The Thompson course entertainments seem to grow better every year. For the program offered this winter it is indeed difficult to find a just word of criticism. The attendance, both of the college and townspeople, has in almost every instance been limited only by the capacity of the hall, conclusive evidence of the popularity of the entertainment course.

To Mrs. F. F. Thompson, for providing funds for the course this last winter, and showing a personal interest in its management, the college desires to express its appreciation.

ERUPTION OF MONT PELEE

Illustrated Description of the Catastrophe of May 8, 1902

The seventh and last number of the Thompson entertainment course was given in Jesup Hall Thursday night by Prof. Thomas Augustus Jaggar, jr., Ph. D., assistant professor of geology in Harvard University and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Prof. Jaggar lectured upon the eruption of Mont Pelee in 1902, in a scholarly manner, illustrating his description by stereoptieon views taken on the scene two weeks after the disaster, dealing not only with the awful results of the catastrophe in the sacrifice of human life, but also explaining simply and logically the causes of the phenomena of the disaster.

Prof. Jaggar was one of a party of geologists who embarked on a tour of observation and study on the relief steamer "Dixie," which arrived in Martinique thirteen days after the first, and fatal, eruption of May 8, 1902. In his lecture, the speaker first described the disastrous eruption of La Souffriere in St. Vincent, May 7, 1902, in which over two thousand lives were lost, followed on the next day by the terrible eruption of Pelee, wiping out the city of St. Pierre at its feet, with a loss of twenty-five thousand lives.

He showed the startling contrast between the city of St. Pierre, lying peacefully on the slopes of Mont Pelee, at the edge of a little harbor, backed by the red-tiled roofs and palm-lined streets of the city; and the same spot as it appeared to the geological party when nothing remained but huge piles of bricks, beams and debris, scattered in the utmost confusion, and mantled with a thick layer of volcanic dust and ashes. So dire was the havoc wrought by the blast of volcanic spume, that only one life, that of an entombed prisoner, was spared of all those in the ill-fated city; and so thoroughly was the city destroyed that the services of a guide were needed to point out which were the streets, and which the sites of buildings.

After the danger of eruptions was passed, Dr. Jaggar's party ascended the sides of the volcano, and explored La Riviere Seche, La Blanche Riviere, the cleft from which issued the main force of the eruption, and traversed the whole region blighted by the blast of igneous rock, dust and ashes. Some beautiful views were shown of the huge volumes of smoke, cauliflower-shaped, which ascended from the crater, and rose to a height of five miles. Clouds of dust and ashes were belched forth, were blown to sea, and fell nine hundred miles from Pelee.

The peak of La Souffriere was also ascended, and for two hours the party stood on the edge of the crater, a mile across and two thousand feet deep. In conclusion Prof. Juggar told of the immense value of such object-study in the field of geology; for, in the space of a few hours phenomena of eruption, erosion, formation and sedimentation formulate, which, under the ordinary processes of nature, would take centuries to materialize.

formerly. It was also provided that to be eligible for the meet, the members of the team must have attended school for a full year and have attained the necessary standard of scholarship during the two months previous to the meet. Hereafter, the two-mile bicycle race will be omitted. The Pittsfield High scool was presented with the banner won last June.

On the Track Today

The three weeks preliminary practice of the track team has been concluded and regular track work was begun on Weston field this afternoon. The new system of individual work tried this year has proved very successful. Over fifty men have been doing regular gym. and cross-country work and all seem in good shape to begin training on the cinder track.

Owing to the steady cold weather of the past winter, the track was in better shape than ever this spring, and last week it has been thoroughly filled and rolled and is now in far better condition than at this time last year.

Among the new men who have shown consistent improvement from the preliminary work are M. Brown '07 and A. M. Brown '07 in the high jump, Marshall '08 in the shot-put, and Winslow '07 in the pole-vault.

To Alumni and Undergraduates

In commemoration of the expedition to the Pacific coast in 1804 of Meriwether Lewis and William Clark, an Exposition will be held at Portland, Oregon, from June 1 to November, 1905. The University club of Portland will be pleased to extend the privileges of the club rooms and restaurant to all college men.

A Williams dinner will be given at the club Saturday, July 15th, 1905. It is hoped that all Williams men planning to visit Portland during the Exposition will arrange their trip so as to be present on this date.

More detailed information may be obtained by communicating with R. F. Guerin, 447 Columbia street, Portland, Oregon.

A baseball team has been organzed at the Netherleigh, with Osiborne '05 as captain.

ALUMNI NOTES

'77—Prof. Albert H. Tolman, Ph. D., is a professor in the department of English in the University of Chicago. Prof. Tolman is recognized as an authority on Shakespeare, and is the author of several books on his poems.

'85—James Craig McLanahan died at Philadelphia on March 4, after an illness of six months. Mr. McLanahan was born in Hollidaysburg, Pa., May 22, 1862, and prepared for college in Prof. Stewart's academy in his native town and at the Greylock preparatory school at South Williamstown. He entered Washington and Jefferson college, in Pennsylvania, but after remaining there two years, entered Williams and graduated with the class of 1885. He graduated from the law school of the University of Pennsylvania in 1887, but did not apply for admission to the bar until 1894. Mr. McLanahan was engaged in the iron business in Lawrence county, Tenn., until 1894, when he was admitted to the bar. He never engaged in the practice of law, but became extensively interested in the real estate business in Philadelphia and Nashville, where he resided at the time of his death. In his last will he made Williams college the residuary legatee of his estate.

'92—Munson Burton is vice-president and manager of the Mankato Mills Co., at Mankato, Minn.

'93—Frank E. Parks is superintendent of the open-hearth department of the Carnegie Steel Co.'s large mills at Duquesne, Pa.

'94—Miles T. Hand is with the National Elevator Company at Honesdale, Pa.

'96—Dr. James H. Irish is now head surgeon of the Syracuse Homeopathic hospital.

'97—C. A. Wright has been chosen one of the field coaches of the Columbia football team for next fall.

1901.—R. P. Bloom has recently secured a position with the Syracuse Railroad Construction company.

1904—Winthrop D. Foster, who has been teaching physics, has accepted a position with L. M. Barrett & Co., wholesale druggists at Chicago.

1904—W. H. Peabody won third place in the pole vault, with a vault of 11 feet, in the open meet held by the Illinois Athletic Club, in the Chicago Coliseum on March 28.

Ex-'05—Brastow has recently left the hardware business with which he was connected and has joined the editorial staff of the Illustrated Sporting News.

Ex-'07—Horsley is now engaged in the packing business in Chicago.

Lecture by Prof. Clarke—Results of Food Experiments at Yale

Last Friday evening, in the Biological Laboratory, Professor S. F. Clarke delivered an interesting lecture on the experiments which have been tried at Yale during the past few years, to ascertain how much food is actually required by the average man. Professor Clarke prefaced his remarks by telling what had been done up to the time when these experiments began. This, he said, had been very little, considering the great practical importance of the work.

The first experimental step was taken by a group of men in New Haven, most of whom were members of the faculty of Sheffield Scientific School. It was found that by very largely decreasing the amount of proteids consumed, and of other kinds of food to a lesser extent, accompanied by a more thorough mastication, great benefits resulted. Not only did the appetite become keener, but endurance and capacity for work were increased, and even bodily ills disappeared.

The next group experimented upon were a squad of soldiers belonging to the hospital corps. Not only did their general health improve under the new diet, but their physical strength increased wonderfully, in some cases more than doubling. This condition was, however, partly brought about by exercise in the Yale gymnasium.

The benefits of the system were, however, best shown by its effect on eight Yale athletes, all men in the pink of condition. Although their strength was not so greatly increased as in the case of the soldiers, the results were entirely conclusive. For instance, one man's total strength increased from 5,700 points to 7,100, and another's from 6,000 to 9,400.

All these experiments, then, seem to justify the conclusion that a healthy man whose activity is mainly mental, or even one who is engaged largely in physical exercise, can eat a much smaller amount of proteid food than is customary without any loss, but rather with a positive gain in mental and physical vigor.

Y. M. C. A. Handbook

The 1905-1906 Y. M. C. A. handbook will be the same size as in 1904-1905, and will be bound in flexible leather, with gilt edges, and, instead of the letter "W," the name of the college in gold script letters on the cover. A cut of the Thompson Memorial chapel will be used as a frontispiece. The book will contain a map of Williamstown, showing college buildings, fraternity houses and other buildings of interest.

UNION SATURDAY

First Baseball Game of Season—The Batting Order

The first baseball game of the season will be played Saturday afternoon at 2:30 on Weston field if possible. Work has been done on the diamond all the week, and in spite of Tuesday's rain it is hoped to have the field in shape for Saturday. In case Weston is not in shape, the game will be played on the old campus. The visiting team is composed mostly of new material containing but four of last year's nine. It has had about the same amount of outdoor practice as Williams, but has had the experience of one game at West Point Saturday, when it succumbed to the cadets by a score of 5-0.

The two teams will begin the game as follows:

Williams	Union
McCarty, c. Capt.,	2, Diver
Bonham, 2	m, Hagar, capt.
Nesbitt, s	l, Colburn
Westervelt, m	3, Hildreth
Hogan, l	1, Rider
Neild, 3	r, Taylor
Warren, Osterhout, r	s, Vogt
Harman, 1	c, Harvey
Wadsworth, Ford, p	p, Davis

The substitutes for Union are Jewell, Richards, Tiedeman.

Two pitchers will be used by the Purple during the game, and possibly all three.

With regard to the general development and personnel of the team, Coach Dowd says:

"The team is showing up very satisfactorily so far, considering how poor the weather has been, and the shape in which the old campus is at present. I look for marked improvement as soon as we are able to get on Weston. The team

INCENDIARISM

Grave Charge Against Prisoner —Trial May 3

Important meetings of Philologian and Philotechnian were held last evening. In both societies changes to the present constitutions were proposed, to make them comply better with present conditions. These will be acted upon at the next meetings. In Philotechnian it was voted to expel from the society any member who fails to pay his fine within a specified time. A committee was also appointed to make an effort to procure a larger attendance.

Shoudy '05 and McIntyre '08, the 'Logian committee for arranging the details of the mock trial, to take place May 3, also submitted their report. The crime with which the prisoner is to be charged, will be that of having set fire to Morgan hall. Gregory '05 will act as judge, A. P. Newell '05 as prosecuting attorney, and Pettit '05 as attorney for the defense. Witnesses, jurymen, etc., will be impersonated by other members of the two societies. The trial will probably take place in Griffin hall.

1908 Baseball Schedule

The following schedule has been arranged for the freshman baseball team:

May 1—Williamstown high school.

May 3—Pittsfield high school at Pittsfield.

May 6—Albany Collegiates at Williamstown.

May 13—Union freshmen at Williamstown.

May 16—Williamstown high school.

May 24—Williston at Easthampton.

If possible, another game will be arranged to take the place of the Amherst freshmen game which was recently cancelled.

Sophomore—Freshman Debate

The first annual sophomore-freshman debate will take place tomorrow evening, April 14, at 7:30, in Jesup Hall. The question of discussion is "Resolved: That the present policy of the southern states toward the negro race is for the best interests of the negro." 1907 upholding the affirmative and 1908 the negative. The speakers in the order in which they will appear, are, for 1907, Blagbrough, Case, Clark, (captain); for 1908, Murray, Scott, Westermann, (captain). Clarey 1907 and Anderson 1908 are alternates. The judges are Prof. Nelson, Prof. Smith, and Mr. D. T. Clark, with Prof. Wild as presiding officer.

TENNIS OUTLOOK

Tri-collegiate Tournament at Williamstown—Other Events

Judging from the number of tennis players who are still in college and who played on last year's team, the outlook for a most successful season is particularly promising. Besides the two men who so successfully represented Williams in the New England intercollegiate tournament at Boston last spring, there are two other members of the team still in college. These, together with several good players who entered last fall, make the prospect exceedingly bright.

Three or four dual matches have already been arranged by the manager and it is probable that the final schedule will contain five tournaments besides the Triangular and New England Intercollegiate championships. The Triangular tournament, in which Dartmouth, Wesleyan, and Williams will compete, will take place at Williamstown this year. As in the other branches of athletics, relations will be resumed with Amherst in tennis, and that college will send a team to Williams during the latter part of the season.

The team this year will be made up of four men, in the majority of the team matches, but probably this number will be increased to six in at least two meets. The association courts, which were completed late last fall, will be put into condition in a short time. With the addition of these new courts, an opportunity will be given to more men for practicing, and it seems likely that a greater amount of interest will be taken in tennis than ever before. Until this year the association has always been handicapped by lack of courts but this condition has, to a large degree, been met by the construction of courts by the athletic association. The schedule of matches will be issued in the near future.

Last Meeting of Classical Society

The Classical society held a meeting in the library on Tuesday evening. After a short introduction by Prof. Wild, portions of the Dialogue of Cicero's "De Senectute" were read by the following members of the society: Prof. Kellogg; Hunt, Thing, Hack and Cheydleur 1905; Reid, Wilbur, Wakefield and Andrews 1906. It was decided after some discussion to hold no more meetings this year.

D. P. Brown '08 is seriously ill at the infirmary with measles.

THIRD PRACTICE GAME

'Varsity Defeats Scrub Team by Score of 10-2

The third practice game between 'varsity and scrub, played on the old campus yesterday afternoon, resulted in a victory for the 'varsity by a score of 10-2. For the 'varsity, Wadsworth pitched the first six innings and Westervelt the remainder of the game. Pierce began the game in the box for the scrub, but was replaced by Mills in the sixth, who in turn gave way to LaMent in the eight. The teams played an extra inning for practice.

The scrub started strong, scoring two runs in the first on hits by Miller and Osterhout and a two-bagger by Austin, while the 'varsity were blanked in the first two innings. A run however, was earned in both the third and fourth, while a pair of errors at short, after Wadsworth's long home run hit to the heating-plant, brought three more tallies in the fifth.

During the remaining five innings the 'varsity scored five more runs, long hits by Parsons and Stocking proving features, while the scrubs were unable to do much with Wadsworth and Westervelt's pitching. McCarty, Bonham and Neild hit well for the 'varsity, while of the scrubs Osterhout batted strongly, and Willcox fielded well. Miller accepted five chances in left, one of them exceptionally difficult. The score by innings was as follows:

Amherst-Williams Chess

The chess club has just accepted a challenge for a tournament with the Amherst team. While no definite date has yet been set, it is probable that the teams will meet early next month. The match will be played in Williamstown.

Sixty men are now candidates for the track team.

VOL. 19 APRIL 13, 1905, No. 8

The First Game

The baseball season opens this year under most favorable circumstances. Consistent work in the cage and early outdoor practice have resulted in rounding the team into first-class shape for the opening game. The wealth of good material in the freshman class, the few 'varsity men lost from last year'a nine, a brace of experienced pitchers and catchers, a second team to work with, a week's hard playing in the south to swing the team into line for the Brown and Columbia games, and lastly a coach as thorough a teacher as he is a good player—all these tend toward but one thing in Williams baseball this year, and that is, success.

The 'varsity meets Union Saturday afternoon in the first game of the season. A decisive victory will inspire the team with confidence for the more difficult contests ahead. The presence on Weston field is needed of every man in college. It is safe to say that the nine will do its share toward starting the season in the right way. The student-body should do theirs.

A Practical Need

With the preparation of Weston field for the twenty-five or more baseball games and track meets which will be held there this year, and with the necessary daily practice of the two teams, the question again comes up of making suitable provision for the physical welfare of the athletes after the strain of work on the field.

The principal disadvantage in the use of Lasell gymnasium for this purpose, is its distance from Weston field. Aside from being an actual discomfort to the 'varsity and to visiting teams, the present system works directly against the careful and systematic development of an athletic team. It is absolutely imperative that every candidate receive instant attention on leaving the field or track. To insure such care, a building equipped with hot and cold shower baths, and other accessories, should be available on Weston field.

Two plans have been suggested. The first is to utilize for this purpose the space under the grand stand. At present this large room, about 100 feet long by 20 wide, is used only as a storehouse for athletic supplies. It is only a question of a year or two before repairs will be necessary to this part of the stand. If the second plan is not followed, it seems that the room here offered could well be divided up for shower baths and locker rooms. We find that the total expense for flooring, ceiling and partitions, two shower baths, heating the rooms, lighting, constructing 75 lockers, etc., would amount to about $1,850.

The other plan is to build a club house on Weston field which would meet all the requirements of the situation. It is understood that this has already been considered by the college, but no action has as yet been taken. A building of the same style and size as that on Percy field, Ithaca, would most satisfactorily supply the need. The cost of such a structure would necessarily be considerable; yet it appears that, in providing for more permanent quarters, accommodations for a greater number of men, and more extensive equipment, a club house would in the end be the better investment. Whether the funds come from the college, the athletic council, by private donation, or a combination of these, the fact remains that, in this respect, Williams' athletic teams are handicapped by a condition with which few other colleges have to contend.

College Preachers

The recent visit of so prominent a public speaker as Mr. Robert E. Speer has brought into prominence what is perhaps the most obvious improvement in the religious life of the college, due to this year's Y. M. C. A. management. We refer to the uniformly high standard of addresses delivered at morning chapel and at Y. M. C. A. meetings. Dr. Cadman, Dr. Graham Taylor, Dr. William Elliott Griffis, and Mr. Speer mark the topmost level of excellence.

However, all divines cannot be Speers or Taylors, and four Sundays of brilliancy would not atone for forty of dulness. The greatest improvement has been shown in the rank and file of Sunday speakers. Almost without exception they have been men of power, men able first to hold the attention of the college body and then stimulate its thought, thus conferring real benefit by their addresses.

20th ANNIVERSARY

Reunion of the Class of '85—Sixty-One Graduated

The class of 1885 will celebrate its twentieth anniversary at Williamstown next commencement. The class graduated sixty-one members, and of these over half will be present at the reunion.

The class embraces men in twenty states. Nova Scotia and India. Thirteen of its members are in the ministry, three in journalism, twelve in the legal profession, six are doctors and three are college professors. Among the names on the roll of the class are found Rev. W. W. Rauney, first director of the Williams gymnasium; Prof. Harry A. Garfield, professor of politics in Princeton; Dr. Stephen B. L. Penrose, president of Whitman college at Walla Walla, Wash.; Rev. David S. Herrick, since 1893 missionary in Madura, India, stationed at Battagunder; and Hon. James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations in the Department of Commerce and Labor. James R. Garfield and Bentley W. Warren are the two youngest alumni on the Board of Trustees—the former is a member of the Committee on Degrees and the latter of the Committee on Grounds, Buildings and Improvements.

Henry W. Banks, jr., of New York city, is secretary of the class. He is making elaborate plans for celebrating the reunion in a style befitting the importance of the occassion, the significance of a twentieth anniversary, and the name and prestige of the class. The Woodbridge house on Main street has been engaged as headquarters for the class. It is expected that between thirty and forty members will attend. A brass band will herald the coming of '85, and all the other necessaries of a successful reunion will be had. The class supper will be held at the Greylock hotel, on Wednesday evening, June 21.

Dartmouth Debate May 6

The Williams-Dartmouth intercollegiate debate will be held at Hanover Tuesday evening, May 16. On the same day, at the height of Junior week festivities, Dartmouth plays the Carlisle Indians at Hanover.

is fielding well and batting enough above the average so I hope to develop a team of good hitters. However, in base-running and teamwork, qualities on which much stress is to be laid this year, there must be a decided improvement. The team is to develop gradually.

"Of the men, the old material looks fine, and there is much new timber that appears promising. Behind the bat Williams has in Captain McCarty undoubtedly the best college catcher in the country. Besides his remarknble fielding, his strong work with the bat nnd on the bases make him the best man on the team. When you come to the infield, Bonham at second knows the game thoroughly. Nesbitt at short is a fast man and Neild is easily the leading candidate for third. First base is still open, and outside of fielding, a man who can hit and run bases well must be had for the position.

"Westervelt, of the pitching staff, is in prime condition, and his batting is excellent. He seems to me the Lajoie of college baseball. Ford is coming every day, and Wadsworth, though not yet wholly recovered from his illness, needs only some good spring days to round into shape. Pierce, Mills and Gillett look promising. In the outfield, Hogan at left is a brilliant fielder, but the other two positions, except when Westervelt plays in tbe field, are still open. Base-running and hitting will largely determine the men for center and right."

A further cut in the squad will be made Saturday in preparation for the southern trip, to start Monday night. Eleven men will be taken on the southern trip, besidea Manager Howe, Trainer Barrett and the coach.

Rev. Dr. T. C. Hall Sunday

Rev. Dr. Thomas Cumming Hall, professor of Christian Ethics at the Union Theological Seminary, New York city, will address the college body at Sunday morning chapel, and will speak before the Y. M. C. A. meeting in the evening. The subjects are, for morning chapel, "What does conversion imply?" and for the Y. M. C. A. meeting, "Reformation and transformation."

Acknowledgement

George W. Grundy, town clerk, has received a letter from Mrs. F. F. Thompson at Milford, S. C., expressing her thanks for the resolution in regard to the new chapel, passed at the recent town meeting.

COLLEGE NOTES

Lyman '06 has left college.

The gun club held a shoot yesterday afternoon.

There was an exhibition of etchings on view in 13 Hopkins hall yesterday afternoon.

Rifenbergh '08 returned from Pittsfield yesterday after a week's illness.

Men who expect to retain their present rooms another year must sign for them before May 1.

Asst. Prof. Perry, who has been ill for a week, will resume his English classes tomorrow.

The college orchestra will accompany Cap and Bells to Albany on April 27th.

The stained glass for the large front windows of the chapel has arrived and is being placed in position.

Several members of the glee club will sing at a dinner given by the University club at the Hotel Wendell, Pittsfield, Friday evening.

The front wall of the new Gargoyle gate, which was out of plumb and which was in consequence ordered torn down by the architect, has been rebuilt this week.

The members of the 1907 baseball team met Tuesday and elected B. W. Southworth, catcher, captain for this year. H. T. Watson has been made captain of the 1905 team.

In Rensselaer, N. Y., last evening Prof. Russell addressed the annual meeting of the Hudson River Association of Congregational ministers on "The Psychology of Religion."

The Effects of Hypnotism

"The Effects of Hypnotism" was the subject on which Professor Russell spoke last Tuesday evening, and his lecture proved to be the most interesting of any so far delivered. A number of physical effects, the speaker said, can be produced by means of hypnotism, such as an actual change in the rapidity of heart beats, and that state known as "stigmata," in which, through the action of the blood, figures and blisters can be made to appear upon the surface of the body.

There are two kinds of mental effects. By means of hypnotic suggestion complete cures can be effected in many cases of nervous diseases, and vicious characters have even been reformed. But the most wonderful phenomena of all are those instances in which subjects have been induced to perform certain actions at specified times after the suggestions have been given.

The next lecture of the series will be delivered the Tuesday following the close of the Easter vacation, on the subject of "Dual Personality."

BOOKS

Volumes of Unusual Interest and Value—Original Editions

Since the beginning of the current semester and especially in the last month, the library has been remarkaly fortunate in securing books of unusual value for age, literary suggestion and quaintness of one sort and another, and of genuine interest to undergraduates.

Of unusual worth is a manuscript containing a fragment of some twenty lines of hitherto unknown words of Christ. This manuscript is photographed, and fully explained and annotated in volume IV of a series of volumes treating of the newly-discovered papyri at Oxyrhynchus, in Egypt. These volumes are presented to the library as soon as printed through the liberality of Hon. F. L. Stetson '67. A 1743 four volume edition, bound in vellum, of the works of Lucian of Samosata, besides its rarity and age, has proved a great find. Upon arrival at the library there were found on the inside cover of the volumes the book-plates of Evelyn Abbott, the famous English classical scholar. There is no doubt that at one time the books stood on his shelves.

The student of English history will be interested in "A complete collection of state-trials," in 11 folio volumes, printed in London from 1776 to 1781. These folios contain all the state trials of England from Richard II to George III, including an account, with full testimony, of the great trial of Charles I by the Regicides. "Remarks upon Cato, a tragedy," by John Dennis, the only unfavorable contemporary criticism of Addison's play, has been secured at some cost in the original 1713 edition.

Yet another still more interesting old book, throwing illuminating sidelights on English literary landmarks, is R. Ackermann's "The microcrosm of London, or, London in miniature." Though published in 1904, the book embodies many quaint features of the original 1811 edition. The book treats in essay style of the prominent buildings, gardens, etc., of London, and contains several full-page color plates. One of these, prefixed to the essay on Christ's hospital, shows clearly the great hall of this school where Lamb and Coleridge received their preliminary education, the same hall which Lamb describes in his essay "Recollections of Christ's hospital."

"The modern reader's Bible," edited by Richard G. Moulton, in twenty volumes, is remarkable for its unusual arrangement. Printed without any regard to verses and chapters, but arranged according to subject matter in modern literary form, it is divided into paragraphs, with all poetical passages printed as poetry, and all quotations in quotation marks. The text used is that of the revised version. Thackeray's "Letters to an American family," is made especially interesting by the frequent reproductions of Thackeray's at times fantastic handwriting, and of the many humorous drawings with which his letters are illustrated.

Further works of interest recently secured are: A complete 5 volume set of Ibsen's prose dramas; a facsimile of the first edition (1532) of the works of Geoffrey Chaucer, with an introduction by Skeat, a book of which only 1000 copies were printed; "The Old Testament," by J. J. Tissot, illustrated with numerous full-page color reproductions of his famous paintings; "Poems of D. G. Rosetti," the English poet and painter, with illustrations from his own designs, edited by Elizabeth L. Cary; in uniform binding, Miss Cary's biographical and critical works on the Rossettis, Browning, Emerson, Tennyson and William Moris; by M. Menendez y Pelayo, "History of esthetic ideas in Spain," in 9 volumes, and "Authology of the Castilian lyric poets," in 11 volumes, both in Spaniah; Letters of Ruskin to Charles Eliot Norton, 2 volumes, throwing much light on the last dark years of Ruskin's life.

First Game of Southern Trip at Philadelphia—The Line-up

For the first time since 1896, a Williams baseball team will make a southern trip during Easter vacation, playing seven games with some of the strongest of the middle-states colleges. Many of these colleges have been playing games for the past two weeks, so will at least surpass Williams in the matter of experience. At 8:40 this evening the college body is to meet at the gym. to start the team off. Red-fire and other suitable helps for a celebration will be provided.

J. J. MCCARTY 1905, CAPTAIN

The team will take the 9:19 train west, arriving in Philadelphia at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, where that afternoon the nine will meet the University of Pennsylvania team. On Wednesday afternoon the team will play Georgetown at Washington, and on Thursday George Washington university at Washington. Returning to Pennsylvania, on Friday the team will meet Dickinson at Carlisle. For Saturday, no date has been scheduled, but the morning will be spent in practice on the league grounds in Philadelphia. Sunday will be spent in Philadelphia.

On Easter Monday, April 24, the team will journey to Atlantic City, and there meet the strong

A GOOD BEGINNING

Williams Defeats Union 11-3 in First Game of Season

Williams began the baseball season of 1905 by defeating Union on Weston field Saturday by the score of 11-3. The Purple showed remarkable ability in the field for a first game, playing errorless ball until the ninth inning, while Union's work in the infield was exceedingly poor, especially on the left side of the diamond. At the bat Williams faced a pitcher of less than average ability, but was able to score but seven hits, one of which was questionable.

After the usual preliminary practice, Professor Russell walked onto the field to pitch the first ball, and was greeted with a hearty cheer from the bleachers. "Strike", said umpire Madison; McCarty returned the ball to Westervelt, and with four balls Union's first batter was struck out. In Williams' half of the first an error, a gift, and a long double by Nesbitt were wasted, Bonham bunting into a double play. In the second, however, Neild led off with a double, and two gifts, three errors, hit by pitched ball, and single brought in six runs. Another run was scored in the next inning on three errors, and three hits with more errors brought in four more in the fifth and sixth. Union's three tallies came in with two on bases in the sixth on a home run by Diver to deep left. The score:

WORCESTER ALUMNI

Annual Banquet Held Saturday Night—Prof. Ferry Spoke

The third annual meeting of the Worcester Alumni Association of Williams college, was held at the Worcester club, Saturday evening. About fifteen members were present. At the business meeting, Dr. G. Stanley Hall '67 was elected president of the Association for the coming year, and W. S. B. Hopkins '94 was elected secretary and treasurer.

Francis L. Dewey '76, president of the association, presided at the dinner. The speakers, besides Mr. Dewey, were Dean Ferry '91, Dr. G. Stanley Hall '67, president of Clark university, Carroll D. Wright, president of Clark college, and Dr. Willard Scott '75.

Dr. Ferry spoke of the present movement at Williams of forming the divisions in classes as small as possible, and of the increasing benefit to the student of the individual attention of the instructor. He said further, "We are losing from time to time many of our better young instructors, because of the inability, with the present endowment of the college, to give them as large salaries and as small hours' work as some of the other institutions are able to give them." Dr. Ferry spoke encouragingly of the growing healthier sentiment among the students in regard to athletics.

Dr. Hall and Dr. Wright spoke respectively of the work of the university, and of the collegiate department of Clark University at Worcester. Dr. Scott spoke of the growing idea that people will be handicapped unless they secure an education; and said that, although many contend that colleges cheapen their diplomas by bestowing them upon students of inferior ability, he was averse to this attitude, and welcomed the present widespread ambition for collegiate honors.

The Tutor System

A committee consisting of Prof. Maxey, Dr. Hardy and Prof. Morton has been appointed from the faculty to investigate the extension of the "tutor system" of small classes, as worked out by President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton. Prof. Morton will go to Princeton this week for a consultation with Pres. Wilson and will make a report later regarding the practicability of extending the system here. Williams was almost the pioneer in introducing the "tutor" plan, but Princeton has carried the idea further.

Announcements

Owing to the Easter recess, the next issue of The Record will not appear until May 1, and will contain brief accounts of the games played on the southern trip, besides reports in more detail of the contests with Brown and Columbia.

In accordance with a recent change in the constitution of The Record, Shepard Ashman Morgan 1906, of Rochester, N. Y., becomes assistant editor-in-chief of the paper, to hold office until March 1906.

The Trip South

The baseball team leaves to-night on a week's trip, during which it will play seven of the hardest games of the season. It is unreasonable to expect the nine to return with an unbroken record, or even to win a majority of the games. Home grounds and a month of outdoor practice are likely in some cases to weigh heavily in the balance. The trip aims to prepare the team for games later in the season. Of far greater importance, however, is the fact that the name of Williams and Williams men will become known in regions where perhaps they are seldom heard of.

Throughout the trip the nine will be followed by the attentive and confident interest of the college. Let this be foreshown by a send-off, rousing and enthusiastic, and so real that it will recall the days when a Williams nine didn't need horses to draw them to the station.

A New Principle

One of the most novel steps that has been taken in the educational world during the past few years is the inauguration of a new schedule of studies by the college department of Columbia University, to go into effect next fall. Besides making it possible for a student to complete both his college and professional education within six years, this plan contains an equally important provision, the embodiment of a new principle, or at any rate a principle which has not yet been put into practical application.

The system provides that, just as at Williams, a total of 124 points, each the equivalent of an hour's work for a half-year, be required for graduation. The statement of the plan then goes on to say, "The student who obtains the mark A (excellent) in any two courses in one half-year will be entitled to receive one point of extra credit, provided he has not fallen below the mark B (good) in any of the courses pursued by him during the half-year. A student who receives the mark D (poor) in two or more courses in any half-year is to be given credit for but one of these courses."

In this way, the man who obtains a very high grade in a considerable part of his studies will receive for the first time recognition, his work being considered the equivalent of a larger amount less well done. This principle is, indeed, not unlike that in force at Williams and differs only in the extent of its application, since a man here who receives a term mark below fifty per cent in any course, obtains no credit for the work already done.

On the whole, we believe that the institution of this new system points towards a higher standard of scholarship. Heretofore, quantity of work accomplished has been more generally recognized than quality. Although in the nature of an experiment, this new move towards reversing the present methods bids fair to prove a complete success.

Cap and Bells Notice

The annual meeting of Cap and Bells for the election of officers for the year 1905-1906 will be held in Jesup Hall on Tuesday, May 2, at 7:30 p. m. The offices to be filled are; President, executive committee, assistant business manager and assistant stage manager. The last two offices are open to any member of the class of 1907. Any member of this class wishing to run for either of these offices will kindly hand his name to Manager J. S. Shedden on or before May 1.

1907's Weight of Argument Prevailed Over Freshmen

The first annual interclass debate, held in Jesup Hall Friday evening, April 14, between 1907 and 1908, resulted in a victory for the sophomore class. The debate was more or less in the nature of an experiment, held in the hope of stimulating debating activity in Williams, and as such was a decided success. The work of the six debaters showed the result of careful, systematic training.

The debate, on the negro question in its broadest aspect, was closely contested, 1907's weight of argument triumphing over 1908's carefully prepared form. As a whole, the freshmen speakers, on their first appearance, were clear and logical, but on their rebuttals, failed to meet successfully their opponents' points. The sophomore speakers presented a common-sense argument, well-backed by statistics and weight of reasoning, though at times clouded by defective phrasing.

In opening the debate for 1907, Blagbrough defined the meaning of the word "policy" in the question, and quoted numerous authorities in support of his contention that the northern view of this "policy" is essentially different from the southern view. Murray 1908 then argued that the motive underlying the southern policy was hostile and that the negro was practically disfranchised in the south, a state of affairs which could not be for his own best interests. Case, the second speaker for the affirmative, showed that this disfranchisement must work for the best interests of the negro, basing his contention on the fact that the negro needs industrial education far more than the ballot. Scott, for 1908, then made clear that the present education of the negro was inefficient, was a "counterfeit education," did not develop his character, and that the southern policy was one of repression, causing the negro to lose his self-respect.

In closing for the affirmative, Clark brought out the point that, considering the economic conditions of the south, the south was doing ten times more for education than the north, and that the negro was getting more than an even share in this ten-fold educational benefit.

Westermann closed the first speeches by showing that the southern policy was founded on the idea of the negro's essential inferiority, and was carried out with race discrimination in state laws and in general economic conditions. After each speaker had taken up five minutes for rebuttal, the judges, Prof. Nelson, Mr. D. T. Clark, and Dr. Wetmore, retired, and brought in a decision for the affirmative.

COLLEGE NOTES

At a 1907 class meeting Saturday afternoon Hinman was elected class baseball manager.

Candidates for the freshman baseball team were called out Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Lewis preached in the Congregational church Sunday morning.

Matthews '07 went to the infirmary yesterday with German measles.

Hobson '06, who has been ill with scarlet fever, was discharged from the infirmary yesterday.

A force of several men was engaged last week in rebuilding the 220 yards straightaway on Weston field.

Single or consecutive cuts of last recitations before the Easter recess will be doubled.

The South college baseball team has organized, with Durfee '07 captain, and Wells '07 manager.

Wednesday is the last day for seniors to hand their names to Dr. Parsons as contestants for the Van Vechten prizes in public speaking.

Prof. Morton will attend the dinner of the Alliance Francaise at Sherry's in New York on Thursday.

The baseball management will publish score cards for all games played on Weston field. The first of the series appeared Saturday for the Union game.

Dr. Cleland and the members of Geology I, who were to have left Saturday on an expedition to central New York with Harvard geological classes, were unable to do so, because of the impossibility of making satisfactory arrangements for the postponement of hour examinations.

The North Adams churches have arranged for a week of entertainments at the Richmond theatre to raise money for the hospital fund. On Monday evening, May 1, Cap and Bells will present "Capt. Racket," and on Friday evening, May 5, the combined musical clubs will give their program.

Dr. Howard has made a comparison of the physical statistics of the freshman class, as taken by Mr. Seeley last fall, with the requirements of the U. S. army. At the time of the examinations 82 men were of the necessary military age, of whom 67 satisfied the preliminary requirements as to weight, height, and chest capacity for infantry service, and 50 for the cavalry.

For May Night

A committee has been appointed by the senior class, consisting of Davenport, chairman, Pratt and Taber, to report to the class on the advisability of having a May night celebration, and the program for the celebration, in case it shall be considered advisable. The committee will report immediately after the Easter vacation.

Cathedral Views

A second set of pictures, illustrating the French Gothic style of architecture, has been placed by the art department in the frame on the second floor hallway of Hopkins. The photographs, mostly of cathedrals, show numerous portals and interior views, besides views of the entire cathedrals. Among the cathedrals represented are Evreux, Nayon, the beautiful Soissons and Rheims, and Chartres. Of especial interest is a cloister in Fontornault, with a stone ceiling in a style similar to that of the new chapel.

At University Club Banquet

Eight men from the glee club sang at a banquet of the Pittsfield University club, held at the Hotel Wendell, Pittsfield, Friday evening. The toastmaster was Joseph E. Peirson '83, and among the speakers were Hon. Marshall Wilcox '44, Harlan H. Ballard '74, and William A. Burns '97. President Flevel S. Luther of Trinity was the guest of honor.

COACH'S STATEMENT

Outlook for the Southern Trip—The Union Game

In commenting upon the development of the team, the southern trip and the Union game, Coach Dowd said last night:

"There isn't much more to be said about the team than what I stated in the last issue of The Record. The showing of the men at this time, in spite of the varied program we have been compelled to pursue on account of the inclement weather, is encouraging, and I feel sure that much of the unsteadiness which at present characterizes some of the men will be entirely obliterated when we return from the southern trip. Too much must not be expected of us on the trip south, however, for we are going up agninst teams that have had the benefit of the warm southern climate and of several regularly played games, and are at this time in midseason condition and playing form.

"Our first game with Union Saturday was satisfactory. The boys fielded and ran bases well and got into the plays in good shape. The hitting too was good, but unsteady, because the boys were overanxious and kept going after bad balls. Particular attention will be paid to this department of the game on the southern trip. The fielding of the team is very good and has only a few rough edges to be worn off. This will be easily accomplished as the boys play together.

"Young Harman at first has shown up excellently. He handles thrown balls easily and gracefully, is a hard and accurate thrower, and gets the ball awsy as quick as a flash. If his batting can be improved, he will make a valuable acquisition to the team. Bonham is showing up splendidly at second. He is strong in every department of the game, being remarkably active on his feet, handling ground balls very well, and a good thrower. He also takes a thrown ball well, and is quick in putting it on the runner. Nesbitt at short is playing finely. His atrong and accurate throwing assures me that he will do all that is required of him in this position. Neild is playing a steady game at third, and I look for him to hit better than ever before.

"The outfield will be taken care of by Hogan, Westervelt when he is not pitching, and Warren and Osterhout. Hogan and Westervelt are veterans, and can be counted on to do good work. Of the new men, Warren and Osterhout are both promising, and may develop into strong 'varsity timber. Warren looks especially strong. He covers lots of ground, handles fly and ground balls perfectly, has a very strong arm, and is one of the fastest men on the squad.

"In catchers, the team is strong. Captain McCarty is a tower of strength, and Waters will prove a capable understudy. The pitching staff is giving me more concern than I anticipated, Westervelt being the only man in condition. The bulk of the work will be done by him, and, I think, done well. Wadsworth and Ford are both suffering from soreness in the shoulder, but I look for the warm climate of the south to bring them round.

"Thus the main object of the southern trip will be to bring out speed, team-work, and batting ability, and to round the pitchers into form. This done, Williams need have no fear of any college team in the country."

Notice to Conditioned Students

WHAT '90 WILL DO

Plans of the Class that Founded The Brass Band Parade

Fifteen years do not seem to have diminished the zeal and spirit of the class of 1890, as over forty out of the seventy who graduated have already signified their intention of being present at the fifteenth anniversary at Williamstown next June, and it is expected that more will attend. A class report has been issued in which the members express pleasure at the coming reunion, state their whereabouts, past history and present possessions.

The class graduated seventy-five members and of these gave to the world six doctors, ten teachers, nine merchants, ten ministers and twenty lawyers. The mayor of Lake Helen, Fla., the Superintendent of Schools of Poughkeepsie and three high school principals are members of the class.

The secretary, Talcott M. Banks of New York city, is planning big events for the class of '90, and says "Look out for squalls." He is aided by a committee composed of S. Vilas Beckwith, Bainbridge Colby, Arthur W. Francis, J. Osgood Nichols and Charles C. Nott, jr. The class will have a "headquarters tent, fireworks, sideshows, good cheer, etc., and will keep 'open house' from Saturday until Wednesday of Commencement week."

It was the class of '90, at its decennial in 1900, that first introduced into the quiet Berkshire valley such barbarous institutions as the brass band and parade. The secretary hopes to get together nearly two-thirds of his class, scattered through fifteen states, to "shake-up Williamstown." A banquet will be held Tuesday evening, June 20, at the Greylock, and from present indications it is safe to assume that when the class of '90 arrives, any quiet which may hitherto have pervaded Williamstown will be utterly dispelled.

NOTICES

—All library books must be returned by 12:30 Wednesday.

—All contributions for the May Lit. must be handed to some member of the board before Monday, May 1, at 6:00 p. m.

—A notice of the place of the Williams-Columbia game on April 29 will appear in Friday's issue of the New York Sun, April 28.

—About fifteen men will remain in Williamstown during the Easter vacation for daily track work. All men who are going to remain are requested to see Mr. Seeley tomorrow, in order to make arrangements for their training. All those men who are allowed to go home, are expected to take their suits and shoes with them, and to keep themselves in their present condition, by daily jogging and long walks.

NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE

Will be Held June 30 to July 9—The Work Outlined

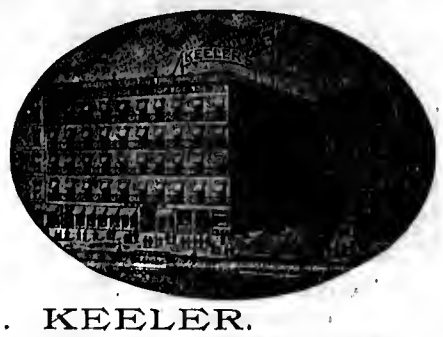
The twentieth annual Northfield student conference of the student association of Canada and the eastern states will be held at East Northfield, Mass., from June 30, to July 9, 1905. For many years Williams has been represented at Northfield, the delegation last spring numbering eighteen men, including alumni and subfreshmen. All who have attended the Northfield conference speak of the time spent there as most enjoyable.

The conference, though primarily for religious interests, has many other advantages, among which may be mentioned the contact with the best men in the eastern colleges and the general spirit of good-fellowship which pervades. It is by no means a place where problems are considered in a narrow, bigoted light but where they are presented by the ablest speakers in the broadest, most tolerant way.

That a spirit of utmost friendliness between the men of different colleges prevails is clearly shown by the way in which Independence Day is celebrated. All gather in the auditorium where the different college songs are sung and the cheers are given, then all rally round the bonfire for a genuine Fourth of July celebration. A tennis tournament and track meet, together with swimming and boating on the Connecticut, make Northfield an ideal place to spend a week of camping.

This year, as usual, there will be normal Bible classes designed to train leaders for the conduct of groups next year in each of the six courses most largely in use among students; also a normal class in personal work. Separate conferences on problems of student association work will be held for preparatory school, college, university and professional school representatives. For the first time in Northfield, there will be a class for the study of home opportunities and work, led by Mr. John Willis Baer. Not the least valuable feature will be the usual series of life-work meetings conducted by men of ability and experience.

The mornings are given up to business and the afternoons are left free to athletics and other recreations. Last year the baseball team representing Williams won its way into the semi-finals of the tournament by defeating Amherst and Princeton.



Among the speakers who have already promised to be present are: Mr. Robert E. Speer of New York city, Rev. G. Campbell Morgan of London, England, and Mr. John R. Mott, who will preside.

This year it is hoped there will be a larger delegation than ever from Williams.

Rain Interrupts Tennis Match at Springfield

Rain interfered with the Williams-Springfield tennis match on Saturday and only three of the six scheduled matches were finished. All of the three were in singles and gave two victories to the Williams team, while the third was taken by the Country club representative. But one match in doubles was started, Williams winning the first set.

The first match was between Northrop 1905 and P. L. Miller of the country club; the Springfield man won after a hard three set match. In the second match between Smith 1906 and J. F. Miller, the local player started strongly but lost the deciding set after a close fight. Westcott 1908 also won his match after a hard struggle. The remaining match in the singles and the doubles were interrupted by the rain. The summary:

P. L. Miller, Country club, beat L. H. Northrop, Williams, 6-1, 5-7, 6-1.

Floyd Smith, Williams, beat J. F. Miller, Country club, 0-6, 6-2, 8-6.

P. N. Westcott, Williams, beat Dr. A. O. Lee, Country club, 8-6, 5-7, 6-4.

J. H. Newton, Country club, led H. W. Mellen, Williams, 6-1, 2-3 (unfinished).

Nothrop and Smith, Wiliams, led Miller brothers, Country club, 6—3 (unfinished).

COLLEGE BUYS LAND

Purchase of Property on North Side of Main Street

During vacation the college purchased from the present owners the entire property on the north side of Main street from the Greylock hotel through to Park street, with the exception of the house owned by Mr. Bullock, at present the residence of Prof. George M. Wahl. The property includes, beginning at the west, the home of Dr. Mather, the Frank Mather place, the Woodbridge flats (better known as the Abbey) with the large piece of land in the rear extending to Dr. Bascom's property, all owned by the Woodbridge estate, and the large white house east of the Abbey, known as the Mather home place. The house and lot on the corner of Main and Park streets, formerly owned by the Woodbridge estate, were acquired some months ago. By this purchase the college now owns all the property on the north side of Main street, with the exception of the Congregational church and the Sigma Phi grounds, from the soldier's monument to Prof. Wahl's residence.

The purchase of this property was made possible only through the gift of a friend of the college, who retains for the present the lot adjoining Prof. Wahl's residence. The college was thus enabled to buy the property at a price which, in the judgment of the finance committee, made it an immediate paying investment. Neither the name of the friend of the college nor the amount paid for the property has been made public. The property is assessed at $17,000, but is valued by competent judges at about $35,000.

Next year the houses purchased will probably be rented to members of the faculty, although it is still possible that they may be retained as at present for student boarding houses. The house on the corner of Main and Park streets may be divided. Owing to the large extent of the Woodbridge property toward the north, it is possible that later a new street may be opened and new houses built, but the final disposal of the whole tract of land is uncertain.

Baseball Notice

A college meeting will be held in Jesup at 7:30 this evening for the purpose of electing a vice-president and assistant manager of the baseball association.

Herbert Barber Howe,
Manager.

THE SOUTHERN TRIP

Five Games Lost, Two in Extra Innings—Two Won, One Tied

The baseball nine spent the Easter vacation on a southern trip, playing eight games, three of which required extra innings to decide. Five games were lost, two won and one tied. At the last moment Manager Howe secured a game with Harvard at Philadelphia for Saturday, April 22, and the contest proved the best of the trip. The nine made an excellent showing against teams much further advanced in the season, Williams' batteries in particular comparing with those of the southern teams to the Purple's advantage. The fielding was clean, with an occasional tendency to unsteadiness; the batting timely but weak, though the pitchers faced were above the average.

U. of P. 6, Williams 5

Penn. was given "the best game seen on Franklin Field this year" on Tuesday, April 18. Wadsworth pitched fine ball after the third inning, while Brady was hit hard in the latter part of the game, four hits and two errors scoring the Purple five runs in the seventh. Nesbitt played finely at short, accepting eight chances without an error. The score:

Penn.,	1 3 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1—6	7	2

Batteries: For Williams, Wadsworth and McCarty; for Penn., Brady and Hare.

Georgetown 8, Williams 5

At Washington, D. C., Wednesday the Purple could secure but two hits off Drennen of Georgetown in eight innings, but in the ninth combined two gifts with an error and three clean singles for five runs. Westervelt was wild and was hit hard. The score:

Georgetown,	1 0 4 0 1 1 0 1 x—8	9	4

Batteries: For Williams, Westervelt and McCarty; for Georgetown, Drennen and Hart.

Williams 7, George Washington 7

Darkness put an end to Thursday's game with George Washington after eleven innings of fast play. A home run in the fourth retired Ford to the bench, and Westervelt was substituted. Williams retaliated by pounding Thomas, George Washington's pitcher, out of the box in the sixth. Wadsworth fielded brilliantly at right in the last four innings. The score:

Williams,	0 1 0 0 1 3 0 0 2 0 0—7	10	4
Geo. W.,	0 1 0 3 1 0 1 0 1 0 0—7	11	5

GARGOYLE GATE

Dedication of New Entrance to Weston Field on June 21

The dedication of the Gargoyle gate will take place at the entrance to Weston field Wednesday, June 21, at 2 p. m. The program is as follows:

Presiding officer, Gargoyle Felton Bent '95.

Oration—"Gargoyle," Gargoyle Edward Morgan Lewis '96.

Presentation Address, Gargoyle Herbert Barber Howe '05.

Address of acceptance on behalf of the college, President Hopkins.

Acceptance on behalf of the athletic council, Dr. Frank William Olds.

Work on the gate has gone ahead fast during vacation. The last of the stone-work has been put in place and the carpenters began on the wood-work Thursday. The frame-work for the roof is entirely completed. The stone walls from each side of the entrance to the street will not be built this year. Aiding in these plans for improving the entrance to the athletic field, the athletic council is at work grading just inside the gate. Perhaps the most noticeable improvement at present, however, is in the road in front of the gate. The road has been entirely dug up, and the substratum of clayey quicksand thoroughly drained and filled. The ground between the road and the gate has been covered to a depth of two inches with cinders, changing the former mud-hole to a firm, dry crossing.

No May Night

At a meeting of the senior class held in Jesup Friday at 1:30 p. m., the class voted to have no hazing on May night and to appropriate no money for the committee.

The Southern Trip

The baseball team's southern trip was, on the whole, a disappointment. Five games lost out of eight played, and only two won, are sufficient to mark any trip as unsuccessful from a purely winning point of view. Yet the college has no reason to feel discouraged for the future of the nine. The trip accomplished its purpose, rounding the men into shape for success in the games nearer home, where victory counts more in determining the nine's ultimate intercollegiate standing.

The fact that the team lost to Pennsylvania and Harvard only after an extra inning, to Villanova by a single run, and exhibited marked improvement at the close by defeating Lawrenceville and Brown, is evidence that Captain McCarty's men were playing ball all the time. The Dickinson game was the slump which comes to every team sooner or later. Weather conditions offered little hindrance to good playing, but the grounds were, in several instances, either rough or undersized. On Franklin Field a short right field prevented another score for Williams.

It must be remembered that Georgetown, Harvard, Villanova and Pennsylvania are ranked among the fastest college teams in the country. The opposing pitchers were far above the average. With only one day on a good diamond before leaving for the south, the 'varsity met teams in the best of condition on their own grounds. To travel over 1400 miles in eight days and play two hours of baseball every afternoon is a test of endurance of the hardest sort. Considering these conditions, the team deserves the commendation of the college for its creditable work during the vacation.

Mr. Carnegie's Gift

Mr. Carnegie deserves the warmest possible praise for his recent gift of ten million dollars, the income from which is to be used to provide annuities for college professors after they have given up active service. Of all his previous benefactions, few if any have contributed as much to the educational world.

It has often been remarked that teaching is an underpaid profession. At present, many able men who would rank high in education, prefer to enter some other calling, knowing that it will net them a larger income and thus enable them to provide for their old age, rather than incur the risk of receiving a largely decreased revenue after their days of usefulness are over. By making it possible for a college professor in the future to look forward to a comfortable income after his term of service is ended, Mr. Carnegie has offered a great stimulus toward increasing the efficiency of the average college faculty.

COMMUNICATION

Editor of The Record:

Sir:—In the old days debating interests used to be all important. Now we all know how sadly they need support.

Modifications of the constitution presented to the Philotechnian society at its last meeting will come before it for final action next Wednesday night at 7:15 at its rooms on the top floor of South College.

It seems needless to dilate on the advantages of debating. Alumni and faculty unite in giving it great emphasis; nor is it necessary to call attention to the prizes that fall to the proficient. We owe it to ourselves to be there.

Roy B. Smith.

Athletic Standing

Last Saturday's "Illustrated Sporting News" contains an interesting tabulation of the athletic records of the leading colleges and universities of the country as well as a table of the relative standing of the different educational institutions in each of thirteen athletic events, reckoning the best record as 1, the next best as 2, and so on. Pennsylvania heads the list, with the small total of 53, with Harvard, Yale and Princeton following in the order named. Williams stands seventeenth, with 255, followed by Dartmouth, with Amherst fourteenth. Williams' best showing is in the low hurdles, where only four colleges have better records.

Chapel Chimes

Mr. Chester Meneely of the Meneely Bell Co., of Troy, who cast the set of chimes in the tower of the Thompson Memorial Chapel, was in Williamstown Saturday afternoon to see to the adjusting of the chimes. Although perfectly tuned before leaving the factory, the bells were found to be slightly out of harmony, and will need a few weeks' use to become mellow. The bells were christened with "Old Hundred," "Dying Echoes" and "America" followe Several other tunes were played by Mr. Meneely in the course of his work, all going to show that the chimes can be used for almost any piece of music, however high or low it may run. D. M. Hill, '06 has been engaged to play the chimes.

ALUMNI NOTES

Ex-'57—Hon. Howard Kennedy died in Omaha, Neb., on Tuesday, April 18, aged seventy-three years. One of the pioneers of the state of Nebraska, Mr. Kennedy was prominent in its development. He was born in Lansingburgh, N. Y., in 1832, and entered Williams in the class of 1857. After leaving college, he conducted for a time an academy at Lebanon, N. Y. He went west in 1859, and settled in Nebraska, where he held important positions in the state government, and was connected with the Union Pacific railroad. Later Mr. Kennedy has become one of the board of investment of the Northern Life Insurance company, and a prominent banker in Omaha. His funeral took place in Omaha on April 20.

'67—Hamilton Wright Mabie has an important article. "The New North," in the South Atlantic Quarterly. In this article Mr. Mabie tells of the increasing feeling of friendship in the north for the south, and of the growing sentiment of admiration and sympathy for the heroes of the "lost cause."

Ex-'95—This evening will occur the wedding of Miss Clara Brown Peterson, and Henry Marks Nichols, at the home of the bride's parents in Lockport, N. Y. Mr. Nichols was a member of the class of 1859. He is now secretary and treasurer of a large produce company in St. Louis.

Ex-'01—Homer A. Bushnell will graduate at the seventy-fourth annual commencement of the Albany Medical college tomorrow.

The Southern Trip

Batteries: For Williams, Ford, Westervelt and McCarty; for George Washington, Holland, Thomas and Weber.

Dickinson 8, Williams 2

The poorest game on the trip was played against Dickinson the next day. Neither team could do much at the bat, but Dickinson won the game in the third, scoring seven runs on a gift, a hit by pitched ball, and two safe drives, one for two bases, assisted by errors at second and short, and a muff by Hogan. The score:

Dickinson,	0 0 7 0 0 0 1 0 x	8	6	2

Batteries: For Williams, Wadsworth and McCarty; for Dickinson, Hall and Wolfe.

Harvard 5, Williams 3

The Williams-Harvard game was a great pitcher's battle, with honors even between Westervelt and Coburn. Though Coburn struck out 13 to Westervelt's 11, he passed seven men to first and contributed a wild pitch with men on second and third that brought two runs in the seventh. Harvard failed to get a hit for six innings. In the ninth inning, with one out and a Harvard man on second, Leonard hit a line drive towards left. Nesbitt turned, jumped and pulled the hit down with his bare hand, tossing it to Bonham for a sensational double play, saving the game for the moment. Harvard came up strong in the tenth, however, and won out on two hits and an error. The score:

Harvard,	0 0 2 0 0 0 1 0 0 2	5	6	3

Batteries: For Williams, Westervelt and McCarty; for Harvard, Coburn and Stevenson.

Villanova 9, Williams 8

The Villanova game at Atlantic City Monday was characterized by hard hitting. The fielding of both teams was ragged, due in part to the cold. Williams bunched hits in the sixth and secured the lead, but Villanova in its half got the four runs back on an error, two singles and a triple. Westervelt made four singles. The score:

Williams,	2 0 2 0 0 4 0 0 0	8	8	4
Villanova,	1 1 1 1 0 4 0 1 x	9	11	7

Batteries: For Williams, Wadsworth and McCarty, for Villanova, Sullivan and Mulgrow.

Williams 7, Lawrenceville 6

Timely hitting won the contest with Lawrenceville on Tuesday, a single and a triple by Nesbitt bringing in five runs. Lawrenceville hit Ford hard, making two triples and a home run. With one out in the ninth, a man on third, and a run to tie, Westervelt went into the box, struck out the next Lawrenceville man, and forced

VICTORY OVER BROWN

Williams Wins at Providence 5 to 2—Brown Fields Poorly

The Purple was victorious over Brown at Providence Wednesday, by a score of 5 to 2, in a game marked by weak hitting. Tift, Brown's left-handed star, pitched an excellent game, striking out 11 men, and holding Williams to three hits, which, however, came when most needed. Westervelt was an enigma to the Providence team and was well supported, Warren in particular fielding well.

With two out and Bonham on first in the third, Westervelt cracked a clean hit to center. Pryor let it roll through him and Bonham scored. In the fifth, after McCarty and Bonham had been passed to first, with two out, Westervelt hit to Dickinson who threw high and McCarty scored. A timely double by Hogan scored two more runs, and on Graham's poor handling of the ball Hogan scored Williams' last tally. A wild throw by Westervelt let in Brown's first run, and two singles and Bonham's poor throw the second. The score:

Cap and Bells at Albany

On Thursday, April 27, Cap and Bells presented "Capt. Racket" at the Empire theatre, Albany, N. Y., before a large audience. The cast was the same as in Williamstown, Botsford '06 playing the part of Obadiah Dawson in place of Everitt '05. The college orchestra, which was to have played, was unable to be present. After the performance the members of the cast attended a smoker of the Alumni association of Northern New York at the Fort Orange club.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Frank W. Higgins, Mrs. Albert V. Benson, Mrs. Edgar C. Leonard, Mrs. Frederick J. Cox, Mrs. Walter McEwan, Mrs. Edward G. Cox, Mrs. Douglas W. Olcott, Mrs. Clifford D. Gregory, Mrs. A. P. Palmer, Jr., Mrs. Samuel S. Hatt, Mrs. E. DeLancy Palmer, Mrs. William H. Hollister, Jr., Mrs. William P. Rudd, Mrs. Edward R. Hun, Mrs. Geo. H. Thacher, Mrs. Marcus T. Before the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Hamilton S. Conant, secretary of the Massachusetts Sunday school Association, delivered an address on "College co-operation in religious education through the Bible school," before the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening. Dr. Conant dwelt upon the great importance of the Sunday school, first as being practically the only source of religious instruction today, and second, as being by far the most important source of additions to the church—since, by actual statistics, between 75 and 80 per cent of accessions to the church by confesssion of faith come from the Sunday school. The interdenominational Sunday school associations are doing a great work in increasing the utility of Sunday schools and Bible classes, by means of conferences, to increase the ability of instructors and teachers. This is accomplished by appealing directly to college men and women to devote some of their time to religious instruction in Bible and Sunday school work.

TENNIS SCHEDULE

Amherst at Williamstown May 13—Faculty Next Wednesday

The tennis schedule of this year is not entirely completed as yet but the chief point of interest is that a dual meet will take place with Amherst at Williamstown on May 13. Owing to the fact that rain interrupted the match with the Springfield Country club last Saturday, another date will probably be arranged with the same team. The schedule follows:

May 10, Williams faculty at Williamstown.

May 13, Amherst at Williamstown.

May 26-27, Triangular tournament at Williamstown.

May 29-31, New England Intercollegiate Championship at Longwood.

The two new tennis courts have been finished and were opened for play yesterday. These courts are under the control of the tennis association and are open only to members of the association. Any one desiring to join can do so by applying to Austin '05, and paying the membership fee of $2.00.

TOO MANY ERRORS

Wesleyan Defeated in Poor Fielding Game.

"You're a-out," shouted a crouching figure halfway up the path between pitcher and home, motioning Anderson towards the Wesleyan bench. From that time on as accurate and comical an umpire as Kelley of bat-decision fame ruled with authority unquestioned. Williams defeated Wesleyan yesterday afternoon on Weston field 14-3. The game, unfortunately, was not so good as the umpire, though some of the fielding was surely as eccentric. Ragged play was curiously combined with professional perfection. A nice stop by Harman in the first, a catch by Bonham of a pop almost in foul territory, and a line fly picked out of the grass by Hogan, featured Williams' work, while Haley excelled for Wesleyan. Nesbitt stole four bases.

Williams began well, tallying twice on gifts to Bonham and Nesbitt, an error by the pitcher, a clever double steal that brought Bonham home, and a single by Westervelt. Clark remained somewhat of a mystery until the fifth, and in the sixth four Wesleyan errors and three Williams hits produced five runs. A homer by Westervelt, and a three-bagger by Wadsworth made runs and enthusiasm. Neild hit the ball hard and often. Wesleyan made timely hits off Wadsworth in the last two innings and scored three times.

For Hospital Benefit.

As the first of the series of entertainments given this week for the benefit of the North Adams hospital, Cap and Bells presented "Capt. Racket" at the Richmond theatre Monday evening. The affair was under the auspices of the North Adams Methodist church and though this was the second presentation of the play at that theatre this season, there was a large and appreciative audience. The parts were taken with a greater degree of ease and naturalness than at any previous presentation.

VOL. 19 MAY 4, 1905, No. 11

The Northfield Conference

On June 28, at East Northfield, Mass., the annual Student Conference for colleges of this section will begin. At this time about 700 men from all the eastern colleges will be there for ten days, chiefly to hear notable speakers from this country and abroad.

There are three classes of men who attend these conferences: First, those men who expect to gain some definite training and inspiration for the college Y. M. C. A. work in the fall; second, those who come merely because they are desirous of hearing and meeting the famous men who are there; third, those with no particular religious purpose who desire mainly to spend ten days in recreation, with the added opportunity of becoming acquainted with fine men from other colleges

For all three classes there is ample opportunity given to gratify their desires. In the various training classes led by experts, men are prepared to conduct their college association work. From the auditorium addresses by eminent men, everyone gains some replenishment of his stock of spiritual life. The speakers are all able and of wide reputation, and in the afternoons devoted entirely to pleasure-seeking—as well as from the rest of the time in all of which each delegate may do what he pleases—the idle joy of recreation is liberal. But, more important still, the fellowship is wide-spread, easy, and the opportunity of knowing those whom he chooses is open to every man who attends the conference.

For those men who desire to go to a sane place where religious things are discussed without mawkish sentimentality and untruth, Northfield is an abiding inspiration. For all who are ready to enjoy a ten days' period of play and work, and who gladly meet other men, Northfield is worth while.

Singing and Cheering

Singing and cheering are half of an athletic contest. They are the natural expression of loyal non-participants in showing admiration for the efforts of a winning team, coupled with the desire to have some share in the victory. In most cases, it must be confessed, singing and cheering go no further than this. Few realize, except the men on the field, what a rousing song or a ringing cheer means to a losing team. Why is it that the one who needs it most, the man who's down, gets no shout of encouragement? We can imagine no more depressing sight than a grand-stand full of silent, apparently lifeless students, as the tide turns the other way, waiting for something to "turn up." Under such circumstances the man who doesn't use his voice, when he can't use anything else, for his college, becomes at once a mere spectator, not a sharer in its struggles for athletic supremacy. His interest becomes individual and his presence at the game can only be due to personally selfish motives.

The season of baseball games and track meets has begun. Williams has some rare opportunities this year, but with them are some harder problems to solve. What we need on Weston Field this spring is not desultory, faint-sounding singing, but tones full, strong and in unison, that will do justice to the songs of Williams, at the same time inspiring every one of her athletes to renewed effort for the college. Princeton's glorious "Old Nassau" suggests itself to us at once. How often has "Three cheers for old Nassau" stemmed the tide! Yet Williams has songs its equal in music and words. Are we giving to "The Mountains" its due? Is it for Williams we sing in "The Royal Purple?"—"the spirited words and entrancing music" of which The Dartmouth has generously said "dwell in the memory" and "have feeling in them." If the singing has not been what it should be, the fault lies with the college. A leader's enthusiasm is contagious only to a certain degree. He must have the men with him in sympathy and spirit.

The cheering deserves far greater criticism, for of late it has been deplorably weak. Cheering is needed all the time, from the minute a team reaches the field until it leaves. Nor can too much stress be laid on organization. Instead of two leaders, a student body the size of Williams should have four, with whom concerted action and constant practice in their duties should be the basis of securing the kind of cheering Williams lacks.

THE APRIL LIT.

Favorable Comment on Current Number by Dr. G. D. Kellogg

"A breath of Spring steals o'er my wearied sense."

It gives the reviewer pleasure to say at the outset that the current number of the Lit. contains material of real literary merit and of more than usual interest. At first glance the table of contents boded a line of Spring novelties in verse and prose: "March Twilight," "An April Evening," "In Early Spring," "A Song of Summer," but the quality soon allayed suspicion.

The writer of "Macdonald's Bridge" has handled an essentially melodramatic theme with dignity and grace, and like a true artist has known where to stay his hand. It might be an experiment worth his while to work over the material into a poem in the stirring style of Scott.

"An Old Pine by the Sea" by the same contributor is without cavil an excellent poem. There is not a bad line in it. The sublimity of the conception, and the boldness of the personification in the first stanza are heightened by the gentle droop of the second, where the metaphor of the Aeolian harp and a touch of true pathos in the closing question give an air of pervasive calm, while in the envoi there is a return to the clear note of the beginning.

In "March Twilight" we have a pleasing study in color and sound effects with perhaps unconscious alternation of appeal to the sense of touch. The verse is musical; the thought, on the whole, sustained, although the third strophe is somewhat frigid. The closing lines are clever and quotable.

The Sonnet, "An April Evening," has a rather commonplace opening. The phrase "flow'rs which, in green prisons prest, await bright May," haunts the memory. Certainly these verses of the sestet strike a sympathetic chord:

"A breath of Spring steals o'er my wearied sense
Presaging rustling trees and velvet lawns,
Long ebbing days of drowsy indolence
And sparkling splendors of cool, radiant dawns."

The leading contribution is a three act farce written in collaboration. It is an amusing but improbable study in bad manners. The far-fetched plot is not clearly motivated, is abruptly revealed, and carried through with uncertainty. At the end we are not sure whether it is the "Lady or the Tiger." Farrington Ford is evidently an unmannerly, cowardly cad, but that fact does not excuse the vain and good-looking Wainright who despises him, for exasperating him in the presence of his Prom girl. It was Ford's duty to arrange her dance-card and he had graciously included Wainright who was going "stag," presumably. That the latter should force a second dance from Ford by getting the girl to ask for it, was selfish and no wonder Ford gave reluctant consent. So revenge was in order. At a "Special Session" of the "Senate" it is planned to kidnap Ford before the dance—"a low trick" as Wainright himself admitted later. And it succeeded—five or six husky "senators" against one poor coward! Accordingly Wainright takes the girl to the Prom, where he finally owns up to the "trick" and is apparently turned down.

There are three readable stories. "The Election at Hanover; a Story of Reconstruction Days" is well written and has few ear-marks of the amateur, except in the somewhat monotonous handling of the dialogue. "When the Sheriff Nodded" is a capital story of a raid on a Kentucky still. Neither the dialect nor the local color suggests Kentucky—but as there is no Rolfe county, we can let it pass. The mountain districts of Kentucky afford abundant material for character studies.

Among the "Suggestions" are a love lyric by a freshman, and a story, too diffuse even for a fish-story. "Sanctum" discusses college shams fairly and sincerely. "Chat" philosophizes on "chatting" and closes with a charming epigram.

GEORGE D. KELLOGG.

1905, 5; 1906, 3

The seniors defeated the juniors 5 to 3 in the opening game of the inter-class baseball series yesterday afternoon on Weston Field. The juniors led up to the fifth inning when timely stick work, clever base running and a costly error netted three runs for the senior team, deciding the game. The score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
1905	1 0 1 0 3 x	5	4	2
1906	2 1 0 0 0 0	3	3	3

Freshmen Defeated

The Pittsfield High school nine defeated the freshman team Wednesday afternoon by a score of 18 to 10. The game was lost in the first three innings, but for the rest of the game the freshmen played fairly well. Gillett was hit freely. Curtain of Pittsfield struck out eleven men. The score by innings:

Freshmen 0 1 0 1 3 2 3 0 0—10
Pittsfield 1 5 5 2 1 0 1 3 x—18

T. D. Williams '08 of Haverford, Penn., has left college.

Cowell was elected captain of the 1906 baseball team, Tuesday.

Sheppard '91 and Haynes '02 were in town yesterday.

Hagan '01 was here the first of the week.

Reid '08 is at the infirmary with measles.

H. G. Brown '04 is at the infirmary.

Eighteen essays have been handed in for the Graves prize contest.

Fay '07 has been ill with bronchitis at his home in Auburn.

Chapman '07 has been home with the measles.

The younger members of the faculty had a dance in the Adams block Saturday night.

Dr. Bascom will address the seniors in 4 Hopkins hall Sunday afternoon.

The musical clubs will give a concert in the Richmond tomorrow night for the benefit of the North Adams hospital.

During vacation Dr. Cleland took a party from the University of Rochester on a geology trip to the district around Syracuse.

The mock trial, which was to have been held last evening in Griffin Hall, has been postponed until next Wednesday.

Charles L. Goodrich '85, has recently presented to the library a book written by himself, entitled "The First Book of Farming."

The preliminary track meet, to determine the men to participate in the Dartmouth meet on May 13, will be held Saturday on Weston field.

The Lit. board, in the April number, renewed the custom which has been extinct for some years, of publishing an index to the Lit. volume.

An opportunity will be given to all those attending the Amherst game to hear Henry James lecture on Balzac Saturday evening at Northampton.

Track training table started at the Greylock hotel this morning with the following men: Newell, Crooker, Stocking 1905; Griswold 1906; A. M. Brown, M. Brown, Hurlbut, Leavitt, Winslow 1907; LaMent 1908. Further additions will be made during the week and other men may be taken on at any time.

'Technian Amendments

At the regular meeting of the Philotechnian society held last evening several additions and amendments to the constitution and by-laws were adopted. The most important change related to penalties for failure to keep appointments. Henceforth the roll is to be called at each meeting, and those absent from four consecutive meetings are to be dropped.

FRESHMAN ATHLETIC CUP

First Award May 30 of the 1895 Philadelphia Alumni Cup

At the twenty-first annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Alumni Association, Messrs. Felton Bent, F. W. Rawle, and H. D. Riley, members of the class of 1895, offered to give annually to the athletic council a silver cup, "to be awarded on the 30th day of May in each year, and presented as soon thereafter as may be, by the council with the concurrence of the faculty of the college, to that member of the freshman class who, in the opinion of the council and the faculty, or a committee thereof, has shown during his first full year in Williams college, the most marked progress in those branches of athletics which now are and hereafter may be prescribed by the faculty as compulsory courses to be taken by the entering freshman class." It is further understood that the recipient of the cup shall have maintained during his first year an average of at least seventy per cent in his other college work."

The gift with the above conditions has been accepted by the athletic council, and the cup, which it is expected will soon be put on exhibition, will be awarded for the first time this year.

Dual Personality

Last Tuesday evening Prof. Russell delivered another of his series of lectures, taking as his theme a phase of dual personality, illustrated by a number of well authenticated instances in which people have lapsed from one mental condition to another, sometimes remembering their former state, and sometimes totally oblivious to it. This proved to be one of the most interesting so far delivered. Next week another phase of the same subject will be treated—cases in which the two different natures have become blended together.

Geological Trip

Weather permitting, Dr. Cleland and fifteen members of the geology classes will leave tomorrow night for a trip to Helderberg mountain, in Albany county, N. Y. The party will spend Friday night in Albany and will leave early Saturday morning for Voorheesville. From there they will take a fifteen mile drive to the mountain. This is one of the richest geological fields in the United States and offers unusual opportunities for the study of fossils. The party will spend the day there, returning to Williamstown late Saturday night.

The secretary of the class of 1890 has announced a change in the original plans for the reunion banquet, which will be held at the Wilson House in North Adams on June 20, instead of the Greylock Hotel.

Program for Prom. Week

The sophomore prom. will take place Monday evening, May 29. The contracts for the necessary work have all been placed. Murray of Springfield will have charge of the decorations, which will be principally yellow and white in color. Gioscia's orchestra will, as usual, furnish the music. The supplementary dance will be held at the Greylock on Tuesday evening. On Wednesday morning at eleven o'clock Cap and Bells will present "Captain Racket" at the opera house.

The musical clubs will give a concert, but the date has not yet been decided upon. Two championship baseball games will be played during Prom. time. On May 27 Williams meets Wesleyan and on Decoration Day the Amherst game will be played.

For the Sercomb Cup

At a meeting of the Gun club held last Tuesday, the conditions governing the handicap shoot for the Sercomb cup were definitely decided upon. To be eligible for the contest, a man must be a member of the club, and must have shot at fifty targets, at least, in order that his handicap may be fairly determined.

The preliminary shoots will be held on May 6 and May 10. The contest itself will be held on Saturday May 20 and Wednesday, May 24, twenty-five targets being shot at each day. Handicapping will be by distance, and the cup will not be awarded in case there are less than ten competitors.

At the same meeting, Fitch '06 was elected secretary-treasurer for the coming year.

Cap and Bells Elections

At a meeting of Cap and Bells on Tuesday evening the following officers were elected: President, Botsford; executive committee, Jaeckel, Fleischmann, Botsford, and C. Hills ex-officio. Hill 1907 was elected assistant business manager and Chapman 1907 assistant stage manager.

NOTICES

—Cap and Bells presents "Captain Racket" at Carnegie Lyceum, 57th St. and 7th Ave., New York city, tomorrow evening, at 8:15.

—At the Y. M. C. A. meeting next Sunday night the association conference, held the first week of July at Northfield, Mass., will be discussed informally.

—A union prayer meeting of all the classes in Jesup hall Friday at 7:15 p. m., under the auspices of 1907; McCleary, leader. The faculty are cordially requested to attend. Topic: "God's Majesty," Psalms 93.

—The Boston Hearld, speaking of the Dartmouth Vaudeville company which is to appear here next Wednesday night, says: "The Dartmouth performers gave a show which would discount many of the sketches put on at Keith's."

Cornell University Medical School

New York

The course covering four years begins during the first week in October and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural sciences is of great advantage.

All classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

LOST IN THE EIGHTH

Williams Defeated by Amherst on Pratt Field—Score 7 to 2

On Pratt Field Saturday Williams lost the first of the four Amherst games by a score of 7 to 2. Up to the last half of the eighth inning, when the runs stood two all, the contest was one of the best ever played by the two teams and the excitement was intense. In that inning Palmer reached first on an error by Nesbitt, Storke and Beach secured hits, and Shattuck fanned. With three men on bases Danahey struck twice. On a doubtful decision the umpire called the next a ball, and a minute later the batter drove the sphere into centre field for a three-base hit. Kelliher followed with a drive midway between centre and left field, which either Warren or Hogan might have had but for a misunderstanding. During the pause the ball fell between them and Danahey brought in the sixth run. Kelliher followed, when McCarty threw to second to catch Powell, who had reached first on an error. In the first of the ninth, with a lead of five runs to overcome, Neild and Warren were caught at first, Harman drew four balls, and Wadsworth sent a fly to the right fielder.

Williams was able to get but four hits from McRea, all of which were singles. Westervelt allowed only three until the fatal eighth, when Amherst got four more. Harman played a clean, fast game, making eleven putouts without an error. Nesbitt made three errors.

MEETING OF TRUSTEES

Final Action Will Be Taken on Dormitory—Other Business

The annual spring meeting of the trustees of Williams college, at which final decision will be taken on the new dormitory, will be held at the president's residence, Thursday, May 11. Besides the usual routine reports of committees, a special committee appointed some time ago to devise a graduated system of salaries for all instructors in the college, as well as arrangements for the promotion and retirement of these teachers, will make a report at the meeting.

The usual steps will be taken for the promotion and hiring of instructors for next year. No nominations for new instructors will be made at the meeting. The decision will also be made in regard to honorary degrees at commencement. In the afternoon the advisability of building a new dormitory will be thoroughly gone over. In case the trustees decide to build, the location and general scope and plan of the building will also be settled at the meeting. The disposition of the recently purchased land on the north side of Main street will also be discussed, but probably only the immediate disposal will be definitely settled.

A Wrong Impression

When shown a paragraph from The Springfield Republican headed "Hopkins Does Not Approve," in which it is asserted that "he declared that Andrew Carnegie had erred in giving $10,000,000 for superannuated college professors," President Hopkins said, "Neither before the New Jersey teachers or elsewhere have I said anything that could be construed as a criticism of this latest gift of Mr. Carnegie. It seemed to me from the first wise as well as magnificent, something to rejoice at and be grateful for and I have so expressed myself in public and in private. The expression of the opinion of the worthiness and need of the public school teachers for similar treatment was not to find fault with the good deed done for the professors."

Game With Dartmouth 1908

Manager McClellan of the freshman baseball team is making arrangements for a game with Dartmouth 1908, to be played in Williamstown next Saturday. Further details will be published in Thursday's Record.

At the meeting of the sophomore class held in Jesup this afternoon, Domett, Houston and Lapham, were elected to the class supper committee.

DARTMOUTH TRIALS

College Record Equaled in Quarter—Prospects Generally Good

Try-outs for the track team to compete with Dartmouth Saturday were held on Weston Field last Saturday afternoon. New material showed up well in the weight events, and, though the track was slow and heavy, good time was made generally. The college record was equaled in the 440-yard dash. The two-mile proved the prettiest event of the afternoon, Crooker and Hompe having a tight race on the stretch. They broke the tape abreast and the event was judged a dead heat. Winners of first, second, and third places will compete with Dartmouth, though certain promising fourths are to be entered.

The summary follows:

100 yard dash—Won by Stern 1905; Rudd 1907, second; Cowperthwait 1906, third.

220 yard dash—Won by Clark 1908; Hurlbut 1907, second; Andrews 1907, third.

440 yard dash—Won by Hurlbut 1907; Wells 1907, second; Andrews 1907, third.

880 yard run—Won by Ayers 1905; Osterhout 1906, second; Conover 1907, third.

Mile run—Won by B. P. Allen 1908; Lesser 1907, second; Curtis 1908, third.

Two mile run—Crooker 1905, and Hompe 1907 tied for first; Allen 1907, third.

120 yard hurdles—Won by Leavitt 1907; Griswold 1906, second; Lapham 1907, third.

220 yard hurdles—Won by Leavitt 1907; Griswold 1906, second; Witherell 1907, third.

Discus throw—Won by Eldridge 1908; Watson 1905, second; Casey 1906, third.

High Jump—Won by A. M. Brown 1907; M. Brown 1907, second; Day 1905, third.

Shot put—Won by Marshall 1908; LaMent 1908, second.

Broad jump—Won by A. M. Brown 1907; Leavitt 1907, second.

Hammer throw—Won by LaMent 1908.

Pole Vault—Winslow 1907 and Scarrett 1908 tied for first.

VOL. 19 MAY 8, 1905, No. 12

The Amherst Game

The defeat by Amherst Saturday was as unpleasant as it was unexpected. In spite of the southern trip the nine does not yet appear to be trained to meet a critical situation. Coach Dowd evidently thinks otherwise, judging from his statement in today's issue. In the second place, a little more thinking on the diamond, looking towards concerted team work, would make the nine fifty per cent faster than it is at present. These two faults were painfully apparent on Pratt Field last Saturday. Except in the single inning, however, the 'varsity gave an exhibition of ball worthy of any nine that has ever represented the college.

Safe hits by Amherst and errors by Williams, it appears, were not alone responsible for the result. It seems the position of umpire was occupied by a man whose knowledge of the game was deplorable, and whose decisions were guess-work. The choice of such an incompetent official was, as it turned out, most unfortunate for Williams. There can be no question but that almost any umpire, except the one in question, would have retired the batter on three strikes, leaving Williams' chances of winning the game practically where they were at the beginning of the eighth inning. We trust that neither Williams nor Amherst will ever again have the misfortune to take part in a contest directed by such a fish out of water. A game of baseball loses its attraction as a contest of skill, and becomes a game of chance. With such an umpire success gives less pleasure to the victor, and on the part of the loser converts the feeling of chagrin and disappointment to dissatisfaction and disgust. There can be no question about Mr. Cook's desire to act fairly. He had no favors to bestow intentionally. Amherst was fortunate in not being present when he distributed the other kind. For the benefit of alumni and others who may have been misled by mistaken accounts of the game, The Record wishes to state that the student body at Williams understands the situation thoroughly and does not question for a minute Amherst's desire to play squarely. It is indeed to be regretted that the incident, coming as it did most inopportunely for Williams, should have created as much discussion as it has.

The Dartmouth Vaudeville

The Dartmouth Vaudeville Co. will appear in Williamstown Wednesday night. An opportunity is given the college to attend in a body and see and hear an entertainment which has been most favorably received wherever it has gone. The expenses of the trip and stop here are considerable for so large a company; a full house is required to prevent financial loss. The management should not be disappointed in counting on strong support from Williams undergraduates. Let the college be there en masse, ready to welcome Dartmouth with a Williams song and cheer.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

To the Editor of The Record:

The futility of having a local umpire for a Williams-Amherst contest was never more conclusively shown than in the baseball game at Amherst last Saturday. What was otherwise a fast, scientific, intensely exciting struggle between two well matched teams was made at times almost farcical by the ignorance and poor judgment of the Northampton lawyer who essayed to fill the position of umpire. From the moment when Mr. Cook at the beginning of the game, showed himself unable to put on a chest protector unaided, to the end of a game filled with surprising decisions, the umpire never once seemed master of the situation. No fair minded man will, I think, claim for a moment that Mr. Cook intended to do injustice to the Williams team. The palpably bad decisions were very evenly divided, and it was merely the misfortune of war that one of the worst of the errors in judgment happened to be adverse to us and came at a most critical time when it had a direct influence upon the result of the game. But the fact that Mr. Cook erred through ignorance rather than malice does not remove the keenness of the dissatisfaction which both sides must have felt in his work. It is sometimes a question which does more to kill the enjoyment of good sport, the biased decisions of an expert, or the well intentioned vagaries of an incompetent.

But the point of the matter is just here. Somebody blundered in securing a local umpire for a game where the best professional who holds an indicator would have been none too good. A share of the blame must come to our own management, though how Amherst could recommend Mr. Cook after having seen his work in one game is inconcievable. No reasons of economy should ever be the slightest excuse for a poor official in a major contest. It would be better that both teams should walk to their place of meeting, if by that means they could secure the only thing an athlete demands, "a fair field and no favor."

Such a mistake in the selection of the umpire as was made Saturday must not be repeated. It is suicidal to sacrifice the pleasant athletic relations we hold with Amherst (relations fortified by our courteous treatment on Saturday) to bitternesses over the work of an unqualified official. It should be the duty of the baseball management to insist on the selection of men of proven ability. A second mistake might be more disastrous.

Fortunately for the satisfaction of both teams the season is yet young, and in the three games that remain to be played there will be ample opportunity to show whether Amherst or Williams has the better nine.

Sincerely yours,
Lewis Perry.

About Northfield Conference

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting last evening several informal talks were given, treating of different phases of the Northfield conference. Pettit '05 spoke of the religious side, Hulst '06, of the friendships made, and Schell '06, of the athletic activities. President Hopkins ended by speaking of the general spirit of manliness which pervades the conference.

Announcement was also made of a meeting of the Western Massachusetts Students' Volunteer Union, to be held at Northfield, May 22.

The Obituary Record

The 1904-1905 Obituary record, number 3 of series 2 of the Williams College Bulletin, the college quarterly, appeared recently. The record, as usual, compiled by Dr. Parsons, the alumni necrologist, contains a list of the alumni who died during the past year, with a biographical sketch of each man. Fifty deaths were reported for the past year from classes from 1836 to 1901 against twenty-eight for the previous year.

Hon. William Rankin, LL. D., '31, of Newark, N. J., is the oldest living alumnus. It is interesting to note that there are nine men still living who graduated from college before 1840, and fifty-seven who matriculated in the classes before 1850. Those who are interested in longevity statistics of the different occupations will note that twenty-two of the latter are ministers and eighteen lawyers. Nineteen of the fifty-seven have received honorary degrees.

COACH'S STATEMENT

A Few Remarks to the Point—Faults of the Team

Coach Thomas J. Dowd of the baseball team left the nine immediately after the Amherst game. He goes to Sioux City, Iowa, at once, where he will play left field on the strong team of that town in the Western league. In speaking of the team's work to date and prospects for the remainder of the season, he says:

"The team has improved much since the southern trip, especially in general steadiness. The men work together better and don't show the same tendency to go up in the air at critical moments.

"The boys' greatest weakness is lack of baseball sense. They make a play perfectly, but forget that there are other plays which should follow that might catch a runner napping or prevent him from taking an extra base. The infield is particularly weak here. I don't know that I ever saw so many old players who showed so little knowledge of the finer points of the game.

"Williams' batting is weak. The general fault is a tendency to swing at bad balls. As the season goes on, and the new men get more confidence, this fault should be done away with.

"In fielding, the team ranks high. This is essily the part of the game in which they are strongest. They are not only good every-day fielders, but now and then can rise to the occasion and take chances that would give professionals trouble.

"The base-running is bad. The men are, most of them, fast enough, and daring enough, and the new men who are not are getting better every day, but aside from Capt. McCarty and perhaps Bonham and Nesbitt, they don't take their chances at the right time. Experience must give them better judgment in this particular.

"When Westervelt is in the box, there isn't a college team in the country any better than Williams and not many as good. The other pitchers are as yet disappointing, but may come round later. A successful season lies before the nine."

Concert at North Adams

Under the auspices of the Baptist church, the musical clubs gave a highly successful concert at the Richmond theatre Friday evening for the benefit of the North Adams hospital. In the absence of Westervelt '06, the quartet numbers were omitted, the solo part in "Swords out for Charlie" being taken by Curtiss '06. Pevear '07 gave a solo and "If you love me, Lindy," for the first time since his illness. Gale '06 and Smith '07 won applause by their banjo duets. The numbers by the mandolin club were well received.

Second Team Won

The Williams second team won the first game of its season Saturday afternoon by defeating the Mt. Pleasant academy team, of Ossining, N. Y., on Weston Field by the score of 21 to 2. After the first inning the game lost all interest, and became a laughable exhibition of long hits, base running and wild throws. The visitors showed lack of practice and team work, making seventeen errors in five innings.

Freshmen 7, Sophomores 1

Four hits, two errors and some slow fielding won the game for the freshman nine in the fifth inning of the interclass contest with the sophomores Thursday afternoon on the old campus. The score was 7 to 1. Singles by Pierce and Hoyne enabled Domett to score the only run for the sophomores, in the fourth, tying the score. After a run in the first the freshmen were blanked for three innings, but in the fifth they solved Pierce's delivery, and five men crossed the plate. The fielding on both sides was slow and loose. Pierce struck out nine men while Parker's slow delivery caught but one batsman. The summary:

									R.	H.	E.
1907	0	0	0	1	0	0			1	2	3

Changes in English 4a and 4b

The faculty at a meeting last Mondsy evening decided to change the regulation by which all juniors and seniors are required to submit two original essays each semester. In the future, men who take or have taken English 2 will be relieved from the requirement. This provision exempts about two-thirds of the upperclassmen from English 4a and 4b essays.

NOTICES

—A college meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 in Jesup for the election of a sophomore assistant track manager.

Clarence J. Goodwillie,
Manager.

—At this evening's college meeting a manager of the Adelphic debating union will be elected from the junior class.

Henry B. Tourtellot,
Manager.

—The Dartmouth Vaudeville company has pleased large houses in New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts. It is hoped that their first visit to Williamstown Wednesday night will call forth a crowd.

TRUSTEES IN SESSION

Meeting of the Board Today—Eleven Members Present

The annual spring meeting of the Board of Trustees was called to order at 10 o'clock this morning at the president's residence. Eleven members of the board were present, as follows: Rev. Dr. Hopkins, D. D. LL. D., Rev William Wisner Adams, D. D., Francis Lynde Stetson, M. A., Hamilton Wright Mabie, L. H. D., LL. D., Rev. Daniel Merriman, D. D., Hon. Joseph Edward Simmons, LL. D., Eugene Delano, M. A., William Henry Hollister, Jr., B. A., (Secretary of the Board), Hon. Bentley Wirt Warren, B. A., Rev. Harry Pinneo Dewey, D. D., and Pres. Henry Lefavour, Ph. D., LL. D.

The meeting will adjourn at six o'clock this afternoon. At 3:00 p. m. it was decided to give out nothing for publication, as no final action had been taken at that time on the more important matters, such as the new dormitory.

Faculty Tennis Match

The tennis match with the faculty at the Golf club yesterday afternoon resulted in a tie—each side winning and losing one singles and one doubles. The summary follows:

P. N. Westcott beat Mr. E. I. Shepard 3-6, 6-1, 7-5.

Mr. L. Perry beat F. R. Smith 6-1, 6-0.

Mr. Perry and Dr. Hardy beat Smith and Chace, 6-4, 6-4.

Westcott and Mellen beat Dr. King and Mr. Shepard, 6-1, 4-6, 8-6.

Juniors Defeated

Every freshman scored in the fourth inning of yesterday's 1906-1908 game. Brady, the junior pitcher, retired in the fifth after twelve hits had been made off his delivery. Parker was effective.

The summary:

1908....	0	0	2	9	4	1	—16	13	3
1906....	2	0	0	0	3	0	— 5	3	6

Batteries: 1908, Parker, Waterworth and Waters; 1906, Brady, Woodhouse and Bates. Umpire, Watson 1905.

Pictures in Hopkins Hall

A third set of pictures has been placed on exhibition in the frames in Hopkins Hall. Four reproductions of Carpaccio, illustrating the Ursula legend, are among the number shown, as well as details of the Sistine Madonna and Raphael's "St. Cecilia," with an excellent reproduction of a portrait by Rembrandt and Murillo's "Boy and Dog." Five pictures of Italian towns are included in the exhibit.

LIKE PROFESSIONALS

Dartmouth Vaudeville at Opera House Last Night

The vaudeville last night was good, for it kept a crowded house rocking with laughter for two hours, and the long cheer for Dartmouth which followed the last drop of the curtain voiced genuine appreciation of one of the funniest performances ever seen in this vicinity.

The Dartmouth troupe number eight, but they carry no blanks. From "Doc" Felt, who is a musical prodigy grown up, down the list to "Ike" Maynard, who is almost too good to be true, the performers show real talent. "Shorty" Neal (measuring perhaps six feet three) showed talent as a violinist, and appeared later to good advantage in a musical sketch.

The curtain raiser. "A Freshman's First Night in College" was good because it was natural. An unusual feature was the burlesque on a "rube" minstrel show, given by Messrs. Wayman, Waring and Maynard. Mr. Wayman appeared again as a monologist, giving Irish pieces particularly well. The rapid-fire repartee-hit-and-dodge-sketch "Is He In," as done by Maynard and Waring, was "good enough for Keith's." Their topical song, "Mr. Lawson of Boston" with "his name on every benn" made a decided hit. The closing number was an adaptation of one of the Van Bibber stories. "The Littlest Girl," and called for a different sort of acting. Mr. Parven as Van Bibber and Mr. Wayman as Carruthers were both effective.

The visitors were entertained in town over night and left today for Northampton where they play this evening.

Second Team Defeats Cushing

The second team played Cushing Academy on Weston field yesterday afternoon and won by a score of 6 to 5. There were few fentures and the play was mostly uninteresting. The game was won in the seventh inning. Pierce pitched a consistently stendy game and allowed but five hits. The line-up follows:

WILLIAMS SECOND—Shedden lf, Willcox 3b, Osborne cf, Domett ss, Brown, rf, Southworth c, Kelley 3b, Austin 2b.

CUSHING—W. Adams rf, Green 2b, Clancy c, Pacquet 3b, Reardon ss, Hosmer 2b, C. Adams cf, Ross lf, Balcom p.

TWO DEFEATS

Baseball Team Loses at Andover and Worcester

Andover added another to its goodly list of victories over college nines by defeating Williams at Andover on Tuesday by a score of 7 to 3. Westervelt was hit safely but once up to the sixth, but in the seventh two gifts and four hits, with three stolen bases, and an error by Hogan, brought Andover five runs. Williams' three tallies were earned by clean hitting. Bonham's absence broke up both infield and outfield with results apparent in the error column.

Holy Cross Won by Two Points

Before a large crowd on Fitton Field, Worcester, yesterday afternoon Williams lost to Holy Cross by the close score of 6-4. It was Westervelt's second game in two days but he proved a hard proposition nevertheless, holding Holy Cross down to eight hits, and striking out six men. Hogarty struck out 12 men but allowed nine hits. Williams' fielding was sharp and clean, only two errors being made while five were scored against Holy Cross. Corrigan, who was behind the bat for Holy Cross, played a star game and proved Williams' undoing several times in attempted steals. Williams' vigilance relaxed in the last of the fifth when Hogan and Warren misjudged two flies and allowed three men to score.

A Chance to Reciprocate

A year ago when the Williams track team met Dartmouth at Hanover, the visitors were received with every favor and were treated as the personal guests of the college. The baseball and tennis teams have uniformly met with a similar reception. Two years ago a hundred men from Williams went up to Hanover to support the baseball team; Dartmouth men entertained informally at the Commons and in the dormitories.

The point is obvious. The Dartmouth track team comes to Williamstown next Saturday. It is distinctly the duty and the pleasure of every Williams man to see that the Dartmouth team is treated with the utmost cordiality as long as it stays in Williamstown.

The Passing of a Relic

The faculty at its last meeting decided to exempt all juniors and seniors from compulsory theme work except those who have not taken English 2, the sophomore theme course. This means that considerably upwards of a half of the upperclassmen will be relieved of the burden of English 4a and 4b.

The compulsory theme courses have long been the survivors of a time when oratorical work was required of every man in college and the commencement orators were as numerous as the hours of the day, and took about as long to pass. Then, too, these courses have never been treated seriously; men wrote their themes against time and with the least possible effort, defeating the purpose for which they were designed. It was full time for the relic to succumb.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

To the Editor of The Record:

The defeat of Saturday last was in itself no disgrace to Williams, for the team did its best to win from a strong opponent. But there was an aspect of that defeat which was greatly to the discredit of Williams, viz: the fact that the undergraduates did not follow the team, or at least not enough of them to make their presence helpful: the fact that there was not a Williams cheer heard on Pratt Field that day to encourage, and that there was not a crowd of good fellows to stand by the team after they happened to be defeated. There were ten or more alumni present, including two of your own professors, all of whom traveled some distance to be present at the game, which in their days was deemed all important and worthy of support.

What is the cause of this lack of interest in the most important game of the season? If you stayed at home and hung around Spring street because you had no cuts left nor money, it is not an excuse, for you had cuts enough to stay in New York or other places several days or a week after the Easter recess, and money as well. I'll wager that it can be proved that there was charged up or paid out at the different stores in Williamstown that very afternoon, for things not in the class of necessaries, enough money to send a fair crowd of rooters to Amherst.

It can never be exactly demonstrated just the value of cheering at a game. Yet ask every member of a Williams team now or in years gone by, and every man will tell you that it helps, and some will say that games have been won from the side lines. Anyway, it is an evidence of good spirit and loyalty, that we all stand together to put Williams on top every time and all do our share. A sub-freshman would stand for a defeat, but what would he think of the "Williams spirit" as exhibited on Pratt Field last Saturday?

You can continue to sing "We will rally on Pratt Field etc.," but you never missed a better chance to "rally" than you did last Saturday afternoon.

An Alumnus.

Communion Service

THE DARTMOUTH MEET

Williams' Chances of Victory On Weston Field Saturday

Williams will meet Dartmouth in a dual track meet on Weston Field Saturday afternoon. The following estimate gives Williams the meet by four points:

	Williams.	Dart'th.
100 yards dash	1	8
220 yards dash	1	8
440 ynrds dash	6	3
880 yards run	0	9
1 mile run	8	1
2 mile run	8	1
High hurdles	8	1
Low hurdles	8	1
High jump	8	1
Broad jump	5	4
Pole vault	0	9
Shot put	5	4
Hammer throw	3	6
Discus throw	4	5
	65	61

As can be seen by a glance at the above estimate, Williams' strength lies in the distance runs and, as last year, in the hurdles. Dartmouth, with Jordan and Swasey, is sure of eight points in each sprint. In the half mile Thrall and Prichard are good for 2.01 or better. Capt. Newell's illness losing Williams three points at least in this event. Hazen, last year's Worcester winner in the pole-vault is sure of first in this event, and the Green's second-string men are good for 10 feet 6 inches or better.

The points in the weights will be very evenly decided. The doubtful event is the discus throw, in which Williams has a slight chance for first. Williams must secure second in the mile, the two-mile, and both hurdles to win the meet.

Trainer Seeley said of the prospects of the team that the meet would be very close, but that Williams should win. The men are in good condition and promise to make the meet as interesting as last year, when Williams won at Hanover 64 to 62.

Art Exhibition

From 3:00 to 4:00 Friday and from 8:30 to 9:30 Saturday a number of etchings and dry-points by Rembrandt, and the more prominent modern American and English artists, as Seymour Haden, will be on exhibition in 13 Hopkins.

Next Monday there will be placed in the art room the first of a series of reproductions of great paintings from "Great Masters," photogravure copies by a new process. The pictures are struck off in London and range, roughly, from the year 1400 to 1800. Next week the exhibition will be of paintings of the English and French schools, chiefly portraits of women, by Gainsborough, Romney, Sir Joshua Reynolds and others.

COLLEGE NOTES

Stone '08 has returned to college.

Sternberger '07 has returned to college.

The Thompson memorial chapel is being fitted for electric lighting.

Rifenbergh '08 will not return to college this year on account of illness.

Willey '08, who has been ill with tonsilitis, has been discharged from the infirmary.

The Dodd's team defeated the Edson team Wednesday afternoon by the score of 14 to 13.

The game scheduled between the freshman team and Dartmouth 1908 has been cancelled.

The drawings for the spring tennis handicap have been posted. The first round must be played off before May 16.

The game scheduled between the Williams freshman team, and the Union freshmen, for next Saturday, has been cancelled.

The "Wohnrst" nine defeated the "Mu Phi" team on the old campus yesterday afternoon by the score of 10 to 6.

The mock trial by the Philologian and Philotechnian societies has been postponed until Wednesday evening.

W. A. Newell 1905, captain of the track team, is ill at the infirmary with typhoid fever. His condition is not serious.

There will be a meeting of all interested in cricket at 7:15 tonight in Jesup Hall. Every man who wishes to try the game is requested to be present.

Ganzel, who coached the baseball team in 1902, is in town. In looking over the second team, he expressed himself as well pleased with the material.

The engagement was announced last evening of Dr. James G. Hardy, Assistant Professor of Mathematics, and Miss Nona Mills, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Concert at Troy

The musical clubs gave a very successful concert in Harmony Hall, Troy, last night before a large and enthusiastic audience. The hall was decorated with Williams banners and presented a striking appearance. Of the numbers particularly pleasing were "If you love me, Lindy" sung by Pevear, and "To Thee, oh! Williams" by the Glee club. The mandolin club made a hit with "The Topliners." After the concert a dance was given.

NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE

At East Northfield First Week in July—List of Speakers

The twentieth annual Northfield atudent conference will meet at East Northfield, Mass. from Friday evening, June 30 to Sunday, July 9. The prospectus shows a program and list of speakers easily up to the standard of previous sessions. Among the men already secured are Rev. G. A. Johnson Ross of Cambridge. England, Dr. Endicott Peabody of Groton, Mr. Robert E. Speer, Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, and Mr. John R. Mott, who will preside.

No man who enjoys good fellowship with other college men in an atmosphere free from cant and inspiring in its moral uplift, can fail to appreciate Northfield.

Marquand Hall is the main dormitory of Northfield Seminary at Eaat Northfield, Mass. During the session of the conference, thia building is occupied by the delegatea, and is their principal headquarters. The exercises of the convention are held in the large auditorium of the seminary and on the summit of Round Top.

Round Top is the rounded eminence overlooking the Connecticut river, upon the summit of which is the grave of the great evangelist, founder of Northfield and the Northfield movement, Dwight L. Moody.

Amherst—Williams Tennis

On Saturday morning and afternoon the Amherst tennis team will play the local team on the courts of the Taconic golf club. The morning event will include four singles matches, while the two doubles matches will take place in the afternoon. Comparatively little is known about the Amherst team as they are, with the exception of Captain Weed, new players. The following men will play on the Williams team: Northrop '05, Mellen '05, Smith '06, and Westcott '08. The two doubles combinations will be Northrop and Smith, Mellen and Westcott. Play will begin at 9 a. m.

DECLAMATION CONTEST

Held in Jesup Hall Last Evening—J. H. Fisher Won First Prize

John Herman Fischer of Hickman, Neb., won first prize at the annual freshman declamation contest held in Jesup Hall last night. The second prize was awarded to Arthur Beach King of Troy, N.Y.

Each of the six contestants showed careful training and spoke clearly and easily. The choice of subjects was especially fitting. Fischer, the winner, was the last speaker, and his declamation, "The New South", was delivered with especial smoothness and power. In "The Invective Against M. Corry," King had a most suitable subject, and his declamation was commendable for sharp vigor of delivery.

The program follows:

A Plea for Irish Liberty..Anonymous
GEORGE EDGAR HITE. 2nd

England's Duty to the Colonies..Burke
ROY STANLEY CORWIN

Invective against M. Corry...Grattan
ARTHUR BEACH KING

The Homes of the People.....Grady
JOHN HENRY WILLIAMS

The Quest of Peace.....Anonymous
BERNARD WESTERMANN

The New South.....Grady
JOHN HERMAN FISCHER

Mr. E. M. Lewis acted as presiding officer.

Rev. J. E. Sawyer, pastor of the Williamstown Methodist church, with Prof. L. W. Spring and Prof. T. C. Smith of the faculty, acted as judges. Music was furnished by Doring's orchestra of Troy.

"Ghosts" Next Tuesday

Prof. Russell's talk on "Telepathy" Tuesday evening proved exceedingly interesting. He illustrated his theories by relating a number of actual experiments which have been made during the past few years. For the next and last lecture of the series, Tuesday, May 16, some thrilling ghost stories are promised, together with a discussion of the phenomena accompanying their appearance.

25th ANNIVERSARY

Reunion of the Class of 1880—Thirty-two Graduated

The class of 1880, which celebrates its quarter-century anniversary this June, is small in numbers and many of its members live far away. But Prof. Alfred T. Perry, president of Marietta college at Marietta, O., secretary of the class, is planning for a reunion at Williamstown. The clasa entered Williams fifty-six strong, and numbered thirty-seven in senior year, of whom thirty-two received degrees. Of these, eight have since died. Thirty-seven sometime members were connected with the class. Of the class of 1880, ten are ministers, ten are in business, nine are practicing law, five are in journalism, two are teaching, and one is practicing medicine. The reunion dinner will probably be held at North Adams on Wednesday evening, June 21. The members of the class are scattered in eleven states and Mexico.

GOLF SCHEDULE

Dartmouth on Taconic Course Saturday—Match with Harvard

The college golf team will play two matches Saturday, with Dartmouth in the morning and the Albany country club in the afternoon. Both will be played on the Taconic golf course. The schedule for the spring is practically completed as given below, although several matches may be played later in the season with teams in the vicinity. An effort has been made this year by the management to exclude from the list clubs defeated decisively last year. The effort to secure a match with Amherst proved unsuccessful. The schedule follows:

May 13—morning—Dartmouth on Taconic golf course, Williamstown: afternoon—Albany country club on Taconic golf course, Williamstown.

May 19—M. I. T. at Boston.

May 20—Harvard. Myopia golf course, Boston.

May 27—Albany country club at Albany.

June 3—The Mount Anthony golf club at Bennington.

Candidates for the team are requested to record on the bulletin board at the club house all practice rounds. The team will be chosen on a strict competitive basis. The handicap tournament will begin next week.

European Trip

Ten Williams men will make a European tour this summer, working their passage on a cattle steamer, and taking an extensive pleasure trip through England and the continent. Those who will compose the party are, John A. DeCamp 1900 of Williamstown, Louis L. Draper 1900 of Troy, Belknap, Judson, Northrop and Watson 1905, Loomis 1906, Kincaid and Klanser 1907, and a tenth man as yet undecided. They will leave Boston on June 28, probably on a ship of the Leyland line, and will arrive in Liverpool on July 9.

Upon reaching England they will divide—one party touring Scotland, England, and thence crossing into France and Switzerland. The others will cross to Holland, Belgium and Germany, then down the Rhine, through France, and will take a week's walking tour among the Alps.

They will reunite at Paris, where, in company with a number of Williams alumni who are residing in Europe, and several who will be traveling there this summer, a Williams banquet will be held, either at the Hotel Ritz or the Champs Elysees on August 5. Several days will be spent in Paris, and then the company will break up, to return to this country by various routes, and at different times between August 20 and September 10.

THE GREEN LOWERED

Dartmouth Defeated by Williams at Hanover—Score 3 to 0

Williams won decisively from Dartmouth at Hanover Saturday in the only game to be played this season between the teams, by a score of 3 to 0. The game was earned by the visitors by brilliant fielding, which included no errors. The size of the score was due to errors made by Dartmouth.

Skillen pitched a great game and was found for only three hits, two of which were two-baggers. Westervelt proved fully his equal; although he was touched up for five hits, he kept them scattered over four innings and several times showed his ability to pull himself out of a hole. Nesbitt showed up in his old time form. His single in the third inning brought McCarty in from third for the run which would have won the game, even if Dartmouth had not contributed two through errors in the first.

In the seventh Nesbitt pulled down a high liner and made a double play, unassisted, by catching O'Brien off second. McCarty scored two of the three runs and made nine put-outs. The team's fielding was fast and clean, being at times in strong contrast to Dartmouth's work.

Track Meet on Weston Field Goes to the Green 79 to 47

Saturday proved to be an unlucky 13th for Williams on the track, the dual meet going to Dartmouth by the unexpectedly large score of 79 to 47. The hoodoo which seems to have been hanging over the team all spring was more in evidence than ever. Another probable point winner, Rudd, was disabled just before the meet, Leavitt was put back a yard for a false start in the high hurdles, and both Crooker and Stocking, who won second and third last year, dropped out after the fifth lap of the two mile.

The compensating features were the breaking of his own record of 51 4-5 seconds for the quarter by Hurlbut, the defeat of Wallis by Hompe in the two mile and Clark's capture of second place in the 220 yards dash. The best individual performance of the day was the exhibition pole vault by Hazen of Dartmouth, who cleared the bar at 11 feet 6 inches, breaking his own record by two inches.

The weather throughout the morning looked anything but propitious for a successful meet. The hills were hidden by mists and dark clouds which foreboded rain. But towards one o'clock the clouds lifted, and the sun soon put the track in ideal shape. The Dartmouth men, who were staying at the Richmond Hotel in North Adams, came over at noon and appeared on the field with a small knot of enthusiastic supporters. They were all in good condition and seemed confident. The officials were: Referee, Eugene Buckley, sporting editor of the Boston Globe; starter, Hugh McGrath, instructor in the Charlesbank gymnasium at Boston; and clerk of course, W. Rooney '01.

Dartmouth won nearly everything conceded her and showed surprising strength in the mile run and broad jump. Thrall played with the other men in the half mile, allowing Jennings to take first. He has a record seven seconds faster than the time made Saturday.

The summary:

One mile run—Won by Stanton D; second, Whittemore D; third, B. P. Allen W; time 4:45 2-5.

440 yards run—Won by Hurlbut W; second, Evans D; third, Prichard D; time 51 3-5.

100 yards dash—Won by Swasey D; second, Jordan D; third, Hill W; time 10 1-5.

THE DARTMOUTH DEBATE

At Hanover Tomorrow Night—Mr. Haynes Views

At 8:00 o'clock tomorrow night Williams meets Dartmouth at the college church, Hanover, in the tenth debate between the two colleges. The series of debates at present stands Williams five, Dartmouth four. The question for the debate is as follows: "Resolved, That the Monroe doctrine, as interpreted by President Roosevelt in his last annual message should be adopted as a national policy." Williams has the affirmative.

The Williams debaters left for Dartmouth at 12:58 this afternoon and will speak in the following order tomorrow night: Walter Albert Swan 1905, of Geneseo, N. Y., Joseph Earl Perry 1906 of Shelburne Falls, Mass., Russell Gregory 1905 of Salem, N. Y. Clarence Elmore Wells 1905 of Riverhead, N. Y., is alternate. Gregory has represented Williams on the intercollegiate debating stage twice, against Dartmouth last spring and against Wesleyan last fall. Perry was one of the debating team against Wesleyan last fall, while Swan debates for the first time for Williams.

The Dartmouth debaters will speak in the following order: B. C. Falconer '05, J. A. Laing '05. C. T. Eichenauer '05. T. H. Hodgson '08 is the alternate. Eichenauer was a member of the Dartmouth team which debated against Williams last year and against Brown this year, while Falconer and Laing appear for the first time on the intercollegiate debating stage.

The judges this year are determined by a new system, each college choosing an alumnus as its representative, and these two alumni selecting the three judges. The Williams alumnus is Irwin McDowell Garfield '93. The judges are Hon. Frederick Dodge, recently appointed judge of the United States district court for the district of Massachusetts; Hon. Chas. S. Hamlin, assistant secretary of the treasury under Cleveland's administration; and E. J. Rich, attorney for the Boston and Maine railroad, all of Boston. Mr. Dodge will act as chairman.

Rowland Haynes 1902, three times a Williams representative against Dartmouth, has been in town coaching the team the past week. With reference to the question, and the prospects of the team, he says:

GOLF TEAM WINS TWICE

Dartmouth and Albany Defeated on Taconic Course Saturday

The golf season opened Saturday with two easy victories for the college team. Both matches were played on the Taconic course; in the morning Williams won from Dartmouth 15 to 4, Nassau system of scoring, and in the afternoon defeated the Albany Country club team 39 to 0, straight hole play. The Albany team returned on an early afternoon train. In the evening the members of the Dartmouth team and the Amherst tennis team were entertained at a smoker at Bemis'.

Chess Match Undecided

Amherst's victory in the chess match played here Friday and Saturday depends upon the adjudication by the Brooklyn Chess club, of an unfinished game between Barlow and Wade.

Games between Wade, Crossett and Dewing, the Amherst players, and Barlow, Gale and Hulst, who represented Williams, resulted as follows: Barlow won from Dewing, lost to Crossett and submitted his game with Wade for adjudication. Gale won from Dewing, lost to Crossett and Wade, and Hulst won from Dewing, lost to Crossett and drew with Wade.

This scores Amherst 4½ points to Williams' 3½ and the decision of the Brooklyn club will determine defeat or tie.

At Williamstown and Hanover

Dartmouth and Amherst men were guests of the college Saturday. Their cheers were given for Williams and their songs were sung by Williams men. Throughout the day, in the different athletic contests of skill and strength, the very best of feeling prevailed. It should indeed be a source of satisfaction that the relations of Williams with the two colleges are becoming more enduring every day.

The triumph over Dartmouth at Hanover, in the only game between the two teams this year, is glory enough for Williams for one day. To keep the error column free in the enemy's territory is "playing the game" in every sense of the word. The nine has shown that it can play the kind of ball the college wants.

A Club House

The need of a well-equipped club house on Weston Field has already been urged in these columns. Conclusive proof that such a building is a necessity was evidenced at the track meet with Dartmouth Saturday afternoon. The Williams team and the visiting athletes were cared for in the space beneath the grand-stand, where there are no accommodations except shelter. Bathing facilities there are none. Those who had charge of the athletes were compelled to do the best they could, with the limited facilities at their disposal, to prepare the contestants for the track events. The attention an athlete receives the last few minutes before a race might well be a decisive element in determining the outcome not only of a single event but of the meet itself. Each side, it may be said, was subject to equal disadvantage. Yet in view of the fact that the Dartmouth team is not accustomed to inadequate training quarters at an athletic meet, obviously the visitors were the greater sufferers. In the fairness of good sport it is certainly imperative that the home team be able to make training conditions on the field favorable for the visitors, that they may demonstrate as a team their true strength.

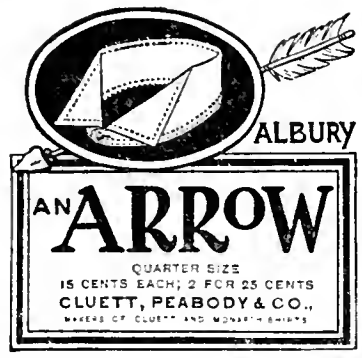
Convenience does not alone demand the erection of a club house. If Williams teams are to be trained and developed with proper regard for the laws of health, such a building is a necessity. Although not generally known, it is a fact that the beginning of Capt. Newell's illness was due to the lack of training facilities on Weston Field. After hard work on the track, the walk from the field to the gymnasium in the rain might leave a man unable to meet successfully the lightest attack of disease.

The club house would benefit directly every candidate for the three athletic teams, members of the class teams, and every man in college who makes use of the field. It would furthermore be an incentive for wider participation in athletics, and would thus answer the objection of those opposing the expenditure of funds for the advantage of the few. The college has not seen fit to make this improvement, which would make perfect an otherwise well-appointed recreation ground. Must athletics at Williams continue to be so handicapped?

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of the Record:



A gentleman recently spoke to me concerning smoking by students standing about the chapel entrance. He referred especially to this on Sunday mornings and said that visitors instinctively compared it with the custom before regular churches and often carried away an unfavorable impression. As long as the matter at all affects the college's reputation, it is thoroughly worthy of consideration and while the question is largely one of personal taste, it would seem that this habit might properly be done away with.

It has been customary to have some annual warning concerning walking on the grass and this year the caution seems no less necessary. It is absolutely essential for the good appearance of the campus that we should not walk across the grass in places where there is the slightest possibility of bare spots thereby being worn.

Yours truly,
Wm. Smith Pettit.

BERKSHIRE HALL

Trustees Decide to Build Dormitory For Scholarship Men

At the annual spring trustees' meeting held at the president's residence Thursday from 10:00 to 6:00, it was decided to build a new dormitory, to cost about $150,000. The new dormitory is made possible, in large measure, by gifts of Berkshire county men, and hence will be called Berkshire Hall. Much of the necessary amount has already been pledged, and assurances have been given that the remainder will be subscribed. The building will be located on the site of the Sewall house, at present the residence of Mr. E. M. Lewis, to the south and east of East College.

The plans for the dormitory will be drawn at once, to be approved by the committee on grounds, buildings and improvements, and brought before the trustees later. Until the plans are accepted by the trustees, it cannot be definitely stated just what the size of the dormitory will be, or when construction work will begin. At all events, the dormitory will accommodate about 80 students and will be a dormitory for scholarship men.

The remainder of the meeting was taken up by the usual routine business. The committee to arrange a schedule of service, as well as a system for promotion and retirement, for instructors, placed a preliminary report in the hands of the trustees, for final action in June. The usual professional appointments were made, but, as the list is at present unfinished, will not be given out until later.

AMHERST DEFEATED

Williams Tennis Players Win Easily from Purple and White

In the dual tennis meet with Amherst, held on Saturday on the courts of the Taconic golf club, Williams won all the matches played. Through a misunderstanding Amherst brought only two men instead of four, so that only two singles matches were played and one in doubles.

The first contest was between Weed of Amherst and Northrop of Williams, but the local player was never dangerously pressed and won in straight sets 6-1; 6-2. The second match between Marcus of Amherst and Westcott of Williams proved to be the longest match of the day, but was finally won by the Williams man after he had several times been within one point of losing. In the doubles Northrop and Smith played a steady consistent game and were at no time hard pressed by the Amherst pair.

Summary:

SINGLES

Northrop (Williams) beat Weed (Amherst) 6-1; 6-3

Westcott (Williams) beat Marcus (Amherst) 5-7; 6-4; 8-6

DOUBLES

Northrop and Smith (Williams) beat Weed and Marcus (Amherst) 6-3; 6-1

COLLEGE NOTES

Taube '08 is ill at his home in Montclair, N. J.

Osterhout 1908 was taken on the baseball training table Friday.

Preliminary dance orders have been given out for the sophomore prom.

Dr. Howard gave a short talk to seniors before chapel Sunday afternoon.

The 1905-1906 baseball game, scheduled for last Saturday, was postponed.

The 'Logian preliminaries for the Wesleyan debate will be held May 17th and 24th.

Goodwillie '05 is acting captain of the track team. Neither Capt. Newell nor Warner will be able to take part in any meet this year.

A list of those who have charged with double cuts for leaving before the Easter vacation began has been posted in Hopkins Hall.

The 30th annual intercollegiate athletic championship meet will be held at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, May 26 and 27.

R. M. McLellan 1907 has been sick with pneumonia at his home in Newton Centre. He is now convalescent and will return to college soon.

The annual championship meet of the Williams College Interscholastic Athletic Association will be held on Weston Field on Saturday, June 3, at 9 a. m.

The following alumni were in town last week: Harding '57, A. L. Hopkins '63, Peck '80, Hatch '03, Hun '04, Delafield ex-'05, M. Wells ex-'07.

Warren '07, chairman of the music committee for the sophomore prom, announces that the latest dance music, which has come out since the dance program was arranged, will be used for encores.

Seventy-three men from the college were engaged in regular baseball games last Wednesday; the 'varsity nine at Worcester, the second team on Weston Field, nineteen men in the class game which followed, eighteen on the old campus, and eighteen at the Netherleigh. Three student umpires raise the total to seventy-six.

Graves Prize Essays

The successful competitors for the prizes offered in the will of the late Arthur B. Graves '58 for the best six essays by members of the senior class are: Max Forrester Eastman, subject, Giordano Bruno, the unanimous first choice of the judges; Raymond Eugene Cook, subject, The prisoner of the Vatican; Frederic Daniel Cheydleur, subject, Dogma and religious life; Ralph Miller Ketcham, subject, Disraeli; Roy Boardman Smith, subject, Giordano Bruno; Clarence Elmore Wells, subject, Giordano Bruno.

Each one of the six men will receive a prize of $20, and in addition a prize of $80 will be given "to the student who shall deliver his essay in the most effective manner," at the Graves prize-speaking contest in the Congregational church Saturday evening, June 17.

THE WILLIAMS DEBATING TEAM

"The question for debate with Dartmouth this year has the advantage of definiteness. The discussion is to be on an interpretation of a well-known doctrine, an interpretation laid down in a specific document, namely President Roosevelt's message of last December. This should do away with much of the diffuseness which often prevents the opposing speakers from coming at once to the real issue. On the other hand it opens up a tremendously wide topic, involving not only South American republics and the United States, but European countries as well, and consequently requires a very large range of information both for support and defense of the affirmative position.

"The Williams debaters have worked long and hard on the question and I am very well satisfied of the use they have made of the material at hand. In the last few days especially, they have done much to make clearer and simpler their presentation. It is always unwise to make predictions about the chances in any debate and especially so in a debate on such a broad topic. I am confident, however, that the Williams representatives will put before the judges a strong presentation of the affirmative position."

On Bernard Shaw

Asst. Prof. Lewis Perry spoke last Thursday night before the Papyrus Club on George Bernard Shaw, the English playwright whose dramas have recently created such wide-spread discussion. Mr. Perry believes that though Mr. Shaw's plays are exceedingly clever, they are scarcely more than passing fads, and that though the author is sincere in his iconoclastic sentiments, he can make no lasting impression on the drama.

The Four Duties

At the Sunday evening service of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Dewey spoke on the "four duties"—reading of the Bible, preaching, being a pastor, that is, a friend, and living the Christian life. He emphasized the idea that, although often unapparent, the influence of a pure and high character upon others is a strong reality.

FACULTY APPOINTMENTS

Announced by President Hopkins --More About Dormitory

The list of faculty appointments was completed last week and announced by President Hopkins. Assistant Professor William E. McElfresh was promoted to be Thomas T. Reed Professor of Physics, and Assistant Professor Herdman F. Cleland was promoted to a full professorship of geology. Mr. Preserved Smith was appointed instructor in history and Mr. L. L. Woodruff instructor in biology. Instructors to replace those who are going to Princeton will be elected at the June meeting.

In accordance with the vote taken at the trustees' meeting, the committee on grounds, buildings and improvements are considering competitive plans received for Berkshire Hall from seven architects. One of these plans, with exact estimates of cost of construction, will be brought before the trustees at their June meeting for final action, and until then, of course, minor details will not be settled. All the plans, however, embody certain general requirements.

The building, as before stated, will be located on the site of the present Sewall house and will be parallel to East, with its main entrance facing west towards the rest of the campus. The ground on which the dormitory is to stand will be graded up to a level with Clark Hall. The building will be three stories in height, built entirely of brick, in the colonial style. All the plans contain provisions for a wing extending east, and in case the trustees decide to construct the dormitory in this T shape rather than in the usual oblong, the building will accommodate many more than any scholarship dormitory at present.

At all events, the main part of the dormitory will be larger, accommodating more men than East College. The building will contain both single and double rooms of moderate price. Abundant bathing facilities will be afforded, probably with bath for every six to twelve men. Further definite arrangements will depend on the particular set of plans accepted by the trustees.

DARTMOUTH WON

The Tenth Annual Debate—Outline of Arguments

The tenth annual Dartmouth-Williams debate was held Tuesday evening in the college church, Hanover, and was won by Dartmouth, making the series of debates five all. The question was: "Resolved, That the Monroe doctrine as interpreted by President Roosevelt in his last annual message should be adopted as a national policy." His Excellency John McLane, governor of New Hampshire, presided, introducing the debaters with an eloquent speech on the Monroe doctrine and patriotism.

The arguments of the negative were based on the fact that President Roosevelt's interpretation was an entire change of policy and would lead the United States into grave dangers. Dartmouth failed to buttress its arguments so well with facts as did Williams, but presented a more finished case. After the debate, the Williams debaters were entertained at a banquet with the Dartmouth debaters, Governor McLane, President Tucker and several members of the Dartmouth faculty.

First Speaker—Affirmative

Walter A. Swan 1905 opened the debate for the affirmative. After defining the old Monroe doctrine, he developed and defined the corollary to it formulated by Mr. Roosevelt. This Roosevelt Monroe doctrine does not imply that the United States is to interfere in South American affairs regardless of South America's interests, or when our interests are not involved. It does imply, however, that the United States is to interfere in flagrant cases, as a last resort, when the rights of the United States have been violated, or foreign aggression invited to the detriment of entire South America. It is a necessary interpretation of the Monroe doctrine, as developed by Polk, Blaine and Cleveland, is logical, and, above all, just.

First Speaker—Negative

R. C. Falconer '05 opened for Dartmouth. Dartmouth contends that the Roosevelt corollary to the Monroe doctrine should not be adopted as a national policy since it is unwarranted, impolitic, and undemocratic. The affirmative must show that this interpretation is called for and will not place the United States in an embarrassing position. It is unwarranted, since it is an extreme innovation, since South America is prosperous and the international relations of the U. S. do not imperil the old Monroe doctrine.

Second Speaker for Williams

Joseph E. Perry 1906 was Williams' second speaker. The Roosevelt interpretation gives the United States commercial self-protection, for by this interpretation alone can we secure justice in the collection of debts and at the same time avoid friction with our Southern neighbors. Since political aggression is likely to follow in the guise of commercial aggression—the definite foreign policy of European nations—this interpretation affords double protection. This protection is all the more needed, at the present time since South America is daily becoming more desirable to Europe of itself, and this desire is now intensified by the building of the Panama canal.

An Impolitic Interpretation

J. A. Laing '05, the Green's second speaker, held that the Roosevelt interpretation was impolitic for three reasons. First, grave entanglements would ensue in South America and in Europe. The action of Roosevelt in San Domingo is but one example of impolitic interference. Second, travellers, newspapers, tourists, all testify that South America does not want the Roosevelt interpretation. The San Domingo Improvement Co., the largest firm in that country, has refused to sanction President Roosevelt's treaty with San Domingo. Third, the task of collecting debts is too large for the United States to assume.

VOL. 19 MAY 15, 1905, No. 15

An Opportunity

The size and character of the class which will enter Williams next fall becomes about this time a subject of interest. It is natural that the athletic possibilities of the class of 1909 should assume the most prominence in the eyes of the undergraduates. It has often occurred to us that if the feeling of curiosity so commonly expressed in the words, "I wonder what football material they'll have," could be changed to a determination to have some share in the formation of that class, Williams would have the teams she ought to have.

We are all of us spectators instead of actors. Here lies the trouble, and in this seems to be the explanation why the teams which represent the college fail to maintain a uniform standard of strength. Generally speaking, the student body takes little part in determining the numbers and make-up of the incoming class. There seems to be a prevalent idea that a freshman class is made in the dean's office; that the college can only stand by and hope for the best from a kind fate. As a matter of fact, the new class only passes through the office of the dean. It is made outside, through the efforts of alumni and friends of the college, whose work if it could be computed, would make that of the undergraduates appear small by comparison.

In the securing of good athletes, students and men for Williams, the alumni unquestionably have a field which is not open to undergraduate effort. Yet to supplement this the student in college today has opportunities, which, if properly exercised, would have a decisive influence in the selection of the right men for the class of 1909. Two weeks more will see Williams at its best. The festivities of sophomore prom. week, the ideal time of the year and the freedom from entrance examinations will all combine to make Williams most attractive to the man who plans to enter college in the fall. The extent of the commencement week events this year, including the dedication of the Thompson Memorial Chapel and the coming of President Roosevelt, should likewise prove an equal inducement to the prospective freshman.

The Williams man, whose love for his college is deep-rooted, and who looks to its advancement ahead of all other interests, will not fail to make the most of these opportunities. It is the individual effort, in which a man is held responsible to himself alone, that accomplishes the best results. Let him who can, sacrifice a part of his time, that he may perhaps do a service to the college.

Frank T. Cole '77, principal of the University school, Columbus, Ohio, recently presented the library with 39 volumes of different editions, translations, criticisms of the classics, etc., many of them valuable because of their age, and one or two of exceptional interest because of their quaintness.

On the fly-leaf of a volume of the "Panegyricus" of Isocrates, included in the collection, appear the names of two prominent alumni, Edward A. Birge, Ph. D., Sc. D., '73, acting president of the University of Wisconsin from 1900 to 1903, and Charles B. Hubbell '74, a former trustee of the college, showing that the book must have been used by these men when in Williams. The volume is liberally annotated with student helps.

Other interesting volumes are an excellent complete 10 volume set of Cicero, printed by the Clarendon press, Oxford, in 1783; the 1753 edition of Gilbert West's translation of the odes of Pindar, containing in Vol. 2 a "Dissertation on the Olympick games;" a 1741 edition of "The Georgicks of Virgil," with an English translation of Virgil, to which William Cowper was a subscriber; two interesting geographical works, an essay on "The geography of Herodotus," with maps, and the original 1791 edition of Chevalier's "Description of the plain of Troy", translated into English, with several quaint maps, the first scholarly investigation of the geography of the Troad with refer-

Prof. Russell on "Ghosts"

In the last of his series of lectures, delivered Tuesday night, Professor Russell discussed the phenomenon of Ghosts. After telling several interesting stories, among them those of a ghost which spoke and allowed its hand to be shaken, of an apparition which appeared as the man whom it represented was killed in battle, and of a haunted house, the speaker went on to give the scientific explanation for these phenomena.

There are two hypotheses, he said, the first that someone in another existence influences the mind of the person affected so as to produce hallucinations; the second, that a memory image of a dead friend recurs to the mind, and causes a supposedly true image to appear. Both, however, attribute the appearance of the phantoms to mental hallucinations, and not to any actual presence of real objects.

debate for Williams with a strong argument from specific examples. An example of European commercial control resulting in political control can be seen in Egypt, which, once free, became a British commercial dependency, then a British protectorate, and is now practically a British colony. An example of the need of this Roosevelt interpretation can be seen in San Domingo, a country whose pledges are broken, whose revenues subverted, whose creditor nations clamorous, which herself asks for aid. If the United States ought to give this aid, the affirmative have won their contention, for such action would be a direct use of the Roosevelt interpretation. If the only remaining alternative, help from an outside nation, is to result, such a temporary occupation must become permanent, since San Domingo's foreign indebtedness is $22,000,000 while her yearly balance is only $550,000. Such foreign control would be exactly opposed to the old Monroe doctrine and would place a foreign power in possesion of one of the two main approaches to the Panama canal.

Dartmouth's Last Speaker

C. T. Eichenauer 1905, Dartmouth's veteran debater, closed for the negative with an able argument. "The democratic principles of the United States will be endangered. South America will be deprived of independence, since the United States can step in at any time. To be sure, the affirmative have stated that the interpretation is to be applied only in flagrant cases, but by this very statement they admit the Roosevelt interpretation to be dangerous, for they only want to use it once in a long, long time."

Again the United States is forced to initiate a foreign policy directly opposed to our time-honored policy. In the same message the president asks for millions for a new navy. The wildest dreams of imperial control are fulfilled. The Monroe doctrine was formulated to keep South America independent. Under the interpretation of President Roosevelt we are actually planning to destroy South American independence—at any time we choose to suppose a flagrant case.

Rebuttals

In rebuttal, Swan said: "The negative object that the United States will be its own judge when to interfere. Who should be the judge? We have no international grammar to tell us when we are hurt. The negative asks us why we need the Roosevelt corollary. We must adopt it to maintain the old Monroe doctrine."

R. C. Falconer, referring mainly to the arguments of Williams' last speaker, said that bad as San Domingo is, she is not bad enough to warrant the "capital punishment of the Roosevelt interpretation.. All Central and South America must tremble at Roosevelt's alacrity in San Domingo, and at his self-righteous assumption."

Perry claimed that the Monroe doctrine was no longer of use in keeping off forceful foreign intervention and reiterated the point that the Roosevelt corollary is needed to prevent political agression, now carried on under the guise of commercial aggression.

Eichenauer was the second speaker in Dartmouth's rebuttal. The premise of the affirmative that the United States have not allowed Europe to collect debts is false. The example of Egypt is not apt, as England would never have gone into Egypt, had there been any Monroe doctrine to protect that country.

Gregory closed the rebuttal for Williams with a forceful speech. Affairs in San Domingo have gone so far as to warrant "capital punishment." The negative's claim that the Roosevelt corollary ought not to be adopted because it involves a big navy, is like saying that a man should not grow strong because he might misuse his strength. The United States needs the Roosevelt interpretation for self-protection.

Laing closed the debate for the negative by stating that the affirmative's contention that the United States needs the Roosevelt corollary for self-protection is rebutted by the case of the San Domingo Improvement Co. "The affirmative have based their entire case on selfish grounds and yet have failed to show that the old Monroe doctrine is affecting the prosperity of the country."

After being out fifteen minutes, the judges, Hon. Frederick Dodge, Hon. Charles S. Hamlin, and Mr. Edgar J. Rich brought in a decision for the negative.

Worcester Track Meet

years ago, when he was in Harvard, and Stearns' (A) 50 1-5s in the Amherst spring games, with a gale at his back. Orrell (A) can be counted on for about 51 4-5s in the quarter. In the high hurdles Leavitt has run 16 1-5s repeatedly, while J. H. Hubbard (A) claims a fifth of a second better. Farrington, of Tech, did 10ft 9in at Worcester last year in the pole vault, and Eyster, of Wesleyan, also has a good record.

In the weights Denning's record hammer throw of 138ft 8in, at Worcester last year, should be remembered, while at the same meet Ehmke of Brown threw the discus 118ft 8in in exhibition, and both Denning and Ehmke put the shot over 39 ft. Weld of Bowdoin, who took fourth in the quarter last year, and Shorey, who finished third in the two mile, are other entries from the Maine colleges who may take places.

Admission by Tickets

It has been deemed necessary to have admission to events of commencement week by tickets only. Those which will be thus limited are the dedication of the new chapel, the organ recital in the chapel, the reception to President Roosevelt—all on Wednesday, June 21, and the commencement exercises on June 22. The alumni, as they arrive, will register in Jesup Hall, and will receive their tickets. The graduating class, with their guests, will receive tickets; all students of the college will be admitted, and as many of the general public will receive tickets as can be accommodated.

DECENNIAL OF '95

Plans for the Reunion—Captain Draper Chairman of Committee

The class of 1895 will celebrate its anniversary this year in true decennial style. The ten Trojan members of the class have been appointed a committee to arrange plans—Capt. George M. Alden, Fred E. Draper, jr., William B. Frear, James R. Craighead, Ariel H. Ide, Walter H. Main, Frank S. Parmenter, John S. Russell and Dr. John A. Sampson; and Benjamin W. Knower of Watervliet. Fred E. Draper, jr., who was class day president, and captain of the 'varsity football and baseball teams, is chairman of the reunion committee. Capt. George M. Alden is secretary and treasurer.

Responses have been received from more than forty men, and a class fund, already of considerable proportions, is daily increasing. So crowded will Williamstown be at commencement time, that no suitable house could be secured for headquarters. A tent large enough to accommodate all the class will be pitched near the corner of South and Main Streets, behind McMahon's livery. This will not be used for sleeping quarters, but merely as a place for meeting and entertainment. The banquet will be held at the Greylock hotel, Tuesday evening, June 20 at 9:00 o'clock.

A bugler, fifer and drummer will furnish music for the class, besides a full brass band, which will give a concert, and serenade other classes holding reunions. Members of '95 as well as of other classes, are likely to be awakened at dawn with reveille, and be retired some time or other with taps, while the various mess and hospital calls will sound at intervals. An invitation will be sent to President Roosevelt to visit the class at its headquarters. This committee has adopted a cap with class numerals, to be worn by all the members during the week. A fling with class numerals will surmount the tent.

Seventy-three men graduated, of whom two have died. Members of '95 reside in eighteen states and territories. Twelve members are teachers, eighteen are lawyers, seven doctors, four manufacturers, four journalists, three ministers, and twenty-four in miscellaneous walks of life. The mayor of Columbus, Ohio, and a Massachusetts state senator are among the members of '95, besides college instructors, high school principals and teachers, a captain, lieutenant and three members of New York U. S. Volunteers. The class of 1895 founded the Gargoyle society.

M. A. C. Saturday

Williams' next game will be with the Massachusetts Agricultural College and will be played, weather permitting, on Weston Field Saturday afternoon. Wadsworth will be in the box for Williams. The line-up of the two teams will be as follows:

M. A. C.—Martin 2b, Tirrell 1b, Ingham c, Hunt ss, Cobb 3b, Clark cf, Shattuck lf, Grady or Walker rf, Kennedy p.

WILLIAMS—McCarty c, Bonham 2b, Nesbitt ss, Westervelt rf, Hogan lf, Neild 3b, Warren cf, Harman 1b, Wadsworth p.

Yale Game Called Off

A steady, drizzling rain which set in about 1 o'clock yesterday made it necessary to call off the Yale-Williams baseball game. The teams will not be matched against each other this season. In spite of the dreary outlook a large crowd from North Adams and neighboring towns was on hand in the vain hope that the shower would prove short-lived, and it was evident that a clear day might have brought a record-breaking crowd to Weston Field. The Yale team returned to New Haven on the 3:18 train.

CHANGE IN PROGRAM

President Roosevelt Arrives Earlier—Committee Appointed

The date of President Roosevelt's arrival in Williamstown has been changed from 9:30 p. m. on Wednesday, June 21, to 6:30 p. m. He will come on special train from Worcester, where he will attend the commencement exercises at Holy Cross, after having spent the day before at Clark university. The President will probably give a short speech at North Adams from the rear platform of his train. The hour of the reception in Griffin Hall will also be changed from 9:30 to 8:30. Admission to this reception will be by tickets only, which will be furnished to the alumni upon registration in Jesup Hall, and to others so far as the accommodations will allow.

The committee which will receive the president will have Hon. W. Murray Crane, United States senator and ex-governor of Massachusetts, as chairman. Associated with him will be other prominent Berkshire county men, including A. C. Houghton of North Adams, a trustee of the college, and W. B. Plunkett of Adams. The following sub-committees have been appointed: Entertainment, Prof. Clarke and Dr. Henry S. Leake '87; invitations, Prof. Rice; ushers, Prof. Milham; escort, Asst. Prof. Hardy, Asst. Prof. Perry and Mr. J. A. DeCamp 1900. Prof. Ferry has been appointed marshal for the week.

The general committee in charge consists of Rev. Mr. Burr, Prof. Wild and Treasurer Hoyt.

Rutter Cup Trials

Trials for the cups again offered by W. M. Rutter '99 for place-kicking, punting, and drop-kicking will come on Saturday, May 27. Someone will be at the field all day to record trials. Footballs for practice may be obtained from W. S. Case or at Allie Watson's. The cups will be put on exhibition during the week, and it is earnestly requested that as many men as possible will compete.

A CO-OPERATIVE STORE

Students and Faculty on Committee—Plans For Next Year

Through the efforts of a committee composed of members of the faculty and upperclassmen, definite plans have been set on foot for a co-operative book store, managed by students, at Williams next year, the success or failure of the plans now depending on the reception of the idea by the student body. Such co-operative stores are at present run at Yale, Tufts, and Harvard with great financial success. The only student-managed book-store ever run in Williams, as far as is known, that conducted by Mr. John Nelson '92, was also successful under far less favorable conditions.

The plan of the store is based on that of the Yale co-operative store. The stock carried will consist of books, stationery, athletic supplies, flags, souvenirs, etc. Through the faculty, of course, all required text-books and other college supplies can be obtained here as at present at the college book-store. Tickets will be sold, entitling their holders to membership in the co-operative store association at rates of $2 for one year, $3.50 for two years, $4.50 for three years, and $5 for four years. These ticket holders will elect a board of directors, upon which the faculty will have representation, in whose hands all the executive matters of the institution will rest. A student superintendent will be elected by the directors, who, in turn, will hire his student assistants to have charge of the business of the store.

Prices will be reduced from 10 to 25 per cent, and the store will thus profit each of the student owners who compose the association. Members holding tickets will make purchases at the store at prices as near cost as possible, while non-members will be charged current Williamstown rates. All goods will be sold for cash. The store will be run to make as little money as possible, but whatever profits may accrue over running expenses will be put into a sinking fund or invested in capital stock, the ticket holders deriving their profit, as at Yale, from the reduced prices offered, rather than from dividends from the management, as at Harvard.

A committee, consisting of Prof. Spring, chairman; Prof. Ferry, and Treasurer Hoyt, Howe, A. P. Newell, and Pettit '05, Burnap and Perry '06, have charge of the plans. A paper will be circu-

DEBATING LEAGUE

Dartmouth, Brown and Williams Make Two-team Agreement

At a conference held between representatives from Brown, Dartmouth and Williams at Worcester Saturday, Williams entered a debating league with these two institutions for next year. The agreement, modelled after that between Cornell, Columbia and Pennsylvania, has several novel features, introduced to increase the interest in debating, to improve the efficiency of the debaters, and to eliminate whatever advantage may be given by choice of sides.

By the terms of the agreement, each college will have two three-man teams in the field, which will all debate the same question on the same night, one team upholding the affirmative at home, the other the negative at one of the other colleges. Under this system Williams will meet Dartmouth at Williamstown and Brown at Providence on March 4. Each college is to submit a question by Nov. 1 and from these three questions the one which will be debated in March will be selected by lot. The judges will be chosen by alumni of the various colleges, and will render their decision by the conference system. A committee was appointed to draw up detailed plans to be submitted to the three colleges for agreement.

Soon after receiving the Brown-Dartmouth proposal a similar plan was submitted by Wesleyan for a league between Wesleyan, Williams and a third college to be determined upon later. Since negotiations were already under way with Brown and Dartmouth, it was necessary to decline Wesleyan's plan, with the understanding that it be considered next year. For the present, of course, the annual Williams-Wesleyan debate will be held as usual—this fall at Middletown.

The Lit. Banquet

Last Thursday night the old and new members of the Lit. board held their annual banquet at the Richmond hotel in North Adams. Eight members were present. The occasion was particularly enjoyable because of its informality. Toasts were responded to by Pettit, Tourtellot and Livingston 1905. George B. Dutton 1907, chairman of the board, acted as toastmaster.

AMHERST AGAIN

Williams and M. I. T. Tie For Fourth at Worcester

Williams made a weak showing in the annual New England intercollegiate track meet, held at Worcester Friday and Saturday, tieing with M. I. T. for fourth place with 13 points. As expected, Amherst won first with 38¼ points, with Dartmouth closely following with 36. Brown, thanks to the return of her old distance man, Wright, gained third place with 17 points.

Though weather conditions were unfavorable three Worcester records were bettered and two more equalled. Ehmke's discus throw of 119 feet, 3 inches, is seven inches farther than his previous record; Denning's exhibition hammer throw of 144 feet, ½ inch, breaks his old record of 138 feet, 8 inches; and W. P. Hubbard's broad jump of 23 feet, 2½ inches, breaks his former record of 22 feet, 7 inches. Swasey equalled the record in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes, held by Cloudman of Bowdoin, and Curtenius of Amherst, and Leavitt equalled the record in the low hurdles, held by Burch of M. I. T., and Edson of Dartmouth. The Williams hurdler showed beyond dispute that he is still the best hurdler in the association and won both of his events in fast time, equaling the college record at the 120 yard distance. B. P. Allen ran fifth in the mile and finished fresh enough to have done better had the pace been faster. Hompe followed closely the fast pace in the two-mile for seven laps, but fell out about 200 yards from the finish. Marshall added 4¾ inches to the college record for the shot put, taking third, and Griswold completed Williams total by taking fourth in the high hurdles.

The Basketball Report

The report of the basketball manager of the past season has been audited by the graduate treasurer and appears in this issue of The Record. On the face of it the balance is small but is thoroughly justifiable; the schedule has been exceedingly heavy, the guarantees have been larger than ever before in the history of the association. But the item which makes this report fall below the reports of previous managers is that charged against umpires. A year ago this expenditure amounted to ten dollars, this year to ten times that sum. This is an expense which made the last season particularly satisfactory since it insured neutral decisions.

The Rutter Cups

In another column appears today the announcement that W. M. Rutter '99 has again offered cups for the encouragement of spring football practice. The advantage of spring work is obvious. It enables the new captain to get into the work of organizing a team at an early date, and to locate properly the material on hand. It puts the team in line for active training in the fall, and saves the college from being represented in September by a wholly green aggregation. By reason of the agitation in favor of more open play, the fact that these cups are offered for excellence in punting, place-kicking, and drop-kicking, is likely to make this early work of particular value.

With these objects in view the Rutter cups have been donated. It remains for the college to justify Mr. Rutter's generosity by answering Captain Bixby's call with vigor. All men who intend to be candidates for next year's team should report.

COMMUNICATIONS

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

To the Editor of the Record:

So far as I am informed the Faculty are entirely friendly to the project of establishing here a students' co-operative store. Elsewhere this sort of store has proved a useful adjunct to college life and there would seem to be no reason why it should prove otherwise in Williamstown. If we can in this way reduce appreciably the cost of living and enlarge somewhat our meagre opportunities for remunerative employment, the enterprise will be altogether worth while.

Leverett W. Spring.

To the Editor of The Record:

We do not wish to encroach on the prerogatives of the one who will review the debating activity of the year in the Commencement Record. It has, however, seemed well to us that we who have been more interested in debating during the year should express our appreciation for the kind interest that has been taken and helpful suggestions that have been given. With one exception the faculty have been most willing to give assistance and even at much personal inconvenience have spent time in judging the preliminary debates and in criticising our arguments for the final debate. We also are especially grateful to the librarian, who has been most willing to buy many books not already in the library, and has pointed the way to much valuable material,

Very sincerely,
Russell S. Gregory.

lated through the college to secure ticket-holders for next year. If sufficient college interest can be shown in the enterprise to insure its support, the committee is assured of ways and means of putting the enterprise on a first-class basis, in quarters convenient to the student body, and with an equipment sufficient for student demands.

Williams Defeats Amherst

In a baseball game played at Cambridge Monday afternoon between the Williams men and Amherst men in Harvard Law school, Williams won by a score of 6 to 4. Turrell '03 and Callan '03 were the battery for Williams, Burdick and Maynard for Amherst.

Williams Rallies in the Ninth and Beats M. A. C. 4 to 3

A sudden batting carnival in the last half of the ninth inning enlivened the M. A. C. game played on Weston Saturday, and won it for Williams by a score of 4 to 3. With the score three to one for the visitors and Williams so far unable to hit Kennedy, things looked dubious when the Purple came up for their last time at the bat. Warren led off with a hit, and was advanced when Harman knocked an infield ball and reached first on Tirrell's error. Wadsworth went out on an easy fly to Kennedy but McCarty furnished another hit, scoring Warren, and sending Osterhout, who ran for Harman, to third. McCarty attempted a daring steal and slid to safety under Martin's legs. Bonham continued the good work by sending a hard fly to centre field, which Clark only succeeded in touching, and reached second, scoring Osterhout and tieing the game. Nesbitt contributed the second clean hit of the inning and brought McCarty in with the winning run.

The visitors scored one in the first inning and two in the seventh, all earned. Hunt on short played the best kind of ball, securing two put outs and five assists without an error. Wadsworth made three bases on a hit to left centre which sent the ball across the cinder track.

FRIEDRICH SCHILLER

Prof. Tombo Lectures on Germany's Best-loved Poet

Last Friday evening in Jesup Hall, Prof. Rudolph Tombo, jr., of Columbia University, delivered an interesting lecture, in German, upon the life and works of the German poet, Friedrich Schiller, the hundredth anniversary of whose death was widely celebrated a few days ago. After being introduced by Prof. G. M. Wahl in a speech which emphasized the importance of Schiller as a man as well as a poet, the speaker of the evening began his address.

Schiller, he said, was essentially an idealist and an optimist, besides being a man whose entire life and works were an exemplification of all that is best in German life. Throughout his whole career his ideal of human freedom was the great central theme which inspired him to his loftiest efforts. Although he never reached the height of genius which his friend Goethe attained, his great versatility, and above all the purity and disinterestedness of his character have gained for him an even warmer place in the hearts of his countrymen, and a wide appreciation among the other nations of the world.

The lecture was followed by a number of lantern slides illustrating scenes in Schiller's life and plays, and as a conclusion the speaker gave a short summary in English of what he had previously spoken in German.

VICTORY AND DEFEAT

Golf Team Wins From M. I. T. at Boston—Loses to Harvard

The Williams golf team left Friday morning for its spring trip, playing M. I. T. and Harvard. The match with M. I. T. took place Friday afternoon on the links of the Wollaston golf club. Williams won easily, 23 to 0, straight hole play. Saturday afternoon the team met the intercollegiate champions on the Myopia course, and lost 11½ to 1½, Tuxedo system of scoring. White, number three on the Crimson team, is individual intercollegiate champion. Both matches were played under favorable weather conditions.

REVIEW OF LIT.

Criticism on May Number by Rev. Dr. John Sheridan Zelie '87

Having been asked to furnish the review of this month's Literary Monthly, it is well for the reviewer to remember that he is dealing with a magazine whose editors once seemed to him to have attained almost the summit of undergraduate honor. Although never an editor himself, there easily comes back to him something of that feeling of being in the presence of a superior being which he always felt in the old days toward an editor of the Lit, or even toward one who managed to get a contribution within its covers.

The first article deals with a subject which was just beginning to become familiar in the reviewer's undergraduate days, and the very place comes to his mind when he first saw a page of Amiel's Journal.

Many of the most unforgettable passages one ever finds come in the course of what used be be called "sponging a head," a term which I hope is still familiar as applied to a practice which I hope is still more so.

This number opens with the article on Amiel, "A Successful Failure," by Russell S. Gregory. It is more a history than a critique of that strange career which seemed so abortive, but had its vindication in adding one man to that literature of the inner life to which belong such books as Job and Marcus Aurelius and Augustine. There is the life story about which so little discussion is possible as that of Amiel. No new light is shed upon it and no new revelations have come nor may we expect any. Amiel himself has told all. The writer of this article has felt truly the disclosure which the old Genevan professor has made to the world and shows himself to have become not a disciple, for no one becomes that to Amiel, but the kind of a companion who understands—and for such the book was written. The only defect in the narrative is that it perpetuates the mistaken story of Amiel's sad and lonely childhood, happily a thing which never existed. The Amiel interest needs a new stirring up now and then and this article is of the sort to give it.

Stevenson also needs men to out gospelling for him, as is done by John Adams Lowe in the article on "The Message of an Optimist." It has the Stevenson spirit and kindliness and transfers the feeling of the Scotch optimist to

Harvard Defeats Williams in Game Full of Errors

Williams received its most decisive baseball defeat in years at the hands of Harvard at Cambridge yesterday when the Crimson scored sixteen runs and held the Purple down to a solitary tally, and all in but six innings. Williams' batting and fielding averages took a decided drop, the team making about two errors an inning, and only reaching first, Warren excepted, on equally poor work by the Crimson infield. Westervelt was wild, yet effective, for three innings, but in the fourth Mahar, Harvard's diminutive right fielder, knocked a home run with two on bases, and in the sixth six hits, a gift, and three errors in the outfield gave Harvard eight runs.

Coburn pitched himself out of bad holes in the first and second, and not until the sixth did Neild score Williams' lone run, reaching second on a bad error by Matthews and swung on a clean single by Warren. After that, the deluge. The game was called at the end of the sixth by mutual consent.

VAN VECHTEN CONTEST

Extemporaneous Speaking in Jesup Hall Last Evening

The annual extemporaneous speaking contest for the Van Vechten prize was held last evening in Jesup Hall. Prof. Spring presided. Superintendent Mitchell of the Williamstown schools, Mr. A. E. Hall, and Mr. W. C. Hart acted as judges. The speakers were given a number of subjects from which to choose and were given one hour of preparation before the time of delivering their speeches. H. L. Everitt, J. R. Stevenson, H. W. Mollen, and R. S. Gregory all spoke on "Why a young man should enter the ministry." Mellen emphasized that we must all, though ministers in the abstract, get down and help. Gregory showed that the profession of the ministry gave great satisfaction at the close of life. J. F. Boland gave a defense of "The action of the American Board of Foreign Missions in accepting Rockefeller's gift." Murray then spoke upon "Dunne's election and its significance."

M. F. Eastman clearly summed up the "contrast between the Russian and English character," when he compared the stolidness of the English to that of the bull-dog and the stolidness of the Russian to that of the mule.

Pettit spoke well on "Tendencies at Williams," emphasizing the stand for athletics for the many, the good-feeling between the faculty and students, and the honor system and code of honor. Cook chose for a subject "An Independent President—Roosevelt" and A. P. Newell closed the contest with "The President and Railroad Regulations." The decision of the judges will be announced at commencement.

Leavitt 1907 Track Captain

Following the taking of the track team picture yesterday afternoon, Robert G. Leavitt '07 of Boston was chosen captain for next year. Leavitt prepared for college at Exeter academy, subsequently going to Mercersburg, at both of which schools he was captain of the track teams. While at Mercersburg he made records in both high and low hurdles at the Yale university inter scholastic association meet which stood until this year.

Last year Leavitt won both hurdles in the Worcester meet and tied for fourth in the broad jump, and this year repeated his wins in the hurdles, equalling the college record in the 120 yards, and the Worcester record in the 220 yards event.

AMHERST SECOND LOST

Williams Second Team Won by Rally in the Eighth

Not to be outdone by the 'varsity, in the game with M. A. C., the second team also made a grandstand finish yesterday afternoon, winning from Amherst secondon Weston Field by a score of 8 to 7. The rally came in the last of the eighth. With the score 7 to 3 for the visitors, Miller reached first on Rounseville's error, Osbrone and Willcox both hit, and Captain Austin was helped by an error at third. Domett went out on an easy one to Shattuck. Pierce was the fifth man to reach first and Stocking got his third hit. Five runs were scored and the team batted around. Amherst started the ninth with a hit but was unable to get a man past second.

Pierce made eleven strike-outs and allowed the same number of hits, keeping the game well in hand. Rounseville worked the only double play of the game, unassisted.

The "W" and the Track

The privilege of wearing the 'varsity "W", granted to members of the three major athletic teams, is an honor most highly prized only when the right is awarded wisely. There has been a growing sentiment in college that the track letter was given too freely last year, when the "W" was voted to point-winners in the dual track meet with Dartmouth at Hanover.

We are glad to note that the council has not yet acted on the question, and presumably does not intend to consider it. Under any conditions, however satisfactory the result of a dual track meet, the trial is not sufficiently severe to guarantee a contestant in the possession of the coveted "W", so hard to earn in the other two departments of athletics. Training for the track team was included this year in a period of four weeks, work almost play when compared with the nine weeks of daily rough and tumble struggle on the football field.

In deciding to give a letter to point-winners at the Worcester intercollegiate meet, the manager and captain have continued a custom which could well be converted into a rule, with the additional clause that the track "W" be secured in no other way. As far as possible, and as far as is consistent with the size of the three athletic teams, their comparative strength should be represented by the number of letters granted to their members. If the "W" is withheld from point-winners in the Dartmouth meet, this proportion will be maintained. In awarding the AWA, a conservative policy has likewise been followed, with the result that the value of this insignia has been increased accordingly.

We congratulate the college and Captain Leavitt upon his election to lead Williams on the track in 1906. The team has this season met difficulties at every turn, and in the face of them has fought hard a losing fight. Next year may sickness, accident and other misfortunes keep off!

The Debating League

In the formation of a league with Dartmouth and Brown, the debaters of Williams display an admirable determination to restore the debating interests of the college to the position of pre-eminence, which has but recently been yielded to the teams of other colleges. Since 1903 the decline has been steady. The attendance at preliminary trials has been deplorably small. As a whole, the college has evidenced little more than an idle curiosity in the contests with Wesleyan and Dartmouth. This lack of active interest has been partially responsible for Williams' defeat in these two debates this year. To prevent the Purple being outclassed, certainly it was necessary to take the bull by the horns. Though an experiment, the new league should prove beneficial to Williams debating, for by the terms of the agreement fairness is secured, the work of preparation is systematized and latent material is brought out.

The choice of a question will be decided by lot. Furthermore, in providing for two teams in each college, one upholding the affirmative and the other the negative, less is left to chance and more to efficiency, thereby minimizing the danger of an adverse decision from an unfortunate choice of sides.

March 4, 1906, is set as the date for the two debates—two months earlier than this year and three months earlier than last year. The shorter time allowed for preparation is amply sufficient, and leaves the spring term to curriculum work, and in the case of seniors does not interfere with the events of graduation.

With eight positions open on the 'varsity teams, instead of four, it is obvious that competition should be keener. Williams debating has undoubtedly suffered in the past under the old system, which allowed but three representatives and an alternate. The two team system offers every opportunity to the men who have hitherto held back because of the limited number of positions open.

It is to be noticed with satisfac-

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record:

In the May number of the "Lit" among the Suggestions, appeared a selection of verse entitled "Thetis." Two lines of this as published read:

"And did the paltry price for sour wine Reduce thee then to stilts of common pine?"

These lines, as presented to the Board read:

"And did the paltry price for thirsty beers Reduce thee then to stilts and bitter tears?"

These lines were revised and changed without the knowledge of the author who would very gladly have accepted any change for the better; but this revision appears not only no improvement but a decided change for the worse Perhaps beer is not recognized on the higher realms of literary art, but in this instance, at least, it seems preferable to "sour wine." It might at least have been made champagne.

It is a small matter to bring before your notice, and I do not wish to appear unreasonable in the matter, but I would suggest that if the Board insists upon exerting this prerogative of revision, it save itself undue exertion by refraining from revision except when revision is necessary. Even doggerel has its rights.

Tri-Collegiate Tennis

On Friday and Saturday, for the first time since 1902, the tri-collegiate tennis tournament will take place at Williamstown. The matches will be played on the Taconic courts. Dartmouth, Wesleyan and Williams will be represented by two men each in singles and one team in doubles. Each representative will be drawn against one man from each of the other two colleges, making a total of six matches in singles, while the doubles will be round-robin.

Matches will be played in the morning and afternoon both days, the morning contests beginning at 9:30 o'clock. On Friday afternoon play will commence at 3 o'clock and immediately after the baseball game on Saturday. The same team which won this tournament for Williams last year will again play and the chances are the best for another victory. Wallis of Dartmouth is the strongest player on either of the visiting teams.

Saturday's Game

Wesleyan will play here again Saturday afternoon. Since the previous game, won by Williams 14 to 3, the Middletown team has been playing faster ball and Saturday's game should be interesting. At least four changes will be made in the visitors' line-up used earlier in the season. The batting order:

WILLIAMS—McCarty c, Bonham 2b, Nesbitt ss, Westervelt p, Hogan lf, Neild 3b, Warren cf, Harman 1b, Wadsworth rf.

WESLEYAN—Hancock rf, Monroe lf or p, Morgan cf, Anderson ss, Haley 2b, Smith 3b, Day c, Taylor 1b, Campaigne lf, Clark p.

The Co-operative Store

The paper circulated by the committee in charge of the co-operative store plans has received the signature of 144 of the 309 members of the lower classes, 34 from 1906, 58 from 1907, and 52 from 1908, though over a third of the members of these classes have not yet been seen. The response from the college has been so favorable that the committee are now prepared to announce that the store will be started next year. The location of the store is not definitely settled, but the committee have a site in view and hope to be able to make a definite announcement the last of the week.

Juniors Shut Out

Effective pitching by Pierce enabled the sophomores to blank the juniors on Wednesday afternoon. Pierce pitched the five innings without allowing a hit and struck out seven men. The sophomores scored five runs in the second on a combination of hits and a wild throw with the bases full. The score by innings:

1907	0	5	0	0	2	–	7	6	2

× Sercomb Cup Shoot

As a result of the second shoot for the Sercomb cup held yesterday afternoon, these final scores were made: Mellen '05 (17 yards) 21 and 21, total 42; Fitch '06 (19 yards) 17 and 23, total 40; L. P. Allen '08 (16 yards) 22 and 18, total 40; Geer '07 (14 yards) 17 and 21, total 38; Dr. J. L. Kellogg (21 yards) 18 and 19, total 37; Dawson '08 (17 yards) 18 and 19, total 37; Sercomb '06 (16 yards) 10 and 14, total 24; Howard '06 (14 yards) 10 and 12, total 22. Especially noteworthy was the shooting of Fitch '06, who succeeded in making a score of 23 from the 19 yard mark.

Owing to the fact that only eight men have thus far competed, the trophy will not be awarded until at least two more have participated.

COLLEGE NOTES

W. A. Newell is out after a light attack of typhoid.

Tonight is the last opportunity to have contributions considered for this year's Lit.

Secretary Parsons has issued, in folder form, a complete program of the events of commencement.

No more notices will be sent to men reaching their limit in any subject or in chapel.

The members of the combined musical clubs will be given a banquet at the Greylock on Friday evening, June 2.

Yesterday's baseball game with Harvard was the first this season in which Capt. McCarty has not scored.

The members of Dr. Cleland's geology classes visited the Natural Bridge at North Adams and the district around Stamford, Vt., yesterday afternoon.

Griswold, Hurlbut and B. P. Allen will represent the college in the Philadelphia meet Friday and Saturday. Leavitt was unable to go on account of college work.

Tickets to the sophomore prom, as well as dance orders, will be on sale in Jesup hall, on Saturday from 1:15 to 2:15 and from 7:15 to 8:15 p. m. No flowers on the floor.

Wohurst succumbed to the Netherleigh team yesterday afternoon, 15 to 8. The batteries were Tower and Case for Wohurst, Tourtellot, Bedford and Paffard for the Netherleigh.

Track "Ws" have been awarded to Peters '06, manager, and to Marshall '08. The AWA has been awarded to Ayers '05, Hompe '07 A. M. and M. Brown '07, LaMent '08, B. P. Allen '08, and Clark '08.

A meeting of the rules committee of the intercollegiate basketball association will be held in Philadelphia tomorrow evening to revise the rules. Manager Appell has sent a letter to the committee urging Williams' claim to the championship.

Dr. Mabie Will Speak

Hamilton Wright Mabie '67, associate editor of "The Outlook," will give an informal lay talk in chapel next Sunday on "What shall a man do with his life?" Dr. Mabie is one of the best known of Williams alumni, and has had conferred upon him high academic honors, having received the degrees of LL. B. from Columbia in 1869; L. H. D. from Williams in 1890, and LL. D. from Union in 1899. He has been a trustee of Williams college since 1895, and is also a trustee of Barnard college.

NOTICES

—On Saturday at 1:30 there will be a meeting of the freshman class to elect a member to the honor system committee.

—The last of the series of Sunday afternoon talks to seniors will be given by President Hopkins on May 28, at 4:45 p. m., in 4 H. H.

—In order to insure the payment of all debts the treasurer of the senior class requests that all creditors having claims against him submit their bills before May 27, 1905. This does not apply to debts contracted by the class day committee.

—The regular class prayer meetings will be held in Jesup Hall tomorrow evening at 7:15. The topic is: "Ways of Consecrating Ourselves to Our Country." The leaders are: 1905 Belding, 1906 Perry, 1907 Matthews, 1908 Anderson.

—The notice containing the doubles entries has been lost from the board in Hopkins Hall, so that it will be necessary for the teams to sign the new list before Saturday night. Because of the short time before college closes it will be necessary to make a limit of two days for each round in this tournament, except in case of rain.

Review of Lit.

the reader with a large measure of success.

Artemus Ward said once in sending some of his banter to a comic paper, that he hoped they would pardon him but he had always believed that a joke or two now and then rather improved a comic paper. We are certain that a good murder story now and then is necessary to the enlivening of a literary magazine. All the world loves a lover and a good murder story. Let us own up to it. Jowett, Master of Balliol, would remain silent through philosophical discussion, but "would go off like a house on fire"—as one of his students said, if anyone introduced the subject of murder. The plot of "The Lifting of the Clouds" by Shepard Ashman Morgan is not hackney and we are grateful to the author for daring to believe that down deep we dearly love something of this sort, and are not unwilling to have the story turn out well.

In the short sketch "A Stranger," W. A. G. has managed to give a very vivid impression of that experience which ever appeals to our imagination, the parting of the soul from the body and the revisiting of its old surroundings. The sketch has life and go to it and is well done.

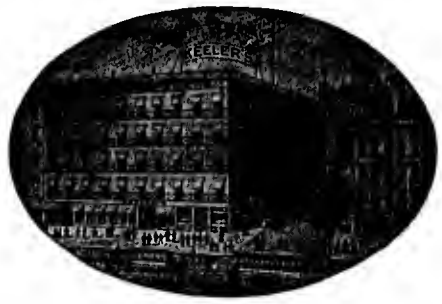
"Sanctum" gives utterance to the wish that the writing activity of the college and the writing interests should be increased. Certainly no more acceptable sign of college vitality could appear than a new enthusiasm in its members for their intellectual interests and the expression of them.

"At Set of Sun," a poem by Westermann, just grips one truth and expresses it with a beauty and completeness which gives power to the appeal of "Sanctum" for more college writing. What is it that counts when the day is over, is the question of the poem.

Willard Ansley Gibson in his poem of "The Willows" has found a form that matches his subject in grace and lightness. A touch or two—and the picture he sees is in your mind too, with no feeling of effort.

"Thetis" by W. R. W. is some solemn fun in dignified metre, and classic talk with a view of finding out whether the exigencies of many a student ever reached to the Thetis household and necessitated the pawning of the silver feet.

For Wesleyan Preliminaries



The following men were chosen last night by Philologian to represent that society in the Wesleyan preliminary debates next fall: Bowman '06, Nomer '06, Perry '06, Case '07, Matthews '07; alternate Scholle '06.

At the same meeting, officers for the first quarter of next year were elected as follows: President, Perry '06; vice-president, Nomer '06; secretary, Case '07; treasurer, (for the year) Bowman '06.

BREECHES AND KNICKERS A SPECIALTY

Cornell University Medical School

New York

The course covering four years begins during the first week in October and continues until June.

A preliminary training in natural sciences is of great advantage.

All classes are divided into small sections for recitations, laboratory and clinical bedside instruction.

Students are admitted to advanced standing after passing the requisite examinations.

The successful completion of the first year in any College or University recognized by the Regents of the State of New York as maintaining a satisfactory standard is sufficient to satisfy the requirements for admission which have lately been raised.

The annual announcement giving full particulars will be mailed on application.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT

Will Deliver Address at Commencement Exercises June 22

Announcement is made that the President will deliver an address at the commencement exercises on Thursday forenoon, immediately after receiving his degree, before the audience in the Congregational church. It is hoped that he will deliver a second address to townspeople and others who cannot secure admission to the church, after the close of the commencement exercises. If so, he will speak from the top of the wooden steps leading to West College hill. It is again called to the notice of all that admission to the President's reception, to the dedication of the Thompson Memorial Chapel, and, in short, to all halls and rooms where the exercises of commencement week may take place, will be by ticket only.

President Must Leave Early

President Roosevelt and party, consisting of William Loeb, jr., secretary to the President, P. M. Rixey, surgeon-general of the United States navy, and a stenographer, will be obliged to leave Williamstown earlier on Thursday, June 22, than was originally arranged. To reach Oyster Bay that night, the President must leave at 1:30 p. m. and will probably be unable to be present at the alumni dinner at noon that day.

AMHERST AND WILLIAMS

Memorial Day Game on Weston Field—Line-up of the Teams

The most important game of the schedule will be played tomorrow afternoon on Weston Field when Amherst and Williams meet in the second of the series of four games. The same teams will play again on the following day at Amherst. Westervelt is to pitch both games. The line-ups for the two games will be as follows:

WILLIAMS—McCarty c, Bonham 2b, Nesbitt ss, Westervelt p, Watson 1b, Hogan lf, Neild 3b, Warren cf, Wadsworth rf.

AMHERST—Wheeler cf, Palmer 1b, Storke 3b, Beach ss, Danahey c, Kelliher 2b, Powell lf, Allaire rf, Newell and McRae p.

Williams Wins at Longwood

(By Telegraph to The Record.)

Longwood, Mass, May 29.—The sixth annual tournament of the New England intercollegiate lawn tennis association commenced today on the courts of the Longwood cricket club. Teams from ten New England colleges are entered. In the contest for the trophy offered by the association to the college first obtaining seven points, Williams is tied with Brown for first place, with a total of 3½ points each.

In the first round of the singles this morning Northrop defeated Gotch of Wesleyan 6-0; 6-1. Smith won from Wise of Tufts 6-1; 6-1. In the doubles, Northrop and Smith won from the Bowdoin representatives 6-4; 6-1.

MUSICAL CLUBS' CONCERT

Glee, Banjo and Mandolin Clubs Saturday—The Program

The concert of the Williams glee, banjo and mandolin clubs, given in Jesup Hall Saturday evening, was a decided success. From the opening number, "The Royal Purple," to the closing piece, "The Mountains," the program was uniformly good. Of especial note were the solos of Lord '05, and the readings of Pierce '07, who responded to two encores.

The program follows:

WILLIAMS 12; WESLEYAN 5

Red and Black Outplayed by Purple on Weston Field

The largest crowd of the season saw Williams defeat Wesleyan Saturday afternoon, when the second game between the two colleges was won by the Purple, 12 to 5, in a long-drawn-out contest filled with hits, errors and runs. Watson played his first game this year and demonstrated that he is eminently the man for first base. Capt. McCarty set his team a good example in stick-work, his batting average for five times up being 1000 per cent.

Wesleyan used Monroe in the box. He struck out six men, but was not effective and was found for 12 hits. His throwing to bases was wild. Westervelt didn't work hard at any time, allowing eight hits and securing five strike-outs. He kept the game well in hand except in the fourth inning, when with the bases full he forced in two runs, and in the seventh, when three hits resulted in as many tallies. He got three hits, one for two bases and one for three. Williams' base-running improved noticeably. Anderson at short made a third of Wesleyan's errors which proved costly. Taylor played a neat game on first.

Amherst Tomorrow

Again Williams and Amherst meet in a Memorial day game on Weston Field. The contest tomorrow is the one above all others that the Purple needs to win; Amherst having taken the first of the series, it is safe to say the 'varsity will make every effort to balance the score. The nine has shown unsteadiness, and at times has given a poor exhibition of baseball (the Harvard game). It has also demonstrated that it can play errorless ball if necessary (the Dartmouth game), and defeat a strong team on its own diamond. The parade forms at 2:10 p. m. at Lasell gymnasium and if the college marches to Weston Field confident of the result, and displays that confidence in the right way, the Purple will wave over the Purple and White tomorrow afternoon.

Prom. Time

Prom. week is here with all its affectation, its sincerity and its variety. If the Stroller had not been discontinued, what an opportunity! He could find material for columns of cynical observations, yet we feel sure that in spite of himself his habitual moroseness would change to pleasantness in expressing what a really good thing it is for the college to give the undergraduates a few days off.

What would the spring term be without May Thirtieth and the events that lead up to it? Nature has been trying hard enough all the year to get a word in edgewise and say that there should be a time for something else than work. Yet they who lay aside their books for the moment will not suffer in comparison with the others—for Prom. week is the best tonic for examinations. No straighter road to mental torpor can be found than that which allows no pause. This year the program is practically the same as in the past and offers to the guests of the college a view of Williams undergraduate activity in all its branches. To the visitors of Prom. week the college extends its warmest welcome.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Editor of The Record:

In the issue of May 25, under the heading "The 'W' and the Track," the question of granting the "W" to track men seems to be settled in a very simple manner. The writer agrees that the letter should not be awarded too freely, yet it should not be made too hard to get. Jewels are valuable in proportion as they are scarce, but they may become so hard to get that the searcher gives up in despair. The system of granting the letter only for points in the Worcester meet does not seem fair. There is a man in college who has won first in every dual meet since he entered, yet had such a rule been in effect he would not have a letter.

In this year's meet with Williams, Dartmouth granted the "D" for first and second places. In Cornell the "C" is given for all first place men, and so on in dual meets of other colleges. Shall we make it so much harder to get a track letter here than in other colleges that but three men, old and new, can earn it during the year?

It was given as an argument in the article in question that in track the training was for only four weeks and was mere play compared with football "rough and tumble for nine weeks." The football man trains but nine weeks and has the pleasure of a number of games. The track man has but one or two meets and it is very necessary for him to work during the fall and winter as well as during the four weeks of actual work on the track, in order to be in condition for these meets.

The writer believes that the best interests of track athletics will be fostered, and the college will be better satisfied, if a golden mean be pursued between the action of last year and that taken so far this year.

A. J. A.

In the next issue The Record will publish an article on the summer plans of the faculty. The editors will appreciate any information additional to that already obtained.

In Lasell Gymnasium Tonight—The Color Scheme

Tonight at nine o'clock in the Lasell Gymnasium will be held the annual sophomore promenade. The committe has been hard at work and there is every indication of a most successful event.

Yellow and white will be the colors used in decoration and long strips of bunting of this color will hang from above and be draped along the walls of the gymnasium. Last year the walls were decorated with Williams banners. This year, however, the banners will be placed along the balcony railing and bunting will be used on the side walls. Yellow shades will cover the electric light globes. As usual, the numerals of the sophomore class will be shown in electric lights at one end of the balcony.

Gioscin's orchestra will furnish the music. It is expected that the dancing will commence shortly after nine and will stop a little before five.

Lucas will furnish refreshments after the eighteenth dance.

COLLEGE NOTES

Orrell, the Amherst quarter-miler, is in town for a few days.

Van Inwegen '06 has been elected manager of the golf team for next year.

The old tennis court near Jackson hall has been rolled and put into shape for use.

A band has been engaged to head the parade to the field tomorrow afternoon.

The name of Clark '07 was inadvertently omitted from the list of those chosen for the Wesleyan preliminaries.

President Hopkins addressed the senior class yesterday afternoon in 4 Hopkins Hall on "Some familiar counsels for post-graduate life."

Perry '06 has found it necessary to resign his position as manager of the Adelphic Union and N. B. Stern '06 has been elected in his place.

At a college meeting Friday night it was voted to grant the insignia I. D. L. (intercollegiate debating league) to men debating on the regular college teams.

Illness prevented Hamilton Wright Mabie's proposed visit here Sunday and the pulpit was occupied by Prof. Platner of Andover.

At the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday night, Mr. E. M. Lewis spoke about the vital change in a college man's religious beliefs, giving his own personal experience and conclusions.

The athletic council has awarded the insignia GWT with crossed golf clubs to the manager and five members of the golf team, who played in the New England intercollegiate tournament last fall.

The cup donated by the Pennsylvania members of the class of 1895, to the member of the freshman class who shall have made the most progress during the year in that branch of athletics made compulsory by the faculty, will be awarded on Tuesday morning.

Lorande Loss Woodruff, recently appointed instructor in biology, has successfully passed the examination for the degree of Ph. D. from Columbia university. The subject of Dr. Woodruff's thesis was "An experimental study on the life history of Hypotrichous Infusoria."

The Philadelphia alumni cup, to be awarded annually to the freshman making the best showing in the required course in physical training is on exhibition in Azhderian's window and will be given for the first time to a member of 1908. Candidates should report to Mr. Seeley.

The following alumni are in town: Lewis '89, Ide '98, Stiles '00, Pickard '02, Berking '03, Hatch '03, Doughty '03, Durbin '01, Jayne '04, Hun '04, Hite '04, Bridgewater '04, Herrick '04, Watson ex-'05, Holmes ex-'06, Hubbard ex-'06, Bargfrede ex '08, and Rifenbergh, ex-'08.

The last regular issue of The Record is published on Thursday, June first. Every subscription should be paid before that date. If you have not paid your subscription yet, kindly mail check to H. L. Everitt, Box 767.

Cornell the Winner

The annual games of the intercollegiate track and field association, held on Franklin Field, Philadelphia, Saturday, resulted for the first time in the history of the association in a victory for a college outside of the so-called "big four." Cornell was the victor with 30½ points, followed closely by Yale with 28 points. Harvard secured third with 20½ points, and Pennsylvania and Princeton were fourth and fifth respectively. Of the New England colleges Amherst was the only point-winner, scoring thirds in the 100, 880, broad jump and shot put, and tieing with Syracuse and Colgate for sixth place with eight points. Williams' three entries, Griswold '06, in the hurdles, Hurlbut '07 in the quarter and B. P. Allen '08 in the mile, did not score.

ALUMNI NOTES

'70—Merritt Brown Walley, a civil engineer, was killed in a mine explosion one hundred miles west of Denver, three days ago. Mr. Walley was employed in engineering work at the time of his death. He was a former resident of Williamstown, his home being on Water street. His father was Stephen Walley, who operated a mill here for many years. Mr. Walley graduated in 1870, and after graduation went west, where he had since resided. His home was at Cripple Creek, Colo.

'98—The engagement is announced of Miss Lydia S. Vail, daughter of Rev. Dr. Richard Philip Hart Vail '64, of New York city to William Howard Doughty, jr., of New York city.

'99—John S. Oakman, formerly of Pittsfield, has formed a partnership for the general practice of architecture with Mr. W. Powell Robins; the firm has taken offices at 27 East 22d street, New York.

WHO FIRED MORGAN?

Murray '05 Convicted—Pathetic Scene in the Court-Room

It is still somewhat of a puzzle just how the jury in the mock trial last Thursday evening arrived at its verdict of "Guilty," but at any rate, there is no doubt that the whole affair was a complete success.

Murray '05, be it known, stood before the court charged with the heinous crime of having started the fire which last Thanksgiving day almost destroyed Morgan Hall. The prosecuting attorney (Nomer '06) opened the case by attacking the character of the defendant, and attempting to prove, by means of witnesses, that the day before the fire, said defendant had bought kerosene and matches at Neyland & Quinn's; moreover, that he had a standing quarrel with several of the other occupants of his entry in Morgan Hall. Cross-examination by the attorney for the defense (Pettit '05) failed to disprove to any great extent the testimony of the witnesses, and the prisoner's doom seemed sealed.

But the prosecution had reckoned without its host. Witnesses of unimpeachable reputation were brought up by the defense to show that Murray's character was of the best. One even went so far as to say, "Mr. Murray would not accept any position in Troy politics, knowing them to be corrupt."

Court-room pathos was stretched to its utmost limit, as Mrs. Murray (Swan '05) stepped upon the witness-stand to testify in her husband's defense.

The defense then played its trump card. Mr. Nomer himself, the dignified prosecuting attorney, had been seen to light a fire on that very Thanksgiving afternoon. The latter, however, acquitted himself of all guilt, by forcing the witnesses to admit that the fire referred to had not been built in Morgan Hall, but in the Abbey some distance away.

After a summary of his case by each of the attorneys, the jury retired, and soon returned with a verdict of "Guilty of arson." In view of the extenuating circumstances, the judge (Shoudy '05) declared the sentence of the prisoner to be only one day's imprisonment, and a fine of a nominal sum.

American Mathematical Society

On the 7th and 8th of September next the regular annual summer meeting of the American Mathematical Society will be held in Williamstown, with sessions in Hopkins Hall or Jesup Hall. The society is composed of professors and instructors of mathematics, as well as workers in the subject throughout this country, and even several in Europe. Several of the most noted mathematicians in the country will be in attendance.

TWO DEFEATS

Seniors and Juniors Win From Freshmen—Standing of Teams

A batting rally in the third, together with general unsteadiness on the part of the freshmen, won an uphill game for the seniors Thursday. Parker was given poor support and changed places with centre fielder Gillett in the fourth inning. Mills pitched a steady game, striking out four batters.

DRAMATICS

Cap and Bells' Presentation of "Capt. Racket"

Cap and Bells gave a highly successful performance of "Captain Racket" before a large crowd of Prom. guests and undergraduates in the opera house on Tuesday morning. The play, a three-act farce, went off with great snap and vigor and was a decided improvment on the earlier presentations.

The work of Botsford 1906 as Obadiah Dawson, the uncle from Japan, was excellent. He was convulsingly funny in the third act when he believed he had taken morphine. Bellamy 1908 made a very good Katy (the mischievous maid) while Day 1905 took the title part well. The work of Hite 1908 would perhaps be better if he were less inclined to drawl his lines. The cast has already been published in these columns. The orchestra, under the leadership of Boland 1905, played between acts and deservedly drew rounds of applause.

The following seniors acted as ushers: Austin, Chace, Mann, Nesbitt, Judson.

Dr. Tomlinson Will Preach

Dr. Everett Titsworth Tomlinson, of Elizabeth, N. J., a prominent educator and writer, will occupy the college pulpit next Sunday. He was a member of the class of 1879, but did not graduate. In 1883 he received an honorary M. A. from Williams, and later received the degree of Ph. D. from Colgate. Dr. Tomlinson has written many juvenile books, the majority of them dealing with the Revolution and the War of 1812. Among his more famous books are "Boy Soldiers of 1812," "The Colonial Boys," "Three Young Continentals," "Washington's Young Aids," and a "Short History of the American Revolution."

WILLIAMS

First Game on Weston Field Won By Purple 3-2

Williams won from Amherst on Weston Field Memorial day by a score of 3 to 2 in an exciting, well-played game. Westervelt proved superior to McRae at critical moments, striking out the last man up in the second, third, fourth and sixth innings with men on bases, and was steady at all times. The fielding on both sides was, in the main, accurate, with Amherst excelling, except for the fifth inning, when temporary unsteadiness combined with Williams' heady work on the bases, won the game for the Purple. Powell gave the cheer leaders work by sprinting to left center in the sixth and catching a hit from Warren's bat labelled three-bagger.

The game gave promise of excitement at the start when Amherst, after two were out, scored on two hits, and McCarty walked, stole, and tied the score on a hit by Westervelt. Williams won the game in the fifth, when Wadsworth reached third on his single and steal, and an error. Nesbitt and Westervelt rolled slow bounders toward Storke; his error of judgment on the first let Wadsworth score, while his wide throw on the second let Bonham in with the run that won the game.

AMHERST

Second Game, on Pratt Field, Won by Purple and White 8-1

The third game of the Amherst series, played on Pratt Field yesterday afternoon, saw the Purple and White victorious 8 to 1. The game was won in the first inning, when Amherst's timely hitting followed Williams' costly errors. Towards the end of the game Amherst again found the ball, and Williams' poor fielding once more turned their hits into runs. Williams on the other hand, although not striking out, hit the ball straight at the fielders until the last three innings, but Amherst's infield proved competent. Beach and Storke in particular strengthened their fielding averages, mostly on easy chances.

Williams' lone run came in the ninth, and was very much earned. With one out, Nesbitt cracked a drive to deep left that earned him second base with ease. Westervelt got a safe hit and Watson another, scoring Nesbitt. Westervelt was put out trying to reach third and Hogan's strike-out was the signal for Amherst's last round of cheers.

Announcement

The Record board announces the election of Edward Brockway Wight 1907, of Milwaukee, Wis., and Carroll Atwood Wilson of Westfield, Mass., to the positions of associate-editors, to hold office until December, 1905.

The Interscholastic Meet

It is an admitted fact that the main purpose of the interscholastic track meet, held every year by the college, is to investigate the ability of any promising athletes from the competing schools, and to induce such men to make Williams their alma mater. One of the most effective methods of nullifying any desire on the part of these athletes to enter Williams, is to ignore completely their efforts. And yet this is done year after year.

Little, if any, interest is taken in the meet by the undergraduates. The school boys are left to their own devices; no entertainment is offered them such as they are accustomed to receive at other colleges. Is it any wonder then, that many of them, perhaps, feel no desire to enter the institution which has treated them so shabbily?

Next Saturday offers an excellent chance to begin doing what should have been done in the past. There are no 'varsity or second team games to hold the attention of the student body. It is the duty of every man to witness the meet, and, after it is over, to hold out to the visitors the best that Williams has to offer.

The Commencement Record

In preparing the Commencement Record for 1905 the question of expense has been kept in the background. The book will cost the editors over twice as much as any previous commencement number, and will be as perfect an example of the printer's art as it is possible for them to secure. The special events of commencement will give an opportunity for features of exceptional interest. The number will contain a hitherto unpublished letter of the late Frederick Ferris Thompson, illustrative of the character of a man who was one of Williams' best friends and its greatest benefactor. The customary reviews of undergraduate organizations will be included, and will be brought up to the time of going to press.

The cuts used in illustrating the book are all new, uniform in size, on a light tint, and will be printed on the best book plate. The cover designs will be three in number, in three colors, and the frontispiece in two colors. For the drawings The Record wishes to thank Miss Wright of New York city, John B. Reid 1906 and Alfred P. Hanchett 1907.

It is planned to issue the book before the close of the final examinations. The aim is to publish a number thoroughly representative of Williams. If the undergraduate body decides that the goal has been reached, we respectfully ask its support.

The Daily Record

During commencement week, beginning with Saturday, June 17, The Record will be published as a daily paper. It will be issued early in the afternoon and will contain full accounts of the morning's events. Its columns will be devoted exclusively to Williams college news, and everything relating to the college, of interest to alumni, undergraduates and visitors, will be chronicled. A detailed calendar of the events for the following day will be printed in the first column of each issue. All notices in brief form of alumni banquets, meetings, etc., will be printed if left in the press box, Jesup Hall, and signed with the writer's name.

Members of The Record board will be in the Press room at all times, and, so far as they are able, will be pleased to assist visiting correspondents.

—The regular class prayer meetings will be held Friday evening at 7.15 in Jesup Hall. The topic is "How to Spend the Sabbath," Luke 13: 10-17. The leaders are 1905, Gregory; 1906, Howe; 1907, Stanley; 1908, McIntyre.

SECOND TEAM WON

Harvard College Defeated by a Single Run

The second team concluded a victorious season yesterday afternoon by defeating the Harvard college nine 5 to 4 on Weston Field. Of the five games scheduled, four have been won, the game with the Albany high school being cancelled on account of rain. Yesterday's game showed considerable unsteadiness in the field on the part of the home team, and a lack of headwork in coaching and base running.

Three errors by the visitors enabled Shedden to score in the second, and a pass, an error and a hit helped Willcox home in the sixth. Timely hitting in the fourth and fifth allowed the visitors to score twice. A single and a couple of passes filled the bases for Williams again in the seventh, and with two out, Southworth's single scored Stocking and Austin. Willcox stole home before Southworth was caught at second. This winning lead was nearly overcome in the ninth, when four expensive errors gave Harvard two more runs.

The teams came to bat as follows:

WILLIAMS SECOND—Osterhout 3b, Domett ss, Osborne cf, Stocking rf, Austin 2b, Shedden lf, Willcox 1b, Southworth c, Ford p.

HARVARD COLLEGE—Giles lf, Sperry 1b, Mitchell ss, Adams rf, Burns 2b, Colby cf, Wickensham 3b, Sullivan c, Greene p.

Williams—0 1 0 0 0 1 3 0 x—5 6 7
Harvard —0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0 2—4 7 6

Philotechnian Elections

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Philotechnian society last night, the following were elected officers for the first quarter, fall term: Hulst 1906, president; McAllister 1906, vice-president; Allen 1907, secretary; Pierce 1907, treasurer; Scott 1908, librarian; Gunther 1906, quarterly orator, and Kenney 1906, critic.

The following men were chosen to represent the society in the Wesleyan preliminaries: Hulst and McAllister 1906, Allen and Pierce 1907, Bullard and Scott 1908. Kenney 1906 was chosen alternate.

Trinity Saturday

Trinity college, which lost a game to Wesleyan Tuesday morning and won one in the afternoon, will play Williams at Hartford Saturday. The line up:

WILLIAMS—McCarty c, Bonham 2b, Nesbitt ss, Westervelt p, Watson 1b, Hogan lf, Neild 3b, Warren cf, Wadsworth rf.

TRINITY—Morgan cf, Landefeldt c, Powell 3b, Madden rf, Clement 1b, Bowman lf, Burwell 2b, Randall ss, Bodgely p.

THE PROM.

Annual Event by Sophomore Class in Lasell Gymnasium

The sophomore prom. has become a part of the class history of 1907. The diligently perfected plans of an efficient committee culminated on Monday night in what was one of the most elaborate promenades ever held in Lasell gymnasium. The committee in charge of the promenade, consisted of Reginald D. Johnson, chairman; John L. Feeny, Montague Brown, Eugene M. Hoyne, and L. Parsons Warren, aided by a subcommittee of ten.

The opening number commenced at about half past nine o'clock. Giuseia's orchestra of fifteen pieces, was stationed in a bank of palms, on a raised dais in the southeast corner of the floor. Thirty-six regular dances and four extras were played, besides encores to each number. One of the most enjoyable pieces of music during the evening was the 1907 extra, a spirited two step composed by R. M. McLellan 1907, and W. P. Yarnelle 1907.

The decorations of the gymnasium were splendid. Yellow and white bunting completely hid the walls: the railing of the gallery was draped with festoons of the same material and long ropes of laurel, fastened above the running track, depended from a center piece. Each pendant was covered with incandescent lights. A large star at one end of he gymnasium, bore the numerals "'07" in electric lights. The angle behind the running track on the second floor was converted into a large cosy corner with divans, sofas and chairs. rugs and tapestries, shields and banners.

Intermission for supper was given between the eighteenth and nineteenth dances, and during this time the members of the glee clubs sang. Dancing lasted until quarter of five, with the closing number by daylight.

The supplementary dance, under the management of the sophomore prom. committee, was held at the Greylock hotel Tuesday evening.

Freshmen Athletic Cup Awarded

The 1905 Philadelphia Alumni cup has been awarded by the athletic council for 1905 to Francis Ferris Anderson 1908. This cup is offered each year to that member of the freshman class who shows the greatest improvement in athletic exercise prescribed by the faculty and who maintains a grade of at least seventy per cent in his curriculum work.

The baseball management has erected posts for canvas screens which will shut off the field from view from the road. It has been customary for a large crowd of onlookers to avoid paying admission by watching games from the fence.

INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

On Weston Field Saturday—Nine Schools are Entered

The seventh annual track and field meet of Williams Interscholastic Athletic Association will begin on Weston Field, Saturday morning, at ten o'clock sharp. Ten preparatory schools belong to the association, and entries have been received from all except the last: Adams, Drury, Pittsfield, Searles and Williamstown high schools, in Massachusetts, and Ballston, Cambridge, and Troy high schools, and Albany and Troy academies in New York state.

Thirteen events are scheduled: the 100 yd., 220 yd., and 440 yd. dashes, half mile and mile runs, pole vault, broad and high jumps, discus and hammer throws, and shot put. The bicycle race, so disastrous last year, is omitted. The points will be awarded as usual, on the scale of 5-3-1. The championship banner will be awarded to the school winning the greatest number of points, and medals will be awarded to all point winners. About one hundred entries have been received.

Last year's winner was Pittsfield high school. The championship banner has never been carried outside of Berkshire county.

FACULTY SUMMER PLANS

Members of the Faculty Will Be Widely Scattered

As far as is known at this early date, the plans of the faculty are as follows:

President Hopkins will probably be detained in Williamstown during a part of the summer by the preliminary work on the new dormitory and other routine business, but hopes to get away for two or three weeks.

Prof. Clarke, as in previous years, will probably pass the summer months at Grow and Long Lake in the Adirondacks.

Prof. Mears, who is now in Venice, will remain in Europe until fall, travelling to London, Paris and Heidelberg, sailing for America from Antwerp, August 26.

Prof. Hewitt and his family will again visit Castine, Me., where he expects to work on Greek archaeology and literature during a part of the summer.

Prof. Spring and his family will pass the summer in Marblehead and around Boston.

Prof. Goodrich will attend his class reunion at its twenty-fifth anniversary at the Yale commencement. He will then sail with his family to Digby, Nova Scotia, near which he will spend the rest of the summer.

Prof. and Mrs. Wahl will sail for Europe the last of June or the first of July, and will spend July and August traveling in Austria and Germany, returning to Williamstown the first of September.

Prof. Morton will also spend the summer abroad. He will sail for Europe July 8 and return about September 10.

The wedding of Prof. Ferry and Miss Anna Chamberlain, of New-Britain, Conn., will be celebrated at the home of the bride in July. Prof. Ferry will be detained in Williamstown the greater part of vacation by his duties in charge of the admissions work for 1909. He will be present at the meeting of the American Mathematical Society in Williamstown, September 7 and 8.

Prof. Milham's plans are not definitely settled, but at present he expects to spend practically all of July at Kinderhook, N. Y., and probably the month of August at the seashore.

Prof. T. C. Smith will go to Boston immediately after commencement. He will be busy writing his book, covering the period of American history between 1850 and 1859, entitled "Parties and Slavery," Vol. 18 of "The American Nation, a History," Albert Bushnell Hart, editor-in-chief. He hopes to spend two weeks toward the end of the summer camping in Canada.

Prof. McElfresh will pass the summer in Boston, where he will have charge of the course in elementary physics at the Harvard summer school.

Prof. Cleland will be away from July 3 to July 17 on an intercollegiate geological excursion to Chesapeake Bay and the southern Appalachians. The rest of the vacation will be spent working in the Yale museum.

Professors Rice, Russell, Maxey and Kellogg are undecided; Prof. Nelson will remain in Williamstown. Prof. Wild, will devote a portion of the summer to rest.

Acting Prof. T. H. Clark will be at his home in Worcester.

Asst. Prof. Kellogg will be at the Chatauqua summer school, Chautauqua, N. Y., from June 10 to August 18, where he will have charge of the Latin department, giving courses in the Latin language and literature, besides conducting normal training classes and a Latin teachers' conference. He will spend the rest of August in Canada.

Asst. Prof. Webster will spend the summer at Lake George, N Y., where he will be at work on his book, "Primitive Secret Societies."

Asst. Prof. Weston, absent in Europe on two-years leave, now in Paris, will pass July and August in Spain.

Assistant Professors Hardy, Howard, King and Perry will remain in Williamstown.

Mr. Lewis will spend his first six weeks of vacation in England and Wales, revisiting his birthplace for the first time since his boyhood. On returning to the United States, he will be employed in social settlement work in Boston until college opens.

Mr. Northup will work at the University of Chicago on his doctor's thesis.

Mr. Shepard will be at Asbury Park from June 28 to July 5 in charge of the registration at the annual meeting of the National Educational Association. He will pass the rest of the summer in Illinois and Minnesota.

Dr. Woodruff will act as instructor at the Marine biological laboratory at Wood's Holl.

Mr. de Beaumont will pass July and August at Columbia univer-

THE CHAPEL ORGAN

Description of Organ For Thompson Memorial Chapel

The three-manual electric organ for the Thompson Memorial chapel is practically installed, and has been used enough to demonstrate that it is entirely satisfactory. An expert, Mr. Clark of Boston, is now engaged in tuning the pipes and expects to have the organ in readiness a week before the recital to be given June 21 by Mr. Gaston N. Dethier of New York city.

The Thompson organ is not the largest built by Hutchings & Votey, but is the very best of its size. It has 27 speaking stops (the organ in the old chapel has about a dozen) and between 2000 and 3000 pipes. Air is supplied by a water motor. The keyboard acts by electric contact, the slightest touch being responded to instantaneously. When the circuit is closed through the battery an electro-magnet opens the valve of a small wind tube. This in turn operates to open the large wind chest. This system has obviously many advantages over the pneumatic arrangement.

Only a few pipes will be in sight from the body of the chapel and but a small part of the large cost of the organ has been spent on its ornamental features. The builders found themselves at first somewhat cramped for room for the big pipes, which it was found necessary to place in a chamber below the level of the rest of the organ, but the result has been entirely satisfactory. The pipes have remarkably full, sweet tones to which the acoustic properties of the chpael do full justice. Mr. Clark says that with present-day knowledge it is impossible to construct a better, more nearly perfect organ of this size.

Dr. Parsons, Mr. Hoyt and Mr. Hart will remain in Williamstown.

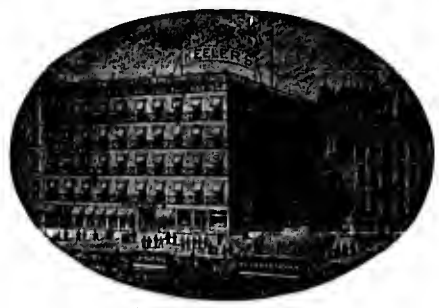
Rev. Mr. Burr will be in Williamstown for the greater part of the summer attending to the publication of the general catalogue but may get away for a week or two to Nahant, Mass.

Mr. Green will stay in Williamstown during July and September, but will spend part of August in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Wells Prize Essays

"The Contributions of the Landed Man to Civil Liberty," printed by The Riverside Press for the department of political science of Williams college, is the first of the David A. Wells Prize Essays. The work is necessarily somewhat technical. The author, Mr. Elwin Lawrence Page 1900, has treated in a scholarly and thorough manner the influence of the land owner upon constitutional growth, in securing the possession of liberty. The book includes eight long chapters, beginning with "The Angles and Saxons on the Continent," to "The Growth of Parliament" and "The Final Struggle for Liberty" in England.

Under the terms of the will of the late David A. Wells '47, Mr. Page was awarded the prize of $500 for the best essay submitted to the judges and deemed worthy of publication. The printing and editing of the essays is to be done under the direction of Dr. Henry Loomis Nelson, David A. Wells Professor of Political Science, the expense of printing and circulation to come out of the residual income of the fund. Competition is opened to seniors and graduates of not more than three years' standing.



Although there were about ten competitors for the prize, on the subject announced for the classes of 1901, 1902, 1903 and 1904, no essays were submitted.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR PRESIDENT'S SAFETY

Secret Service, Local Officers and Student Guard

Arrangements for the President's safety, will, of course, rest largely with the secret service bureau, but in addition to these usual precautions, the local authorities and the college will lend additional aid.

A committee, consisting of Prof. James G. Hardy, Asst. Prof. Lewis Perry and John A. De Camp will have general charge of the plans, with Griswold '06, Westervelt '06, and Bixby '06 as a student sub-committee.

It is expected that a total of 150 men from the classes of 1906 and 1907, will act as an escort. Of this number nearly 100 have already consented to serve. They will be subject to the orders of Sheriff John Nicholson of Berkshire county, and will be distinguished by badges worn on the coats. It is possible that a part of them will be mounted.

Upon his arrival in town, President Roosevelt will be met by the majority of the student escort, who will accompany him as far as the French Catholic Church, where they will board a special trolley car, and thus be able to meet him again at the entrance to the college grounds. In the meantime, another division of 25 students will be stationed at President Hopkins' residence, to keep the lawn clear, and to open a path to the door.

After the commencement exercises another escort, led by the seniors, will accompany the president to the place where he will deliver a speech to the townspeople. Upon leaving, he will be escorted to the station by two coach loads of students.

In addition to the student guard the selectmen have appointed twelve special officers, to patrol the streets in the center of the town from Wednesday noon until Thursday evening, while others will be present from Pittsfield, all working under the direction of Sheriff Nicholson.

Gargoyle Banquet

This evening at 8:30 p. m. the Gargoyle society dinner will be held at the Greylock hotel. Members of each of the delegations since 1895, the date of the founding of the society, as well as the 1905 and 1906 Gargoyle delegations, will be present. Harry T. Watson will be toast master, and a toast will be given by representatives from each delegation.

THE 1905 BASEBALL TEAM

WILLIAMS MEETS AMHERST AGAIN

Fourth Game of Series Will Be Played This Afternoon.

Williams meets Amherst this afternoon on Weston Field at 2:30 in the fourth game played this year between the two teams. Williams won at Williamstown by a score of 3 to 2, and Amherst at Amherst by scores of 7 to 1 and 8 to 2. The line-ups and batting orders of the teams will be as follows:

WILLIAMS—McCarty c, Bonham 2b, Nesbitt ss, Westervelt rf or p, Watson 1b, Hogan lf, Neild 3b, Warren cf, Wadsworth p or rf.

AMHERST—Wheeler cf, Powell lf, McRae p, Beach ss, Kelliher 2b, Storke 3b, Shattuck rf, Palmer 1b, Ellis c.

Hasset and Conboy will umpire.

Berkshire Committee

The committee which will represent Berkshire county during President Roosevelt's visit to Williamstown consists of Hon. Albert Charles Houghton of North Adams; Hon William B. Plunkett of Adams; U. S. Senator, and ex-Governor of Massachusetts, W. Murray Crane of Dalton; Hon. James Madison Barker of Pittsfield, and Hon. Walter F. Hawkins of Pittsfield.

By defeating Herman Livingston, jr., 1905, of Catskill, N. Y., Ardo W. Mitchell 1907, of Rock Island, Ill., won the spring handicap golf tournament yesterday afternoon. Mitchell won 2 up and 1 to play.

PRESIDENT WILL NOT ATTEND RECEPTION

Will Now be Held Tuesday—The Receiving Committee

Owing to the pressure upon President Roosevelt during his stay in Williamstown, he will be unable to attend the reception planned for Wednesday evening at 8:30 in Lasell Gymnasium, and consequently the reception of the president and trustees of the college to the alumni and friends of the college will be held at the regular time, Tuesday afternoon, June 20, at 4:30 p. m. in Jesup Hall.

At the reception President Hopkins will be assisted in receiving by a committee of seven: Hon. Winthrop Murray Crane, of Dalton, junior senator from Massachusetts, chairman; Hon. Geo. P. Lawrence, ex-'80, of North Adams, U. S. Representative from the First Massachusetts District; Hon. A. C. Houghton, of North Adams, a trustee of the college; Mr. W. B. Plunkett of Adams; Hon. James M. Barker '60, of Pittsfield, a trustee of the college; George Westinghouse, Esq., of Lenox; and Hon. Jas. R. Garfield, '85, United States Commissioner of Corporations, and a trustee of the college. In addition, a committee representing the town, consisting of N. H. Sabin, John B. Locke, A. E. Hall, and D. J. Neyland, as well as Mr. W. B. Plunkett, will meet the presidential party at North Adams.

The battery for the Williams Alumni game next Wednesday will be Lewis and Draper. Lewis was captain of the '96 team and Draper of the '94 and '95 teams.

Commencement

The commencement week which begins today promises to be the most noteworthy in the history of Williams. The one hundred and eleventh commencement will be signalized by two events of unusual importance, the dedication of the Thompson Memorial Chapel and the visit of the President of the United States.

With the undergraduates, to a large extent, rests the good name of the college; we cannot bring ourselves to think that a word of caution to them is out of place. The courtesies which the students can extend to visitors, it is unnecessary to mention. The actions of the undergraduates during commencement week and their attitude towards the guests of the college will best illustrate one side of an education at Williams.

CLASS BANQUETS OF 1906, 1907, 1908

Held at Pittsfield, North Adams and Troy Wednesday Evening

The annual banquet of the class of 1906 was held at the Hotel Wendell, Pittsfield, June 14. Fifty members of the class were present. Francis L. Robbins was toastmaster.

The following toasts were given: "The Class," Morton D. Griswold; "Every Little Bit Helps," Alfred M. Botsford; "What Harm?" Charles H. Brady; "When we Sign the Checks—A Prophecy," Eugene I. Cowell.

The committee consisted of Chauncy Hills, Philip R. Peters and Samuel C. Wooster, jr. A special car conveyed the juniors to and from Pittsfield.

Sophomores at North Adams

The class of 1907 held its banquet at the Richmond, North Adams. About sixty men attended the dinner. Charles P. Moies, jr., was toastmaster, and the following were the toasts: President's address, Bernard W. Southworth; "Grinds," John J. Butler, jr.,; "Athletics," Robert G. Leavitt; "The Faculty," Alfred P. Hanchett, jr.,; "The Class," Lewis G. Hinman; and "Williams," George B. Dutton. The committee was made up of John H. Lapham, Harry P. Houston and Kenneth S. Domett. The special car left North Adams at 12:15 a. m.

The Freshmen's First

The Rensselaer Hotel in Troy resounded with the cheers of the freshmen, when the members of the class of 1908 held their first banquet. The class left Williamstown for Troy at 5:04 p. m. Harold H. Griswold presided at the dinner. William N. Elder delivered the president's address, and the following toasts were responded to: "Canes", George E. Hite, 2d; "The Sink-hole of Iniquity," Frank H. Bellamy; "The Class," John Woodcock; "Faculty," Philip N. Westcott; Class Poem, Bernard Westermann.

The class elections resulted as follows: Most popular professor, Dr. Wetmore; most popular man, W. N. Elder; handsomest man, D. P. Brown; class grind, E. P. Groben; man who has done most for the class, W. N. Elder; class fusser, A. Allen; best athlete, E. J. Marshall; worst bootlick, H. E. Bedford, jr.; our sport, B. F. Dawson; most scientific loafer, R. M. Brady.

The freshmen returned to Williamstown on the train which left Troy at 11:30 p. m. arriving here at 1:23 a. m. The freshman supper committee included William H. Scarritt, George E. Hite, 2d., E. Kendall Gillett, Richard B. Rising and Frank E. Curtis.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR HOLY CROSS

Williams Defeated on Weston Field Wednesday by Score of 11 to 3

Holy Cross defeated Williams for the second time this year Wednesday afternoon on Weston Field by a score of 11 to 3. In batting the teams were even, but Williams, except in one inning, was unable to bunch hits off Hogarty, while all of Westervelt's excellent pitching in the first innings, when he twice struck out batters with one out and a man on third, was nullified by Williams' miserable work in the field in the seventh and ninth. Holy Cross on the other hand, fielded prettily, a fine stop and throw by Barry of a ground hit across second being about the best in the fielding line seen on Weston Field this year.

Both pitchers pulled out of big holes during the first five innings, Westervelt being particularly effective in the first, when Hoey led off with a three-bagger and got no farther. In the fifth Wadsworth and Bonham were on bases with two out. Westervelt singled to right, and Wadsworth scored when Carrigan dropped Riley's pretty throw to the plate. Watson knocked two men in with a timely double but with all his speed on the bases could not beat Cahill's throw to the plate of Hogan's hit. After that no Williams player saw third base again.

PAST EVENTS

Summary of Undergraduate Doings Since Last Issue of Record

The seventh annual track and field meet of the Williams College Interscholastic Athletic Association was held on Weston Field Saturday, June 3, from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. Nine of the ten schools composing the association were entered: Adams High School, Albany Academy, Cambridge Union School, Drury High School, Pittsfield High School, Ballston High School, Searles High School, Troy High School, and Williamstown High School. No records were broken. The meet was exceedingly close, Drury winning in the last event by ½ point. The final score was as follows:

Drury 27¼, Pittsfield 27, Cambridge 18, Adams 13 3-8, Searles 10, Albany 9⅛, Ballston 5, Williamstown 4¼, Troy 3.

Williston Victorious

Williston defeated Williams easily on Weston Field Wednesday afternoon, June 7, by a score of 7 to 2, batting Westervelt in the first inning and scoring in the ninth on Nesbitt's error. Williams was unable to hit Paine effectively till the end of the game, when the usual ninth inning rally produced two scores. The score:

Williston,	3 0 0 0 0 0 1 3 x—7

Batteries—For Williams, Westervelt and McCarty; for Williston, Paine and Raymond.

Sophomores Won Play-off

After the Williston game June 7th, 1907 and 1908 met in a well played six-inning game, rain stopping the contest with the score 1 to 1. The tie was played off Saturday, 1907 winning 8 to 7 after five errors had almost presented the game to 1908 in the first inning.

1907	0 2 0 4 1 1—8

The class series stands as follows, with one game still unplayed between 1905 and 1907:

	W.	L.	P. C.
1905	4	1	.800
1907	3	2	.600
1906	2	4	.333
1908	2	4	.333

Last Vesper Service

Last Sunday at the last vesper service which will ever be held in the old chapel, President Hopkins referred to the forty six years' history of the chapel, and the memories that will always cluster around it. Among the famous men who had passed in and out there he mentioned Mark Hopkins, Albert Hopkins, Prof. Safford, Prof. Dodd, Prof. A. L. Perry and Prof. Bascom.

Last Morning Service

The usual last chapel exercises were held Wednesday, June 14. The chapel was prettily decorated,

Trinity Lost in Eleventh

In one of the most exciting games of the year Williams defeated Trinity in 11 innings on Weston Saturday, June 10, 6 to 5. Wadsworth was in the box for the Purple for the first full game since the southern trip, and pitched fine ball for seven innings. Westervelt was unable to keep Trinity from scoring in the tenth, but Williams tied in its half and won out in the eleventh on Warren's triple and Wadsworth's third hit. Morgan of Trinity knocked two doubles and a home run. The score:

Trinity,	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	2	1	1 0—5

Batteries—For Williams, Wadsworth, Westervelt and McCarty; for Trinity, Badgley, Bowman and Landefeld.

North Adams Won

Thursday afternoon, the North Adams gun club defeated the collegeorganization by the score of 113 to 91. The work of Pratt of North Adams was especially good, not a single miss being recorded against him. Individual scores follow:

NOTES

Owing to illness, Rev. Robert Russell Booth, D. D., LL. D., '49, a trustee of the college, will be unable to conduct the Mission Park prayer meeting, held at 4:30 p. m. Sunday, June 18, as in previous years. Rev. Chas. A. Stoddard, D. D. '54, editor of the New York Observer, will conduct the meeting, assisted Dr. James L. Barton, Secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions. No formal program has been arranged.

In the issue of The Outlook dated Saturday, June 24, will appear an article descriptive of the Thompson Memorial chapel, fully illustrated.

J. W. Voso 1903, for four years captain of the Williams basketball team, is in town on his wedding trip, and will remain during commencement.

Owing to illness, Eastman, who was elected ivy poet, will be unable to deliver the poem at the class day exercises Tuesday. Livingston will compose and read the poem in his place.

BACCALAUREATE SERMON

Delivered By President Hopkins to Graduating Class of 1905

The Baccalaureate sermon was given by President Hopkins in the Congregational church Sunday forenoon. The senior class, headed by John Joseph McCarty and James William Wadsworth, the class marshals, formed at Jesup Hall and marched to the church, taking seats in the front of the house.

The invocation was given by Rev. Francis Treadway Clayton, of Williamstown. Rev. Chas. A. Stoddard '54, of New York city, read the Scripture. After singing "The Son of God goes Forth to War," the sermon was delivered by Dr. Hopkins. Charles L. Safford '92, played the organ.

The Record is the only paper that publishes the baccalaureate sermon in full. President Hopkins spoke as follows, taking his text from 2d Timothy, 4:7. "I have kept the faith."

There are two demands which are made upon the educated man of today, both of which he must meet if he is to be worthy of his age and of his training. One is for the utmost hospitality to new truth and the other for absolute fidelity to the truth already possessed. There is a popular impression that openness and positiveness of mind are incompatible, that the open-minded man is not a man of firm convictions, that the broad man is without well-defined principles, while on the other hand it is assumed that fixed opinions rigidly maintained must go with narrowness, and that strong adherence to standards prove a person illiberal. Tendencies in these directions are obvious illustrations and are numerous. Nevertheless there is in the nature of things, no basis for this opinion.

Concerning these two demands, your attention is called to two facts: first, these traits naturally and rightfully go together; and, second, all true progress must be realized in the combination of these two, of the openness which welcomes and seeks new truth, and the positiveness which stands immovably upon the truth established. Positiveness is legitimate only as the outgrowth of the widest search for truth. It is the man who has candidly weighed all the facts, whose conclusions are worthy to stand. It is he alone who has a right to stand by his conclusions or who will long be able to do so.

Every advance is made from the standpoint of ascertained fact. An unchanging and unchangeable law is the basis of all progress in reasoning, is the POU STO for every new achievement. What we call the uniformity of nature is the foundation of all scientific progress, the condition of every discovery. However shifting the phenomena, the law of the conservation of energy never changes. However different the bulk of bodies in space every schoolboy knows that it is forever true that the attraction of grav-

EX-AMBASSADOR CHOATE ACCEPTS

Invitation to Attend Williams Commencement

In response to invitation, Joseph H. Choate, recently Ambassador to England, has telegraphed President Hopkins that he will come to Williams on Wednesday and will stay over Commencement.

Trustees in Session

The annual commencement meeting of the Board of Trustees of Williams college was held in the seminar room at Griffin Hall this forenoon. The following trustees were present: President Hopkins, Francis Lynde Stetson '67, of New York city: Hamilton Wright Mabie '67, of New York city; Eugene Delano '66, of New York city; Rev. Daniel Merriman '63, of Worcester; James R. Garfield '85, of Washington, D. C.; James R. Dunbar, of Brookline; Bentley W. Warren '85, of Boston; Rev. Harry P. Dewey '84, of Brooklyn; President Henry Lefavour '83, of Boston.

Owing to the unfinished state of the business transacted, the trustees would give out no information of what had been done at the morning session.

Concert This Evening

The glee club concert will be held this evening on the Library campus at 9:00 p. m. The glee club will meet on the Library porch at that hour. Besides this informal program, the club will follow the custom of former years in givingany college song or selection suggested by any of the alumni present.

Request From President

Rev. C. H. Burr, chairman of the committee on arrangements, has received word from William Loeb, jr, the President's secretary, that President Roosevelt wishes the local reception committee to meet him at the Williamstown station rather than in North Adams. This wish will be complied with.

1904 Reunion Banquet

A 1904 reunion banquet will be held at The Wilson house, North Adams, at 7:00 tonight. 1904 men are requested to see T. Jaeckel at the Chi Psi House for arrangements.

All members of the presidential escort meet at Jesup Hall on Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock to receive badges and final instructions.

JAMES G. HARDY.

DR. GLADDEN'S ADDRESS

His Subject Religious Life in College and Outside

At the Congregational church last evening, Rev. Washington Gladden, D. D., LL. D., '59, of Columbus, O., delivered an address, one of the most inspiring and masterful heard at Williamstown in many years.

The exercises were opened by Rev. James L. Barton, of Boston, secretary of the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions, who led in prayer. Dr. Hopkins then introduced Dr. Gladden, who spoke, in part, as follows:

Of religion on its devotional side there is less in college now than there was in my day. The daily noon prayer meetings were a feature of our life that could not now be reproduced. Yet I dare say the religious life of the men now on the ground is a reality. Most of the men now here are, I suppose, members of Christian churches. They are not hypocrites. They mean that religion shall be a real power in their lives. But how? What kind of work will be done by the divine energy when it enters into the lives of men upon this campus?

Its normal effect must be to complete the manhood of him who receives it. "I am come," said Jesus, "that ye may have life and that ye may have it abundantly." The fundamental trouble with most men is that they are fractional; whole ranges of faculty are undeveloped. When the life of God enters into the soul of man, it makes him a whole man, an all-round man in the true sense. The religious man here in college ought to be the man who lays hold on life in the largest way.

Religion ought also to simplify college life. There are tendencies to luxury and extravagance which it should strengthen men to resist. It may be said that luxury in college only reproduces the luxury of the world outside. But the life of the college ought to be a higher and finer life than that of the world outside. Instead of sinking to that level, we ought to lift up the standards of the life of reason and simplicity.

Religion in college ought to abolish the abuses connected with athletic sports—I am not here to bring any railing accusation against athletics; I believe in them, and enjoy them. But such testimony as that of President Eliot's last report cannot be gainsaid. It shows that there are elements in some of these sports that are exceedingly injurious to high character—which tend to develop brutality, dishonesty and unfairness—qualities that are the antitheses of chivalry and manliness and magnanimity. These tendencies must certainly be checked; civilization cannot tolerate them. And it seems to me that if religion were the active force in college, that it ought to be, they would soon be abated. For surely the man whose nature is open to the upper realms of right and truth, must be one in whom every semblance of brutality or trickery would be repulsive. I can hear him crying with the Psalmist:

"Blessed be God my rock
Which teacheth my hands to war
And my fingers to fight"

but I cannot imagine him resorting to vicious slugging or to foul play of any

Tickets of Admission

The problem of making a fair distribution of tickets for commencement events has this year been a difficult one for the committee to solve. The announcement that only the claims of the graduating class could be considered has caused great dissatisfaction among the undergaduates, yet the disposition of tickets seems, on the whole, to have been just to the student body. Sixty-four seniors receive one ticket more to the commencement exercises than in past years, and in addition all seniors will be admitted to the Dedication and given tickets to the Organ Recital. The increased demand for admission, from alumni and guests of the college, guarantees that there will be few vacant seats, yet in issuing the supplementary tickets, it is hoped that students will not be passed over.

The Commencement Record

The annual illustrated number of the Commencement Record, issued this year as a Thompson Memorial number, is now on sale, and can be purchased at Smith's, Sanford's, the Greylock Hotel, and in North Adams at the Richmond, The Wellington, and The Wilson House.

Especial care has been taken this year by the editors in presenting to the alumni and undergraduates a book distinctive of Williams. The number contains cuts of the new chapel, exterior and interior views, a portrait of the late Frederick Ferris Thompson and other features. The price is fifty cents per copy. The support of the college is solicited in disposing of this edition.

THE GRAVES CONTEST

Decision Will Be Announced at Commencement

The annual prize speaking contest for the Graves prize was held in the Congregational church Saturday evening at 8:00 p. m. The six speakers were chosen competitively from the senior class on the basis of essays on twelve subjects assigned by the faculty, each one of the six receiving a $20 prize for his essay. An additional prize of $80 to the one of the six students who delivered his essay in the most effective manner will be announced at Commencement. Ralph Miller Ketcham, one of the successful competitors, did not deliver his oration. The program was as follows:

Music; Dogma and the Religious Life, Frederic Daniel Cheydleur; The Prisoner of the Vatican, Raymond Eugene Cook; Giordano Bruno, Clarence Elmore Wells; Music; Giordano Bruno, Roy Boardman Smith; Giordano Bruno, Max Forrester Eastman; Music.

Members of the faculty who were present acted as judges and will render their decision for the announcement at Commencement. Mr. Edward M. Lewis presided and music was furnished by D. M. Hills '06, college organist. The ushers, from the class of 1906, were William Hanford Curtiss, Morton Daniel Griswold, Erwin Briant Leland, John Adams Lowe, Joseph Earl Perry, Samuel Caverly Wooster, jr.

Dr. Gladden preached yesterday morning in the First Congregational church of North Adams, of which he was pastor from 1866 to 1871.

The Williams college musical association will hold a meeting and dinner at Bemis' this evening at six o'clock. Albert M. Miller '04, graduate treasurer, will receive the report of the present manager, and plans for next year will be discussed. All members are requested to be present.

itation is directly as the mass and inversely as the square of the distance. The mighty planet in its orbit and the flattering rose leaf in its fall are in the grasp of the same unalterable control. No law of nature is ever broken. The man who steps over the precipice is broken; the law goes on. Chemical affinities can be absolutely depended upon. The constitution of what we call matter is an increasing puzzle. The atom may be resolved into electrons, the phenomena of radical activity may startle us, but nowhere is there any variation from uniformity, no uncertainty of operations, no contradiction of anything but our speculations; so that at least in the physical realm positiveness is a necessary condition of any hospitality to new truth that is worthy of the name, and hospitality to the new truth shows the way to ultimate certainty. true in the physical realm is universally true. All truth is one. The reign of law is universal. It is this combination of these two that is the condition of all progress. It is worth while to make this an emphatic affirmation.

With Lord Bacon, the Novum Organum, and the inductive method began the modern world of thought and discovery, a new era in the life of men and of nations. The intellects of men were drowsy, the forces of thought were expended upon trifles. In the language of Bacon: "All the systems of philosophy have been only so many plays, only creations of fiction amid imaginary worlds." Scientific observation and comparison had not been learned. The wisdom of sitting in a childlike spirit at the feet of nature had not been acquired. Of the Novum Organum it has been eloquently said "It awakens us like a knock at the door; it is the first bell that rings and gathers the whole field; it is from first to last an announcement; it is coming, the great manifestaion of nature. It is not yet come but it will soon be here. It is the awakening and unfolding of the fresh morning; it is the herald's call. There is a sensation of being just on the border of a great disclosure while as yet all at this moment sleeps; of a new reign, of a world just going to break forth into life. It is all the stir of something coming, all the sound of trumpets, all the preparations of an era, all the breaking of a day."

It dawned long enough ago in time to be old, this new era, but in the perennial freshness of its marvels and in the perpetual fruitfulness of its methods it is ever new. It is the era of hospitality to new truth. It is the era also of simple FIDELITY TO FACTS. Here we touch the centre of the inductive method and in three plain words tell the secret of our modern civilization. There is in our time as never before a putting aside of the "ideals of the human mind for the ideas of the divine mind," that is to say, in the words of Bacon again: "Certain idle fictions of the imagination for the real stamp and impression of created objects as they are found in nature."

It is the era of experimenting, of seeking for facts and of standing upon facts, of the investigation of nature. Facts are God's arguments and are mightier than the dialectics of the logician. Thoughtful people today are rightly intolerant of fine spun theories, whether it be in physics or metaphysics. The best minds of this generation pay the homage of their understanding to facts alone. A fact is a precious thing. It may seem sporadic, isolated, trivial, but it has its place in the cosmos: it is a marked stone that will fit into the construction of the great temple of truth that, without sound of axe or hammer is going up through the ages. There is no unimportant fact. The least thing may be the key to a mystery, the open sesame to a treasure house. Any observed uniformity may be as the rubbing of Alladin's lamp, a condition of wealth and wonders outshining the Arabian Nights. The mariner's compass, gunpowder, steam, electricity, came upon the stage as if by accident. The titans that are doing the world's work have been led in and set at their tasks by the little child. There is an element of chance, as we call it, incident to discovery. Bacon saw it and said: "It comes not by any gradual improvement and extension of the arts but merely by chance." Great discoveries flash upon the world as if by magic. Hold fast to what you know. It is the unexpected that happens. Do not be afraid of any fact anywhere; do not despise any fact anywhere; it is unscientific to do so, it is unprofitable to do so, it may be disingenuous to do so. May rather be careful to entertain strangers, for thereby some have entertained angels unawares.

Let us keep our windows open to the four quarters of heaven, for God's messengers come from East and West and North and South. A wind-wafted seed may tell of new continents or may bear the promise of new food or new fiber to needy peoples. Simple fidelity to facts is the regulating principle which will keep us in sympathy with the growing mind of the world, which will govern our pulse-beats so that they keep time with the deep rythm of human thought in this new time. Openness of mind and fidelity to facts,—these two belong together and by the blending of these two has all progress been secured.

A great illustration of our theme holds the gaze of the world today. The awakenings of the Japanese nation and their sudden magnificent achievements in the arts of peace and of war, in education and statesmanship, in commerce and navigation. Their illustration of liberty under law, of freedom and implicit obedience to authority—all this is more sublime than a sunrise. It is like the coming of the summer over broad lands. There has been no greater story in the annals of time. It began with free and full hospitality to new truth.

In 1872 Iwakura, chief ambassador from the empire of Japan, entered upon the floor of the House of Representatives in Washington and received the formal salutation of the assembled representatives of the American people; and this is what he said: "Governments are strong when built upon the hearts of enlightened peoples. We came for enlightenment and gladly find it here. Journeying eastward from the empire of the sun-rising we daily behold a new sun-rise beyond the one we before enjoyed. New knowldege rises daily before us, and when the completed trip shall have passed in review an encircled globe we shall gather together our treasures of knowledge, remembering that, however, we have advanced towards the sources of light, each onward move has revealed a fresh step beyond. The government of Japan already appreciates the value of an enlightened policy toward itself and all nations." Behold how eagerly they grasped what they learned and how tenaciously they held what they grasped—the best things in our ethics as well as our artillery, and they improved on both.

We have seen that these two things, rightfully demanded of the educated man of today, are not incompatible, that together they are the condition of power and of progress, as illustrated in the new era of the world since the birth of the inductive philosophy and in the recent history of the Japanese nation.

Neither, taken by itself, is a virtue; separate, they are the sources of weakness or of mischief.

There is still reason to guard against bigotry, against prejudice and narrowness, to encourage and insist upon the open mind. The unreasoning violence of theological controversy is not all gone; the unscrupulous violence of political partisanship remains: the bitter prejudice of section, of race, of party, even of family, are direful facts. To be free from prejudice would mean for some of us to be rid of a large part of our training. We rejoice, then, that the trend of the time is against all this, for we are surely being slowly compelled to openness of mind. The conquering spirit of the age is a spirit of candor. Let, then, this work of emancipation go on and the day of full tolerance and perfect charity be ushered in.

On the other hand it is plain that the danger of our time is not so much bigotry and intolerance as easy-going indifference to all truth and a consequent loss of the spirit of moral adventure. There is truth, they love to tell us, in all creeds, there are good men in all parties, there are two sides to every question. Let us then sit in the shade and watch the folly and strife and agony of the arena unconcerned. And so, we are rearing men indifferent, changeable, uncertain.

Better give our diploma to Mr. Feeblemind than to Mr. Ficklemind, to Mr. Narrowmind rather than to Mr. Double-mind; there is more hope of him. Better a bigot (bigots are needed in these times) in a professor's chair, all aflame with one good thought, one high purpose, than a broad-minded vagrant philosopher, wandering entertainingly and aimlessly along the border lines of all fields of thought, murmuring his speculations in mellifluous, unintelligible phrase, but arriving nowhere, and building no sound structure of truth on any living rock. This is he of whom the Scripture speaks: The blind leading the blind.

The man cut loose from well-established truth and adventuring into unknown seas is not the bold discoverer he imagines himself, but a drifting derelict, profitless and dangerous. It may be needful to throw away old charts of discontinued channels, but it is never safe to ignore the north star and the constellations. To pay good heed to what careful investigators have done, mapping coast lines and marking reefs, is always the part of wisdom.

Undoubtedly the temper of the times is to be more afraid of believing something that we ought not to believe than of not believing something that we ought to believe. Any man in whom this becomes a prevailing habit of mind is already a long way on the road to the province of Latitudinarianism, a province of this world, where none of the vast and increasing population have any creed, political or religious. There is the crowded capital city of Don't-Care, where Mr. Anything, the President of that land, has his residence. He and the host of his retainers fight first on one side and then on the other of any cause, according to inclination or interest, and never long on any side. Great armies of mercenaries from this province can be had for small pay whenever there is war in any other province. The non-military population belong to a peace society, whose members refuse to fight for anything under any circumstances. Enthusiasm is always bad form. They pay the highest honors to the man who is called, in the language of the country, "mugwump," and a large annual prize is offered for the best essay to prove that the martyrs were fools.

Men whose habit is that of study rather than action fall easy victims to the vice of indecision. This is the peculiar weakness of literary men. Coleridge had vast learning, but it was never organized by a commanding purpose. De Quincey and Poe, and many another genius, led worse than aimless lives. Renan is well described by a late critic as "a Parisian dilettante," "only an amused spectator of time and existence;" "this fine intellect losing its grasp on reality as it loses its moral earnestness." No wonder that it is sometimes said that culture is unfavorable to the great ennobling passions of humanity.

The great Apostle, whose words I read as our text, was a splendid example of the combination of which we are speaking. His was the open mind, and to him belonged inflexible fidelity. He went forward to greet the new, and yet he held fast to the old. He was able to say: "Now we know in part," and "I know in whom I have believed;" "not that I have already attained," and "I have kept the faith." He kept the faith of his fathers through hospitality to new truth. He thus found the old not destroyed, but liberated, enlarged, glorified, as types fulfilled, its prophecies come to pass, its dim, far-off hopes realized. Thus should it always be. Cutting loose from outgrown traditions and outworn forms he became all the more firm in his convictions of the living truth and fixed in his purpose to reach the higher truth. "This one thing I do, leaving the things that are behind, I press forward. This also should be true for us all. He kept the faith in spite of hardship and persecution. Witness his hunger and shipwreck, his imprisonment and scourging, and all the rest of the pathetic catalogue. He kept the faith against most violent opposition. "I have

AT MISSION PARK

Prayer Meeting Commemorating Founding of Foreign Missions

The annual open-air prayer meeting to commemorate the founding of the foreign mission movement was held around the Haystack Monument in Mission Park at four o'clock Sunday afternoon. At this spot, ninety-nine years ago, occurred the famous haystack meeting which was the direct inspiration for the missionary movement.

The meeting was conducted by Rev. Charles A. Stoddard, D. D., '54. Rev. James E. C. Sawyer, D. D., pastor of the Williamstown Methodist church gave an opening prayer. Dr. James L. Barton of Boston, secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions, spoke of the men who were in the haystack prayer meeting. A missionary of the Presbyterian board, Rev. Z. P. Metzler, stationed at Tung Chow, China, told of the work in China, and of the effect of the present war upon the inhabitants.

Rev. David S. Herrick '85, a missionary at Pasumalai college in Southern India told of the great progress of the work at the college, and the increase of Christian work in India. Rev. George T. Washburn '54, former president of Pasumalsi college, told of the work in India of Rev. David C. Scudder, of the class of '55, a Williams missionary who died at his post. Dr. Hopkins called attention to the window in the transept of the new chapel, which, although it does not reproduce the haystack, certainly is a missionary window, and commemorates the foreign mission movement which originated here. Rev. Harry P. Dewey, D. D., of Brooklyn, pronounced the benediction.

fought the good fight, I have kept the faith," and it was because he kept the faith that he could fight the good fight In all of this there is for us an illustration and an example.

For these of us, who, like the Apostle, are confessedly Christian men, there is a special appeal. The power of Christianity to uplift and save individual men has been proved a million times, and gets fresh confirmation every day. Fears are dispelled, disappointments are assuaged, temptations are overcome, hungerings are satisfied, aspirations are fulfilled, character is transformed, and death is conquered through Christian faith. Either this is a reality or there is no reality anywhere, and life and thought and love are all delusions. But the Christianity of to day is being put to new tests. Can it move with and control the mighty forces of this modern scientific, democratic age? Can it be God's instrument for righting the social institutions, the politics, commerce, art and education of the coming time in the interests of justice and love? Can it make a board of trade as truly a house of God as is a place of worship? In the social upheaval and transition that is upon us will it see its opportunity and fall in with and lead the forces of humanity as God goes marching on? Can it make the oppressed and burdened among men certain that their cause is the cause of Christianity? Can it translate the cross into a life of today?

Whatever our creed or calling, we are all vitally interested in these questions. We reply ye if it has "kept the faith," for then it will take to itself its primitive heroic temper, it will put on its great original passions. Thousands of earnest souls hear the call, while the great army still sleeps. Where are the leaders who will see the morning and seize it?

Christianity must front the twentieth century with the unwavering assertion of its eternal vitality, with the awakening purpose of a mighty forward movement to claim for Christ dominion not only over all the races, but over all the forces of the world.

Gentlemen of the graduating class:

Hospitality to new truth is one of the best characteristics of our time. It is a sign of a ripe individual and social culture and ought always to be a result of the higher education. If Williams College has taught you this, so that you go on your way to your tasks with an open mind, with a humble spirit, and a manly tolerance, because you have learned how partial is the knowledge you now have, and how incomplete the truth which you now possess, if you are hospitable to new truth, because you love all truth, then it is well. So should the man of liberal training always live and work. Then, free from narrow dogmatism and arrogant self-assertion you will know the truth, be loyal to the truth, defend the truth, and the truth held with immovable conviction shall make you free. But if your openness of mind has led to listless indifferentism, if your breadth has become careless and shallow contentment, then it is very ill. Emerson with keen satire draws in a few lines the pictures of such a one. "There is my fine young Oxford gentleman, who says there is nothing true, and no matter." But, alas, it does matter, for, lack of conviction must always mean lack of purpose, and from this comes the weak, and at last the diseased, will. Indifference paralyzes, or, by a strange, and yet natural, process, indifference passes into opposition. In Goethe's great poem, the tragedy of Faust, he personifies the spirit of evil, the tempting spirit, the adverquestioning and denial. In the guise of a sary, Satan, as the spirit of skeptical travelling scholar, Mephistopheles approaches Faust. In reply to his question as to who and what he is he answers: "I am the spirit that denies," and as he leads Faust, step by step, into dishonor and sin and crime and despair, this is his method: By insinuation or by bold affirmation there is evermore denial: denial of truth, of purity, of unselfishness, of God Himself, and of all goodness. There is profound insight in this representation. This spirit you at once recognize as the exact opposite of each of the qualities of which we have spoken. Shun Mephistopheles.

I exhort you, every one, therefore, to live with an open mind toward all truth, and always to hold with a deathless grasp the truth you have; hold it in the thick darkness and in the dazzling light, hold it in loneliness and against opposition, through loss, persecution and scorn, if need be; and hold it as the martyrs did, to the bitter end. Keep the faith.

If it is a feeble flame, therefore keep it. Keep it for its own sake. Truth is exceeding precious: all truth.

Keep it for the sake of results. Every forceful, helpful, victorious person whom you ever knew, or whose history is on record, had positive convictions. The explorers, the discoverers, the reformers, the saviours of their fellows, have been always affirmative men. Jesus was sure of God and of a future life. Paul was no agnostic—no leader ever has been or ever can be an agnostic. Every great upward movement among men has been led on by deep conviction and has had behind it the passionate heart-beat of believing men. Moral adventure expires in an atmosphere of negation. Von Moltke's motto in war is worth while for all life: "First weigh, then venture." Moreover, remember that great indignations, as well as tender compassions, must have a place in every manly soul.

Are you, after all, perplexed to know what it is to keep the faith? Thomas Carlyle, whose message moved mightily the generation before us, sums it up in this way: "Love not pleasure, love God. This is the EVERLASTING YEA wherein all contradiction is solved, wherein whoso walks and works, it is well with him."

Know, then, that it is always at least this, the stout assertion that there is an eternal distinction between right and wrong, always the firm conviction that there are worse evils in this world than pain or poverty or persecution, and higher blessings than pleasure and success and wealth. On "these deep, silent rock foundations" you can build securely. These truths realized in experience will lead on to further and higher truths, until, peradventure, you come to the faith. Plant your feet firmly on these broad assurances on which all great choices must depend: Act them out in life, and, like Robertson, Bushnell, Drummond, and a thousand more, you will realize the faith which Paul had, which was confidence in a person, an unshaken trust in an all-wise and all-loving friend who loved him and gave himself for him.

The student of science advances only as he has a fixed and solid point of departure. So it must be in moral struggle, and so it is.

With the exultation of high hope mingle at this hour the sadness of parting, and memories that are sorrowful. It is an uncommon thing for any class to lose a single member by death, but three of your number have fallen by the way: Harry Ford, Terence Quinn and Walter Budington. As you separate, you give to each a thought, a memory, it may be a tear, and pass on cheerfully to your tasks. So it ought to be. In the time to come, as, drawn by the spell of the hills, and called back by the memories of this beloved place, you from time to time return, the names of men dear today in comradeship will be missed from the roll, an increasing number. Nevertheless your work will be needed and your courage and faith will not fail. God grant that when the end at last comes, each of you may be able to say: "I have kept the faith." Meantime, my brothers, it is in our time, good to be alive, and to be young is glorious.

sort in any game. He would rather lose the game than win it by any meanness. If religion has any meaning or power in the life of a college, it ought to take hold right here, and make all such brutalities infamous.

Once more and more comprehensively a genuine religious life in college must have the effect to make men do their college work faithfully and well. That life is a vocation, that we are here to use, with all good fidelity, the days and the powers entrusted to us is the primary conviction of the soul that draws nigh to God. There are great tasks before the college man, battles to fight, forts to hold, burdens to bear; he will need all the equipment he can get. There is no reason why he should let the sense of the strenuous days to come quench the joy in his heart or blot the sun from his sky; the joy is there and the light is there, and it is good to take pleasure in them; but, after all, the sense of the seriousness of life should rule out dawdling and trifling, and hold him down to his day's work.

But religion in college, like all the rest of the college course, is concerned not chiefly with the present, but with the future. What should your religion do for you in the world outside?

One of the great perils to which you will be exposed is the destruction or the mutilation of your ideals. To the multitude they will have no form or comeliness; before you know it they will be battered down or flattened out so that you will hardly be able to recognize them. You cannot afford to suffer this loss. And I know no other way to avert it but by keeping your communications always open with the Father of spirit.

The other and the larger help which religion will give you is the assurance that in all good work you are working with God. Every kind of lawful work, every work in which any man has a right to engage is, in the final analysis, an extension of the divine activity.

But there is a larger question. It is important to know that we shall need our religion when we go out into the world, but it is more important to know that the world needs our religion. The worship of Mammon is the one stupendous social fact of this generation. Men do believe in him; their faith in him is sincere and unwavering; all things are possible, they think, to those who secure his favor. Even in the church and in the college there are sad signs that money is coming to be regarded as the supreme thing. "The one thing this institution needs is more money." How often have I heard this said by men at the head of great educational and philanthropic institutions! This tremendously exaggerated estimate of the value of money must affect our characters and our conduct; it leads to a lessening of our scruples respecting the means of getting it; it leads to a great undervaluation of the spiritual qualities and the moral convictions which must be sacrificed in obtaining it.

When the desire of gain becomes epidemic, such spectacles as those which have been visible in many of our cities; such a ghastly exhibit of infidelity to trusts as that which is now in sight in a great New York insurance company, such continental extortions as those which the government is trying to unearth, and such eruptions of "graft" and "boodle" as every newspaper chronicles, are simply natural and inevitable. They are symptoms of a constitutional malady. The whole head is sick and the whole heart is faint. And what is the remedy? It is not any local salve of statutory regulations or plaster of administrative reforms. It must go deeper. It is a time for some one to be crying from the housetops and in the market places, yea, even in the temple courts: "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon."

What the world needs today is men who believe in God; who are ready to trust him and obey him; who are not afraid to trust him in poverty and loneliness; who are sure that he can and will rule this world; that his is the only enduring dominion.

For this truth we need witnesses, and where shall we look for them if not here in this sanctuary of the faith, where the pillars of the earth bear up the heavens, and the skies stoop to kiss and crown the encroaching mountains? It has never been hard in this place for men to believe in God. They have listened here and heard the angels singing: "In his hand are all the corners of the earth and the strength of the hills is his also." In that confidence they have dared great things for him. It was a great venture of the few young men who believed in God with such an overmastering faith that they were ready there, under the faithful stars, to pledge themselves to the conquest of the heathen world for him. Less than that is asked of us today, but of their faith we may be inheritors and the idolatry of this new world shall have no more terrors for us than the paganism of the old world had for them.

Of this triumphant faith there has risen upon consecrated ground a glorious symbol. Beautiful for situation it stands amid this grandeur, answering in strength and beauty to the call of God from the steadfast hills and the bending skies. It is a declaration, strong and clear, of the faith in God for which this college stands. It bears witness to all who draw near that religion is the one supreme, commanding interest of life. God grant that the full meaning of this symbol may be impressed upon the mind of every man who passes by day under the shadow of its tower or who listens by night to the music of its chimes, so that more and more, from this hour onward, the life of God in the soul of man shall quicken to clean and manly living within the college and to true witnessing and heroic warfare in this present world.

CAPT. RACKET.

Cap and Bells Give a Successful Presentation

Cap and Bells gave a most successful performance of "Capt. Racket" this morning in the Opera House. Many alumni attended and evinced their appreciation of the efforts of the cast by continuous applause. This is the seventh presentation of the comedy and each time there has been a perceptible improvement. The cast of characters was as follows:

CAPT. ROBERT RACKET, of the National Guard. A lawyer when he has nothing else to do and a liar all the time.
R. E. Day 1905.

OBEDIAH DAWSON, his uncle from Japan, "Where they make tea." A. M. Botsford 1906.

TIMOTHY TOLMAN, his friend, who married for money and is sorry for it.
G. E. Hite, jr. 1908.

MR. DALROY, his father in law, a jolly cove.
B. R. Wellington 1905.

HOBSON, a waiter from the "Cafe Gloriana," who adds to the confusion. B. F. Parsons 1905.

CLARICE, the captain's pretty wife, out for a lark, and up to "anything awful,"
R. H. Fleischmann 1906.

AMHERST WON

Williams Defeated on Weston Field in Eleventh Inning

Williams lost the fourth game with Amherst on Weston Field Saturday afternoon by a score of 5 to 3, in a close, well-played eleven inning game. Williams lost in the seventh, when a misundertsanding allowed an easy fly to drop safely in left, and Shattuck to score the tying run. Westervelt's pitching was all that could be asked for, and his fielding was excellent.

The feature of the game was the marvelous work at the bat of Harry Watson, who distinguished his last appearance on Weston Field in a Williams uniform by knocking out two home runs and two singles out of five times up, scoring or batting in all the Purple's runs, thus making a fitting close to the four-years' football and baseball career of one of Williams' greatest athletes.

CLASS DAY

Exercises of Senior Class Held This Afternoon

The class-day exercises of the class of 1905 were held this afternoon from 2:00 until 3:30 on different parts of the campus. The members of the senior class formed at Jesup Hall at 2:00 p. m. and headed by the class marshals, John Joseph McCarty, of Corning, N. Y., and James William Wadsworth, of Hammondsport, N. Y., marched to the Congregational church.

HARRY TOWLE WATSON
CLASS DAY PRESIDENT

The exercises began with the address of the class-day president, Harry Towle Watson. He spoke substantially as follows:

"The day has at last arrived to which we have been looking forward, bringing with it that hearty satisfaction which every man feels who rejoices in the fact that he has had the opportunity of sharing the liberal education which Williams affords. Before us lie many fields of endeavor. Let us persevere in our work, with honorable and unselfish motives. Let us pledge our steadfast and loyal support to Williams with the wish that she may thrive and flourish in the continuation of the customs and privileges which have made her honored and respected throughout the country."

After the conclusion of the speech by the class day president the class poem was read by William Smith Pettit, of Canajoharie, N. Y.

The class next marched to the southeast corner of Hopkins Hall, where the ivy exercises were held. With bared heads the class sang "The Mountains." It was originally planned that the ivy poem should be read by Herman Livingston, jr., of Catskill, N. Y. at the conclusion of the singing. This was changed, and the poem was read at the Library by Max Forrester Eastman.

The ivy had been planted by ivy orator Russell Stanley Gregory, of Salem, N. Y. The ivy is planted on the south (Main street) front of Hopkins Hall, about six feet from the corner of the building. The ivy exercises were concluded with the ivy oration, by Gregory, who spoke in part as follows:

"Memory is more to be trusted than we sometimes admit. She holds only that which has entered into the life of our life. Following a custom which nearly 50 years have made significant, we have planted the ivy. We have added one more spot on a campus already filled with delightful recollections, which memory will claim as her own. But this is something more than a memorial. Next Thursday we call Commencement. It is, then, peculiarly fitting, that we should find in this ivy not only a memorial of the past, but a symbol of the future, which will not only draw us back to our alma mater, but send us out to the work which she has prepared us to do."

Following the planting of the ivy, the class marched to the Library campus, massing about the Lawrence Hall porch. "Come Fill your Glasses Up" was sung by the class. The Library oration was given by Walter Albert Swan, of Geneseo, N. Y., who spoke in part as follows:

"We are gathered on this campus for perhaps the last time in our history as a class. It is a time when we may well ask what mean these four years of college life to us who are about to leave the familiar scenes. Has the experience here touched us vitally rather than superficially? Are we carrying away with us something of the spirit of our alma mater, something of our ideals?

"With graduation there comes a larger and truer meaning of what the college is to us. We have entered into new relations with her as our alma mater. In its loyal alumni a college finds its greatest source of strength. When we have gone forth as sons of Williams, let us give to our alma mater unending loyalty to her highest ideals and best traditions."

At the conclusion of the Library oration the pipe oration was given by Clifford Harry Fulton, of New York city.

"This is a most glorious occasion, when, after four years of laborious work, we rise to lettered fame.

"Before we go, we needs must have our last pipe dream. In the smoke curling upward we see many fit subjects for a nightmare. We see the Dean's office—visions of 'Pa' Chambers, hiring away our patrimony. 'Azh,' with his $5.00 rain coats marked down to $0.35, 'Hi' Walden, the college baggage smasher, made famous by Longfellow in his wonderful poem, 'Hiawalden;' of ourselves floating out on the world, and on the strength of a 6-inch padded 'Boland' shoulder, a $7.00 pair of 'Azh' shoes and a $10.00 degree, reaping in a harvest of stuff that talks.

"The smoke dims, the pipes go out. The office boy tells us to 'get busy.'"

The exercises on the Library campus were concluded with the ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ALUMNI

Held in the Old Chapel This Morning

The annual meeting of the Alumni Association of Williams college, the oldest alumni society of any American college or university, was held in the college chapel this morning. Judge William H. Swift '63, of Chicago, president of the society, called the meeting to order at 10:13 o'clock. The opening prayer was offered by Rev. Harry P. Dewey '84, of Brooklyn, N. Y. The minutes of of the previous meeting on June 21, 1904, were read by the Secretary of the Association, Rev. Dr E. B. Parsons '59. The President then appointed the following committees:

To nominate officers for the society of alumni, for the year 1905-1906: Rev. John S. Davenport, D. D. '63, Geo. W. Anderson '86, George B. Kilbourne '96.

To nominate candidates for Alumni Trustee, to report at the alumni dinner Thursday: Frederic Beach Jennings '72, of New York city; William P. Fidley '89, of Chicago; Rev. Dr. Chas. A. Stoddard '54, of New York city, Bainbridge Colby '90, of New York city; Henry W. Banks, jr., '85, of New York city.

The reports of the treasurer and necrologist were made and accepted. The financial report from the trustees was passed over, and vote was passed that it be printed. Since Hon. Michael E. Driscoll '77, M. C., of Syracuse, who was to have presented the alumni visitors' report, was unable to be present, it was voted that his report be printed and sent to the alumni.

Upon recommendation of the nominating committee, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Charles T. Barney '70, New York.

Vice-president, Howard Rogers '84, of Albany.

Secretary, E. B. Parsons '59, of Williamstown.

Treasurer, Albert E. Cluett '93, of Troy.

Executive committee, Henry N. Banks, jr., '85, of New York city; Rev. John J. Fitschen, '89, of Ithaca, N. Y.; Wm. C. Hart '94, of Williamstown; Hugh P. Drysdale '97, of North Adams.

Alumni visitors for 1905-1908, Charles S. Holt '74, of Chicago, and Josiah M. Lasell '86, of Whitinsville, Mass.

class oration, by Harry Lewis Everitt, of Troy, N. Y., who spoke substantially thus:

"Man's attitude, inspiration and prophetic feeling are greater forces than man's action. The most discouraging part of many college men's lives is their first ten years out of college. Men of education and culture wish to have their action openly effective, to be known to be doing rather than to do and not to be known. Many men, in this period, have not the concrete and immediate forces behind them to do a concrete and immediate good, as for example, to effect the adjustment of municipal reform, or labor questions, and hence become discouraged.

"A college man's greatest duty is, not to effect by action, but to be the motor force behind and among those powers that may effect history and time."

The class next marched to the Quadrangle, where, just in front of Jesup Hall, the address to the lower classes was given by Albert Priest Newell, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., who spoke partly as follows:

Ask almost any graduating senior, and he will tell you that, had he his four years again before him, he would lead them differently. To point out, in a spirit of encouragement, not censure, a better way, is the annual justification of this address.

Members of 1906: You still continue your freshman year cliques, and with this lack of class unity is another handicap, you are, more through indifference than inability, sadly deficient in leaders. Three qualities must surely be yours next year—enthusiasm, loyalty and initiative. Cast aside the fault-finding spirit which has been characteristic of 1906. Be not discouraged by failures but try the "strenuous life" for a change.

Members of the class of 1907: Thus far you have shown marked efficiency in practically all that you have undertaken. Guard this reputation carefully so that when your turn comes to be leaders among the students, you need have no fear.

Members of the class of 1908: Calm down the exuberance of your class spirit, don't flounder on the rock of class societies next year and in the success which harmony alone can win you'll reap your truest rewards. The message of the class of 1905, to those who esteem labor its own reward is this: You can do for Williams what you WILL to do, neither more nor less.

You know from your own experience that a man gets out of Williams only in proportion as he gives to Williams. To such of you as have already achieved greatly, there yet remains the culmination of all accomplishment—to become the man who is greater than the deed. Tomorrow there graduates with our class a man whose power ever since he turned his face Williamsward has unceasingly been directed towards the highest things. From the day he entered Williams his one thought has been for the college of his choice. This, his great ideal, has so thoroughly become a part of all that he has done that we speak not of his POSITION IN college, but his POSITION AT college. May you who have won the right to work for Williams, so embody your life in your efforts that your classmates may also say: "He is a greater man than all that he has ever done."

The class-day exercises of the class of 1905 were concluded by the class yell. "Wah-hoo-wah! Wah-hoo-wah! Pente-kenia-kaideka!"

The class-day committee consisted of Clarence James Goodwillie of Chicago, Ill., chairman, Frederick Allen Judson of Troy, N. Y., Harold Everett Nesbitt of Brookline, Mass., Nathan Jacob Stern of New York city and William Redfield Stocking, jr., of Williamstown.

ALUMNI GAME

At 2.30 p. m. To-morrow—Graduate Team not yet Chosen.

The annual Alumni-Williams baseball game will be played on Weston Field immediately after the dedication of the Gargoyle Gate at the Weston Field entrance.

The alumni line-up is by no means decided and will probably not be definitely settled until just before the game. As announced, the alumni battery will be the Williams "great battery," Lewis '96 and Draper '95. G. M. Alden '95, J. O. Eaton '95, second base, and E. E. Risley '00, one of the best first basemen Williams ever had, are in town and will probably play. C. E Street '96, short stop, and Russell 1900, center field, have written Mr. Lewis that they will be on hand for the game. Other alumni who may be here are G. W. Ashton '97, second base, C. B. Goodrich '97, first base, H. P. Drysdale '97, third base, and S. Lydecker '01, short stop, and it would take strong inducements to keep Asst. Prof. Lewis Perry '98, second base, out of a Williams uniform on Wednesday. These men will form the nucleus of the alumni team.

Juniors and Sophomores Compete for Oratorical Prizes

The contest for the sophomore and junior rhetorical prizes was held last evening at 7:30 in the Congregational church. Nine speakers, five from 1906 and four from 1907, delivered original orations in competition for the five prizes, for which the income of $2,000 is appropriated, part of which was given by Elizur Smith, Esq., of Lee. A general prize of $40 is given for the best oration, and first and second prizes of $25 and $15 respectively, to the best from the two classes, exclusive of the holder of the general prize. The winners of the prizes will be announced at Commencement.

Mr. Edward M. Lewis presided, and the music was furnished by Gioscia's orchestra.

The program follows:

GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Successful Effort of Glee Club on Library Campus.

Last night at 9:00 o'clock the Williams glee club gave its annual outdoor concert from the steps of the library. It is no flattering exaggeration to say that the concert was one of the best the college has ever heard. Hampered by lack of numbers, the absence of the tenor, and by the necessity of singing without musical accompaniment, the club gave a truly remarkable concert.

The volume of tone was excellent, the pitch well-maintained, and the time almost perfect, and the entire singing, especially of the tenors, reflected great credit on the leader and trainer who have worked so hard for success this year.

The Library campus was decorated for the occasion with strings of lanterns centering at the Library.

ALBERT PRIEST NEWELL
ADDRESS TO LOWER CLASSES

Annual Meeting of Alumni of Williamstown, and by James O. Nichols, of New York city.

Martin W. Berry, of Boston, represented the class of '95.

James B. Richardson, of New York city, said that 43 of the class of 1900 were back.

For the class of 1902, Rowland Haynes, of Worcester, said that the class boasted two class boys, and that 14 of the members were engaged.

Announcement was made that the committee to nominate alumni trustees met at the faculty room at 4 p. m.

Hon. Bentley Wirt Warren '85, of Boston, reported on the progress of the fund for the increase of professors' salaries. A fund of $27,600 has been collected, and 25 classes are at work. The names of all the classes who have contributed at least $2,500, will be placed on a tablet in the new dormitory. Seven classes have already raised that amount, '63, '66, '67, '74, '82, '85, '92. Of these the class of '67 has raised the largest amount, $3,200.

Daniel C. Brewer '86 moved that the alumni take under consideration a movement to secure a permanent Y. M. C. A. secretary. Mr. Brewer, Dr. Nelson '67, and Dr. A. F. Schauffler '67, were appointed a committee to report on this matter.

During the balloting for alumni trustee, Judge Swift spoke a few words of farewell. Secretary E. B. Parsons read the result of the ballot as follows: Total number of votes cast, 1017. Scattering 42; Danforth Geer '79, 103; Wilhelmus Mynderse '70, 108; F. B. Jennings '72, 110; C. S. Holt '74, 118; Hamilton Wright Mabie '67, 566. Mr. Mabie was announced re-elected alumni trustee for 1905-1910.

To Prof. Russell

At the conclusion of the class day exercises the senior class marched to Prof. Russell's house and Harry T. Watson, in behalf of the class, presented Prof. Russell with a loving cup.

Ex-Ambassador Joseph A. Choate will arrive in Williamstown tomorrow and will be the guest of Mr. A. L. Hopkins. He will be accompanied by Mr. Morris K. Jesup.

CHAPEL DEDICATION

Will Take Place To-morrow at Half-past Ten.

The dedication of the Thompson Memorial Chapel will take place at 10:30 a.m tomorrow. All expecting to attend, who will not be the procession, must be seated by that hour.

At ten o'clock the procession will be formed. The senior class will start from Jesup Hall, meet the faculty at Hopkins Hall, and join the president and trustees of the college, with those who are to take part in the service, at Griffin Hall. Complete programs, with the responsive readings and hymns in full, will be furnished to all present. Among the hymns will be one written in 1835 by William Cullen Bryant, 1813.

President Hopkins will be the presiding minister, and the dedicatory sermon will be given by Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall, D. D., LL. D., president of Union Theological Seminary, of New York city. Other prominent divines who will take part are the Right Reverend William Lawrence, Samuel M. Cruthers Rev. D. D., and Reverend Bishop Edward G. Andrews. D. D., LL. D. Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson '67 will make a brief statement on behalf of the building committee, and Clark Williams '92, of New York city, will present the chapel in behalf of the donor. In tomorrow's "Record" will appear a complete account of the dedication, including the invocation and formula of dedication in full.

A Window Pane

An inscription proving a window-pane to have existed whole for fifty-five years has been discovered on one of the windows in South college in room 13, now occupied by Southworth '07 and Hinman '07. The inscription reads "Charles Newman, April, 1850."

Mr. Newman graduated from Williams in the class of 1851 and from the Andover Theological Seminary in 1857. He preached in Lanesboro, Mass., in 1863, and died in 1875.

ALUMNI DAY

Graduates Take Charge of Williamstown—The Parade.

Today is distinctively alumni day. The graduates own the town. The classes parade this afternoon, the headquarters of the reunion classes keep open house, and Williamstown resounds with the cheers, bugle calls and band music of five hundred enthusiastic alumni.

Among the graduates before 1860 who are attending commencement are Hon. James S. Knowlson '43, of Amherst, Mass.; Dr. Calvin C. Halsey '44, of Montrose, Pa.; Rev. T. H. Hawkes, D. D., '44, of Springfield; Hon. Abraham Van Wyck Van Vechten '47, of New York; William D. Porter '50, of Summit, N. J.; Job G. Sherman '52, of Greenwich, N. Y.; Rev. Alden B. Whipple '52, of Pittsfield; Rev. John S. Whitman '54, of New York; William T. R. Marvin '54, of Boston; Rev. Charles A. Stoddard, D. D., '54, of New York; Rev. George T. Washburn, D. D., of Meriden, Conn., Col. William P. Prentice, Ph. D., of New York, Rev. Edward P. Ingersoll, D. D., of Brooklyn, Hon. Charles E. Fitch, LL. D., of Albany, all of '55; Rev. Robert Murray '57, of Waltham, Hon. William G. Harding '57, of Pittsfield; Rev. Richard Fisk, D. D., '58, of Fargo, N. D., Rev. Washington Gladden, D. D.; LL. D., '59, of Columbus, O.

Alumni Parade

Members of nearly every class between 1850 and 1904 are in town, the largest delegations being the members of 1904, 1900, 1895, 1890 and 1885. Yesterday afternoon was spent by the alumni parading about the town by classes, accompanied by brass bands. The class of 1890 was dignified by tall gray tiles and purple sashes; 1895 wore white canvas hats bearing their numerals, while 1900 were conspicuous in white trousers and blue coats, canes and white automobile hats. The class of 1902 was attired as sailors, with white blouses and trousers, white numeral hats, and carried canes. The leaders of '02's line carried oars, and the "gait" of the class was the "Sailor's Hornpipe."

The parade came down Main street past Hopkins Hall, where the classes in passing saluted Dr. Gladden, who was in the window of the faculty room. Swinging around across Main street past Morgan Hall, the parade broke up on the quadrangle in front of Jesup Hall.

Class of '44

The four surviving members of the class of '44 celebrated their sixty-first anniversary by a reunion banquet at the home of Hon. Marshall Willcox in Pittsfield yesterday afternoon. The other three members are Dr. Calvin C. Halsey of Montrose, Pa., Rev. Dr. T. H. Hawkes of Springfield and William B. Rice of Pittsfield.

Chimes Will Ring

Mrs. F. F. Thompson will arrive here late this afternoon. The chapel will be in telegraphic communication with the station, and as the party rounds the corner of Cole avenue and Main street the chapel chimes, played by Donald McC. Hills 1906, will ring out.

At about twenty minutes before seven tomorrow evening as the presidential party, the reception committee and the student escort advance up Main street to the college, the chimes in the new chapel will be played by Mr. Chester Meneely of the Meneely Bell Co., of Troy, N. Y. As the President crosses the campus "America" will be sounded by the chimes.

The Class of '97

The concert was opened by the clubs with "Dying Echoes" and "Come Fill Your Glasses Up," and at the end the alumni present joined with the club in singing several old and new Williams songs. The concert closed with "The Mountains" sung with bared heads, and a long Williams cheer.

While the class of '97 is not holding a reunion this year, several members are already in town and it is planned to hold a class banquet Thursday evening at the Richmond hotel in North Adams. Many '97 men are residents of Massachusetts, and not a few of Berkshire county. The majority of them will come Thursday morning to attend the commencement exercises and alumni dinner. The banquet in North Adams will be held early in the evening, in order to allow the members of the class to return Thursday evening.

1904 Banquet

A special car will leave at 6:30 tonight for members of the class of 1904, who intend to be present at the dinner at the Wilson House in North Adams. All who have not already signified their intention of attending are requested to hand their names to T. Jaeckel.

Press Headquarters

During Commencement week the press headquarters will be in the west wing of the college library, and the press room at Jesup Hall. Members of the press committee will be at the press headquarters in both places to furnish information or other official assistance as may be desired, at the times stated below: Tuesday, June 20, and Wednesday, June 21. 10:30 a. m., 2 p. m., 7 p. m.

Catalogues and literature pertaining to Williamstown and the college, have been placed in the west wing of the college library for the use of correspondents.

CHUNKY chaps who mourn their figures, and lanky ones who feel laughable, hate to order new clothes. They mistrust the tape-liners who measure their expanses. This is natural, for only the most practiced hands should ever put shears to a fat or a thin man's fabric. Our 40-stouts and 38-longs have brought happiness into such lives. DEDICATION OF MEMORIAL CHAPEL

"Erected to the Glory of God and in Memory of Frederick Ferris Thompson."

The Gift of Mrs. F. F. Thompson of New York City—The Service of Dedication in Full—President Hopkins Presiding Minister—Prayer by the Right Reverend William Lawrence, D. D.—Sermon by the Rev. Dr. C. C. Hall, President of Union Theological Seminary—Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson in Behalf of the Building Committee—Mr. Clark Williams for the Donor.

The dedicatory exercises of the Thompson Memorial Chapel were held this morning from 10:30 until 12:30. By placing extra seats in the side aisles and at the front of the chapel, it was possible to seat 800 people. The procession, consisting of the choir, the trustees, those who took part in the service, Dr. Hopkins, the graduating class and the faculty, formed at 10:20 o'clock.

The graduating class, attired in academic dress, marched from Jesup Hall to Hopkins Hall, where the members of the faculty, in the order of their appointment to rank, joined the procession. The procession then marched to Griffin Hall, where the president and trustees of Williams college joined the line.

From there the procession moved to the chapel, entering in this order: Chief Marshal Frederick C. Ferry, the college commencement choir, headed by Leland J. Moore, of New York city, tenor soloist, and J. O. Westervelt '06, bass soloist, the senior class, the faculty in the order of their appointment, in the robe of their degrees, the trustees, and those who took part in the service, including the president. Mrs. Frederick Ferris Thompson and her friends were seated in the church at the entrance of the procession.

As the procession started, the chimes in the chapel tower rang out the "Adeste Fideles." The procession entered the chapel and passed up the center aisle, repeating in alternation with the reader the one hundred twenty-second and twenty-fourth psalms. The basses took seats at the right side of the choir, the tenors at the left, the senior class directly in front of the pulpit and lectern, the faculty and trustees in the west wing of the transept. Upon the seating of the procession President Hopkins, as presiding minister, rose and said:

"Dearly beloved in the Lord: forasmuch as devout and holy men, as well under the Law as under the Gospel, moved either by the express command of God, or by the secret inspiration of the blessed Spirit, and acting agreeably to their own reason and sense of the natural decency of things, have erected houses for the public worship of God, and separated them from all unhallowed, worldly, and common uses, in order to fill men's minds with greater reverence for his glorious Majesty, and affect their hearts with more devotion and humility in his service; which pious works have been approved and graciously accepted by our heavenly Father: Let us not doubt but that he will also favorably approve our godly purpose of setting apart this place in solemn manner, for the performance of the several offices of religious worship, and let us faithfully and devoutly beg his blessing on this our undertaking."

The Right Reverend William Lawrence, D. D., bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Eastern Massachusetts, then offered prayer as follows, from the lectern:

"O eternal God, mighty in power, and of a majesty incomprehensible, whom the heaven of heavens cannot contain, much less the walls of temples made with hands; and who yet hast been graciously pleased to promise thy especial presence, wherever two or three of thy faithful servants shall assemble in thy Name, to offer up their praises and supplications unto Thee; Vouchsafe, O Lord,

THE PRESIDENT ARRIVES TO-NIGHT

Will Remain in Williamstown 19 Hours

As the Guest of President Hopkins—How President Roosevelt Will Be Occupied From the Time of His Arrival, 6.30 p. m. Until the Hour of His Departure, 1.30 p. m., To-morrow—Will Speak Twice—In the Congregational Church at Commencement—To the People Assembled Before the Church at the Conclusion of the Exercises.

President Roosevelt and party, consisting of William Loeb, jr., secretary to the President, P. M. Rixey, surgeon-general of the United States navy, and official stenographers, will arrive in Williamstown by special train from the East about 6:30 p. m. this evening.

Upon his arrival at the station, the President will be met by the college, town and Berkshire committees, and by an escort of about 150 students, under the immediate orders of John Nicholson, high sheriff of Berkshire county.

Committees

The college will be represented by Rev. Chas. H. Burr, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The town committee consists of N. H. Sabin, chairman, John B. Locke, chairman of the board of selectmen, Samuel Starkweather, Warren Montgomery, Daniel J. Neylaad and ex-representative Almon E. Hall. The committee will meet at the home of Mr. Sabin at 5:45, and will drive immediately to the station, where they will give the President greeting and welcome as he alights from the train.

The Berkshire committee will consist of U. S. Senator Winthrop Murray Crane, chairman; Hon. Albert C. Houghton, U. S. representative George P. Lawrence, ex-'80, Geo. Westinghouse, Esq., James M. Barker '60, W. B. Plunkett, and Walter F. Hawkins '84 of Pittsfield.

Student Escort

The student marshals will be Bixby, Griswold and Westervelt '06, and the members of the committee for Presidential escort, Asst. Prof. Hardy, Asst. Prof. Perry and J. A. DeCamp 1900 will be present. Some of the student escort will be mounted. Upon reaching the French church, the escort will board a car and meet the President again at the end of the car line, accompanying him to President Hopkins' residence.

A second student guard will be stationed at the president's house, while President Roosevelt is coming from the station, with police duties.

At Pres. Hopkins

As the President turns the corner of Cole avenue and Main street, the chimes in the tower of the Thompson Memorial Chapel will ring out national airs, pealing "America" as the President passes the Chapel

Immediately upon arrival at President Hopkins' residence President Roosevelt will spend a few moments in quiet. At about 7:30 a lunch will be served to the President. Ex-Ambassador Joseph H. Choate, Hon. Elihu Root, Ex-Secretary of War, and Hon. Morris K. Jesup, the donor of Jesup Hall, will take lunch with President Roosevelt.

Informal Reception

At about 9:15 p. m. the trustees and the older members of the faculty will meet at the president's house and will be received by President Roosevelt in a semi-informal reception.

President Roosevelt's program for Thursday morning is still undecided, and will not be definitely settled until after his arrival in Williamstown.

Plans for Morning

It is hoped that he will be able to take a carriage drive about Williamstown and the surrounding country, as he has never yet had a

VOL. 19 JUNE 21, 1905, No. 23

The President's Visit

Today and tomorrow the President of the United States will be the guest of Williams college. A man whose standards of scholarship coincide with the ideals which Williams has always been striving to attain, and a graduate of Harvard University, of which Williams is a sister educational institution in Massachusetts, President Roosevelt is visiting a college in which he may well have more than an ordinary interest.

In accordance with his own wish, the President's stay in Williamstown will be attended with as little formality as circumstances will allow. It is to be hoped that not the least pleasant feature of his visit will be the feeling that the college and Berkshire county are receiving him as a guest deserving the best they can give, and not solely as President of the United States. May he also carry away with him an impression of the beauty of these hills and the knowledge that surroundings such as these may have a part in making a college secure, strong and enduring.

Why Williams college confers a degree on Theodore Roosevelt will be told by President Hopkins at the commencement exercises tomorrow. Six years ago at the alumni dinner, the Rev. Dr. Washington Gladden read some verses which purported to be an interview with Colonel Ephraim Williams, who appeared to the writer (Dr. Gladden)on Commencement morning, 1899. It has been suggested that it would not be out of place to publish a few of the lines, to show that when praises were not so frequent to President Roosevelt as they are today, Williams was as ready to do him honor:

After describing his experiences in this valley, Colonel Williams comes to West College and makes some comparisons between old times and new:

* * * * * * * * * *

"Were the former days better than these, do you say?
Nay, let us not fall into that pit today;
God is still in His world, let us never forget:
His truth and His goodness have not failed us yet.

"He is working today in the hearts of the youth,
He is calling to manhood and honor and truth.
In the ages heroic was ever an hour
When chivalry burst into lovelier flower?

* * * * * * * * * *

"Who rallies the men of the great Empire State,
And leads them to victory, swift and elate?
It is one of these youths, gentle-reared, college bred,
Steady-nerved, iron-willed, true at heart, sound in head,—

* * * * * * * * * *

"'Teddy Roosevelt, they call him: in war and in peace,
A hero! God grant that his tribe may increase!'
Down on the steel hilt fell the soldier's quick hand,
And he turned on his heel, as at word of command.

"I rubbed my eyes gently: his form was not there;
But I heard his firm footstep descending the stair:
So I rose while the grasses were wet with the dew,
And wrote down his story to tell it to you."

DEDICATION

Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson's statement on behalf of the building committee, at the dedication of the Thompson Memorial Chapel was as follows:

When the gift of this glorious temple for the worship of the God of Israel and His Son was offered to the college in memory of Frederick Ferris Thompson by the gracious lady who bears his name and inherits the virtues of her distinguished father, the amplitude of her bounty left to the Trustees of the College no duty other than the provision of a site, and no problem other than the determination of where that site should be.

After many suggestions our views converged upon this hill, consecrated by many traditions which are revived and made beautiful by this series of splendid windows illuminating the roll of our most illustrious dead.

When Mr. Thompson joined the class of 1856, it was gathering daily for morning and evening worship upon this very ground, which, ever since has continued to be the chapel hill of Williams and the centre of its religious life.

Here God was praised, and the gospel was preached, by Mr. Thompson's classmate, James A. Garfield, distinguished above all his brethren as President of the United States; by Mark Hopkins, eminent among Christian philosophers as a wise and persuasive teacher of youth, and by Albert Hopkins, unique upon this continent in his time as a surviving type of the Hebrew prophet. In the glorious glass through which the sunlight enters this sanctuary are found fitting memorials of these our traditional heroes, as well as that of Mr. Thompson, their sincere follower in the faith once delivered to the saints.

Such traditions as these prescribe this as the site for this noble and costly fabric, which consummates a long and valued series of gifts from the same generous source.

To the edifice itself there has been added by the munificence of Mrs. Thompson, this wonderful organ to help to heaven the praises and aspirations of those who worship here in spirit and in truth, and also the melodious chime which for untold years is destined to ring the thought of God into the soul of this community and into the memories of myriads of graduates.

To these successive generations of noble youth, no gift could be of higher and more lasting value than this temple which, according to the lofty purpose of the donor, is devoted to making manifest God's love for man, and man's love for his fellow man. The gift not only is holy in itself, but will sanctify all gifts that may be laid upon this altar and during the continuance of its massive beauty, it will elicit the grateful and devout acknowledgements of the regenerated sons of Williams College.

To receive, to guard, and to maintain the fabric of this gift, exceptional in its munificence, and devoted exclusively to sacred use, is and will be the pious duty and privilege of those charged with the care of Williams College.

SENIOR PROM.

Brilliant Social Event in Lasell Gymnasium

Unusually well attended, the Senior Promenade, held last evening in Lasell Gymnasium, proved the most successful social function of the season. The attendance was swelled by the large number of alumni present and the floor was well filled during each of the forty-four numbers of the dance program.

The gymnasium was beautifully draped with green and white hangings, and palms and potted plants added to the beauty of the decorations. At the east end of the dancing floor, the numerals "1905" shone forth, executed in electric lights and the building was, as usual, wired for the occasion. Gioscia's orchestra, of Albany, furnished the music for the dancing, and late in the evening, refreshments were served by Lucas of Troy. Murray, of Springfield, was in charge of the decorating.

The committee in charge of the affair consisted of Clarence James Goodwillie, chairman, George Charles Appell, Edward Gould Chace, Clifford Harry Fulton, Lindsey Stillwell Hadley, Frederick Allen Judson, Eugene Hooker Leaning, Charles Arthur Marvin, Philip Northrop Miller, Harold Everett Nesbitt, William Allan Newell, Louis Harold Northrop, John Shepard Shedden, Nathan Jacob Stern and William Redfield Stocking, jr.

The patronesses were Mrs. G. C. Appell, Mrs. C. H. Burr, Mrs. R. W. Day, Mrs. H. C. Fulton, Mrs. J. H. Hewitt, Mrs. Henry Hopkins, Mrs. G. R. Howe, Mrs. W. E. Hoyt, Mrs. D. A. Judson, Mrs. H. B. chance to view the beauty of this portion of the Berkshires at close range.

Since the President will bring a force of stenographers with him, however, it is probable, in the light of his recent offer to serve as mediator in the Russo-Japanese war, that pressure of official work will oblige him to devote the morning to business.

Order of Procession

At 10:30 o'clock the Commencement procession will form. President Hopkins with President Roosevelt and the other candidates for degrees will meet the procession in front of President Hopkins' residence, President Roosevelt and President Hopkins marching at the head of the procession, just behind Dr. Ferry, head marshal, and just in front of the graduating class. President Hopkins will escort President Roosevelt to the platform.

Conferring the Degree

Professor Rice will present the candidates for honorary degrees, in the proper order, but violating academic custom in presenting the President last. President Hopkins will then confer the honorary degree upon him in a short speech, following which the President will speak extemporaneously to the audience in the church.

Will Speak Outdoors

At the close of the Commencement exercises, the front doors of the church will be locked and the audience dismissed by the side doors. The audience in the church will thus be obliged to circle around outside the crowd in front of the church, and thus those who were not able to hear the President in the church will have the best opportunity of hearing him outside.

After the audience has passed out the President will walk down the center aisle of the church, and out the middle doors to a platform built for the occasion on the church steps. From this platform the President will deliver a short address to the people.

Departure

After the delivery of his address, the President will leave the church by the side doors and be driven to the president's residence, where a light lunch will probably be served.

The President, escorted by the student guard, will then drive to the station, leaving Williamstown by special train for Oyster Bay at 1:30.

Annual Reception

The annual reception of the president and trustees of Williams college to the alumni and friends of the college was held in Jesup Hall yesterday afternoon, from half past four until six o'clock.

Chapel Dedication

to be present with us, who are here gathered together with all humility and readiness of heart, to consecrate this place to the honour of thy great Name; separating it henceforth from all unhallowed, ordinary, and common uses; and dedicating it to thy service, for reading thy holy Word, for celebrating thy holy Sacraments, for offering to thy glorious Majesty the sacrifices of prayer and thanksgiving, for blessing thy people in thy Name, and for the performance of all other holy offices: Accept, O Lord, this service at our hands, and bless it with such success as may tend most to thy glory, and the furtherance of our happiness both temporal and spiritual; through Jesus Christ our blessed Lord and Saviour. Amen."

Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson '67, in behalf of the building committee, gave a brief statement, followed by the bestowal of the gift in behalf of the donor by Mr. Clark Williams '92.

Mr. Stetson's statement is printed in full on pages 2 and 3.

Mr. Williams spoke as follows:

"President and members of the Board of Trustees of Williams college. It is with profound satisfaction that I transfer to your keeping this chapel, erected in memory of Frederick Ferris Thompson for the use of the faculty and students of Williams college for all time, and dedicated to the glory of God."

Following Mr. Williams' speech, President Hopkins read from the lectern a minute passed in the trustees' meeting yesterday, a part of which follows:

"We, the president and trustees of Williams College, on behalf of the college and its faculty, students, and alumni, express our profound sense of indebtedness to Mrs. Mary Clark Thompson, who has caused this sacred temple to be erected. In accepting this generous gift as a glorious and solemn trust, we engage our faith to employ it to its holy uses, and, humbly acknowledging the glory of God, we unite with the donor in receiving this gift as a temple of thanksgiving and praise to Him."

The anthem "Te Deum Laudamus" was sung by the choir, and the old testament lesson, I Kings 8, v. 22-24; 26-30; 38-40; 54-62; read by the Reverend Samuel M. Cruthers, D. D., pastor of a Unitarian church in Cambridge, Mass. After the singing of "Old Hundred" the new testament lesson, Revelations XXI, 1-4; 11-27, was read by Hon. James M. Taylor, D. D., President of Vassar college. After the singing of an anthem, Psalm 121, the dedicatory sermon was delivered by Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall, D. D., '72, president of Union Theological Seminary, New York city. Dr. Hall's sermon will be found on pages 5, 6 and 7.

At the conclusion of Rev. Dr. Hall's sermon, a hymn was sung by all present, written by William Cullen Bryant in 1835. The first verse is as follows:

"O Thou, whose own vast temple stands,
Built over earth and sea,
Accept the walls that human hands
Have raised to worship Thee."

At the conclusion of the hymn, the congregation rose, and the actual dedication took place, with President Hopkins leading, audience and leader alternating in the words of dedication. The words "We dedicate this house" were repeated in unison wherever they occurred.

(IN UNISON.)

To the glory of God our Father, God over all, blessed forever;

To the honor of Jesus Christ, Lord and Savior, Son of the living God, revealing the Father;

To the praise of the Holy Spirit, Source of life and light, taking of the things of Christ and showing them unto us,

We dedicate this house.

(PRESIDENT HOPKINS.)

For worship in prayer and song; for the ministry of the Word, for the celebration of the Holy Sacraments, and for the free gift of life and salvation to all men,

We dedicate this house.

(PRESIDENT HOPKINS.)

For instruction in righteousness, for the sanctification of learning, and for the guidance of youth,

For the fostering of patriotism, for the training of conscience, and for aggression against evil,

For the promotion of brotherhood and for the bringing in of the Kingdom of God,

We dedicate this house.

(PRESIDENT HOPKINS.)

Calling to mind the holy and mighty presence of God in other days,

Holding in sacred honor those servants of God who in the past have here taught and ministered,

Remembering with thanksgiving the generations who from this place have gone forth into church and state to help the Republic and to bless the world; mindful also of those who have given their lives on mission fields; with fervent hope and prayer for a future which shall abundantly fulfil the promise of the past,

We dedicate this house.

(PRESIDENT HOPKINS.)

Arise, O Lord! unto thy rest, thou and the ark of thy strength, let thy ministers be clothed with salvation, and let thy people shout for joy. We praise and magnify thee, Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty, heaven and earth are full of the majesty of thy glory.

(IN UNISON.)

Blessed be thy name, O Lord, that it hath pleased thee to put it into the hearts of thy servants to appropriate and devote this house to thy honor and worship; and grant that all who shall enjoy the benefit of this pious work may show forth their thankfulness, by making a right use thereof, to the glory of thy blessed name; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

At the conclusion of the words of dedication the prayer of consecration was offered by Rev. Alexander McKenzie, D. D., pastor of a Congregational church in Cambridge. The choir then sang an Amen, and with the congregation, the familiar hymn "For all the saints who from their labors rest."

The prayer and benediction was offered by Reverend Bishop Edward G. Andrews, D. D., L L. D., of New York City, a Methodist bishop.

"Blessed be thy name, O Lord God, for that it hath pleased thee to have thy habitation among the sons of men, and to dwell in the midst of the assembly of saints upon the earth; grant, we beseech thee, that in this place now set apart to thy service, thy holy name may be worshipped in truth and purity through all generations through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

"The peace of God, which passeth all understanding, keep your hearts and minds in the knowledge and love of God, and of his Son, Jesus Christ our Lord; The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all."

The dedicatory exercises were concluded by the singing of an Amen by the choir.

After the close of the service several selections were played on the chimes for about twenty miuntes.

DEDICATION

The sermon of dedication at the Thompson Memorial chapel, delivered by the Rev. Dr. Charles Cuthbert Hall, is given below in full:

Prophesy of Isaiah II: 2-4.

"And it shall come to pass in the better days, that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established at the head of the mountains, and shall be exalted above the hills, and all nations shall flow unto it. And many peoples shall go and say, Come ye, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; and He will teach us His ways, and we will walk in His paths; for out of Zion shall go forth instruction, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And He shall judge among the nations, and shall decide concerning many peoples; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks, nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

I take for my theme, in this historic and prophetic hour: "The future Influence of Religion upon the Peace of the World. "It shall come to pass in the latter days." The erection of a house of worship is important under any circumstances. A Hindu temple on the Malabar Hill at Bombay, or a mosque at Aden, a Shinto shrine among the cryptomarias at Nikko, a garrison chapel at Gibraltar, a college church at the faith.

head of the mountains— all are important, and in a sense, all are alike; for each, in its own way and after its own tradition, is a witness to the universal instinct of religion in the human breast. God hath made of one blood all the nations of men, if haply they might feel after Him and find Him. The Greek poet spoke for all when he said: "For we also are His offspring." The erection of a Christian church is an incident more hopeful than the building of a mosque or temple, because it represents the most cosmopolitan interpretation of religion, and the message of greatest interest to the world. Mosque and temple have their message, the religious intensity of the past. A Christian church prophesies of the future, "On earth peace, good wil toward men." Wherever it rises, like St. Paul's in the throbbing heart of London, or in white simplicity 'mid the meadow elms of a New English hamlet, or far in the canon at the mining camp, or beneath the areca palms of the mission field, its message is the same—a larger hope for all the sons of men through the larger mercy of the Son of God.

The erection of a Chistian church within the precincts of a college is the best of all. The dedication of the building is the dedication of the college to all that the building stands for. The house is the symbol of ideals. The act of dedication is the self- committment of the college to those ideals. The perpetual ambition of the college must be to measure up to the ideals expressed by the building that rises in their midst. Expediency, routine, narrowing influences of environment are ever pressing to small utilities that shall hide the broad ideals. The chapel of a college may be made a mere item of discipline, a place for the daily rally of students, a house of weary requirement, a breeding ground of irreverence and irreligion. Or it may be made, by the co-operation of intellectual breadth with the noblesse of youth, a seat of religious authority, a mountain of vision. To make it this, it must be regarded as a Christian church, planted in the home of liberal arts to organize intellect, culture and manliness in the service of religion. The college itself is a product of the religion of which this building is a symbol. Our effort today must, therefore, be to find out what, in the largest sense, this building stands for.

Turn we then to the vision of him who, with eyes purged of dimness and with mind disburdened of prejudice, saw, before his time, the purpose of Jehovah. Statesman and poet, evangelist and prophet, the message of Isaiah, son of Amos, is only now beginning to be understood. A prophet of Judah and Jerusalem, he spoke to his age and nation in the time appointed. But he was also a prophet of the world, an evangelist of the kingdom of God.

He outlined the spread and swell of forces that in the fullness of time shall re-organize human society. He predicted the outcome of movements that have required two thousand years of incubation. His mind projected itself into our time and the time beyond us, and announced conditions which experience is beginning to verify. The mediaeval conceptions of the church; the inchoate state of knowledge, the mutual isolation of nations, the absence of any comprehensive theory of world politics, hid from the generations before us, the larger meanings of Isaiah. He was interpreted by local standards, and viewed with shortened vision. But in our own time, many things have changed. Nations have intimate acquaintance with one another, the science of world politics is building up new conceptions of federated interests, and opening new possibilities of rational adjustment. The time has come, when, in circles of thoughtfulness and in seats of culture, the major prophecies of Isaiah are filled with contemporary suggestions and sound like bells from some august tower of vision, to gladden those who, through the world's long night, have waited for the morning. Today, as we dedicate this holy house, the voice of the statesman prophet speaks from the tower of vision. "And is shall come to pass in the latter days that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be establishedat the head of the mountains and shall be exalted above the hills, and all nations shall flow into it." It is the vision of the exaltation of religions above all social expedients, all coercive measures of force, all gospels of secularism.

"And many peoples shall go and say, come ye, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob, and He will teach us his ways, and we will walk in His paths; for out of Zion shall go forth instruction, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem." It is the vision of the awaking of the religious sense throughout the world, the reaction from mediaevalism and from derisive churchmanship and from idolatry, the insistent cry of the spiritual nature, the hungering and thirsting after God.

"And He shall judge among the nations and shall decide concerning many peoples; and they shall beat their swords into plow-shares and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation; neither shall they learn war any more." It is the vision of the readjustment of world politics through the power of religion; bringing men face to face with one another in the presence of their common Father; shedding abroad the conception of the love which is in the heart of the Infinite; the helpful, unifying love, that, as it comes known, silently takes the breech-blocks from guns, unyokes the engines of war, and regulates by a new law of mutuality, the just ambitions within the brotherhood of nations.

As the voice of the statesman prophet speaks from his tower of vision, today proclaiming the Future Influence of Religion upon the Peace of the World, the mind is harrassed by a disquieting thought. One cannot forget the deeds that have been done in the name of religion. Many of the most cruel struggles and persistent disorders of the world emerged from religion, and have continued in its behalf. The sword of Mohammedanism, in God's name, was plunged to the hilt in the flesh of India, and flayed the provinces of Asia Minor and southeastern Europe. The Inquisition of the Holy Roman tribunal elevated torture into an art, consecrated it as a means of grace; the Protestant churchmen of England outdid the Roman inquisitors in bloody effort for the extinction of independency. Storm clouds of controversy, bolts of wrath, poisoned wells of bitterness, mark the course of religion through the Christian centuries. Saul of Tarsus interpreting the service of God in the terms of intolerance, was the forerunner of a succession continuing to this present. Interminable feuds of sectarian zealots, the unbridged chasm between churchmanship and dissent bear witness to religion as a disturber of peace. Although the heart resents these things, the mind must not refuse to look calmly upon them. There is a sense in which this had to be. Even Christ, the Prince of Peace said: "I come not to send Peace, but a sword, for I am come to set a man at variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother; and a man's foes shall be they of his own household." The law of evolution is everywhere a law of suffering, and where the ethical nature is most deeply involved, the suffering is most grievous. The delivery of truth from the bonds of ignorance, the vindication of the fundamental rights of mental and moral liberty, the tragic blend of corruption with righteousness in the heart of man, create situations through which the ongoings of immortal love are like the thrusts of swords and the upheavals of war. There is a sense in which religion must be a disturber of peace. But, no doubt, much evil has been wrought in the name of religion, through man's narrow interpretation of its nature and scope. Rivalry and antagonism long animated the champions of opposite aspects of the same belief. Questions of authority and jurisdiction long towered in the foreground. Lack of knowledge linked itself with excess of zeal. Intolerance, disparaging comment, haughty indifference, rash condemnation, were the common weapons of religious partisanship. Western civilization entrenched in its own traditions, was content to dispise the East and, without discrimination to denounce the falsity of its religious ideas. Many, repulsed by the discordant note in religion, turned to philosophy or to socialism, to find there a better gospel for the world. Much of this is already changed. Nothing is so wonderful in the present time as the movement of western thought toward a broader interpretation of religion. Not only are persecution and bloodshed in the name of religion, reckoned everywhere within the zone of civilization, acts of barbarity, not only are the hostilities of sectarianism discountenanced, and the movements of federation advocated. A new conception is being gained of the nature of religion. It is seen to be in essence something more fundamental in human life than any one of its historical and formal types of belief, even an original attribute of man as the offspring of God, an attribute common to the race, a base of experience upon which all stand together, whether they are Jews or Greeks, barbarians, Scythians, bond or free—experience of common need, common lodging, common thirsting after the Infinite.

It is too soon to estimate the theological and ecclesiastical effects of the enlarged conception of the nature of religion. We are too near to the thought itself to judge of all its possible conclusions. We are aware that it must revise some theological opinions of long standing and do away with certain stumbling blocks to faith that have discouraged many and sent them into agnosticism. We are certain that it must broaden our sense of the divine plan and of the field of God's gracious operations on earth. We are sure that it must add to the glory of Christ and enthrone Him as the head of a larger and more diverse church than a narrower traditional ecclesiasticism would be disposed to tolerate. But all of these great matters of opinion are yet in process of reconstruction. Time and the illuminating spirit of God shall make them clear. Meanwhile there is one thing that is clear. Amid perplexing theological and ecclesiastical problems there is a sustained and steady conviction, which, if I may use the noble phrase of our poet-alumnus,

"Sends its shining ray
Far down the future's broadening way."

It is a conviction of the future influence of religion upon the peace of the world. The conviction rests on no pious illusion, still less on any partisan interpretation. It rests on the facts of observation and experience. We feel, in the atmosphere of our own time, new forces gathering on the side of religion, forces less formal and more vital, themselves the outcome of that larger interpretation of religion which is the divine solution of the period of critical controversy through which we have passed. The last sixty years have been a momentous chapter in the religious history of the English speaking peoples. Coleridge and Wordsworth were the ardent souls that stood in the gateway of the 19th century, prophesying that men should not forever be satisfied with formal and external criteria of truth, but advance into deeper intimacy with God, and practical assimilation of his spirit. Arnold and Whately, Milman and Hampden, following their brilliant master, Coplestone, and touched by the influence of Schleiermacher, were the apostles of reality in the study and use of the Scripture. In the large conception of the value of experience as a factor in belief, in the consecration of intellectual liberty to the service of religion, Newman, not less noble than they, but of another spirit, dreaded and disavowed that intellectual liberty, believing that it was inimical to religion. Religion, in Newman's view, must be protected by authority. With absolute consistency, he bowed his neck to that yoke and offered up reason on the altar of obedience. These men, in their aspirations and in their convictions, were prophets of the critical and anti-critical discussion of our time. We have had men animated by the Coleridgian spirit of liberty, and the Coleridgian estimate of experience as a guide to truth, and we have had men, as pure and as sincere, in whom Newman's conservatism and Newman's zeal for authority were born again. In the later critical discussion, as in the Oxford liberal movement, with its counter reformation, good men have trembled for the faith and prophesied the decline of religion. Meanwhile the spirit of God, viewless and powerful as the wind that bloweth where it listeth, has been working behind and beneath the superficial elements of controversy, the solution of a larger problem. The critical isues remain open, but like an Alpine range, showing clear against the upper sky, while the storm clouds dissolve beneath, there emerges into the higher field of modern thought a new conviction of the unalterable supremacy of religion above the changeful currents of theological debate. It may be said that this new conviction of the supremacy of religion, while widely diffused, has hardly yet been formulated. Many are negatively conscious that the last half-century of critical controversy has not confirmed the pessimistic fears of those who condemned the scientific method in theology as indicated with an assault on faith. Many more are positively aware that the decisive realism of modern thinking has brought religion into the field of common life and enhanced the actuality of God. But few have yet attempted to think through to the conclusion this modern movement toward religion, or to estimate what its consequences must be as the movement gathers volume and impulse and certainty. Fewer still have stopped to reflect that many signs at home and abroad today suggest the approaching fulfillment of those most glorious predictions made long before the birth of Christ, by him who has well been called the Evangelist of the Prophets; the exaltation of religion; the awakening of the religious sense throughout the world; the readjustment of world politics through the power of religion. "It shall come to pass in the latter day that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established at the head of the mountains and shall be exalted above the hills, and all nations shall flow unto it. And many people shall god and say, come ye, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob; and He will teach us His ways, and we will walk in His paths, for out of Zion shall go forth instruction, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. And He shall judge among the nations and shall decide concerning many peoples, and they shall beat their swords into plow shares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." One of the most desirable and one of the most unusual occurrences is the correct and adequate interpretation by men of their own contemporary history. Great events, great opportunities, great and controlling tendencies, seldom are gauged at their full significance until they have passed into perspective. The multitude and rapidity of unrelated incidents engrosses the age and hinders the philosophic action of the mind. Men are too busy noticing the fluttering signals of passing ships to sound the depths and consider the direction of the curren that carries them. Christ weeps over Jerusalem because, wrapped up in events, He considers not their Divine meaning and message. His words are full of warning for all who ignore the larger significance of a momentous present: "If thou hadst known, even thou, in this thy day, the things which belong unto thy peace! But now they are hid from thine eyes." Failure to note the drift of history is no small part of the tragedy of men and nations. But there is also in Holy Scripture a striking instance of the identification of passing events with their deeper and larger meaning. It is on the day of Pentecost when the waves of a new experience are breaking into the soul of men. The careless observer of incident sees nothing in the excitement of that hour but untimely stimulation. The Apostolic seer, with practiced eye, detects the arrival of long promised power, the beginning of a new era of religions. This is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel. "It shall come to pass in the last days, said God, I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh." In this momentous stage of the world's history with which we are contemporary, and in whose passing incidents we are involved (our own nation so conspicuously) there is no apostolic seer, as at the day of Pentecost, to interpret by authority the larger meaning of the time in which we live; or to affirm that any special voice of prophesy is now verging to fulfillment. But we may venture none the less to interpret. The correspondence of some of the phenomena of the present moment with the words of Old Testament prediction, suggest that we are entering upon a new stage and term in the progress of the world, a stage long dreamed of, hoped for, predicted—now actually at hand, even at our door. This is that which was spoken by the Prophet Isaiah: "It shall come to pass in the later days —the Influence of Religion upon the Peace of the World.

The erection of this house of worship "at the head of the mountains" is an act characteristic of the present tendency to exalt and honor religion in the seats of culture. That there is such a tendency, and that it is gathering momentum, we are not always in a position to realize. The surface drift, away from the institutions of religion, if not from religion itself, is formidable. Multitudes of the people, not recognizing Roman authority, or attracted by Protestant methods, are as sheep without a shepherd, living and dying apparently unvisited by the sense of immortality and the vision of God. The god of this world has blinded the eyes, stopped the ears, darkened the understanding of many, who struggle violently for a little while after material prizes, then sink down and disappear beneath the onrush of others like themselves. At times we see this so distinctly that we see only this, and it disconcerts us. The ungodly element of modern life seem to be dwarfing the primary instincts of reverence and making men incapable of spiritual development. The realities of the visible work seem to be the only realities that thoroughly arouse and command men. But this is a surface estimate, a judgment from appearance. Beneath this enormous drift away from religion on the part of the uninstructed and unreflecting average, there sets in the opposite direction a tide of tendency never more serious and determind than now. Among the men that think, and create and guide opinion, that look to the outcome of things, this better tide of tendency flows, carrying with it a majority of the educated. It is a gracious fruit of modern culture that there has come to be an enlarged conception of religion in its relation to life. The theological definitions of religion and the ecclesiastical interpretations of religion may or may not have retained their former authority, but, beyond doubt, the philosophical appreciation of religion as a divine integer of all well rounded life is more general and deeper than ever before. The reconstruction of philosophy has meant for all thinking men a nearer view of God, a more sacred estimate of personality. Today an atheistic view of the universe, as without God, or a deistic view of the universe as governed from afar by an absent monarch, presents severe difficulties to a well-trained man of science. Moral godlessness is as easy as ever, for the flesh beateth against the spirit, as of old; but intellectual lawlessness, the philosophical repudiation of the Divine Presence in the world, if it be not ignorance, is almost eccentricity. "God with us," has become the first member of our intellectual equation. And this means new content brought into human life, new honor conferred upon personality as a continuous expression of divine thought. In a new sense, psychology helps every man to say: "By the grace of God, I am what I am." Out of this new thinking has come, in circles of education "The Renaissance of Religion;" of religion as a part of life, a part so vital, so absolutely organic that there can be no proper development without it. A non-religious theory of culture is halting, deficient, provincial. A life untrained and uninspired on the spiritual side, is a life that has done injustice to itself, or has been dealt with unfairly by others. We are only at the beginning of this Renaissance of Religion in the world of education. We have hardly thought through to a conclusion its meaning, hardly projected a measurement of its probable effects. Powerful and sweeping they are likely to be, setting new account on the religon of colleges extending out into the difficult fields of state universities and public schools, vitalizing half-dead churches with a new conception of what they stand for in the community, and ultimately appealing to the vast average that reflects not on such matters, but goes on its pathetic way of the senses, working out its own self-imposed condemnation: "Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die." Religious eductaion is the most hopeful propheey in the intellectual life of our time. Above a non-religious ethies, above a secular sociology, above a divisive churchmanship, it sets God, in whom we live and move and have our being. It bids men know their own lives, personal and corporate, as in God; to see the world as God's world: to organize a social order around a central principle that is divine. And so, by the reconstruction of philosophy and the broadening effect of criticism, by the larger thinking in colleges and universities, there is beginning amng us the exaltation of religion. It is coming by a way that we knew not. by the broad highway of liberal culture rather than the narrower path of clerical authority. In an earlier and darker age it was of the church that established religion in the school. Now it is the thinking of the school that is bringing back religion into the church, arrayed not in the sumptuous robe of priestly power but in the simplicity of irresistible truth. So God fulfills himself, and after many days, the word of the Prophet stands: "And it shall come to pass in the latter days that the mountains of the Lord's house shall be established at the head of the mountains and shall be exalted above the hills, and all nations shall flow unto it."

Simultaneously with the realization of religion in the seats of culture, there is taking place an awakening of the religious sense throughout the world. Religions are as old as the race and in their several forms, as universal as the race. The history of the race is largely the history of its religions. But religions have their stages of growth or decline or recrudescence.

They become institutionalized sectarianized, devitalized, encrusted with parasitic growing infected with morbid organisms. They develop outbursts of abnormal and corrupt usage or fade into decrepitude and senility. Yet it may be that God has had in every age of every religion his prophets who have believed in the imperishability of the religious sense, and have gazed beyond the things they saw as Simeon in an age of decedent Judaism, waited for the consolation of Israel." Of such a spirit Isaiah, the evangelist among the prophets. His eagle eye swept the horizon of the world and saw the tragedy of its religious history; great religious perverted by ignorance, monopolized by clericalism, sterilized by idolatry. He saw beneath that slavery to the idol the universal soul of humanity, hungering and thirsting for truth at last demanding its own and coming into its own by a vast awakening of the religious sense, a return to God. "It shall come to pass," he cries, "in the latter days, that many people shall go and say Come ye and let us go into the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob, and he will teach us his ways and we will walk in his paths, for out of Zion shall go forth instruction and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem." For many reasons the thought suggests itself that the world may be even now passing into this general awaking of the religious sense, this spontaneous return to the living God. It is certain that a momentous change in the religious point of view is going on, in Christendom and outside of Christendom as well. In all parts of the Christian world the tendeney is to the intercourse and federation of religious ieterests, upon the basis of whatsoever is of the common essece. Zeal for the contests of sectarianism, once the major occupation of churches, is now a waning fire. Local interpretations, partisan disputes, rigorous exercise of ecclesiastical authority, associate themselves with the past rather than with the present and the future. The reconstruction of philosophy has introduced a new organizing principle into religious thinking, has redistributed the accents of value, has rediscovered the imperishable unities, has lifted up Christ and drawn all men back from secondary disputes unto himself. Religion is being reinterpreted in the terms of life; the vital kinship of the sane of God; the immediate activity of the Divine Spirit; the ethical nature of spiritual experience, the liberty of private judgment in the pursuit of truth, the social obligation of the godlike individual. Under the influence of these conceptions is emerging a new tolerance toward variant opinion within the Christian society, a new respect for religious experience outside of Christianity. Some, still clinging to the old order, dread the new as a perilous liberty that dethrones Christ and substitutes fickle individualism. Others hail this change in the accent of religious thinking, as the way of the Spirit of God to establish the reality of experience in the most intelligent lives; to reconduct the power of the living Christ past the benumbing medium, of dogmatic ecclesiasticism straight to the reason, the conscience, the affection of educated men. It is difficult to find a portion of the civilized world in which are not proceeding movements analogous to the Protestant awakening of the religious sense. The Roman church, through her best representatives, is showing her sympathy with it. The Holy Orthodox Church of Russia is recognizing the irresistable right of direct access to God long demanded in vain, by other sects within the Empire. The Hinduism of India is everywhere disclosing groups of educated men to whom the idol has become intolerable; who have assimilated the conception of worship, the principles of love, the ideal of righteousness that are in Christ; who are developing a reformed Hinduism which is but an evolutionary step towards an Indianized Christianity, which says in all but the words "Come let us go up to the house of the Lord of Jacob and he will teach us his ways, and we will walk in his paths." The truest solution of the spirit of modern Japan is religions. In the heart of the nation lies latent but awake a vast religious potentiality, waiting for an adequate object on which to pour itself forth. The historic religions no longer supply that object. Their greatness is in the past. Knowledge, science, philosophy have outgrown them. They survive, in form rather than in power. The heart of Japan has experineced an unconscious impregnation with the spirit of Christ. Let the mind of the nation once apprehend the ground of His supremack, the intellectual validity of His appeal to human obedience, and the pent-up sense of religion will burst forth in homage and in service.

As we dedicate this noble house of worship at the head of the mountains and exalt it above the hills, we realize the enormous importance of religion, as a world factor the present time. Never before, since civilization began, was the conception of religion so vital, so broad, so Catholic, so inwrought with the philosophy of a true social order, as today. The richest, deepest thinking of the world, the maturest intelligence, is committed on the side of religion. Never before, it may be, since civilization began, was the awaking of the religious sense so general and so intelligent in the world as now. The warring of religions against each other has been an intense activity of the past. The Crusades, the Reformation struggle, the embittered contests of sectarianism are forms in which the religious sense has expressed itself in the past. But the spirit of the present is utterly different; it is the awakening of nations to the realization of one God, and of that One God as the Father of man, and to the spirit and mind of that one God as the spirit and mind of Christ, a spirit constructive, a spirit irenic, a spirit of power and of love and of reason. Who shall estimate the part that this new sense of religion may take in the readjustment of world polities! Through the long and tumultuous past there seemed to the nations one way only to order and adjust the world—the way of force, the awful hand of war. To the maturer thinking of modern culture and diplomacy, another way has opened, the way of arbitration. It is a way beset with difficulty, hedged with intricate possibilities, obscured by secret motives of national selfishness and racial jealousy. Who shall say that it is final. As one studies the possibitities of the world in the light of the purpose of Christ draw all men unto Himself there dawns upon one a vision of the future influence of religion upon the peace of the world. Here is a force with which we have not reckoned, a possibility we have not measured, the influence upon the thought of nations of the clearer knowledge of the heart of God, the sway of a common religious consciousness over international destiny. It is a vision long forseen, long waited for by those whose eyes have been purged of the blindness of race prejudice and whose hearts have been warmed with the grace of human brotherhood. It is the vision of God taking charge of his own world and by His spirit controling and coordinating national interests for the common peace. "And he shall judge among the nations and shall decide concerning many people; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation; neither shall they learn war any more.

Of these things, the exaltation of religion, the awaking of the religious sense throughout the world, the future influence of religion upon the peace of the world—this church, set in a Christian college, at the head of the mountains and exalted above the hills, is a perpetual symbol in stone. Its purpose is not only to commemorate a noble and beloved name, but to bring home to every mind every day, the vast conceptions of the vision if Isaiah, to make them a part of the common thinking of youth, until the life of each generation shall assimilate them and men go forth from here, to extend these prophetic ideas throughout the world for the hastening of the kingdom of God.

Cutting-Made Smart Clothes

CHUNKY chaps who mourn their figures, and lanky ones who feel laughable, hate to order new clothes. They mistrust the tape-liners who measure their expanses. This is natural, for only the most practiced hands should ever put shears to a fat or a thin man's fabric. Our 40-stouts and 38-longs have brought happiness into such lives. They make the cubic ones square off taller and the linear ones contract. Also, they fit.

Come over.

OUTING CLOTHES $10, $12, $15 and $18.

A trifle lined, sheer feather-weight fabric. EASY, LOOSE, WINDY—for the dog days.

Commencement Daily

WILLIAMS 111th COMMENCEMENT

Degrees Conferred upon Distinguished Men. Degree of L. H. D. Given to the President of the United States.

Ex-Secretary Root and Ex-Ambassador Joseph H. Choate Receive Degree of L. L. D.—Addresses of President Hopkins in Presentation—Account of the Exercises in Full—Speech of President Roosevelt in the Church.

The one hundred and eleventh commencement of Williams college took place in the Congregational church at eleven o'clock this morning. Dignified by the presence of the nation's chief executive and many other men of note, made memorable by one of the largest gatherings of Williams men ever held, and distinguished by the dedication of the most beautiful college chapel in the country, the commencement season of 1905 has passed into history as an event brilliant in the history of Williams.

At the Commencement of 1905, the degree of Bachelor of Arts was conferred upon seventy-one in course, and upon three in nunc pro tunc. The degree of Master of Arts was conferred upon three in course and honorarily upon two. Following, two degrees of Doctor of Divinity, four of Doctor of Letters and one of Doctor of Humane Letters were conferred.

Shortly before eleven o'clock the procession started from Lawrence Hall library. High Sheriff Nicholson of Berkshire led the way, followed by Gioscia's band of Albany. Following, came Dr. Frederick C. Ferry, Dean of the college, as Marshal of the day; and the graduating class in caps and gowns, led by Class Marshals John Joseph McCarty and James William Wadsworth. Proceeding to Hopkins Hall, the members of the faculty, led by Henry D. Wild, Marshal of the faculty for the day, joined in the line. From there the procession crossed Main street and marched to Jesup Hall, where the alumni, by classes led by the alumni marshals, Felton Bent '95, of Chester, Pa., and Robert T. Furman '95 of New York city, joined after the faculty. Stopping at the president's house, the President of the United States and his party, the president and trustees of Williams college, in academic dress, the invited guests of the college, and the candidates for honorary degrees clad in the gowns of their degrees, completed the make-up of the procession. Upon reaching the Congregational church, the procession entered slowly, taking their assigned seats while the organ played a voluntary.

President Hopkins escorted President Roosevelt to the platform, and in addition, the trustees, invited guests, candidates for degrees, and Dr. Frederick Carlos Ferry and Prof. Richard Austin Rice, presentors of candidates for degrees, were seated upon the platform. The members of the faculty occupied the choir seats, the graduating class the front center seats, the alumni, families of members of the faculty and others the main body of the church. The friends and families of the members of the class of 1905 occupied the gallery seats. President Hopkins opened the exercises with a prayer, following which all present sang Luther's familiar hymn, "Ein fester Burg ist unser Gott."

The Commencement speakers, from the graduating class, spoke in the following order: Philosophical oration, "Idealism in Political Life," Roy Kenneth Hack, of South Waterboro, Me., next year Williams Rhodes Scholar at Oxford; Dissertation, "The Academic Temper," William Smith Pettit, class president; Philosophical Oration, "The Scientific Spirit," with valedictory, Benjamin Franklin Mills.

As the announcement of prizes was postponed until the alumni

THE PRESIDENT IN WILLIAMSTOWN

Complete Itinerary of the President's Visit from 6.28 Last Night Until 1.30 This Afternoon.

Arrival at Station—Reception to Faculty, Trustees, and Invited Guests from 9.00 till 10.00—Official business in the Late Evening—Views Thompson Memorial Chapel—Speech Outside of Church—Departure at 1.30 this Afternoon.

Theodore Rooosevelt, President of the United States, arrived in Williamstown at 6:28 last evening. Elaborate plans had been laid for his arrival and these were carried out exactly, although the drizzling rain which had been falling all day to some extent hampered the proceedings.

Arrival

The special train, composed of three cars, a baggage car, the combination baggage and cafe car "George Hopkins" of the Pennsylvania Colonial Express and the Pullman Observation car "Courier," reached the Williamstown station of the Boston and Maine railway two minutes ahead of schedule time. Awaiting the arrival of the President were the reception committees, from Berkshire county; United States Senator Winthrop Murray Crane, of Dalton, ex-Governor of Massachusetts, chairman; Hon. George P. Lawrence, of North Adams, Representative in Congress of the First Berkshire District, Hon. William B. Plunkett, of Adams; Hon. Walter F. Hawkins, of Pittsfield and Hon. James Rudolph Garfield, commissioner of corporations in the newly formed Department of Commerce and Labor, of the class of 1885: the committee representing Williamstown, N. Henry Sabin, chairman, ex-Representative Almon E. Hall, John B. Locke, chairman of the Williamstown Board of Selectmen, Samuel Starkweather, Warren Montgomery, members of the Board of Selectmen, Daniel T. Neyland.

Williams Cheers For the President

Surrounding the reception committee was the student escort, in double lines, under the leadership of Mr. John A. DeCamp 1900 and Morton D. Griswold 1906. As the train drew into the station, Griswold led Williams cheers for the President, and continued until he appeared upon the observation platform. Senator Crane entered the train and welcomed the President to Berkshire county. Applause greeted the appearance of the President, who responded to the welcome with the simple words, "I am so glad to be here."

President Roosevelt stepped from the train and was greeted by the committees. He then entered a carriage with his secretary William Loeb, jr., Senator Crane and Representative Lawrence. The line then started up Cole avenue, headed by the carriage of John Nicholson, High Sheriff of Berkshire, followed by Judson '05, Lapham '07 and M. Brown '07 on horseback and then the President's carriage. Behind riding abreast were Sheriff Claude L. Frink, of North Adams and Deputy Sheriff O'Brien of Adams. Behind them were Wellington '05, Buchanan and Fleischmann '06 on horseback, and then the carriage carrying the remainder of the Presidential party and the reception committees. The student escort followed closely beside the President's carriage as far as the French Catholic church, where a special car on the Hoosac Valley was in waiting.

The escort boarded the car and were conveyed to the end of the car line while the carriages came up Cole avenue and Main street. The line of students formed again after leaving the car and marched up Main street and in double line awaited the coming of the President. As the party entered Main street in front of Professor Morton's house, the bells in the tower of the new Chapel were played, continuing until the carriages reached West College.

At President Hopkins' Home

As the President's carriage drew up in front of the residence of Dr. Hopkins, a long Williams cheer greeted him. As he stepepd from the carriage Dr. Hopkins advanced from the house and welcomed him, and escorted him to the door, where Mrs. Hopkins greeted him. The occupants of the other carriages entered the president's house.

Last evening, after the reception at President Hopkins' residence, President Roosevelt drove in a closed carriage to the Alpha Delta Phi House. He was greeted by the Alpha Delta Phis with fraternity songs, passed through their doors and remained there twenty minutes.

The President was also invited to the Delta Kappa Epsilon house,

ORGAN RECITAL

In New Chapel by Gaston M. Dethier—Leland J. Moore Sings

At 4:30 p. m. yesterday in the new chapel an organ recital was given by Gaston M. Dethier, organist and choirmaster of St. Francis Xavier's church, New York city, assisted by Leland J. Moore, of New York city, tenor soloist. Mr. Dathier and Mr. Moore gave a varied program of classic and original compositions, as follows:

Sonata in the style of Handel, Wolstenholmes
- Introduction—Allegro.
- Adagio.
- Menuet.

Cantabile, Radoux
Intermezzo, Widor
Variations, Thiele
Solo—Recitative and Aria Handel
- Recitative—Deeper and deeper still
- Aria—Waft her angels to the skies

Rapsodie Guerriere, Sinding
Adagietto, Bizet
Badinage, Mailly
Toccata, Faulkes
Solo—Aria from the Manzoni Requiem Verdi
- Ingemisco Tamquam resu

Variations on a Carol, Dethier
Barcarolle, Dethier
Scherzo, Dethier
March, Svendsen

Mr. Moore's voice appeared to good advantage in the two selections rendered, the high notes in the Manzoni Aria being particularly clear and well sustained, while the tone quality of the Handel Recitative possessed the firmness and surety of attack of a master of song.

Mr. Dethier's recital was unusurlly satisfactory, especially to a musical critic. He brought out the qualities of the organ to perfection, its full, deep tones reverberating through the chapel to the complete extent of their richness and grandeur. The "Toreata," by Faulkes, was a revelation of clean execution. The Thiele selection contained some passages for the pedals, which, when taken up in the allegro tempo, presented many difficulties. Mr. Dethier, however, rendered them with as much apparent ease as a largo movement, and from beginning to end the rapid succession of pedal notes could be followed easily.

Of further unusual merit was the musicianly clean-cut rendering of Mr. Dethier's own Scherzo.

Honorary Degrees

Next came the conferring of honorary degrees, the candidates being presented by Professor Richard Austin Rice.

The degree of Magister Artium, was conferred upon Francis Richmond Allen, of Boston, architect of the new Thompson Memorial Chapel, and Wallace Clyde Johnson, of Boston, a prominent civil engineer.

The degree of Doctor Divinitatia was conferred upon Prof Stephen Beasley Linnard Penrose, of the class of 1885, president of Whitman college, at Walla Walla Wash., and upon Rev. William Mercer Grosvenor, of the class of 1885, of New York city.

The degree of Legium Doctor, upon Hon. Joseph Hodges Choate, Ex-Ambassador at the Court of St. James; upon Hon. Elihu Root, of New York city, Ex-Secretary of War; upon Col. William Packer Prentiss, Ph. D., of the class of 1855, of New York city, and upon Prof. Edward Herrick Griffin, of the class of 1862, of Baltimore, Dean of Johns Hopkins University.

The last degree conferred was the degree Litterarum Humaniorum Magister, upon Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States. In conferring the honorary degree upon the President, Dr. Hopkins said:

President of the United States, Williams College does not attempt to recognize or reward your services on the great field of national and international political action. That has been done by the voice of the whole people with an authority which far transcends that of all colleges and universities, and in a manner immeasurably more impressive than any academic ceremony. And now, Mr. President, there has come to you a unique honor. With the approval and applause of European governments, the sovereigns of far-off warring nations beyond the seas accept gratefully the counsels of the accredited but uncrowned citizen of a free Republic in the interests of justice and peace. We are, however, permitted to write your name on the list of our honorary alumni, and to confer the token of high distinction upon you as an eminent citizen of the republic of letters, as a students of literature and a lover of the best books, as an author read and honored on both sides of the sea, as a friend of the education of the whole people for intelligent citizenship, and a friend also of the higher liberal education. You have more than once received the degree of doctor of laws; we ask you to accept today another but not les distinguished title:—

By the authority of the President and Trustees of Williams College I confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Letters and declare you entitled to all the rights, privileges and honors that pertain to that degree.

President Roosevelt then faced the audience and said in part:

Mr. President, and you of Williams College, I have received a high honor at your hands today and I want to say to you how very deeply I appreciate it. I appreciate it especially because I am here with so many men I know. I have listened with world wide pleasure to the three philosophical discourses of the program: I was very much interested in them all, but I was especially so in the first one—it was just in my line of business. I wish to say just a word suggested by this discourse, regarding Idealism in Williams College. I wish to see all the graduates of this college do everything that lies in their power to uphold a standard of practical idealism. The reference to political ideals in Troy brings to my mind the fact that there are two sorts of ideals in human life—the ideal that is high and fantastical an dthe ideal that is low and practical. Judgment of which sort of ideal to pursue becomes a question of the choice of being what is merely harmless to what is being detrimental. You can secure no possible gratitude if you choose the mree harmlessness of these high ideals. Fantasic ideals show you more foolish than they show anything else about your character. Be practical in your ideal. Don't leave Williams with an unpractical ideal in your heads—one that can never materialize and that you know soon after you form it can never materialize. But on the other hand, you must never fail to apply your ideal, however high it be.

On this platform with me are men with whom I have had more or less dealings in the affairs of public life. Here is Mr. Choate, Mr. Garfield, Mr. Root and Bishop Laurence. In my dealings with these men I confess that I have oftentimes held views radically different from theirs, but we have always managed to adjust our disagreements in a broad-minded way. By each of us agreeing to subordinate our main points of difference, a compromise has been effected. A man should not only work for himself, but for the best expression possible for the reward of his work well done.

We want the help ofevery institution for the success of the immediate governmental problems before us. We expect leadership from Williams as from the other colleges. Abroad I wish that it might be said that this nation does not not merely talk but acts for righteousness and peace. This peace must stand for justice, but at the same time that justice is necessary, whether obtainable by war o ra natural result. We are now enjoying righteousness and peace because the soldiers of our country dared draw their swords for the maintenance of it.

Take a glance at the situation at San Domingo. The situation there was serious; society was in a bad state of dissolution. But the mater proved merely a case of the strong helping the weaker and the desired effect was secured, the practice of justice between San Domingo and her creditors and a general readjustment of the finance of the country. I demand that in all cases, as in this instance, the nation do its duty, accepting the responsibilities that go with greatness and daring to be great. Do not, however, let this nation gain the reputation of doing justice to the weak rather than that of exacting justice from the strong.

Right here I will say that it is to the interest of the nation to see that the navy is built up and kept built up to the highest standard. A large navy should not be keep in readiness in the interests of war but as a guarantee for peace. We must keep up the United States navy or we must quit trying to be a nation.

There are a class of citizens who are much wrought up all the time about the social question. Remember that there must never be bribery of any sort, it must be ever fearlessly put down, this lawlessness in our land. Just as our country must never become a government by a monarch, so, on the other hand, it must never become a government by a plutocracy.

Regarding this question of the great combinations of the country. They undoubtedly need a more closer and a more efficient form of government. They should be employed in the interests of the nation and not against its interests. I believe that the National government, not the state government is responsible for the uprooting of this corruption. The control of all the business companies—from the insurance companies up and down, should be in the hands of the national government. There should be national supervision over all interstate railroads, securing a much-needed readjustment of rates. Should these ideas of mine be carried out, a measurable benefit would be workd to th Republic—I do not say that we would secure the millenium, or anything like it, and it must be remembered that in a consideration of such a question, there must be protection of the railroad from the public as well as the desired protection of the public from the injustices of the railroads.

Now regarding the investigations of corruptions in the Beef Trust and in the Standard Oil Company. A board of commisisoners is at work upon the matter, and if the companies are found guilty, an indictment will be pronounced you may be sure. But there will be no personal element at all in the decision of the judges of the matter. I have placed it in the hands of Mr. Garfield, being acquainted with his sense of justice and knowing that with him no suggestion of personal influence can have any effect upon the impartial discharge of his duty.

I see that I have overrun my time talking fo you here this morning. It is time for me to stop; and in conclusion I can only say that I would like to talk about an hour longer. I wish it were posible for me to make you understand how deeply I appreciate the privilege and the honors conferred upon me today.

The following addresses of presentation are printed in the order of their delivery by President Hopkins. The formula at the end of the address to President Roosevelt was repeated in each instance:

WALLACE CLYDE JOHNSON

Civil engineer, distingnished by your work in the application of water-power and electricity to the uses of man. I admit yon to the honorary degree of Master of Arts.

FRANCIS RICHMOND ALLEN

For the achievement of the Memorial Library at Vassar and the Memorial Chapel at Williams, I admit yon to the honorary degree of Master of Arts.

WILLIAM MERCER GROSVENOR.

In the great metropolis of the nation you stand as a representative Christian minister, an eloquent advocate of the highest truth, and a successful organizer and administrator of the interests of the Kingdom of God.

STEPHEN BEASLEY LINNARD PENROSE.

On the Pacific slope, fronting the vast populations and problems of the Far East, you are in a great Commonwealth a founder of Christian institutions and a teacher of righteousness.

EDWARD HERRICK GRIFFIN.

Distinquished expositor of philosophy, successful administrator of great university interests, beloved teacher of youth in Williams College, we welcome you today with our choicest honors.

WILLIAM PACKER PRENTISS.

Your notable classical scholarship, together with your high standing in your chosen profession of the law, make it a privilege for your Alma Mater, in this, the fiftieth year since your graduation, to bestow upon you the mark of her high honor.

ELIHU ROOT.

Jurist, cabinet officer, advocate, the United States army, and through them the whole people, are your debtor for the new and better army organization. This company of scholors honors you for having put your distinguished legal attainments and executive ability at the service of the state.

JOSEPH HODGES CHOATE.

Orator, advocate, diplomatist, ambassador; your name is a household word in the two great English speaking nations. Williams College can bring you no further honor, but gladly joins the acclaim of the whole people who welcome you home, by bestowing upon you her decoration.

On the Chapel Chimes

Mr. Chester Meneely of the Meneely Bell Co., of Troy, which cast the bells forming the set of chimes in the Thompson Memorial Chapel, was in town yesterday and played selections on the bells three times, after the dedication of the Chapel, when President Roosevelt was driving up from the station, and in the evening.

As President Roosevelt rounded the corner of Cole avenue and Main street, the chimes sounded "Hail Columbia." As he passed the Chapel, "America" rang out, and later "Maryland" was played.

Mr. Meneely played several Williams songs, as well as Scotch and Irish airs, and some popular melodies during the early evening, first playing all the different variations that could be given on the chimes. Among these airs were "The Last Rose of Summer," "Old Black Joe," "Marching Through Georgia," "The Harp That Once Through Tara's Hall," "America," "The Mountains," "Auld Lang Syne," "Old Dog Tray," "Robin Adair," "Dying Echoes Fill the Valley," and "Goodby, my Bluebell."

In Honor of Mrs. Thomspon

At the conclusion of the dedication exercises at the Thompson Memorial Chapel yesterday morning, Mrs. F. F. Thompson and the party of her visiting friends, adjourned, with the president, the trustees and their wives, to Jesup Hall, where luncheon was served in the reading room. The building was decorated for the affair with potted plants. Lucas, of Troy, was caterer, and covers were laid for fifty. Gioscia's orchestra furnished the music.

Rev. Dr. William M. Grosvenor, '85, gave an address on the significance of the chapel to the college and students, and Rev. James L. Taylor, D. D., LL. D., president of Vassar College, of which institution the late Mr. Thompson was a trustee and of which his wife is now a trustee, spoke on the life and work of Mr. Thompson.

but was unable to accept, since no secret service arrangements had been made for his protection.

On International Business

The President went to his apartments almost immediately, where he spent two hours' work on international business with Secretary Loeb, and Mr. Latin, his stenographers. He retired at 1:30 this morning, occupying the bed-room on the south-east Main street, corner of the building.

Before Breakfast

Though he did not go to bed until late, he was up at five minutes of eight this morning. Stepping to the window, he raised it and opening the blinds, looked out at the gray, gloomy day for several minutes. He then left the window, dressed, and joined Secretary Loeb, Mr. Rixey and Dr. and Mrs. Hopkins downstairs. Breakfast was served at 8:20.

At '85 Headquarters

Immediately after breakfast, the President received a call from James R. Garfield, and, accompanied only by him, left the house and walked briskly to the Woodbridge House, the headquarters of the class of 1885. Here he met, greeted, and shook hands with 41 members of the class in exactly two minutes, and returned to Dr. Hopkin's residence with Mr. Garfield five minutes after he left.

At Memorial Chapel

He next emerged from the doorway within ten minutes, this time accompanied by Mrs. F. F. Thompson, Mrs. Hopkins and Mr. Garfield, with a secret service detective. The party went towards the Thompson Memorial Chapel and was followed by five policeman. The President walked fast, bowing and smiling to all he met, and halting now and then to shake hands. He remained inside the chapel for 15 minutes and then returned to the president's house.

Outside the Church

Immediately after the conclusion of the Comencement exercises, the audience left the church by the rear side doors and the commencement procession, including the faculty, the graduating class, and those who had received degrees, marched out of the East front door and lined up in front of the crowd, facing the church, waiting for the President's appearance. At 1:06 he passed through the door and stepped quickly to the platform erected in front of the church for that purpose, facing the people who had been waiting to hear him, in spite of the heavy rain, for two hours.

The President was briefly introduced by Winthrop Murray Crane, junior senator from Massachusetts. The chief executive was given an ovation, and, bare headed, with no overcoat to proteet him, spoke for a few minutes, opening:

"My friends and fellow citizens, men and women of Western Massachusetts, I need not say what a great pleasure it is to me to be here in your community. I am not a New Englander by birth, but I am happy to say I am by education, and I hope in spirit." Of the many hundred audiences which the President had met, in his recent journey throughout the country, he had always been greatly impressed with "the unity of this people." He had often felt keenly how the men who had once worn the blue and those who had also worn the gray, were now shoulder to shoulder. He held that "the average American was a pretty good fellow" and "in the future of this country the time is past when there is danger of conflict between localities. I want to see arise between them the same spirit as exists between man and man. Good luck!"

President Roosevelt left the platform and re-entered the church. A few minutes later he was driven to the station and had about five minutes to spare before his train was scheduled to leave, arriving at the station at 1:25. Lunch was served on the train.

INFORMAL RECEPTION

A Few Invited to Meet President Roosevelt

Last evening from 9:15 to 10:15 the members of the faculty and a few invited guests were given an opportunity to meet President Roosevelt at President Hopkins' residence. The reception was held in the parlors at the right of the main hall. President Roosevelt stood in the south (front) parlor, beside President Hopkins. Among the ladies receiving were Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Frederick Ferris Thompson, and Mrs. William H. Seward of Auburn, N. Y. In accordance with the President's wishes, the reception was entirely informal.

The guests were introduced to the President as they arrived by Dr. Frederick C. Ferry. The guests were also introduced to Hon. Joseph H. Choate, late ambassador to the Court of St. James; Hon. Elihu Root, whose services in connection with the Fayerweather will ease entitle him to the highest consideration of the college, and Morris K. Jesup, Esq., of New York city, donor of Jesup Hall.

Among the invited guests were the following members of the President's party, Mr. William Loeb, jr., secretary to the President, and P. M. Rixey, Esq., surgeon-general of the United States navy: The following members of the committee who assisted President Hopkins at the reception to the alumni and friends of the college Tuesday; Hon. Winthrop Murray Crane, of Dalton, junior United States senator from Mass., and governor of Massachusetts for three years; Hon. George P. Lawrence, ex-'80, of North Adams, United States representative from the first Massachusetts district, James R. Garfield '85, of Washington, D. C., commissioner of corporations in the department of commerce and labor, W. B. Plunkett, Esq., of Adams, and Walter F. Hawkins '84, of Pittsfield: The following members of the Board of Trustees: Rev. William Wisner Adams, D. D., '55, of Fall River, Rev. Charles Cuthbert Hall, D. D., LL. D., '72, of New York city, Francis Lynde Stetson, Esq., '67, of New York city, Hon. Albert Charles Houghton, of North Adams, Hamilton Wright Mabie, L. H. D., LL. D., '67, of New York city, Rev. Daniel Merriman, D. D., '63, of Worcester, Eugene Delano, Esq., '66, of New York city, William Henry Hollister, jr., Esq., '70, of Troy, Hon. Bentley Writ Warren, '85, of Boston, Rev. Harry Pinneo Dewey, D. D., '84, of Brooklyn, and President Henry Lefavour, Ph. D., LL. D., '83, of Boston; The faculty and officers of administration with their wives: General William H. Seward, of Auburn, N. Y., son of the late William H. Seward, secretary of state in Lincoln's first cabinet; the Right Reverend William Lawrence, Mr. Clark Williams '92, and Mrs. Williams, of New York city: Hon. Alfred C. Chapin '69, ex-mayor of Brooklyn. L. E. Clark, Esq., of Detroit: Mr. and Mrs. Zenas Crane, of Dalton.

GIFTS ANNOUNCED

By President Hopkins at Annual Alumni Dinner

The annual alumni dinner was held this afternoon immediately at the close of the Commencement exercises in Lasell gymnasium. The decorations used at the Senior Prom. Tuesday night were retained. Halla, of Troy, catered.

At a raised table in the center of the south side of the gymnasium, parallel to the length of the gymnasium were seated the speakers. The remainder of the gymnasium was filled with smaller tables, the classes sitting by tables.

Dr. Hopkins acted as toastmaster, introducing as speakers Hon. Joseph H. Choate, LL. D., Hon. Elihu Root, LL. D., Francis Lynde Stetson, Esq., '67, President Charles Cuthbert Hall. D.D., LL. D., '72, Rev. William Mercer Grosvenor, D. D '85, Rev. Edward Herrick Griffin, LL. D., '62, Rev. Daniel Merriman, D. D., '63, William Packer Prentiss, LL. D., Rev. Stephen Beasley Linnard Penrose, D. D., '85, and Hamilton Wright Mabie, LL. D., L. H. D., '67.

Dr. Hopkins announced the prizes for the year, which were not read at commencement exercises.

William Smith Pettit is the winner of the Dewey prize.

Dr. Hopkins announced several important benefactions of the year:

$2600 from anonymous donors for continuing various prizes.

Francis Lynde Stetson reimbursed the college for painting East and South Colleges and the Library,

The class of 1857 has added $75 to its class fund making a total of $500 in the fund.

The class of 1850 has added $100 to its class fund.

Mrs. Frederick Ferris Thompson will continue the Thompson entertainment course for the ensuing year.

Hon. Elihu Root, attorney in the Fayerweather will esse, announced that the college has received $5,000 more from the will, and there are prospects of from $10,000 to $15,000 in addition.

Eugene Delano, Esq., '66, and Francis Lynde Stetson, Esq., '67, have given the requisite for providing the college with a swimming pool, and enlarging the baseball cage.

Morris K. Jesup has given $1,000 for current expenses and $5,000 for repairs and general fund for Jesup Hall.

Francis Lynde Stetson has given $15,000 towards the purchase of the Mather place on Main street, and $10,000 towards deficiency in running expenses for the college year.

Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson '67, Wilhelmus Mynderse '71 and Frederick Beach Jennings '72 have each given $1,000 towards the art department.

A friend of the college whose name is withheld, has given $25,000, its use to be determined later.

For the new dormitory, Hon. Winthrop Murray Crane, of Dalton, Hon. Albert Charles Houghton, of North Adams, and a third benefactor whose name for the present is withheld, have contributed each $25,000. Interest on the first two of these gifts has now been drawing for three years. Thus the college, instead of having a single Berkshire dormitory, will have at the top of Consumption Hill, east of East college, a Berkshire Quadrangle, necessitating the extension and complete rebuilding of South College.

Hon. F. L. Stetson '67, has supplemented the gift of $5000 made several years ago for the increase of professors' salaries, by giving a fund the income of which will be $6,600 ia year, payable for the increase of the salaries.

This announcement was greeted with great applause. A long Williams cheer was given by the alumni and class cheers by each of the different classes assembled.

The committee to nominate candidates for alumni trustees announced the following candidates:

Wilhelmus Mynderse '71, Frederick B. Jennings '72, Charles S. Holt '74, Daforth Geer '79 and Bliss Perry '81.

PHI BETTA KAPPA

The annual meeting of the Williams chapter(Massachusetts Gamma) of Phi Beta Kappa was held in the auditorium of Jesup Hall this forenoon at 9:30. Judge William H. Swift '63 ofChicago, president of the society, presided. Several of the older Phi Beta Kappa alumni as well as the five 1905 men elected, in February and the five men elected at the meeting of the immediate members of the society Tuesday were present. The latter five were Max Forrester Eastman, Lindsay Stillwell Hadley, Albert Priest Newell, James Roe Stevenson and Avie Eldred. The retiring vice-president of the association is Prof. W. P. Bradley, Ph. D., '84.

William H. Hollister, jr., '70, made a report as delegate of the national council of Phi Beta Kappa which was held at Saratoga last September.

The following officers were elected: President, Rev. Dr. S. W. Dana '61; vice-president, C. B. Roote '76; secretary, Rev. Dr. E. B. Parsons '59; treasurer, Prof. H. D. Wild '88. The last two were re-elections. Executive committee, Prof. F. C. Ferry '91, H. D Matz '85, G. C. Leonard '87. About forty members were present.

The officers newly elected were appointed a committee on a banquet or celebration to be held each year after the annual meeting.

THE FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Some Difficulties—About Thirty Candidates

As in the past two years the football season has been inaugurated under conditions somewhat discouraging, but with prospects of soon bettering. The loss by graduation of four strong men of last year's team, Watson, Murray, Eldred and Stocking, leaves four difficult positions to be filled, while two more men who are badly needed may be kept from the game, one by faculty and one by parental objection. Another feature calculated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quarters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice started and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Williams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to temporary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice started and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Williams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to temporary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

Williams College

WILLIAMS COLLEGE has made marked progress during the three years of President Hopkins' administration. To train its undergraduate members, morally and intellectually, to become citizens and men, in the highest sense of the words, is the purpose of the college. As it has more closely approached its goal, the influence of Williams towards good in the world has been steadily increasing.

The last few years have seen large additions to the equipment. West College and Morgan Hall have been rebuilt and improved, South and East Colleges have been made more habitable, Griffin Hall has been converted into a beautiful and serviceable building through the generosity of Mr. Francis Lynde Stetson '67, a central heating plant has been installed, and lastly, a magnificent chapel has been given to the college by Mrs. F. F. Thompson, to be the centre of Williams' religious thought and worship. Both in the class-room and in entrance examinations the aim has been to maintain a high standard of scholarship. Everything seems to point to continued prosperity for Williams.

The visit of President Roosevelt is an event in the history of the college. In taking a firm stand against hazing and in abolishing all agreements of mutual support in college elections, the students have this year decided questions of great importance to their welfare. It is most fitting that an opportunity is given them to greet the President, who has recently expressed himself so strongly in favor of fairness for every man.

Some Difficulties—About Thirty Candidates

As in the past two years the football season has been inaugurated under conditions somewhat discouraging, but with prospects of soon bettering. The loss by graduation of four strong men of last year's team, Watson, Murray, Eldred and Stocking, leaves four difficult positions to be filled, while two more men who are badly needed may be kept from the game, one by faculty and one by parental objection. Another feature calculated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quarters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

CUTTING CORNER NORTH ADAMS

Frederick Ferris Thompson

FREDERICK FERRIS THOMPSON, son of John Thompson a banker, was born in New York City, June 14, 1836. The earlier years of his life, before he began to prepare for college, were passed in his native city. At about the age of fourteen the son, with characteristic independence and courage, resolved to gain for himself the means of obtaining a preliminary education, and, entering the academy at Peacham, Vt., secured a situation which paid his board and tuition. Prevented by the age limit from entering Dartmouth, he went to Columbia. In 1852 he came to Williams, and was one of the founders of the Williams chapter of a fraternity of which he was a member at Columbia. He joined the class of 1856, the class of the late President James A. Garfield. In 1854 he went abroad on an important business mission for his father, and upon returning decided with regret to give up his college course in order to accept business opportunities. As a banker Mr. Thompson at once became successful. In 1857 he married the daughter of Governor Clark of New York. In 1883 he was restored to the ranks of his class, and at the same time received from Williams the honorary degree of M. A. In 1886 he was elected to the Board of Trustees. His death occurred at New York, April 10, 1899.

Mr. Thompson was a discriminating but generous giver. Only the object that was worthy in his eyes and appealed to his sympathy, obtained his support. Other institutions than Williams were aided by him and his private benefactions were many. His feeling toward Williams can be best expressed in his own words, from a letter written to a classmate: "I made some money in my banking business and promptly gave it away to the college to which I owed the best years of my life." Between 1886 and the year of his death, Mr. Thompson's gifts to Williams averaged $20,000 a year. His first gift was the tower clock of the gymnasium. In 1887 he purchased the Talmadge farm and presented it to the college. The following year came a subscription of one-quarter of the total cost of Hopkins Hall. In 1891, at a cost of $175,000, were erected the three Thompson laboratories. The more important of his other gifts to the college were in the form of frequent subscriptions to the president's fund and the fund for general expenses.

It is impossible for us to do justice to the character of Frederick Ferris Thompson. He possessed the qualities which constitute nobleness. The greatest of these is the desire to share with others that which is one's own. In accomplishing this he exhibited an extreme modesty, one of the most admirable and striking traits of his character. In whatever way it was manifested, Mr. Thompson's attitude towards the students of Williams was essentially personal. He once wrote: "I constantly try to impress the present student body with a due sense of doing what is right." His love for Williams was deep-rooted. Ten years ago, when the question of abolishing compulsory attendance at chapel was being agitated, Mr. Thompson wrote the following letter to President Carter:

June 17, 1895

"Dear Dr. Carter:

"I am very sorry to have to ask to be excused from attendance at the meeting of the Board on June 24. Please present my apologies to the members present. You ask my opinion about the compulsory or optional attendance at religious exercises of the college. If the pride and principles of the students were such as to insure their attendance at such times, I would not make it compulsory, but as the whole basis of Williams College has always been its Christian training and its atmosphere of New England religion, I would be decidedly averse to changing that tone.

"In a great populous university like Harvard or Yale, there are so many students that there are always some and enough anxious to go to chapel, without materially altering the tone of the student body, but at a small college like ours, the absence of half or three-quarters of the students, and the possible consequent amount of riding, ball playing and junketing on Sundays, would change the whole reputation of the college, andwe might as well shut up our chapel and join the Nineteenth Century Club.

"A small college like Williams is too much like a family gathering, to be compared with a large university in a great populous city.

"Our village life, and ways, are charms of Williamstown, and I, personally, would be grieved to see a change, which I believe would be for the worse.

"Yours very truly,

"F. F. THOMPSON."

THE FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Some Difficulties—About Thirty Candidates

As in the past two years the football season has been inaugurated under conditions somewhat discouraging, but with prospects of soon bettering. The loss by graduation of four strong men of last year's team, Watson, Murray, Eldred and Stocking, leaves four difficult positions to be filled, while two more men who are badly needed may be kept from the game, one by faculty and one by parental objection. Another feature calculated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quarters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnaeium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fiftesn men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice started and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Williams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to temporary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

Literary Interests

IN "The Record," the past year has marked a notable advance in Williams literary interests. Beyond a mere increase in the quantity of reading matter, the change from a weekly to a semi-weekly has given the college paper its first value as a newspaper. Nor has the change in form been more valuable than the change in substance; during the year a progressive spirit has been apparent in articles and editorials. The entire credit for the successful innovation is due to the editor, A. P. Newell. Fortunately the undergraduates have appreciated the advance; unusual interest has been shown in communications, and a larger number of candidates than ever before has worked for positions on the board.

"The Literary Monthly's" year has not been equally successful. Although the chairman was unexceptionable, he was not able to redeem a mediocre board and poor contributions. However, one qualified attainment should be noted; a more satisfactory relation between the board and the manager has been insured for the future, whereby the magazine may appear in better paper, size, etc. It is greatly to be regretted that so little interest has been taken by contributors. That the Lit. has maintained its standard during the year has been due to the unaided efforts of the chairman.

"The Gul.," if it appears on time, will have adhered to the tradition of former years. Its features of special interest are the two alumni contributions which possess literary as well as local value.

"The Class Book" shows the effect of careful attention to detail. It is neat, well edited and well printed.

The Y. M. C. A. Handbook is, as usual, good.

On the part of the faculty there are signs, still somewhat tentative, of increasing interests in rhetorical and theme work; work which should be (what it is far from being at present) the foundation of college literary activity. If Williams men are unable to use correct English, the fault rests with the curriculum. It is only fair to note, however, on the part of student interest, that only one essay was submitted in the competition for the Lathers gold medal.

Finally, comparing Williams with Smith, which stands high in literary work, we find that Williams, far the smaller in numbers, supports two moderately successful periodicals and two year books, while Smith publishes one excellent magazine.

Combination being the spirit of the age, we may prophesy a brighter future for the literary activities of Williams.

Religious Interests

THE religious interests of Williams College need vitally the active sympathy of the faculty. The religious culture of the college, the awakening and cultivating of students' religious life, is now left largely in the hands of the Y. M. C. A. From the faculty side there are only two influences at all designed directly to affect the religious spirit of the undergraduates; in the first place there is compulsory chapel, in the second place we have the philosophy courses, the Theism course, and the lectures on the Old Testament. The value of these is not to be disparaged; many a man's heart surely has been uplifted in the chapel worship and many of us have felt the inspiration of the courses I have mentioned. But after all these efforts are insufficient. Human nature, we may well assume, is of the same fibre which made it fifty years ago, and religious interest will never greatly deepen here without the animating co-operation of the faculty.

During the past year the operations of the Y. M. C. A. have been carried on as usual and with considerable success. The mechanism has worked smoothly, men have been interested and doubtless guided in religious growth. But it still needs the regenerating power of some man who has the desire to help men, and the ability and the time to give to it. The student president is too busy to be able to give it the time it demands. To meet this necessity and to bring the influence of an older mind into the students' religious organization, it is purposed to have here next year a graduate Y. M. C. A. secretary, who can devote his whole attention to the work. Such a step may well prove the means of opening to many religious power and appreciation which are now sluggish, and of extending our religious culture.

CUTTING CORNER NORTH ADAMS

Debating

MEASURED by progress, the debating season of 1904-1905 has been successful. In the long run it makes little difference whether or not we win, so long as we keep advancing, and that this year has seen a betterment of our debating conditions is undoubted. In the first place, society meetings have been held more regularly. We can never hope to have the whole college in the society rooms on Wednesday evenings; it is, however, safe to say that the earnest devotion of a few loyal spirits is a more desirable thing. That the number of these spirits should increase is what we want. There seems to be indication that it will do so in the near future.

The feature of the year most worthy of praise is the inter-class debate. While in it was apparent the lack of that training which the course in argumentation, open only to upper-classmen, affords; yet it pointed out plainly that we have in college some clear thinkers, capable of sustaining the burden which will soon be theirs. It should be a source of satisfaction that under-class rivalry has been shown in this important branch as well as in athletics. It is to be hoped that the class of 1908 will strengthen the precedent into a custom.

The contest with Wesleyan in the fall presented certain difficulties. Williams had just lost a strong man in H. G. Brown 1904; and had the affirmative of a question against which the whole country recently decided. Yet no one who heard the debate thought that the Purple had not made a most creditable showing.

In the Dartmouth debate the verdict was against us, though it seemed as if our strongest arguments had not been met. After the debate, the Dartmouth manager broached the subject of a tricollegiate debating league, the details of which have since been made public. The invitation extended by Dartmouth and Brown was accepted; the experiment is to be made next year. The league should prove successful; however, its success, for us, is in the hands of Williams undergraduates. It certainly is a stimulus to forensic training, a thing which seemed to be lacking under old conditions.

THE FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Some Difficulties—About Thirty Candidates

As in the past two years the foot- ball season has been inaugurated under conditions somewhat dis- couraging, but with prospects of soon bettering. The loss by grad- uation of four strong men of last year's team, Watson, Murray, Eldred and Stocking, leaves four difficult positions to be filled, while two more men who are badly needed may be kept from the game, one by faculty and one by parental objection. Another feature cal- culated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quar- ters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South Col- lege, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from don- ning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice start- ed and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Wil- liams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to tem- porary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

Football

GREAT credit is due the team that represented Williams in football during the past season for its excellent spirit and showing against great odds. Having lost eleven "W" men and starting the season with four 'varsity men, too much praise cannot be said of its efforts. With a coach and captain of ability to direct them, every man worked hard and trained consistently throughout the long season. Whatever Williams accomplished was through a fast and aggressive method of play with a team averaging one hundred and seventy pounds. This weight appeared a serious disadvantage, as no team was met except Wesleyan which did not outweigh Williams by a considerable margin.

In the first game Williams lost to Harvard by four touchdowns, and three days later lost to Massachusetts Agricultural College by two touchdowns in the most poorly contested game of the year. The following Saturday Williams met Columbia and although defeated by sheer weight, the eleven played a fast plucky game.

A week later Williams met Dartmouth at Newton Centre, and although succumbing by a score of 11 to 0, did all and more than the most sanguine could expect in an uphill fight which abounded in brilliant plays. A week later Williams met Hamilton at Albany, and, excelling in long sensational end runs and good line-bucking, scored twenty-three points to Hamilton's none. The following Saturday, October 29, came the West Point game, resulting in a victory for West Point by three touchdowns in a stubbornly fought contest. On November 5th Williams played Colgate on home grounds and in the most exciting game of the year lost 6-0. The following Saturday Williams rolled up the greatest score of the season and the largest ever made on Weston Field, defeating the University of Vermont by a score of 73 to 11.

On the next Wednesday the team went to Amherst with a following of an even four hundred and were defeated by a score of 22 to 6. Considering the weight of the opposing team the outcome was all that could be expected. Three days later Williams met Wesleyan in the annual contest. The outcome was all that could be desired, Williams defeating Wesleyan 23 to 0.

CUTTING CORNER NORTH ADAMS

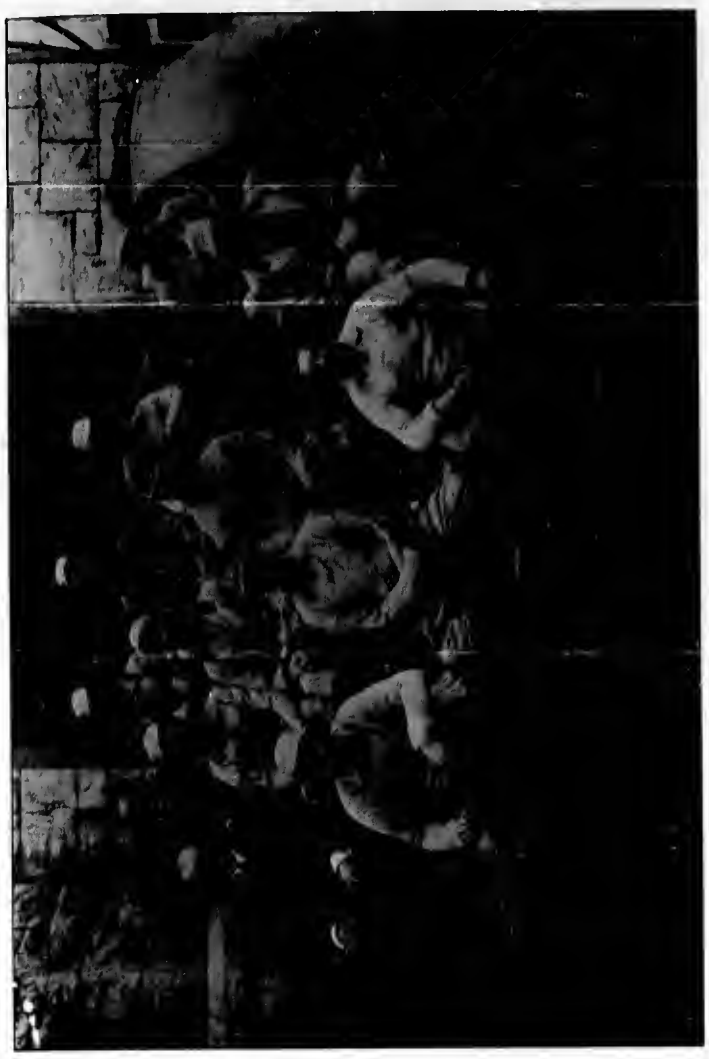
Mention should be made of the excellent work done by Coach Ely and Captain Watson. The latter showed as a captain that same indomitable spirit which has characterized him throughout his course, both in football and baseball.

Enough cannot be said in praise of the spirit showed by the undergraduates who loyally supported the team, both morally and financially.

With the added experience which the new men have acquired and assurance of having Coach Ely another season, a team should be produced at Williams which will rival the best in the past.



ARTHUR WARD LINCOLN

Baseball

LAST season's baseball schedule was closed under most auspicious circumstances. The 'varsity of 1904 won ten straight victories; among them were both Amherst games, as many from Wesleyan, and one each from Brown, Holy Cross, and Trinity. Only two members of this nine were not back in college this fall, Durfee having graduated and Holmes having left college.

The 1904 schedule had brought the nine against some of the strongest teams of the section, but unfavorable weather prevented games at Providence, New Haven, and Princeton. The team was also hampered in its development by a late spring and the inferior cage at college.

This year a new plan was tried—a southern trip, for the purpose of taking the team where it might have plenty of outdoor work and thus get into condition for the regular season. Two weeks before the squad left, Dowd, the former Boston American player, took the men in hand. Union was easily defeated on the 15th of April and on the 17th the team left for Philadelphia. Pennsylvania and Harvard won in extra innings and Villanova took the game at Atlantic City by a score of 9 to 8. Another eleven inning game, with George Washington University, was called off on account of darkness, with the score 7 to 7, Georgetown won 8 to 5 and Dickinson at Carlisle was lost 8 to 2 on a wet field. The last two games were victories, Lawrenceville 7 to 6 and Brown at Providence 5 to 2.

CUTTING CORNER NORTH ADAMS

As a result of the trip the team was in a far better condition than preceding teams at the same period of the year. Unfortunately, for the chances of the Purple were good, the Columbia game was cancelled on account of rain.

Since the southern trip the nine has defeated Dartmouth and Wesleyan, but lost to Amherst. The average of victories and defeats in the other games is about even. The team has been unsteady at times, but has been handicapped in having only one available pitcher. Again rain interfered with the Yale game, scheduled this year at Williamstown.

An attempt has been made to maintain a second diamond on the old campus and to play a 'varsity second team. The schedule for this team is far from an adequate one, but it is hoped that it may be a beginning for a wider development of baseball in the college.

HERBERT BARBER HOWE

Track

IN ATTEMPTING to review the work of the track team for the past season we must admit that it was handicapped seriously. With 1904, graduated some strong track men whose places it was impossible to fill. The team was also extremely unfortunate in the matter of injuries. Furthermore, the freshman class furnished little material with which to build up a new team.

The relay team, weakened by the absence of Griswold, lost to Dartmouth at the B. A. A. games in February, but the New Hampshire college had to make the fastest time of the evening to win by a scant three yards.

The next week the team took part in the Central Y. M. C. A. meet in Troy and won the cup for the greatest number of points secured by any organization. At the same meet it won another cup in the relay race, which was defaulted by Yale.

When outdoor training began, a squad of sixty-five men reported. In the meet which came on May 13th Dartmouth was the winner by a score of 77 to 49 and on the following Saturday at Worcester the best that Williams could get was a tie for fourth place with M. I. T.

Defeat has come oftener than victory, but it cannot happen again that the team will be so handicapped as it has been this

Morgan Hall

The alterations in Morgan Hall have now been completed at a total expense of $32,000, over 60 per cent of the original cost of the building, the only work left being the finishing of the lower corridor. The alterations are precisely as described in these columns on April 6, and are characterized by complete rearrangement of the partitions, thorough protection

THE FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Some Difficulties—About Thirty Candidates

As in the past two years the football season has been inaugurated under conditions somewhat discouraging, but with prospects of soon bettering. The loss by graduation of four strong men of last year's team, Watson, Murray, Eldred and Stocking, leaves four difficult positions to be filled, while two more men who are badly needed may be kept from the game, one by faculty and one by parental objection. Another feature calculated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quarters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice started and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Williams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to temporary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

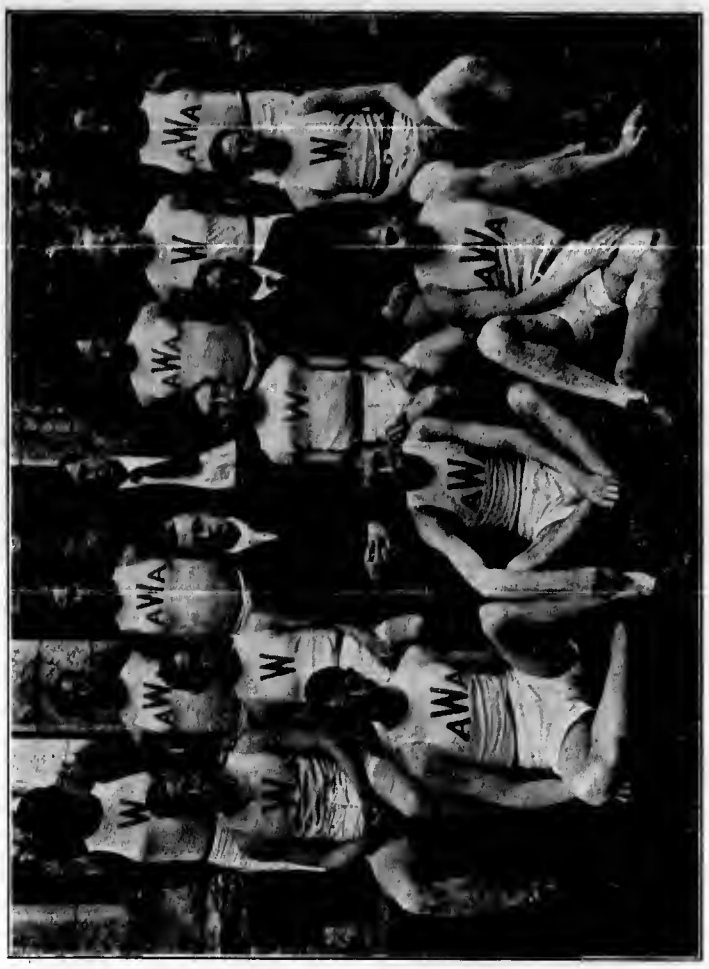
Basketball

TO THE basketball team that so successfully represented Williams last season great credit and praise must be given. The team not only equalled its former record in New England by again capturing the championship, but went still farther and won also the national collegiate championship as far as that was possible to be won. Such honors as these, giving to the team and to the college national reputation, have rarely been held by athletes representing so small an institution as Williams.



Christening the season by defeating the Cushing Academy team by the record score of the floor, the team at once began to play fast ball and in the succeeding ten days made sure of the tri-collegiate championship by winning from Dartmouth twice, and also administering a defeat to the fast Yale five.

In the month of January the team, seriously handicapped by the loss of Capt. Wadsworth, dropped a game to Brown. Fortunately this was more than repaid before the season closed. It was at this stage of the season that a very satisfactory trip was made to Ithaca and Rochester, where, in two very successful contests the team's reputation was sustained in New York state.

In February the team, at its best, defeated Amherst, Colgate and Syracuse in turn, and then accomplished the star feat of the season, by giving to the University of Minnesota five (western champions) the worst defeat they ever sustained. This performance at once made Williams' position pre-eminent in collegiate basketball.

After defeating the Brown team later in the season, the second and last defeat was met at Hanover, but this, of course, could not affect the team's standing.

To achieve victory in twenty out of twenty-two games against the best teams of the country is certainly a good record; and this was only made possible by the constant hard work of the men led by Capt. Wadsworth and by the unflagging work

Dramatics

THE season of 1904-5 began with a membership of only thirteen, eleven having graduated with 1904. Of this number only four had been cast in previous years. Of the sixty men who tried for the club last fall, nine were chosen, bringing the total membership to twenty-two.

The officers of "Cap and Bells" for the past year were: President, H. L. Everitt 1905; business manager, J. S. Shedden 1905; stage manager, G. B. Davenport 1905; assistant business manager, C. Hills 1906; assistant stage manager, S. C. Wooster, Jr., 1906; executive committee, H. L. Everitt, R. F. Day, B. R. Wellington, J. S. Shedden.

The play chosen for presentation this year was "Capt. Racket," a comedy in three acts by Charles Townsend.

The cast of characters was as follows:

CAPT. ROBERT RACKET—of the National Guards. A lawyer when he has nothing else to do and a liar all the time.....Robert F. Day
OBADIAH DAWSON—His uncle from Japan, "where they make tea".....A. M. Botsford
TIMOTHY TOLMAN—His friend who married for money, and is sorry for it.....George E. Hite
MR. DOLROY—His father-in-law, a jolly cove....B. R. Wellington
HOBSON—A waiter from the "Cafe Gloriana," who adds to the confusion.....Bert F. Parsons
CLARICE—The Captain's pretty wife, out for a lark, and up to "anything awful".....Raoul Fleischmann
MRS. TOLMAN—A lady with a pretty temper, who finds her Timothy a vexation of spirit.....Clinton Combes
KATY—A mischievous maid.....Francis R. Bellamy
TOOTSY—The "kid," Tim's olive branch

This is the third season that the club has been under the direction of W. P. Macfarlane, Professor of Elocution, Adelphi College, Brooklyn, N. Y. He has been a most efficient coach. This year a new policy was adopted whereby Mr. Macfarlane remained in Williamstown an entire week giving each man on

Musical Clubs

THE season of 1904-1905 has been an especially successful one for the musical clubs. At the beginning of the year a constitution and by-laws were drawn up by the association, thus making the clubs for the first time, a definite organization. Mrs. Charles F. Seeley again consented to act as coach for the glee club and whatever success has been gained is due in large measure to her untiring efforts. Although the club felt keenly the loss of J. B. Lord 1905 as soloist, S. R. Pevear 1907 has ably taken his place, and his consistent work has been one of the best features of the concerts.

The mandolin club, under the leadership of C. A. Marvin 1905, has kept up to the high standard which it attained last year. The banjo quartette has been a pleasing feature of every concert and it is hoped that next year the club may be enlarged. C. H. Fulton 1905, with his witty monologues, has also been a great addition to the concerts.

The work of the clubs was begun early, and three of the twelve concerts were given before the holidays. The most important concerts of the year were held, one in Brooklyn and the other in New York, during the Christmas vacation. None who were present will forget the rendering of "The Mountains" at the New York concert, by over one hundred alumni together with the combined clubs. The joint concert with Amherst, given at Northampton, was one of the best of the year and Another feature calculated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quarters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice started and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Williams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to temporary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

doubtless did much to bring the colleges into a closer and more friendly relation. The quartette has attended several meetings of Williams Alumni Associations and everywhere has been received with great enthusiasm.

From a financial standpoint the season has been successful. The clubs are better than ever before, and next year with the successes of two years behind them, should surely take the long-talked-of western trip, which would be welcomed gladly by the alumni and would do much to extend the name of Williams College throughout the west.

MORTON D. GRISWOLD.

Tennis

WITH both Northrop and Smith in college again this year, the tennis team could not fail to have a most satisfactory season. Williams has had little trouble in winning most of the matches played. In the doubles at the New England intercollegiate tournament the two Williams players worked their way to the finals, and won the event by easily defeating the Tufts representatives. A week before, in the tri-collegiate tournament at Williamstown, with Wesleyan and Dartmouth, the Purple was victorious with the loss of only a single match.

Two other contests were held. The first, with the Springfield Country club, was interrupted by rain when only three of the six matches had been decided. Williams was represented by Mellen '05, Northrop '05, Smith '06 and Westcott '08. The second tournament was a dual match with Amherst. Weed '05 and Marcus '08 represented Amherst. In the singles Westcott won from Marcus and Northrop beat Weed. In the doubles, Northrop and Smith beat Weed and Marcus in straight sets.

The tennis association has never been so prosperous as this year, for there are two courts which are open to the members of the association, so that the management has something substantial to offer to induce men to join the organization. The spring handicap tournament had 64 entries—showing conclusively that the game has a firm hold upon the students.

CUTTING CORNER NORTH ADAMS

Golf

LAST fall forty-five men signed for the annual fall scratch golf tournament, a fact which in itself proves that this department of sport is upon as firm a footing as any of the minor athletic associations in college. The team chosen from the results of this tournament has shown remarkable strength, even against such a team as Harvard. At the New England intercollegiate matches M. I. T. succeeded in finishing two points ahead in the first day's play, but since then Williams has administered two severe defeats to exactly the same team.

With the exception of these two defeats, Harvard and M. I. T., the team has won every other match played, among them Brown and Dartmouth, by large scores. This spring a handicap tournament and a schedule of five matches has been arranged. Although several of the contests have been with country club teams the percentage of colleges upon the schedule has grown perceptibly over that of last year.

Golf is still young at Williams, but everything seems to point to its growth and permanence. The team does not lose a man by graduation this spring and the outlook for next year is exceedingly bright. If a larger association could be formed and only a little more enthusiasm shown, Williams might have a team which would be equal to that of any eastern college.

JOHN BRIGHT LORD

Hockey

THE past hockey season has shown clearly that more men are becoming interested in this branch of college sport every year. Hockey is a game which offers out-of-door exercise to a large number of men, and with proper facilities the game could be played from two to three months in the Williamstown climate. The hockey association has had serious difficulties to meet hitherto in building a rink. No water was available from the town company last winter until after the Christmas vacation, and the method of pumping from the bleachery pond under high pressure, through about eight hundred feet of hose, proved

THE FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Some Difficulties—About Thirty Candidates

As in the past two years the football season has been inaugurated under conditions somewhat discouraging, but with prospects of soon bettering. The loss by graduation of four strong men of last year's team, Watson, Murray, Eldred and Stocking, leaves four difficult positions to be filled, while two more men who are badly needed may be kept from the game, one by faculty and one by parental objection. Another feature calculated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quarters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice started and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Williams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to temporary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

useless, when it was found that a land-tile drain caused a leakage in the rink. Another fall the town water supply will probably be available, and after the leakage has been repaired, it will be an easy matter to build up an ice bottom from frequent spraying of the rink surface with low pressure water. With a good rink on Weston Field, it is hopsd more men will support hockey, and that the game will assume a more prominent place in our athletics.

The athletic council has recognized the work of the hockey team by granting its members an insignia. Eight matches were played last winter and none lost. No colleges were included on the schedule, yet several strong teams were defeated, notably the fast Albany Collegiates, who twice succumbed to the Williams players.

THE FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Some Difficulties—About Thirty Candidates

As in the past two years the football season has been inaugurated under conditions somewhat discouraging, but with prospects of soon bettering. The loss by graduation of four strong men of last year's team, Watson, Murray, Eldred and Stocking, leaves four difficult positions to be filled, while two more men who are badly needed may be kept from the game, one by faculty and one by parental objection. Another feature calculated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quarters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice started and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Williams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to temporary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

WILLIAMS WINS 26-0

Williston Outplayed—New Material Shows up Well.

Williams defeated the Williston eleven on Weston Field Saturday, by a score of 26—0. Williams' line showed up exceptionally well and the offensive work was good.

Williston kicked off and Bixby gained 15 yards. After a succession of rushes, D. Brown carried the ball over for the first score. A repetition of nearly the same tactics again pushed him over for the second, and third touchdowns. Bates failed at the attempts at goal. Again A. M. Brown carried the ball up the field, and D. Brown made the fourth touchdown. Waters kicked goal.

In the second half, Williams scored early in the game and played a punting game until the whistle sounded. D. Brown, Elder and Eldridge were among the best ground-gainers and the new men showed up well. Williams did not lose the ball on downs throughout the game nor did Williston make her distance once.

ANOTHER FRATERNITY

Phi Organizes With Fifteen Men—List of Members

Williams has a new fraternity this fall, known as the Phi. The fraternity has fifteen undergraduate members, besides a number of alumni, six of whom are from the class of 1905. They have leased the Botsford house on North street and informally opened their new home Wednesday evening. The Phi is local, having as one of its objects the extension of social life at Williams. The house has been newly furnished, and rooms eleven men. New members will be chosen early in the fall of each year.

At present the society includes the following:

1906—Gale, Little, Lowe, Wilbur.

1907—A. M. Brown, Case, Blagbrough, Stocking, Osborne, McCleary.

1908—Nelson, Rand, Scofield, B. P. Allen, Eldridge.

Death of Yurkee 1908

Herbert Paul Yurkee, a member of the class of 1908, was instantly killed August 7, while working in a mill of the Renfrew manufacturing company in Adams. BUILDING OPERATIONS

Extensive Improvements Made to College Property

During the summer just past Williamstown has seen an improvement in college property unequalled by that of any previous summer. The reconstruction of Morgan, begun in the spring, has been brought to completion; work on the new swimming pool, presented to the college by Eugene Delano, Esq., '66, and Francis Lynde Stetson, Esq. '67, has been begun, and work on the baseball cage included in this gift will be started by October. The old chapel will be used for recitation purposes, and it is expected the reconstruction which has been going on all summer will be finished before snow flies. The increase above the original plan of six feet in the width of the swimming pool has made necessary a complete change in the gymnasium basement. The college property has also received its usual vacation repairs. The infirmary has been improved both inside and out, six of the college buildings have been repointed, the Sewall house has been moved to College place, and the houses purchased ast spring on the north side of Main street have been in many cases made over.

Much care has been used during the summer in securing the best possible plans for Berkshire Hall, the new dormitory for scholarship men. The dormitory will be parallel to South College, east of the old observatory, at the same distance from the observatory as South College. Its north end will be on the same level as South College and its south end, on the brow of the hill, will correspond with the end of South College when the South College extension is built, as at present planned. The general plan of the Hall will be the same as announced in The Record May 18, but the minor details will not be settled for a week or two. The contracts will be let soon and work will begin on the foundations immediately after.

Morgan Hall

The alterations in Morgan Hall have now been completed at a total expense of $32,000, over 60 per cent of the original cost of the building, the only work left being the finishing of the lower corridor. The alterations are precisely as described in these columns on April 6, and are characterized by complete rearrangement of the partitions, thorough protection

THE FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Some Difficulties—About Thirty Candidates

As in the past two years the football season has been inaugurated under conditions somewhat discouraging, but with prospects of soon bettering. The loss by graduation of four strong men of last year's team, Watson, Murray, Eldred and Stocking, leaves four difficult positions to be filled, while two more men who are badly needed may be kept from the game, one by faculty and one by parental objection. Another feature calculated to discourage a coach is the lack of suitable training quarters. The reconstruction work under way in the gymnasium has made it necessary to use the baths and cramped space in South College, limiting the rubbing list to fifteen men.

Last week's squad numbered about thirty. The examinations have kept several men from donning their suits and a few more have not been in shape to begin early practice, so that with the opening of this week it is expected to have a working squad of forty candidates.

On the other hand, the season opens with the introduction of a method of coaching by a graduate coach. Hatch '03, with Morris Ely of Yale, is in charge of the men and has brought with him a spirit of vim which is most encouraging.

Hatch has been here ten days getting preliminary practice started and has been aided for the past few days by two more alumni, Potter '01 and Gutterson '04. Mr. Ely arrived today for a week with the team and will spend in all four weeks in coaching, two of them in October, and one before either the Wesleyan or Amherst game. It is hoped and believed that with the establishing of a graduate system of coaching more of the old Williams players will return to assist the regular coach. Phil Draper has already volunteered to help in this way and will be here in October to work with the team.

The freshman class contains some very good material and there are at least four men who bid fair to clinch regular positions, if their work on the field continues good. Marshall has been unable to get into the scrimmages owing to temporary injuries to his legs and Waters is somewhat handicapped by a broken finger received in baseball. Both men should be in shape before the important games are played.

VOL. 19 SEPTEMBER 25, 1905, No. 25

To the Class of 1909

On behalf of the undergraduates, The Record extends a welcome to you and asks you to step in and take a share in the pleasures, responsibilities and work of student life at Williams. It is with more than a natural curiosity that the question is asked this year, "What stuff is the freshman class made of?" The reply for the class of 1909 will be made at the close of your senior year. It will depend upon just one thing: whether or not you have put your shoulder to the wheel for the best good of Williams—in athletics, the superiority of our teams through clean sport and fair play to our opponents, and in other branches purposeful organization, that sets out to accomplish something for the college, and does it.

The four years you will have spent at Williams will be, perhaps, the happiest of your lives. It rests with yourselves whether or not they will be anything more. When Elihu Root left Hamilton to become a lawyer in New York city he refused to be helped by influence, because he "wanted to find out whether he was a man or a worm." The freshman can well bear these words in mind, for he, too, is placed in a position where reliance on himself will bring out the best that is in him. Believing this, if any of you of the class of 1909 are looking for preferment here at Williams, demand your full share in the life of the college and the college honors will take care of themselves.

Yet a word of caution seems necessary. If failures have occurred through disregard of the maxim, "Do it now," and too careful adherence to the shiftless laborer's plan, "not to work any harder than the next man," we believe that in many cases the same result can be accounted for in the attempt to carry too heavy a load. In your relation to undergraduate activities be guided by natural inclination, and above all, decide for yourselves. Don't be led into a schedule of work that cannot be systematized and which will make your existence here a burden rather than a pleasure. Finally, and most important, in giving to your chosen fields of work part of your time and thought, be just to the curriculum. To accept the best and make the most of the courses offered to you is your vocation as a student of the college.

Herbert Paul Yurkee

Again death has come into the ranks of the college and with terrible swiftness taken away one who had much to live for in college and home Herbert Paul Yurkee, of the sophomore class, killed in a mill accident at Adams during the summer, was little known in college, but in the class of 1908 his friends were many and they will remember him as a man whose good will they valued highly. Determined and persevering, a student and a worker, sincere and honorable, Williams could ill afford to lose him.

Rules Concerning Injury To College Buildings

In every case of injury to a room (including damage to the doors or windows) thereof in a college dormitory, if the actual transgressors are not known to the Treasurer of the Corporation, the occupant or occupants of the room must pay to the Treasurer the cost of repairing such damage as ascertained by the Treasurer.

In case of any damage to a hall, entry or other part of a college dormitory other than injury to a room therein, as above defined, when the actual transgressors are not known to the Treasurer of the Corporation the occupant or occupants of the dormitory must pay to the Treasurer the cost of repairing such damage as ascertained by the Treasurer.

Any student occupying a room in a college dormitory may be ordered by the Treasurer to vacate the same at any time if, in the opinion of the President or Faculty, such student's conduct is such as to impair the good order and discipline of the college; and the amount of compensation paid or agreed to be paid by such student to the Corporation for the room ordered vacated shall thereupon be forfeited to the college.

Treasurer.

A New Business

A business concern, known as The Williams Co-operative Society, has opened a store in the Adams Block, Spring street.

The store is a branch of The American College Stores Corporation, which advanced the money for fixtures and acts as purchasing agent.

Richard S. Burnap 1906 is acting superintendent and is assisted in the store by Cowell, White and Wilbur 1906, Hart 1907 and Walker 1908.

President Hopkins has stated that the concern is not connected with the college.

Dr. Arthur Latham Perry

Dr. Arthur Latham Perry, one of the foremost authorities of his time on the subject of political economy, and one of the best known of Williams alumni, died at his home in Grace Court on July 9. He was for thirty-nine years a member of the Williams faculty, and was famous throughout the land for his zealous championship of free trade and his clear, logical writings on the science of political economy.

Prof. Perry wss born in Lyme, N. H., February 27, 1830; he prepared for college at Thetford academy, Vermont, and graduated from Williams in the class of 1852. He was called to a tutorship a year after his graduation, and remained on the Williams faculty until his retirement in 1891. After being a tutor for a year he was chosen professor of history and political economy, and to these lines of work he devoted his life. Dr. Perry was the author of several works on political economy, some of them passing through many editions. In 1894 he published "Origins in Williamstown," and a few years later "Williamstown and Williams College." After his retirement from active work Dr. Perry lived at his home in Williamstown. His last publication, "Miscellanies," appeared in 1902 and was dedicated to the members of his class at its semi-centennial reunion.

Tennis Prospects

With two men of last year's tennis team, Smith 1906 and Westcott 1908 still in college, and with added material from the entering class, there is every prospect for a strong team and a successful season.

The championship in singles, open to the college, will begin in about a week. On Monday, October 2, two players will be sent to Philadelphia to represent Williams, in singles and doubles, in the national intercollegiate tournament at the Merion cricket club.

The college courts will be put into shape as soon as possible and are open to members of the tennis association.

Y. M. C. A. General Secretary

Mr. William S. Pettit 1905, has returned to town this year to act as general secretary of the college Y. M. C. A. Mr. Pettit was appointed by an alumni committee, of which Mr. D. Chauncey Brewer, '87, is chairman. The new secretary's purpose will be to arouse a better interest in the college association work.

It is planned to reorganize the associnion Bible study, making a number of classes of about a dozen men each, instead of the class Bible study arrangement which has existed heretofore. In connection with the association work there will be a course of lectures, to begin early in the winter, upon religious topics and subjects of general interest to college men.

The salary of the secretary will be paid by alumni who are at the head of the movement.

COLLEGE NOTES

The following members of the faculty will serve as class officers during the year: 1906—Prof. Rice; 1907—Prof. Spring; 1908—Prof. Goodrich; 1909—Prof. Hewitt.

At the freshman class meeting Thursday evening, C. F. Brown of Montclair, N. J., was elected temporary president to serve for two weeks.

The annual reception tendered by the Y. M. C. A. to the freshman class was held Saturday evening in Jesup Hall. Among the speakers were President Hopkins, Morgan '06, Nomer '06, Curtis '06, Bixby '06 and Pettit '05.

The trials for the chapel choir will be conducted by Mr. Salter this evening and to-morrow evening at 7:30 in the choir room of the new chapel. In order to retain their places, all men who were on the choir last year must be heard.

A change will be instituted this year in the regular gymnasium work required of the freshman class. As long as the weather permits, outdoor track work on Weston field will take the place of the former exercise in the gymnasium. If the experiment proves successful, the outdoor work will be made a regular feature of the coruse..

Among the alumni in town recently were Bacon '98; Potter, Leggett, 1901; Palmer, ex-'02; Houston, Cox, Brown, 1903; Bridgewater, Mitchell, Lamb, Gutterson, Erskine, Hun, 1904; Lincoln, Shedden, Pruyn, Judson, Tourtellot, Appell, McCarty, Leaning, Brown, Miller, Livingston, Mills, Eldred, Whittlesey, Dimon 1905.

'31—Hon. William Rankin, the oldest living graduate of Williams college, celebrated his ninety-fifth birthday, on Sept. 15, at the home of his son in Newark.

Lasell Gymnasium

The improvements in the gymnasium have necessitated a radical change in the floor plan of the gymnasium basement. The swimming pool will be built in the space formerly occupied by the baseball cage, and will also fill about half the space used for the old bowling alley. The pool will be 60 feet by 22, and will have a greatest depth of 7 feet at the east end, gradually lessening to a depth of 4½ feet at the west (Spring St.) end. At the east end will be a diving platform 15 feet wide, with a second long diving platform running the entire length of the north side. The pool will be of white glazed tile throughout.

Directly back of the swimming pool in the space occupied by the old boiler room will be located the shower room, also constructed entirely of white tile. The shower room will have two doors, one from the diving platform, and one from the locker room. The room will contain eight large showers and three private showers.

The main locker room of the basement will be enlarged and re-equipped. Nine feet of the old bowling alley will be used for locker space as well as some of the space formerly occupied by the shower and bath room. 400 new lockers will be provided, of the same size as the 40 steel lockers bought last fall, but of improved style. The lockers will be made of expanded metal, withwire network, and will be fastened with two-number combination locks.

At the back end of the locker room will be placed bath and toilet rooms, with a special rubbing room and appliances for Trainer Barrett. A tile-lined corridor will lead from the locker room to the rear entrance.

Work on the gymnasium was not begun till September 1, owing to the absence of President Henry Lefavour '83, a member of the committee on grounds, buildings and improvements, in Europe. Work is being pushed on the shower room and that will probably be finished by October 1. It is hoped to complete the other improvements including the swimming pool by December 1. The swimming pool and new baseball cage together are the gift of Hon. Eugene Delano '66, and Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson '67 and will cost about $17,000. The other work will be paid for from the regular college funds, and will cost about $6,500. The contract work on this building, as well as on all the other college buildings now being repaired, is in the hands of contractor Perry A. Smedley.

The basement and building will be lighted throughout by electricity. The contract for lighting on the gymnasium floor will be let within a day or two and the lights put in at once.

The Old Chapel

The old chapel has been turned into a recitation building, three small recitation rooms and one large one being provided for, as well as an instructors' room. Upon starting the reconstruction immediately after commencement, contractor Smedley found that the east wall and tower were in so dangerous a condition that they had to be taken down immediately.

Each of the doors in the large vestibule opens into a small recitation room, to be used by Prof. Wahl in the German department. The vestibule in the west side of the chapel opens into a somewhat larger room which will be used by Prof. Maxey of the English department. Back of this room is an instructors' office. The lower door opens into a large recitation room, taking up half the length and about two-thirds of the breadth of the building, also to be used by the English department.

Alumni Hall will be made over into a library and reading room for the use of the departments of English and modern languages, similar to the Griffin Hall seminar. The old bell still remains in the tower. The improvements will cost $5,000, and the recitation rooms will be ready for use about November 1.

The Baseball Cage

By October 1 work will begin on the new baseball cage, to be located near the pines by the steam heating plant on the old campus. The cage will be built of brick throughout, with metal skylights, and will be lighted entirely from the roof. The floor space will be 152 feet by 42 feet, and the side walls 20 feet high with a clear height of about 27 feet in the center. The side walls will be hung with nets and the cage will be so arranged that it can be subdivided by nets into four sections 60 feet by 20 feet.

The Infirmary

Upon examining the infirmary in the early summer it was discovered that the building had settled in the center, necessitating the resetting of the fire-places. In addition the walls have been retinted, the floors re-dressed, and the exterior repainted. The repairs will be completed about the first of October.

Other Improvements

Morgan Hall, the old chapel, the gymnasium and the three laboratories have been repointed. Portland cement being used to fill interstices in place of the old mortar. In addition, all chimney caps have been reset. These repairs have cost the college, in all, about $1500.

Further improvements to the college property have been made on the different houses occupied by the faculty. The Sewall house, formerly occupied by Mr. Lewis, has been moved from its location back of Clark Hall to a position below Mr. Seeley's house, on the road leading to the Netherleigh. The house will be placed on its new foundation this week and will be made ready as soon as possible for the use of Prof. Howes.

The houses on the north side of Main street have nearly all been improved during the summer. The Woodbridge house, on the corner of Main and Park streets, has been remodelled into a two-apartment house, and will be occupied by Asst. Prof. Webster and Mr. Lewis. The Mather homestead, just west, has been entirely changed. The old ell of the house has been taken off and a new ell put on, while the interior is much altered. This house will be occupied about November 1 by Prof. Ferry.

HUGH BLACK TO PREACH

Famous Scotch Author-Minister will Occupy College Pulpit Sunday

The Rev. Hugh Black, M. A., of Edinburgh, will address the college next Sunday morning. Mr. Black is one of the most distinguished preachers in the united kingdom. He belongs to the United Free Church and is a co-pastor of the great church in Edinburgh known as Free St. George's.

Mr. Black comes to this country as a member of the faculty of the Union theological seminary of New York, to be for three months lecturer in a professorship of Practical Theology, endowed recently by Morris K. Jesup of New York city, the donor of Jesup Hall. His Sundays will be spent in large part preaching in the principal colleges and universities of the east, Williams being the first institution to receive a visit from him.

Mr. Black has sprung into great prominence on both sides of the water in the last five years, not only as a master of pulpit eloquence, but in even larger measure through his sound, thoughtful, philosophical writings. His works are, "The Dream of Youth." "Culture and Restraint," and, most popular of all, the famous essays in his book entitled, "Friendship."

Death of Aged Alumnus

Hon. George Parker Nelson '36, the third oldest alumnus of Williams college, died at his home in New York city, yesterday. Mr. Nelson was born in Peekskill, N. Y. After graduating from Williams, he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1839. From that time until recently he practiced law in New York city, having his office in the old Evening Post building. In 1856 he was appointed Commissioner of Records, to index the indices of all conveyances recorded in the register of New York county, and for some time was a National representative. His brother, Hon. Thomas Nelson '36, survives him.

The Harvard Trip

The football team will leave for the first out-of-town game of the season with Harvard at Cambridge Saturday, on the 11.58 train Friday noon. About 20 men will be taken, with coaches, managers and trainer. The team will stay at the Copley Square in Boston. A notice from the Harvard Union will be found on the editorial page.

INTEREST AROUSED

Succesful Meeting of Adelphic Union—The Speakers

If the success of any meeting is to be mensured by its results, then that of the Adelphic Union meeting held in Jesup Hall last evening was remarkable, for at its close about thirty men signified their intention of joining one or the other of the two debating societies.

Professor Maxey was the first speaker of the evening. Prefacing his remarks by a few words to the entering class, telling them to take up debating either with a determination to persevere, or not at all, he went on to give sound advice to all present on some of the practical sides of a debate. He emphasized the importance of discussing live subjects of local interest, and urged a large regular attendance at meetings in order to enable the speakers to infuse life into their arguments. In closing, he referred to the present crisis in Williams debating and the consequent responsibility which the coming year brings.

H. B. Clark '03 followed with a brilliant extemporaneous speech, recalling his own pleasure secured from debate, and urging all present to support debating here loyally and consistently. Nomer '06, closed the speaking, by referring to the pleasure and profit that can be obtained from debating, and the stimulus afforded by the new league.

1906 CLASS MEETING

Election of Officers — 1908-1909 Ball Game Committee Appointed

At a meeting of the senior class last Monday night the following officers were elected: President, Joseph Earl Perry, Shelburne Falls; vice-president, Henry Dike Bixby, Salem; secretary, Albert Victor Osterhout, Auburn, N. Y.; treasurer, Daniel Francis Gardner, Pownal, Vt. Leslie George Loomis, jr., Victor, N. Y., was elected to the honor system committee.

The president appointed the following committee to take charge of the freshman-sophomore baseball game: Hulst, Wooster, Cowell, Schell, Case, Fitch, Hogan, Griswold, W. H. Curtiss, C. Hills, McAllister, Wakefield. Schell was subsequently elected chairman.

Mrs. Thompson in Williamstown

Mrs. Frederick Ferris Thompson is in town as a guest at the home of President Hopkins, and will probably remain for a few days. Mr. Augustus St. Gaudens was in Williamstown for an hour this forenoon.

CHANGES IN FACULTY

Eleven New Faces on the Teaching Force for 1905-1906

To meet the growing needs of the college, and to extend still further the application of the tutor system, the trustees have increased the number of the faculty for 1905-1906 by seven during the summer. Four men have been lost from last year's teaching force. Dr. George Dwight Kellogg, assistant professor of Latin and Greek, Mr. George T. Northup, instructor in French, and Dr. Charles E. Lyon, instructor in German, have been called to Princeton, and Dr. T H. Clark has completed his year as acting professor of Chemistry, while Prof. Mears was on leave of absence in Europe.

Eleven new names are enrolled this year on the list of the Williams faculty. Dr. George Edwin Howes will be professor in Latin and Greek. Dr. Howes graduated from Harvard in the class of '86, and received degrees of M. A. in 1890 and Ph. D. in 1895 from his alma mater. He comes to Williams from the Greek department of the University of Vermont.

Dr. James Temple Porter, who graduated from Randolph-Macon college in 1895, received the degree of M. A. in 1898 from the same college, and the degree of Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins in 1905. Dr. Porter comes to Williams as instructor in Physics.

Prof. Russell will be assisted in the department of Philosophy by Dr. James Bissett Pratt, a Williams man of the class of 1898. Dr. Pratt received his master's degree from Harvard in 1899, and the degree of Ph. D. from the same college last June.

Two new men have been added to the German department this fall: Dr. Thomas Howard Fowler, who graduated from Washington college (Md.) in '97, receiving his M. A. from the same college in '98, and doctor's degree from Johns Hopkins university: and Mr. Fred Bruns, a graduate of the University of Wisconsin in the class of 1904.

Two men have also been added to the French department: Dr. John Lawrence Gerig, who graduated from the University of Missouri in '98, received the master's degree from the same university in '99, and the degree of Ph. D. from the University of Nebraska in 1902; and Mr. John Arthur Ray, who graduated from Yale in '99 and received the degree of M.

FRATERNITY HOUSES

Many Improvements to Property—Phi Delta Theta

During the summer, the Phi Delta Theta house has been moved 400 feet back from the street, and the foundations of the new chapter house have been commenced. This will be constructed on the site of the old house from plans drawn by Squires & Wynkoop, of New York. The building will be three stories high, is to measure 95 by 40 feet, and will be constructed of brick and stone.

The old building, which is being entirely renovated within, will be ready for occupancy next week, and the work of constructing the new chapter house will be rushed so as to have it completed in May.

Alpha Delta Phi

At the Alpha Delta Phi house the work of reconstruction is not yet completed. The two upper floors have been remodelled, a large bay window has been put in the dining room, the hallway has been redecorated, and the house wired for electricity.

A one-and-a-half story addition of brick at the rear is now in process of construction. A new entrance of stone is also being constructed, with monolith columns of Indiana limestone. Jerome K. Allen, '95, is the architect, and the work will be entirely completed by the middle of November.

Delta Psi

The extensive improvements to St. Anthony Hall have been completed during the summer months and the entire house is now ready for occupancy. The addition at the south-west side of the hall is of stone and includes a large library, four studies, nine bedrooms and three bathrooms. The building has been wired for electricity.

The number of students registered in college, by information obtained this noon, totaled 440, distributed as follows: 1906, 77; 1907, 108; 1908, 104; 1909, 151.

A meeting of the Lit. board will be held Monday evening, Oct 2.

VOL. 19 SEPTEMBER 28, 1905. No. 26

The Record is in receipt of a letter from the secretary of the Harvard Union, extending its privileges to all Williams men on Saturday, September 30, the day of the Harvard-Williams football game.

The Financial End

The attention of the undergraduates should be called to the fact that the football association is in need this year of the strongest financial support they can give. Beginning the season with no prospect of a revenue from the Dartmouth game at Newton Center, the necessity of increased expenditures for athletic supplies, and a smaller college body than last year from which to draw subscriptions, it can readily be seen that a loyal response is needed from the man on the side-lines.

Cheering the team on to victory is a praiseworthy exhibition of college spirit. But support from the pocketbook also has its advantages. The two together make an ideal combination.

Bible Study Announcement

The Bible study department of the college Christian association will this year be organized on a different basis from heretofore. Instead of a single Bible study class for each college class, it is purposed to form numerous small groups of about eight men each. Some of these groups will be led by undergraduates and some, it is expected, by members of the faculty; they will meet at the time most convenient for the men in each group. Each class will study that part of the Bible in which its members are most interested. A canvass of the entire college is to be made on this subject and it is hoped that the Bible study work of the Christian association may thus become wide-spread and useful.

The Baseball Report

The report of the baseball management appears in this issue and shows a balance of $414.10 paid to the graduate treasurer. It is said that the manager who makes money on his season too often does so at the expense of stinting the expenditures necessary for the maintenance of a successful team. We believe that it is not the duty, nor should it be the chief aim, of a college athletic management to report a large balance. The endeavor should be, rather, to expend the funds of the association in two ways. In the first place, the effort should be made to schedule a list of strong games, with a fair proportion of them at home. In the second place, the management should endeavor to stimulate interest in its particular branch of athletics, for the greater benefit of the student-body.

From this point of view, the baseball team of 1905 has been most satisfactorily managed, and its manager deserves the highest commendation. He has accomplished both objects. The schedule, including a trip of seven games with the strongest college teams of the south, requires no comment. The second team, while financially a loss, was both valuable for 'varsity substitutes and in training new men, and was the means of offering wider participation in baseball to the students of the college. The balance reported is therefore gratifying, because it is evidently incidental. As a comparison with previous reports will show, the season was conducted on a larger scale than ever before, and, everything considered, it was most admirably done.

There is no intention of overlooking the fact that the amount expended for coaching was about $350 less than in 1904. It is a circumstance which, we believe, had no connection with the loss of eleven games last spring. The real reason for this was evident from the beginning—only one available pitcher to meet a schedule of hard games.

At the trials held Tuesday night, the following men were given places in the provisional make-up of the mandolin club: First mandolins, Botsford, Cowperthwaite, Hoyt, Peters 1906, Cole 1907; second mandolins, Gregory, Keith 1907, Leland 1906, Kohn 1908, Noble, Johnston 1909; guitars, C. Hills, Robbins 1906, Sayre, Geer 1907; 'cello, Sternberger 1907; violin, Thompson 1908.

COLLEGE NOTES

G. Horrax has been appointed captain of the freshman class team for the freshman-sophomore meet.

D. W. Phelps ex-1908, who is taking up a course of architecture at M. I. T., was in town Tuesday.

Mr. Paul Potter 1901, who has been assisting in the coaching of the football squad for the past two weeks, left town Tuesday.

The following men have been chosen to compose the banjo club: Gale '06, Smith '07, Mygatt '08, Swain '09, Fowler '09, Rogers '09.

The training table was started at the Cosmo Tuesday evening with Bixby 1906, D. Brown, Waters, Elder, Marshall, 1908.

Gates '06 is instructing in physics and Wakefield '06 in French at the Williamstown high school, and Stanley '07 is teaching Latin and Greek at the Hoosac school.

Mr. M. C. Bates 1904, who has been the college student librarian for the past year, left Tuesday for Cambridge, where he will take up advanced English work at Harvard.

The senior committee of arrangements for the sophomore-freshman baseball game has selected Wednesday, October 4, as the date for the game.

At a meeting of the freshman class held Wednesday evening in Jesup Hall, G. R. Jenkins, 2d, was elected manager of the class football team.

The first of a series of cross-country runs was held Tuesday afternoon, starting from the gymnasium. About ten men participated. A second run took place Wednesday.

Mr. C. K. B. Nevin, supervising architect of the Thompson Memorial Chapel, announces that the additional lights for the nave of the chapel will be installed early next week. Two hundred 16 candle-power frosted globes will be used in belt fixtures above the caps of the pillars.

Mathematicians Meet

The twelfth summer meeting of the American mathematical society was held at Williamstown from September 7 to 9. About thirty members of the society were present. On Thursday and Friday meetings were held in the lecture room of the Biological Laboratory. Professor Frank Morley of Johns Hopkins university presided at the two sessions Thursday, when eleven papers on mathematical subjects were read by college professors from various universities. Dr. Ferry presided at the sessions on Friday, when ten more papers were read. On Saturday the college entertained the mathematicians in an outing among the Berkshires, the party driving over Berlin pass, and walking back to Williamstown over Kidder pass to the southward.

Changes in Faculty

A., from the snme university in 1903.

Mr. Paul Capron comes from Dummer academy at South Byfield, where he taught the past year, to join the mathematics department. Mr. Capron is a graduate from Harvard of the class of '96, and has also received the degree of M. A. from the same college.

Dr. Theodore E. Collier, a graduate from Hamilton in the class of '94, received his M. A. in '97. Dr. Collier graduated from Union theological seminary in '02 and comes with the rank of instructor in history.

Mr. Summer Salter, Amherst '77, will be organist of the chapel, and director of music in the college.

John Bright Lord and Raymond Eugene Cook, Williams 1905, have been appointed as assistants in government and history respectively.

Death of John M. Harts, Ex-1905

John Manning Harts. for two years a member of the class of 1905, was instantly killed by a train about two miles north of Lincoln, Ill., on Friday, Sept. 22. Harts was doing surveying work on the Chicago and Alton railway, and at the time of the accident was riding on a small railroad-track motor bicycle.

NOTICES

AT OTHER COLLEGES

Dartmouth Football Team

At Dartmouth the indications point to another strong team, which from the present outlook will be the equal of the team of 1904.

At Amherst

Amherst started with a squad of fifteen men and has been adding to it since. The eleven will be strengthened by the return of two members of the 1903 team but will probably be inferior to the team which met Williams last year.

Wesleyan's Football Prospects

The prospects for a successful football season at Wesleyan are brighter this year than ever before in the history of the college.

All of last year's team are back except Capt. Eyster and among the new material may be mentioned Seeley, a 205 pound freshman, Hampson and Frank Reiter, formerly of Princeton, and West, who played last year on Exeter.

Twenty-seven men reported for practice last week. From tackle to tackle the average weight is 198 lbs. A. K. Dearborn, right tackle, is captain and "Bosey" Reiter will coach.

A GOOD SHOWING

Harvard Scores Twice Against Williams at Cambridge

The football eleven more than fulfilled expectations at Cambridge Saturday by holding Harvard down to 12 points in 25 minutes of actual play, the smallest score since 1902. As usual at Cambridge, Williams' offense showed up relatively better than the defense. The backs showed speed and united action, making several first downs in each half, once getting within 19 yards of the Crimson's goal. A. Brown proved particularly effective in this department and Capt. Bixby also played his position well.

On the defense the centre of the line held well, and the 'varsity ends were not circled but once. Just outside tackle, however, proved the weak point, the heavy plunging backs of the Crimson making good gains there. The most encouraging feature was the alertness of the team to take advantage of Harvard's misplays, a touchdown being saved in each half by the Purple's quickness to secure the ball after Harvard fumbles. The best individual work on the Williams team was done by Waters, who used good judgment in selecting his plays and was strong on the defense.

Harvard kicked off to Bates, who ran the ball in 20 yards. Williams made two first downs, A. Brown carrying the ball, before surrendering it to Harvard by a fumble on the 38-yard line. From this point Harvard scored after nine rushes, Foster making the last seven yards outside left tackle. White kicked goal. Harvard's second touchdown was scored in much the same way on tackle plunges, Williams stiffening momentarily on the 3-yard line. Wendell made the touchdown and White again kicked goal.

After Harvard's next kick-off A. Brown made the most brilliant run of the day for Williams, 23 yards around the Crimson's right end. Waters was soon forced to punt but Harvard fumbled and Elder fell on the ball on Harvard's 33-yard line. A. Brown and D. Brown took the ball 14 yards further, only to lose it on downs again. The half ended soon after with the ball in Williams' possession in the center of the field.

In the second half Harvard, playing a kicking game, punted immediately after the kick-off, but Williams was penalized and forced to punt. Harvard

GENERAL CATALOGUE

1905 Volume will Appear About Oct. 9—2340 Living Alumni

The General Catalogue of Williams College for 1905, the thirty-first of a series of general catalogues of the college, will appear about October 9. The Rev. Charles H. Burr, librarian of the college, editor of the last catalogue, published in 1900, is again the editor and has been at work on the 1905 volume since last January. The edition will be limited to 1500, 100 of which will be bound in purple cloth.

The first catalogue, in Latin, appeared in 1799 and was followed by Latin editions at periods of three years, until 1874. Since that date it has appeared every five years. The 1905 volume contains 231 pages, against 171 in 1900, and comes from the press of T. R. Marvin and Son, printers, of Boston, who have had charge of the catalogue since 1847. The printing was done under the supervision of William T. Marvin, '54.

The information in this article was obtained from advance sheets, through the courtesy of Mr. Burr. An appreciative criticism of his work will appear in Thursday's issue of The Record.

Including 1905 the total number of alumni is 4240; reported as deceased, an even 1900; supposed to be living 2340; clergymen 941, reported as deceased 564, supposed to be living 377; lawyers 789, reported as deceased 329, supposed to be living 460; physicians 390, reported as deceased 195, supposed to be living 195; teachers 383, reported as deceased 251, supposed to be living 132; United States military service 226, reported as deceased 153, living 73; foreign missionaries 62, deceased 44, living 18.

The holders of honorary degrees, not otherwise graduates of Williams college, number 445, of whom 136 are reported living. This brings the total number, both alumni and honorary, to 4685.

"Phil" Draper to Coach

Mr. Ely has gone to New York city for a week, and Mr. Phillip Draper will arrive in Williamstown today or tomorrow to carry on his work during his absence. Mr. Ely will return after the Union game Oct. 7, and will remain all of the next week. After his departure Burr Chamberlain of Yale, All American tackle during '97 and '98 will coach the teamassisted by Lytle, Princeton's end during the middle nineties.

AT HAVERFORD

Intercollegiate Tennis Contest—Linen of Williams Defeated

(Special to the Record)

Haverford, Pa., Oct. 2, 1905

The twenty-fourth annual tournament of the national intercollegiate tennis association began this morning in the courts of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford, Pa. Teams from eight colleges are entered: Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Haverford, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Yale and Williams.

Among the strongest individual players entered are Robert Le Roy of Columbia, Karl Behr of Yale, and E. B. Dewhurst of Pennsylvania. Smith '06 and Linen '07 are representing Williams in singles and doubles.

In the opening play this morning Thompson of Princeton defeated Linen of Williams 6—1, 6—2.

Hockey Prospects

The hockey association has promises of a very successful season this year. With most of last year's team in college and much good material in the freshman class prospects are bright. Manager Schell has already arranged for a game with Brown. Work will be begun soon on the uncompleted hockey rink on Weston field.

Mr. Black at Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Hugh Black spoke to the Y. M. C. A. in Jesup Hall last evening on the subject of Decision of Character. His remarks were delivered in an unusually earnest and convincing manner. The meeting was well attended.

New Art Editor for Gul.

Harry Cleveland Blagbrough of Orange, Mass., has been elected an art editor of the 1907 Gul., to take the place of Hotaling who has not returned to college.

Record candidates meet in 15 Jesup Hall at 7:15 p. m. tomorrow.

The Football Team

The work of the football team thus far should be a source of satisfaction to the college. A large squad, a hard-working captain and a splendid system of coaching intelligently and energetically directed—these are the factors that have given Williams so good a start.

The coaching of last year is evident in the games and in practice, and is producing its best results now. The defeat of an inexperienced team by a large score makes possible no judgment of the eleven's strength. In holding the Crimson to two touchdowns, however, with no score in the last half, Williams has given a sample of the football it can play against a real team. The horizon is clearer, and the well arranged schedule has possibilities.

The Track Report

In the track report for 1905, published in these columns today, is revealed a wise and not too conservative disposal of the funds of the association. It is impossible to do justice to a management from its printed report. On the expenditure side for example, there may be figures which at first indicate extravagance, but are in reality unavoidable. Nevertheless, a careful comparison with recent reports is of some value.

The sum expended on athletic supplies last spring exceeds by a considerable amount that of any previous year. Such expenditure gives evidence that the manager fully realized that he, as well as the captain, could do his share in making the best team out of the material offered. While the subscription from the college was greater than in 1904 and in 1903, it only slightly exceeded that in 1902. On the other hand the expenditures evidently necessary were larger than ever before.

Track has never been a paying branch of athletics. Practically no money has been made in the four years prervious to 1905 The balance reported this year is $312.91. The management has taken care of the team in a most satisfactory manner, and is to be congratulated on closing the season with so large a surplus. In the last issue we commented on the baseball management, successful for two reasons. The same may be applied to the track association, but more particularly the latter.

There can be no question that the last management increased the interest in track athletics, and in fact gave to that branch a more prominent place at Williams than it has ever held.

Football finished the season with a balance of $800, baseball $400 and track $300. The questions which naturally arise are: what use does the athletic council intend to make of this money? What need is there of undergraduate subscription to the support of these three organizations when their funds are not expended? In the next issue we shall attempt to give an answer to both, and show that the surplus is being saved for a purpose that would in itself be sufficient to warrant additional subscription on the part of the undergraduates—certainly sufficient to demand an equal to that of last year.

Record Competition

Competition for The Record begins Thursday, when the candidates will receive their first assignments. To the sophomore or freshman who wishes to take a share in the life of the college, and do a part of the work, we offer something that is practical. The training received in covering an assignment is of no small value to the candidate. He learns how to write quickly and to describe an event in as few words as possible. Such ability to state the facts clearly and briefly is an asset worth having, in business or in journalism.

This year the competition will be stricter in some particulars, and more reasonable in others. The aim will be to conduct a competition that will benefit the candidate, as well as determine the best men for the board. To this end the rules of the board place system first, and require promptness. In the election of new members to the board, the candidates can feel certain that merit, on the basis of consistent work, will count. And merit will be the only thing that will count.

OBITUARIES

'51—Dr. Thomas Gilfillan died at his home in Northampton, Mass., on Sept. 9, at the age of seventy-six. Dr. Gilfillan, after leaving Williams, graduated from the Berkshire medical school of Pittsfield in 1855; during the Civil war he was assistant surgeon of the 46th and 59th Massachusetts regiments. After his retirement from army service in 1864, Dr. Gilfillan practiced medicine in Northampton until his death.

Ex-'55—Solomon T. Buckley, for two years a member of the class of '55, died after a short illness at Gloucester on Sept. 11. Leaving college in 1853, he was engaged in business at Rock Island, Ill., until 1859. When the Civil war broke out, he became war correspondent for the New York Herald with which paper he continued until 1868. From then until his death he was engaged in business in New York.

'84—Charles Wells Wood, secretary of the Syracuse chamber of commerce, and for many years prominent in the mercantile life of that city, died of peritonitis on July 4. He was born in Syracuse on July 15, 1860, and entered Syracuse university in 1880, leaving there at the end of his sophomore year to enter Williams. After graduation he carried on his father's sporting goods business in Syracuse, retiring in 1898.

—Students are requested not to use the west chancel entrance to the chapel, but to enter and leave by the front doors only.

COLLEGE NOTES

The first class prayer meetings which were to have been held last Friday have been postponed until Friday, Oct. 6.

Twelve men participated in a cross-country run held Saturday afternoon. The course covered about five miles.

A baseball team from 1907 defeated one from 1908 on Weston field Saturday afternoon, by the score of 1—0. Six innings were played.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Margaret Louise Mitchell of New York city to Dr. Lorande Loss Woodruff, instructor in biology.

Ayers and Day, 1905 have returned to college in the class of 1906. Linen and Jaeckel, 1906, Parsons, 1907, and Bargfrede, 1908 have entered college again after a year's absence.

The French department has introduced an innovation by securing a large graphophone and records to give an opportunity to hear the language as spoken by famous French actors and lecturers.

Communication with the registrar of Dartmouth college shows that the newspaper reports that Leavitt ex-1907, captain of the track team for 1906, had entered that institution, were absolutely without foundation.

Among the alumni in town recently were Richards '87, Sherry '98, Marvin '01, Rutter '01, Pumpelly '02, Callan '03, S. H. Cox '03, Goodbody '04, Johnson '04, Jayne '04, Hill '04, Hanford '05, Chace '05, Burdell ex-'06, Wells ex-'07, Smith ex-'07.

The following men composed the football squad for the Harvard game: Bates, Bixby, Blaisdell, Campbell, 1906; Bradley, A. M. Brown, Hill, Johnson, Jaeckel, Russell, 1907; D. Brown, Elder, Eldridge, Marshall, Curtis, Waters, 1908; C. Brown, Harter, Robb, 1909.

The following men from the classes of 1907 and 1908 are not registered in the college this year: 1907, Feeny, MacEwan, Moffett, Ronan, Temple, Welch, Westervelt, Williams, Leavitt, McLellan, A. C. Combes; 1908, Bellamy, Hotaling, Crombie, Holmes, Bonham, King, Knowles, Miner, Ogsbury, Phelps, Rockwell, Rogers, Waterworth, Stetson, Taube, Speyer, Wehle, T. D. Williams and Wood.

NOTICES

—The meeting of the Lit. Board which was to have been held this evening, has been postponed until Thursday at 7:30 p. m.

—Unless announced otherwise on the bulletin board in Hopkins hall, the sophomore-freshman baseball game will be held Wednesday afternoon. The parade will form at the gymnasium at 2:15. Freshmen will report there at 2:00.

AN IMPRESSIVE SERMON

By Rev. Hugh Black on the Immortality of Memory

The Rev. Hugh Black, of Edinburgh, delivered an address in the chapel yesterday on the immortality of memory, which made a remarkable impression on all who heard it. Mr. Black's enthusiastic earnestness held the attention of the crowded chapel throughout, as he preached in simple eloquent fashion the gospel of the immortality of good influence. He took as his text Proverbs 10:2, "The memory of the just is blessed." A brief abstract is given below.

All men who think of the future are influenced by a desire to leave a good name behind them and this desire is a strong, legitimate motive. The only thing that really counts, when we view our memory in the light of eternity, is our character. The memory of a good man is blessed, the memory of a bad man infamous.

Poet, warrior, artist and statesman are all succeeded by others. There is no immortality of fame, for there are ever new brows for the laurel wreaths. The immortality of influence, however, is real, leading to the immortality of memory.

We cannot believe that all wealth of grace and character have passed from us. There are two societies, of the noble living, and of the noble dead; nay, one great society, one communion of the saints. We might well keep All Saints' day, when we gather to think of the memory of the just. It gives us an inspiration that we are not alone, are not exceptional in our struggle, our sorrow and joy, but come in a great succession. Amid all the ambitions of the world, what higher ambition can there be than to be a link in the golden chain of testimony which binds the ages together, than to secure the inheritance of the good part of the life of every man who came into the world? Truly those who partake of this very influence of Christ are blest with the memory of the just. Blessed are they who die as they live in the Lord, whose good works follow after them.

Junior Officers

At a meeting of the junior class held in Jesup hall Friday evening, the following class officers were elected for the coming year: President, Reginald Davis Johnson of Pasadena, Cal.; vice president, Kenneth Stackpole Domett of Boston; secretary, John Joseph Butler, jr., of Worcester; treasurer, Montague Brown of Portland, Me. William Mansfield Clark of Salisbury, Conn., was elected to the honor system committee. A gnl. tax of $2.00 was voted assessed upon each member of the class.

PRESIDENTS WILL MEET

Annual Conference of Colleges in Williamstown Nov. 2 and 3

The forty-ninth annual meeting of the New England college association will be held in Williamstown Thursday and Friday, November 2 and 3. The New England college association has for its purpose the discussion of college problems of all natures, each college being free to suggest any question for discussion. Some two weeks before the meeting the questions suggested will be mailed to the different colleges and at the conference any delegate can bring up any of these questions he chooses.

The association is composed wholly of men's colleges and has fourteen members, Harvard, Yale, Brown, Williams, Amherst, Trinity, Wesleyan, Dartmouth, Tufts, Boston university, Bowdoin, Clark university, the University of Vermont, and Middlebury college. Each college will be represented by its president and one other delegate appointed by its faculty. Thus President Eliot of Harvard, President Hadley of Yale, Presidents Tucker of Dartmouth, Faunce of Brown, and Hyde of Bowdoin will probably be in Williamstown on those dates. Last year's meeting, at which Williams was represented by President Hopkins and Prof. Morton, was held at Providence. Further definite information as to delegates, arrangements for meeting, subjects for discussion, etc., will be given out in about two weeks.

The Union Game

Williams will play its second out-of-town game with Union at Schenectady Saturday afternoon at 3.30. About eighteen men will be taken, exclusive of managers, coaches and trainer. The officials will be as follows: Referee, Easton of Yale; umpire, Van Fine of Trinity; head linesman, Dorticos of U. of M.

Seats will be reserved at Schenectady for all students who wish to attend the game. Tickets can be obtained on the field. By leaving Williamstown at 12.10, trolley connection can be made at Troy in time to reach Schenectady before the game. Returning, a train leaves Schenectady at 6.05, connecting at Troy at 7.15 with the train reaching Williamstown at 8.50.

1905—Henry W. Mellen and Miss Elise Downs of Boston were married at noon Tuesday, at Trinity church, Boston.

REVIEW OF CATALOGUE

Comparison with Previous Editions by Prof. Spring

The General Catalogue of the college for 1905—advance sheets of which have come to hand—is by far the fullest and most accurate edition of this important publication that has yet appeared. The Williams public is under great obligations to the editor, Mr. Burr, for the unstinted and successful labor which he has expended upon it. Few who have not attempted work of this sort realize the amount of research and enquiry which it involves. The material which must be obtained is widely dispersed. Class reports, newspaper files, catalogues, obituary records, public documents, biographical dictionaries, and the various student publications since the appearance of The Adelphi in 1831, have to be consulted. Not only is new information sought for, but the mistakes of earlier editions are, so far as possible, to be eliminated.

In the catalogue of 1905 there are sixty pages more than in that of 1900. Of these additional pages forty-three belong to the period before 1900—the graduates of 1900-1905, the index, the officers of government and instruction occupying seventeen pages. But, as showing the care with which the record has been revised, a comparison of the edition of 1905 for the period 1795—1845 with that of 1900 furnishes a more exacting test. The former devotes thirty-three pages to this period, the latter twenty-four. Only a cursory inspection is needed to make it clear that these nine supplementary pages represent a large amount of patient investigation. The class of 1795, all the members of which, with a single exception, came from Stockbridge, stands as in the edition of 1900. The record of the class of 1796 is amended by four new entries; that of 1797 by one new entry and the correction of the date of Senator Mills' death; that of 1798 by nine new entries; that of 1799 by five; that of 1824 by sixteen and that of 1845 by twenty-five. Or, to take a little wider range, there are three new entries under the name of Frederick Ferris Thompson; five new entries under that of Senator J. J. Ingalls and five under that of President Garfield. All this is simply an illustration of the changes to be found everywhere.

When we turn our attention to

TRUSTEES' MEETING

Nine Members Present — Action Taken on New Dormitory

The annual fall meeting of the Board of Trustees was held today in Griffin Hall. The meeting was called to order at 9:00 by President Hopkins, and adjourned at 12:00. Resolutions were adopted on the death of James M. Barker '60, of Pittsfield. The president and trustees took the 1:40 train from North Adams for Pittsfield to attend the funeral.

Those present, besides President Hopkins were: Hon. Francis Lynde Stetson, M. A., '67, and Hon. Eugene Delano, M. A., '66, of New York city; President Henry Lefavour, Ph. D., LL. D., '83, and Hon. Bentley Wirt Warren '85, of Boston; Rev. Daniel Merriman, D. D., '63, of Worcester; Hon. James Robert Dunbar '71, of Brookline; Wm. Henry Hollister, jr., '70 of Troy and Rev. Harry Pineo Dewey, D. D., '84, of Brooklyn. No details would be given out of the business of the meeting, but a final plan for the new dormitory was adopted. It was definitely decided to make an addition to South College which will room 14 men. The new dormitory will room 42 men. The price has not yet been fixed, and the contractors have not yet submitted their bids.

Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament

The Williams tennis players at the intercollegiate tournament at Haverford were retired at the end of the second round. Linen lost in the preliminary round to Thompson of Princeton and Smith won his match in the first round by default from Hopple of Cornell.

In the second round, Karl Behr of Yale beat Smith 6-3, 6-3, and the semi-finals were between Yale, Harvard and Pennsylvania. In the doubles Whitman and Field of Harvard beat Smith and Linen of Williams, 6-2, 6-4.

VOL. 19 OCTOBER 5, 1905, No. 28

The Work of the Athletic Council and a Present Need

The report of the athletic association has not yet been made public, but it is understood that there will be a large balance. Under the able management of 1905 about $1500 was made by the three major branches of athletics. Making allowance for necessary expenditures, the surplus should be about $1000. It would have been considerably less than this amount, if the council had not economized for a purpose.

An explanation of this purpose is due to the students of the college and to the minor organizations, namely tennis, hockey and golf. The average tax in subscriptions for football, baseball and track, and in support of other college interests, is by no means small for the undergraduate. He may, perhaps, feel that the financial success of last season justifies him in subscribing less than the usual amount this year. The expenses of the smaller branches of athletics have always been borne by members of the teams. For two years unsuccessful efforts have been made to obtain a part of this from the funds of the association.

A glance at the work of the athletic council reveals the true state of affairs. The physical welfare of the college, as well as the efficiency of its teams, requires but one thing to supplement the swimming pool, the baseball cage and the renovation of the gymnasium, and that is, proper training quarters on Weston Field. Last spring The Record called attention to this need, which the council had realized long before. It is the ultimate aim of the council to satisfy this want at the earliest possible moment.

The balance of $1000 offers a slight hope of realization. The construction of Weston Field, begun in 1897 and costing $17,500, has in fact only been completed within the last two years, when the straightaway has been opened and the complicated system of drains properly set. Consequently unless something unforeseen occurs, it is reasonable to suppose that the balance will remain intact.

Nevertheless, the amount on hand at present is only a good beginning. We have stated before that about $2000 is necessary to reconstruct the space underneath the grandstand into suitable quarters, containing shower baths, lockers, and rooms for both the visiting and home teams. The sum needed to build a club house would certainly equal, and probably exceed the above. The administration of athletics in this college is attended with great difficulties. The association is absolutely separate from the college, and receives no help from it. Athletics is not funded at Williams. This being the case, it is the policy of the council to keep on hand a balance of $2000, in case of necessity, and several instances have given evidence of the wisdom of this plan. In short, the only source of income to the athletic association is the surplus turned in by the managers.

The natural conclusion is that the major organizations must receive such support from the undergraduates that they will be able to report a surplus, and not in any case be forced to call on the association for help. We do not appeal to a man's college loyalty to subscribe a sum beyond his means. The number is great of those who are already giving as much as their circumstances will allow. At the same time, the number is not small of those who are not doing what they ought to do. The opportunity is offered them to give help when it is most needed. We appeal to their sense of fairness and ask them to subscribe their share.

DEATH CF TRUSTEE

Judge James M. Barker '60 Found Dead Tuesday Morning

Hon. James Madison Barker, LL. D., '60, a trustee of the college, and one of the best known men in Berkshire county, was found dead in his room at the Union club in Boston Tuesday morning.

Justice Barker was born in Pittsfield October 23, 1839. He graduated from Williston seminary and entered Williams in the fall of 1856. After graduation, he studied law at Harvard law school and was admitted to the bar in 1863. As a lawyer, his rise was rapid. He soon became prominent in Pittsfield, in 1882 was made a justice of the superior court, and in 1891 was appointed to the supreme judicial court by Gov. Russell. In the same year he was given the degree of LL. D. by Yale.

Judge Barker represented Pittsfield in the Mass. House of Representatives in 1872 and 1873, serving on the committee on railroads. In 1874 he was made a member of the commission to revise taxation laws, and in 1881, of the commission to revise the public statutes. In 1880 he was a delegate to the Republican national convention, strongly supporting, even in those early days, the cause of civil service reform.

Judge Barker's services to Berkshire county were too numerous for detailed enumeration. He was prominently connected with the educational, business and religious interests of Pittsfield, and took an especially active interest in outdoor sports, particularly in the life of the country clubs about Pittsfield. His connection with the college as a trustee was intimate. He was elected in 1882, and was only surpassed in term of service by Rev. Robert Russell Booth. He was a member of the important, hard-working committee on grounds, buildings and improvements, and throughout his trusteeship kept in the closest touch with the college. He delivered the address at the laying of the cornerstone of the Thompson Memorial Chapel, and spoke for the trustees at the inauguration of President Hopkins. He was especially interested in the new Berkshire quadrangle, and expended much time and effort in promoting the Berkshire county endowment for that purpose.

Judge Barker is survived by four daughters and a son, John Barker '99. The funeral took place in Pittsfield at 2.30 this afternoon and was attended by all the justices of the supreme and superior courts. All the higher courts of the commonwealth adjourned Tuesday in his honor.

The annual sophomore-freshman track meet will take place Saturday, Oct. 21.

the honorary graduates we find that they have been by no means neglected. In the catalogue of 1900 only one of them is mentioned as a sometime Williams student, while in the current edition seventeen are noted as belonging to this class. In the latter only we find the statement that Henry Moore Parsons was Seaman's chaplain at Havana, Cuba; that Elijah Wheeler was chaplain in the war of 1812; that David Porter and Samuel Spring were chaplains in the Revolutionary army. The twenty-two separate items found in the edition of 1900 under the names of Governor Briggs, the Rev. Dr. S. H. Cox and Professor Samuel Harris are augmented to thirty-three in the revision.

Enough has been said to indicate the conscientious care which has been bestowed on the current reissue of the catalogue. It is not to be supposed that any definitive and final record has yet been reached, but very decided progress has been made toward that illusive goal.

LEVERETT W. SPRING.

Wesleyan Preliminaries

The preliminary debates, to decide who shall represent the college in her debate with Wesleyan at Middletown Nov. 10, will be held next Monday at 7.30, in the auditorium of the Biological Laboratory. There will be two debates, both on the following question, the affirmative of which Williams has elected to uphold.

"Resolved, That in the United States the nomination of candidates for minor elective offices should be by the method of the primary.

"By a minor elective office is understood an office with a constituency narrower than one of the states.

"By the method of the primary is understood any method of nomination by the entire body of the party, without the intervention of delegates."

Nomer '06, Hulst '06 and Westermann '08 will support the affirmative in the first debate against Scott '08, Bullard '08 and Byard '08. In the second contest, Matthews '07 Clark '07 and Kenney '06 will oppose Case '07, Scholle '06 and Allen '07.

The judges of the debaters will be Professor Maxcy, Mr. D. T. Clark and Mr. Lewis. The debates will be judged by Prof. Wild, Prof. Kellogg and Asst. Prof. Perry, while Mr. Rees will preside during the evening.

At a senior class meeting held Tuesday noon the sophomore-freshman baseball game and freshman parade were postponed until Wednesday, Oct. 11.

SPRINGFIELD LOST

Defeated by College Golf Team in Close Match

On the links of the Springfield Country Club yesterday afternoon the college golf team defeated the Country Club team by a score of 9 to 6, Nassau system of scoring. This defeat is the first the Springfield team has met on its home course in three years. A return match may be arranged for next spring. The score:

COLLEGE NOTES

Owing to mountsin day, the meeting of candidates for The Record was postponed Tuesday evening. It will be held tonight at 7.30, in 15 J. H.

The meeting of the adelphic union for the election of officers has been postponed until Wednesday of next week.

The leading article in the Free Trade Broadside for October is an appreciation of the late Prof. A. L. Perry with a sketch of his life, and quotations from his works.

The order of preachers in the Thompson Memorial Chapel for the Sundays up to December, excluding Oct. 29 and Nov. 5, is given out as follows: Oct. 15, Rev. W. R. Richards of New York city; Oct. 22, Rev. S. Parks Cadman of Brooklyn; Nov. 12, Dr. Willard Scott '75 of Worcester; Nov. 19, President Raymond of Union college; Nov. 26, Prof. Knox of Union theological seminary.

John W. Luce & Co., announce for fall publication "Intimate Letters of the Presidents," compiled by Asst. Prof. Perry. The book contains a letter by each president of the United States from Washington up to and including Roosevelt, each selected to show the personal side of the president's character.

Announcement

The Bible classes will meet directly after chapel Sunday morning. Every man expecting to take the courses will be notified further as to the time and place of meeting of his group.

The leaders of the regular class prayer meetings, which will begin Oct. 6, at 7.15 p. m., will be as follows:

1906, Wilbur; 1907, McCleary; 1908, Johnson; 1909, Perry '06.

Changes Planned in Lit.

The editors of the Literary Monthly, the first number of which will appear the last of this month, intend this year to make extensive improvements in the make-up of the magazine. At first glance, the most noticeable change will be in the cover, for which George Mather Richards 1904, a former editor-in-chief of the Lit., has drawn an entirely new design. The design is purely conventional, in broad strokes, and centers about the Williams seal. An improvement apparently small, but of benefit to subscribers, will be the printing of the month of issue on the cover, as begun by the present board in May of last year.

The Lit. will this year be printed on "Alexandria" Old Stratford Book stock, both paper and cover being deckle-edged. Apparently minor changes planned, such as the removal of the lines about "Williams Literary Monthly" at the top of the pages, and the increase in width of the margins, show that careful attention will be paid to the general appearance of the magazine. Finally, the time-worn cuts of Torrey's woods, Mission Park, etc., will be seen no more, but in their place will appear cuts of real historical interest, as of old college buildings, including several general views of the college in early stages of its growth.

WILLIAMS 12, UNION 0

The Purple Wins Poorly Played Game from Union

Starting a strong snappy game, and weakening greatly in the second half, Williams defeated Union st Schenectady Saturday, by a score of 12-0.

The game was called at 3:32. Union kicked off to C. Brown, who advanced the ball about five yards before being tackled. A. Brown secured the ball and made a splendid 40-yard run, and by two or three linebucks, C. Brown was pushed across for the first touchdown. Bixby kicked goal. Williams kicked off to Davis but soon secured the ball on a fumble, and A. Brown went through the line outside tackle for three and five yards at a time. Williams was penalized for holding; Waters punted to Union's 15-yard line, and Williams held the ball there. Moore of Union punted to Waters at the 36-yard line, and A. Brown made a run of about 15 yards. From the 5 yard line Robb carried the ball across for the second touchdown. Bixby kicked goal, and the score stood 12—0.

Bixby kicked off, the ball hitting the Union center and rebounding; Bixby picked it up and dodged through the line until tackled. Williams, by means of strong line bucks and end runs, largely by A. Brown and C. Brown, reached Union's 15-yard line when the half was called.

Union braced perceptibly in the second half and Willams was able to gain but little ground. Williams kicked off and Union soon punted to Waters, who fumbled. Union soon fumbled and Elder quickly dropped on the ball. Bixby was forced to retire from the game on account of injuries. After an exchange of punts, Williams was held for downs, but in turn held for downs, and Waters punted to Scott close to the goal. Here Union commenced a series

WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

June 22 1905

To
Chas. H. Burr Esq
Librarian

Dear Mr. Burr,

This is the first and only time I have received the degree of Doctor of Letters; I prize it particularly coming from Williams, and I hope I need not say how I am enjoying my stay in this beautiful old college town.

With regard,

Sincerely yours

Theodore Roosevelt

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Letter Written by President Roosevelt while Here

During his stay in Williamstown last June, President Roosevelt wrote a letter to Rev. Mr. Burr, a facsimile of which is given above. The original letter can be seen in the college library.

WILLIAMS 12, UNION 0

The Purple Wins Poorly Played Game from Union

Starting a strong snappy game, and weakening greatly in the second half, Williams defeated Union at Schenectady Saturday, by a score of 12-0.

The game was called at 3:32. Union kicked off to C. Brown, who advanced the ball about five yards before being tackled. A. Brown secured the ball and made a splendid 40-yard run, and by two or three linebucks, C. Brown was pushed across for the first touchdown. Bixby kicked goal. Williams kicked off to Davis but soon secured the ball on a fumble, and A. Brown went through the line outside tackle for three and five yards at a time. Williams was penalized for holding; Waters punted to Union's 15-yard line, and Williams held the ball there. Moore of Union punted to Waters at the 36-yard line, and A. Brown made a run of about 15 yards. From the 5 yard line Robb carried the ball across for the second touchdown. Bixby kicked goal, and the score stood 12—0.

Bixby kicked off, the ball hitting the Union center and rebounding; Bixby picked it up and dodged through the line until tackled. Williams, by means of strong line bucks and end runs, largely by A. Brown and C. Brown, reached Union's 15-yard line when the half was called.

Union braced perceptibly in the second half and Willams was able to gain but little ground. Williams kicked off and Union soon punted to Waters, who fumbled. Union soon fumbled and Elder quickly dropped on the ball. Bixby was forced to retire from the game on account of injuries. After an exchange of punts, Williams was held for downs, but in turn held for downs, and Waters punted to Scott close to the goal. Here Union commenced a series

The Football Situation

The game at Schenectady Saturday was unsatisfactory from a Williams standpoint. The team did not play the game of which it was capable, and its work showed no improvement over the contest with Harvard a week before. In fact, the efforts of the coaches seem to have been entirely lost. With the exception of one man, the backs were slow in getting started and after the two touchdowns were scored, the line finished the game in a listless fashion. The work of the ends was the only redeeming feature. From start to finish the play lacked the dash characteristic of a Williams team. With a heavier line than Union, and players with a better knowledge of the game, the Williams defense gave way repeatedly, while in several instances Williams failed to gain the required distance.

Coming so soon before the Columbia game, the situation appears discouraging. It certainly is grave enough to be worth considering by the student body, and what is more to the point, to call forth the efforts of every football man in college. We do not overlook the fact that several players took part in Saturday's game who were on the sick list. The real trouble lay not with the team, which has thus far given so praiseworthy an exhibition of hard work.

The truth is that a false sense of security concerning the football prospects has grown up in college, and as a result valuable players have laid aside their suits or refrained from appearing on the field at all. And this takes place at a most critical time. Never before has Williams had so good a chance to defeat Columbia as it has this year. Nevertheless if the Purple is to come off the field victorious next Saturday, a line must be developed, and developed quickly. The eleven needs the daily scrimmage of a heavy opposing team, which can now be furnished in one way only—by the immediate addition to the squad of every man in college who has ever played football and knows anything about the game.

A Question of Training

At the college meeting tonight a resolution will be presented, stating that the spirit of the college demands that members of athletic teams representing the college shall observe the rules of training, to be determined by the coach and captain. It is not intended to be more explicit. The aim is that the college place itself on record as opposed to the practice of loose training, which has by its influence done so much harm to Williams athletics in the past few years, and which, if not checked at once, might grow to be a dangerous factor in the development of the teams.

The disregard of these rules by a single member of a college team is a defiance to the captain, and may work irreparable damage if the captain does not feel that the college has given him authority to exercise the penalty of dismissal. The harm that may result directly from non-observance of the laws of training need not be dwelt upon, for it is obvious. In short, the resolution needs no arguments to recommend it to the student body. It is expected the vote will be unanimous.

RESOLUTIONS

Passed by the Board of Trustees of Williams College

In the departure of Justice James M. Barker, for twenty-three years a trustee of Williams college, Massachusetts loses one of its foremost citizens, Berkshire an honored son and Williams a loyal alumnus and wise counselor. To the members of this Board the sad news of his sudden decease has come with a shock rarely experienced. With but a single exception his was the longest term of service of any of the present trustees. His faithfulness and devotion to the college have always been marked since his official connection with it. He willingly gave his time, his talents, his careful study and his conscientious judgment to the welfare of this college, and whenever great questions were to be considered it was to him that his associates turned for advice with confidence that a clear, strong and unbiased judgment would result. All remember the strong words of welcome he uttered as a representative of this Board at the inauguration of our present President. Everything that Justice Barker did was done with carefulnes, skill, conscientiousness and a soundness of judgment rarely surpassed.

He was a man of large intellectual acquirements and of wide research which were apparent in his work upon the bench of our Supreme Judicial Court, in his daily contact with men in social intercourse, and in his public utterances. He was an eminent man in a community of eminent men.

Justice Barker was a true type of an educated gentleman. He was courteous and affable in his manners and attracted all with whom he came in contact by the greatness of his heart and the largeness of his sympathies.

He was attractive to young men by his cheerful genial manner and by his kind and loving counsel whenever it was sought. He was generous in his thought, pure and unselfish in his life and wrought for the good and welfare of his fellow men. His associates in the Board of Trustees desire to give this expression to their appreciation of his Christian virtues, his nobility of character, his rare intellectual attainments, his wisdom, his eminence as a learned and upright juirist, and the distingished honor he has brought to this college as an almnus and an officer.

This minute will be spread upon the records of the Board and a copy thereof will be sent to his family to whom we extend our deepest sympathy in their sorrow.

Funeral of Justice Barker

The funeral of Justice J. M. Barker '60 was held at 2:30 Thursday afternoon at the First Church of Christ, Pittsfield. Flags on all the public buildings were at half-mast during the day in his honor, and all business was suspended from 2:00 to 5:00.

President Hopkins and five trustees attended the funeral in behalf of the college corporation. A minute passed at the trustees' meeting Thursday is published in another column. The college faculty was represented by Prof. Mears, Prof. Spring, and Prof. Morton. Day '05, Botsford '06, and LaMont '08 were present from the student body. Others from Williamstown who attended were Prof. Rice and Dr. Parsons. Among the honorary bearers were President Hopkins, Judge Joseph Tucker '51, Rev. Dr. C. L. Hutchins '61, Thomas D. Peck '80, and Walter F. Hawkins '84.

A TIE GAME

Loosely Played Game Between Squad Men and High School

A team chosen from the 'varsity football squad played a game with the Williamstown High school on the High school grounds, neither side scoring. The game was very loosely played on both sides, the scrubs' handling of punts being particularly poor. Throughout the first half the ball was in the squad men's territory, but the high school was unable to get it over the line.

The second half was more interesting, a 25-yard end run by Cheney, followed by a 10-yard gain by Neyland, placing the ball on the scrub's 3-yard line. At this point the squad held well, recovered the ball and Brady kicked out of danger. Conover excelled for the Williams squad and Cheney and Gillooley for the High school.

Named Goodrich Hall

At the meeting of the trustees held Thursday morning it was voted to change the name of the old chapel to Goodrich Hall, in honor of John Zacchaeus Goodrich, an early benefactor of the college.

John Z. Goodrich, a native of Berkshire county, was successively member of the House of Representatives, lieutenant governor of Massachusetts (1860) and collector for the port of Boston (1860-1864). It was owing to his generosity that in 1854-65, the old Goodrich Hall was built. The building stood on the site of the Thompson Memorial chapel and was used as a gymnasium, laboratory and chemical lecture-room, and was torn down as unsafe in 1902.

Boys' Club

This week the college Christian association will open the boys' club, which was begun last year by Mr. T. W. Dennett '04. The equipment of the club consists of a small gymnasium and a reading room, both of which will be open from seven till nine o'clock each week day evening.

In order to accomplish this it will be necessary to secure about ten men from the college who will agree to spend an evening each week in either the gymnasium or reading room. Any men who are willing to do this will please notify either J. E. Perry '06 or Mr. W. S. Pettit '05.

Honor System Committee

At the first meeting of this year's honor system committee, held this noon, S. A. Morgan '06 was elected president, and J. A. Bullard '08 secretary.

—A college meeting is called for this evening at 7:30.

OBITUARIES

Ex-'59—Major Sartell Prentice, for many years a prominent Chicago lawyer, died suddenly on Sept. 2, in Nyack, N. Y. Mr. Prentice did not finish his work at Williams, but took a three years' course at a European university and then entered Harvard law school. He served in the civil war as lieutenant, and was brevetted to the rank of major for gallant work at the Wilderness. At the close of the war he took up his residence and business in Chicago.

Cap and Bells Trials

Trials for Cap and Bells, the dramatic club, were held Thursday and Friday evenings. The following were given second trials: Rogers '07, Ford, Griswold, Westermann, Woodward '08, Carlyle, Hanson, Hazleton, Latson, Maclay Tifft, Toll, Westbrook '09.

The first play will probably be given in North Adams. The club is trying to secure the well known farce "The Man from Mexico."

NOTICES

—Mandolin club rehearsal, Tuesday at 7:15.

—A meeting of the senior class will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m.

—The second trials for Cap and Bells will be held Thursday, October 12 at 7:15 p. m. in Jesup Hall.

—The annual election of officers will take place at the meeting of the Adelphic Union, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. Philotechnian hall.

—Owing to the football game on Wednesday afternoon, it is necessary that the freshman parade on that day start from the gymnasium promptly at 2 o'clock. To make this possible it is requested by the senior committee that the entire freshman class with the exception of those otherwise notified, report at the gymnasium at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon.

—The entries for the annual fall tennis tournament will close at six o'clock Wednesday evening. The entrance fee of $.25 must be handed before that time to any one of the following men:—Schell '06, Smith '06, Linen '07, Westcott '08 and T. K. Thompson '08. The drawings will be posted, and the playing begin, on Thursday morning.

A TIE GAME

Loosely Played Game Between Squad Men and High School

A team chosen from the 'varsity football squad played a game with the Williamstown High school on the High school grounds, neither side scoring. The game was very loosely played on both sides, the scrubs' handling of punts being particularly poor. Throughout the first half the ball was in the squad men's territory, but the high school was unable to get it over the line.

The second half was more interesting, a 25-yard end run by Cheney, followed by a 10-yard gain by Neyland, placing the ball on the scrub's 3-yard line. At this point the squad held well, recovered the ball and Brady kicked out of danger. Conover excelled for the Williams squad and Cheney and Gillooley for the High school.

Named Goodrich Hall

At the meeting of the trustees held Thursday morning it was voted to change the name of the old chapel to Goodrich Hall, in honor of John Zacchaeus Goodrich, an early benefactor of the college.

John Z. Goodrich, a native of Berkshire county, was successively member of the House of Representatives, lieutenant governor of Massachusetts (1860) and collector for the port of Boston (1860-1864). It was owing to his generosity that in 1864-65, the old Goodrich Hall was built. The building stood on the site of the Thompson Memorial chapel and was used as a gymnasium, laboratory and chemical lecture-room, and was torn down as unsafe in 1902.

Boys' Club

This week the college Christian association will open the boys' club, which was begun last year by Mr. T. W. Dennett '04. The equipment of the club consists of a small gymnasium and a reading room, both of which will be open from seven till nine o'clock each week day evening.

In order to accomplish this it will be necessary to secure about ten men from the college who will agree to spend an evening each week in either the gymnasium or reading room. Any men who are willing to do this will please notify either J. E. Perry '06 or Mr. W. S. Pettit '05.

Honor System Committee

At the first meeting of this year's honor system committee, held this noon, S. A. Morgan '06 was elected president, and J. A. Bullard '08 secretary.

—A college meeting is called for this evening at 7:30.

OBITUARIES

Ex-'59—Major Sartell Prentice, for many years a prominent Chicago lawyer, died suddenly on Sept. 2, in Nyack, N. Y. Mr. Prentice did not finish his work at Williams, but took a three years' course at a European university and then entered Harvard law school. He served in the civil war as lieutenant, and was brevetted to the rank of major for gallant work at the Wilderness. At the close of the war he took up his residence and business in Chicago.

Cap and Bells Trials

Trials for Cap and Bells, the dramatic club, were held Thursday and Friday evenings. The following were given second trials: Rogers '07, Ford, Griswold, Westermann, Woodward '08, Carlyle, Hanson, Hazleton, Latsen, Maclay Tifft, Toll, Westbrook '09.

The first play will probably be given in North Adams. The club is trying to secure the well known farce "The Man from Mexico."

NOTICES

—Mandolin club rehearsal, Tuesday at 7:15.

—A meeting of the senior class will be held Tuesday at 1:30 p. m.

—The second trials for Cap and Bells will be held Thursday, October 12 at 7:15 p. m. in Jesup Hall.

—The annual election of officers will take place at the meeting of the Adelphic Union, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. Philotechnian hall.

—Owing to the football game on Wednesday afternoon, it is necessary that the freshman parade on that day start from the gymnasium promptly at 2 o'clock. To make this possible it is requested by the senior committee that the entire freshman class with the exception of those otherwise notified, report at the gymnasium at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon.

—The entries for the annual fall tennis tournament will close at six o'clock Wednesday evening. The entrance fee of $.25 must be handed before that time to any one of the following men:—Sebell '06, Smith '06, Linen '07, Westcott '08 and T. K. Thompson '08. The drawings will be posted, and the playing begin, on Thursday morning.

THIRD GOLF VICTORY

Mohawk Team Defeated at Schenectady in Close Game

The Mohawk Golf club lost to the college team Saturday afternoon on the Schenectady links by a score of 14 to 9, old style scoring. The eighteen hole course of the Mohawk club was in excellent shape, although the greens were a trifle fast. The Schenectady players have a strong team, having recently won the Central New York championship. The score follows:

CIRCUS DAY

Skilled Artists Perform in Williamstown

Bosco, Lumbricus Terrestris, and Delirium Tremens—The Parade in Detail—List of Paraders—Antics on Weston Field—Ball Game Won by Freshmen.

In the past, Williamstown pageants have not been remarkable for their variety. The minstrel shows, Uncle Tom's Cabin, the occasional melodrama come each year. It is seldom, indeed, that a circus reaches the confines of even our eastern neighbor. Never in a Williamstown parade, we venture to state, has such histrionic talent been shown, or so extensive a menagerie been exhibited, as in the freshman parade of yesterday. The band discoursed sweet strains in the usual circus time and tune; the hussars rode their prancing steeds with the ease and grace of the circus rider. The senior committee can be likened to the brazen-voiced ringmasters, directing the whole and chastising the offenders.

In the animal exhibition "Sorepaw and Sorawny Bill" outdid themselves. No savage from the East Indies ever roamed up and down his massive cage with the restlessness and ferocity of Bosco-who-eats-'em-alive, the dissecting room of our Biological Laboratory never saw a wrigglier earthworm than Lumbricus Terrestris, and Delirium Tremens looked woe-begone and jaded enough to be a horrible example for all who beheld him. The c-antelopes played Romeo and Juliet, not, to be sure, exactly like Shakespeare, but yet with all the warmth of true love; the Indians, painted, blanketed, and tomahawked, whooped in true Pawnee style, while the monkey roamed about the Greylock piazza on his four paws with the combined prehensile grace and Italian politeness of the true circus Simian.

The wan governess led her six charges in safety through all the turmoil of the day, the Agony Quartette proved its right to its name, and Annie Oakley's vivacity and horsemanship could only have been surpassed by the original Annie herself. The clowns, when aroused by the omnipotent committee, made fun for friend and foe. Seniors were charged, spy-glasses levelled at embarassed bystanders, and dignified football coaches offered confections, which,

Williams Defeats M. A. C. in Hard-fought Game

Williams defeated the Amherst "Aggies" 12 to 0 on Weston Field yesterday, scoring one touchdown in each half. While Williams was strong on the offense, the defense was weak, particularly in the first half. The backs showed poor work in handling punts, but their brilliant end running partially offset this fault. Jaeckel ran the team well and backed up the line strongly.

Williams played fast at the start and scored in the first nine minutes of play. Cobb kicked off to Jaeckel, who ran the ball back ten ysrds. By continued short gains outside tackle, with runs around end by D. Brown and A. Brown, Williams advanced the ball to the 35-yard line, from which A. Brown rsn around the end for a touchdown. Bixby kicked goal. From Williams' kick-off the "Aggies" steadily advanced the ball and the half ended with the leather in their possession on Williams' 35-yard line.

Robb took Bates' place at full at the beginning of the second half. Bixby kicked off to Wood. M. A. C. was penalized five yards and Williams secured the ball. After losing it again, the Purple finally scored another touchdown on line-bucks by Robb, D. Brown and A. Brown, C. Brown, who took D. Brown's place at half, scoring the second touchdown. Bixby kicked goal. Soon after the kick-off Williams fumbled and Brown of M. A. C. kicked the ball back of the Purple's goal line. Elder of Williams, however, fell upon the ball and saved a touchdown.

COLLEGE MEETING

Strict Training Upheld—Scholle '06 Elected Debating Manager

By unanimous vote at a college meeting held Monday night the following resolution aiming at a reform in the spirit of training for college teams was adopted.

Resolved: "That it is the opinion of the student body of Williams college that strict training in accordance with the rules prescribed by the coaches and captains be observed by all members of athletic teams, and that a captain who overlooks cases of lax training shall be considered unworthy of his position."

The meeting was opened and conducted by Perry '06. In emphasizing the importance of the subject he said that conscientious training has results far beyond athletic successes. Capt. Bixby pleaded for a spirit of disapproval of the athlete who does not train strictly. He offered the resolution in the belief that it should voice college sentiment. Cowell '06 added that beyond a doubt a man gets more out of himself as a result of training, and it is due the college that every member of a team should give the best he has.

Scholle '06 was elected manager of debating, in place of Perry, resigned, and upon a motion by Nomer providing for an assistant manager, Allen '07 was elected to that position. Other speeches were made at the meeting by Burnap '06 and Curtiss '06.

Class Prayer Meetings

The weekly class prayer meetings will be held at 7:15 p. m. Friday. The topic is "Two Types of Purity," Matthew 15; 1-20. The leaders are as follows:—1906, Lowe; 1907, Clark; 1908, Deyo; 1909, Pettit.

VOL. 19 OCTOBER 12, 1905, No. 30

The Honor System at Amherst

The honor system of conducting examinations, adopted by the Amherst student body last June, has been approved by the faculty and is now in operation at that college. We congratulate Amherst upon taking this action, and feel confident that the system will be as successful as it has been at Williams.

The constitution differs slightly from that of Williams. Several of its sections are, however, taken word for word from the Williams constitution. In view of this, and that Williams has had nine years' experience with the system, has enjoyed its benefits and corrected its faults, we venture to offer a suggestion and hope it may be brought to the attention of the committee. Article IV, Section 1, of the new constitution reads in part as follows: "In case of apparent fraud in examination, the detector shall first speak to the offending party. Should the offender show there is a mistake, the matter drops at once". We fear the observance of this clause may be attended with difficulties, since it makes every man his fellow's judge and deprives the student committee of its power to deal with all cases. It has been found here at Williams that the value of the honor system lies in uncompromising adherence to the principles upon which it is based. Article IV, Section I, of the Williams constitution reads as follows: "In case of reported frauds in examinations, the committee shall summon the accused person or persons, who shall be from the student body only * * * * and shall conduct a formal investigation * * *."

The Spirit of the Honor System

President Hopkins and the student committee have interpreted the honor system to the freshman class. Enough time has been given since the opening of the term for every new man in college to become fairly well acquainted with the provisions of the constitution, and the purpose of this, the most respected of all the institutions of Williams. The subject has already been so well presented that we may pass over many of its features.

The application of such a system as this to the daily life of the student presupposes the existence in him of some spark of honor. It also takes for granted earnestness of purpose, that he is sincere in his desire to get from the college what he can, by his own efforts. The honor system is ideal in its conception. Why it has attained such success at Williams can not be explained in a word. We believe that the fear of the consequences of detection in case of fraud influences only a small per cent. Tradition, even in this short time, has had some share in the event. No one doubts that the principle is right. If the new-comer accepts the conditions and decides to live in the atmosphere of the honor system, the question of unfairness, as far as he is concerned, will not trouble him during his course. But this acceptance must be unconditional.

"I have neither given nor received aid in this examination," is the formula that a man must be able to sign at all times. To refuse to sign the honor statement, and accept a mark of zero on an examination, implies that a man enters into the agreement with the proviso, "what I can gain by luck, and not be found out by being asked to make the statement, is mine." This man could sign his name at once and be no more guilty of breaking his agreement, for he has violated the spirit of the honor system. He is engaging in a game of chance, and honor has no part in his method of life. He feels that he is expected to cheat if he can, an attitude directly opposed to the system; to do away with this feeling the presence of proctors in the examination hall was discontinued.

President Wilson of Princeton, in writing of "The True Basis of the Honor System," describes it as self government by conscience. The standards of the community are definitely fixed, and every man must live up to them. It is hard to report to the committee cases of fraud in examination. Yet, in obeying the letter, one possesses also the true spirit of the honor system.

COMMUNICATION

All communications must be signed. The board assumes no responsibility, however, for the facts as stated or the opinions expressed in this department.

Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 7, 1905.

Editor Williams Record.

Sir:—I have somewhere heard that Williams needed a song of dignified character, fitted for occasions when a more tripping measure would perhaps savor of frivolity. As an attempt to fill this want, I here submit a few verses set to the "Russian National Hymn." Possibly the stately rhythm, easy compass, and admirable carrying power of this famous air—when coupled with Williams words—may help to celebrate the bounty of our benefactors, to hail the completion of a new building, or, best of all, to stay the enemy on our five-yard line.

Sincerely,
TALCOTT MINER BANKS.

Unshaken stand the everlasting mountains,
Circled majestic 'round the walls we love;
Unceasing flow for us a thousand crystal fountains,
Filled from the bounty of the skies above.

So steadfast shall endure our Alma Mater's glory,
Rising triumphant over all her foes;
Brave hearts exult to tell the honors of her story,
Gladly they follow where her banner goes.

Williams, thrice hail to thee! We pledge our last endeavor,
Long as the breath of life our bosom fills;
And, through the coming years, thy loyal sons shall ever
Cheer for the purple of the Berkshire hills!

President Stephen B. L. Penrose '85 has written an interesting article on his college days at Williams, in The Whitman College Pioneer for Oct. 3. The paper is on file in the press room.

DEBATING OFFICERS

Chosen at Adelphic Union Meeting —A Harvard System Adopted

At the meeting of the Adelphic Union held in the Philologian hall Wednesday evening Hulst '06, was elected president and Nomer '06 secretary.

Mr. Lewis outlined the system of choosing debaters in vogue at Harvard. There, all candidates speak for five minutes before judges who select twelve or fifteen for a second trial. These men speak for ten minutes and six are chosen from among them to form the first and second teams. The plan was discussed, but action was deferred until a subsequent meeting.

There will be a sing for the entire college at 7:30 tonight in Jesup Hall.

Circus Day

in justice to the Williams principles of strict training, let it be said, they one and all steruly refused. The fun closed with Annie Oakley's wild western dash up Spring street, bringing the merchants quaking to their doors, and serving as a fitting prelude to the triumphal march to Weston Field.

Order of March

The parade left the gymnasium at 2:00. The order of march was as follows: (1) The drag with the senior committee and others, containing Cantwell, Cowell, Curtiss, R. F. Day, Fitch, Griswold, Hogan, Hulst, McAllister, Perry, Schell, Wakefield, Wooster; (2) the standard-bearers (Hertzfeld, Toll); (3) Sousa's Band (Carlisle, Dryfoos, Dumesnil, Hoch, Horrax, Jenkins, Pennell, Stumpp, Winslow, Woodruff); (4) the 1909 baseball team; (5) the twenty royal hussars, (6) the animal cage with Bosco (Hamilton). Lumbricus Terrestris (Bonner), and Delirium Tremens (Atwater); (7) the artillery (Letferts, Maclay, Pike, Robinson); (8) the c-antelopes (Bargfredle and Buttrick); (9) the Indians (Burke, Enrich, Howe, Keith, Kline); (10) the governess (Dodd) and her nursery (Hanson, Klauser, McCuen, Metzger, Mitchell, Santry); (11) the monkey (Wadsworth) with the organ-grinder (Forgan); (12) the cowboys (Cushing, Fowler, Green, Hopkins, Noble); (13) Annie Oakley (Sayre); (14) the clowns (Day, Lichtenhein, Royce, White); (15) the agony quartette (Millard, Spann, Strong, von Witzleben); (16) the remainder of the class, in the traditional reversed coats.

The parade marched up Main street to the Greylock, where posters were distributed, around Field Park, down Main street to Spring street, down Spring street to Latham street and thence to Weston Field.

On Weston Field

The usual "stunts" were performed during the baseball game. A brave hussar met death at the stake in a scene that stirred all the onlookers; Annie Oakley shot a target full of monstrous holes from all awkward positions; Indians, cowboys, and Annie had a Deadwood stage-coach fight without the stage-coach, and once more the agony quartette was forced upon the spectators. Darkness prevented the horse-play on the ball field. The senior committee in charge of the day's celebration was as follows:—F. R. Schell, chairman; W. H. Curtiss, E. I. Cowell, C. Fitch, M. D. Griswold, B. M. Hogan, G. D. Hulst, A. McAllister, J. E. Perry, W. S. Case, S. C. Wooster, jr.

After the game the senior class, in single file, followed the old custom of marching around the diamond, singing class songs. The sweater rush, for the first time in some years, was won by the sophomores, 1908 having two hands on the sweater when the rush broke up. The afternoon closed with the college marching back to the gym., where all classes together, with bared heads, sang "The Mountains."

COLLEGE NOTES

The date of the sophomore-freshman track meet has been changed to Wednesday, Oct. 18.

The freshman football team will play the Hotchkiss school at Lakeville on Saturday.

Jaeckel '07, R. D. Johnson '07 and C. Brown '09 are at the training table.

Rev. C. H. Burr has been confined to his home for a week, suffering from an attack of neuralgia.

Rev. Norman Seaver '54, Harding '57, Du Bois '57, Kincaid '71, Dewey '84, Banks '90, Woodworth ex-'06, Knowles ex-'07 and MacEwan ex-'07 have been in town recently.

In the recent elections for positions in the Hall of Fame of New York university, Mark Hopkins, fourth president of Williams college, received the second highest number of votes among educators.

Coach Ely arrived in town Monday and will remain during the week. Lytle of Princeton is assisting in the coaching of the ends. Drummond of Yale is here to coach the candidates for guards and center.

Honor System Interpreted

After chapel on Tuesday morning Morgan '06, president of the Honor System committee, explained to the freshman class the principles of the Honor System. He also called attention to the decided action which the college took last year against "deals," or guarantees of mutual support in college elections.

DEBATERS CHOSEN

Result of Wesleyan Preliminary Debates Monday Evening

As a result of the Wesleyan preliminary debates, held in the Biological Laboratory Monday evening, the judges, Prof. Maxey, Mr. D. T. Clark and Mr. E. M. Lewis, decided that the team which will meet Wesleyan will be composed of Harold Adin Nomer 1906, of Plainfield, N. J., and Roy Herbert Case 1907, of Canandaigua, N. Y., with Lytel William Matthews 1907, of Westfield, N. Y., as alternate.

The judges of the debates, Professors Wild, Kellogg and Perry, awarded the decision to the affirmative in both contests. The subject of the debate, on the direct primary question, was published in the issue of Sept. 28. Williams will uphold the affirmative at Middletown Nov. 10, the evening before the Williams-Wesleyan football game.

Art Exhibition

Continuing its custom of last year, the art department has placed on exhibition in the rack on the second floor of Hopkins Hall several reproductions of paintings by French and Italian artists. The exhibition includes several heads by Andrea del Sarto, works of Tintoretto, Leonardo de Vinci and Paolo Veronese. The best-known picture in the exhibition is Millet's "Shepherdess." Three of the less well-known pictures of Millet are also exhibited.

Classical Society Organizes

The Classical Society met for the first meeting of the term Tuesday evening in the Library. The meeting was merely for organization purposes and the following officers were elected for the year: President, Clinton Burnett Wilbur 1906, of Somerset; secretary, Harry Cleveland Blagbrough 1907, of Orange. Mr. David T. Clark was elected faculty advisor of the society.

THE NEW QUADRANGLE

Description of Berkshire Hall and South College Extension

Expensive Addition to South College—Size and Location of New Dormitory—Exterior and Interior Finish—Heating and Lighting—Details of Each Section—Cost and Date of Completion

The plans for Berkshire Hall and the addition to South College have now been completed, and work will begin immediately after the contract is let. The specifications have been drawn up and sent out, and are returnable Wednesday noon, Oct. 17, to the committee at Boston, where they will be opened.

Berkshire Hall will stand on the east side of the new Berkshire quadrangle, east of the old observatory, 195 feet from South College and parallel to it, and about as far down the hill as Jackson Hall. It is the first new building to be constructed of the Berkshire quadrangle, one side of which will be formed by East and South Colleges. This Berkshire quadrangle, to be the centre of the dormitory life of the college, has been made possible entirely by the gifts of Berkshire men. Hon. Winthrop Murray Crane, of Dalton, United States senator; Hon. Albert C. Houghton of North Adams, a trustee of the college; and a third friend of the college, whose name is withheld, have each given $25,000 for this purpose. It is expected at some future time that by gifts of Berkshire men a building as a dormitory or commons will be erected on the south side of this new quadrangle, joining Berkshire Hall with the South College extension. This plan would necessitate some change in the present position of Jackson and Clark Halls.

South College Extension

The addition to South College will be 41 feet by 44 feet (the same width as South College at present), on the south side of the building, corresponding exactly in exterior to it three stories in height, and will accommodate 15 men. Two porches will, however be built on the east side of the dormitory, one, over the present east entrance, and one at the upper end of the addition, i. e., just below the south wall of south college as it now stands. These porches will be built entirely of marble, with marble columns and a colonial entablature. Similar porches will be built over the

COLUMBIA WINS

Score 11 to 5—Williams Plays Fast Football but Fumbles

In a game marred by fumbles at critical periods, but exciting from start to finish, Williams was defeated by Columbia at New York Saturday, by the score of 11 to 5. At no time was the final result assured, although early in the second half the score stood 11 to 0 in Columbia's favor.

In actual play, Williams proved herself the superior, advancing the ball twice as far as Columbia, and at times playing a strong defensive game. The Purple, however was not able to gain consistently during the first half, while Columbia's gains all came at the right moment. Elder played especially well while nearly all the back-field deserve credit for their fine offensive work. Columbia's best individual players were Von Saltza and Fisher.

The game was opened by Columbia's kicking off to A. Brown. The ball was soon lost on a fumble. The Purple line however held firmly, and Columbia was forced to punt. After changing hands several times, the leather was carried principally by small gains, to Columbia's 30-yard line, where it was lost on downs. At this point the Blue and White began to play a strong offensive game, and finally, through the poor handling of punts by the Williams backs, and fierce plunges through guard and tackle by Fisher and Von Saltza, made the first touchdown. Time was called soon after, with the ball on the Purple's 45-yard line.

After an unsuccessful attempt at a fake kickoff, Bixby sent the ball over the Blue and White's goal line, where a Columbia player fell upon it for a touchback. Columbia kicked out from her 25-yard line. Williams lost the ball on downs. Columbia was forced to kick but soon recovered the ball on her opponent's 35-yard line, and from that point carried it, chiefly through the tackles, over the line for another score. Fisher kicked goal.

At this point the Purple began to play football. Jaeckel and Johnson were substituted. Williams obtained possession of the ball in the center of the field and long end runs by A. Brown and D. Brown, together with occasional line bucks by Bates and penalties imposed on Columbia, resulted in a touchdown. The attempt at goal failed. After the next kickoff Williams rushed the

DEFEAT OF FRESHMEN

Hotchkiss Wins by Score of 15-0—Outweighs Its Opponents

The freshman football team was defeated by the Hotchkiss school at Lakeville, Saturday by the score of 15 to 0. The freshmen were outweighed and lack of practice was a severe handicap. All the scoring was in the first half.

The work of the freshmen improved in the second half, Hotchkiss never crossing the 25-yard line. The feature of the game was a goal from a place kick by Coy of Hotchkiss from the 35 yard line.

GOLF AT WOLLASTON

New England Intercollegiate Tournament Begins Tomorrow

The annual tournament of the New England intercollegiate golf association begins tomorrow on the links of the Wollaston Golf club, near Boston, and will be finished Friday afternoon. The following colleges will be represented: Dartmouth, Brown, Amherst, Bowdoin, M. I. T., and Williams.

At the meeting of the association, which will be held this evening at the Adams House, the details of play will be arranged and drawings will be made. Team matches will be contested tomorrow and Wednesday, and the individual matches, including the qualifying round, will take place Thursday and Friday. The eighteen hole course of the Wollaston club is in the best of condition, and this, together with the fact that all the college teams have been playing good golf this fall, should insure a hot contest and low scores.

The tournament last year, held on the Springfield course, was won by Amherst, and the individual championship by Anderson of Amherst, winning from Mercer of Brown on the last green. Williams lost to M. I. T. in the first round, by a narrow margin; but defeated M. I. T. and Brown in the second day's play.

The Williams team will play in the following order: 1, A. Mitchell 1907; 2, E. A. Clapp 1906; 3, L. Mitchell 1907; 4, H. Wilcox 1909; 5, A. Gregory 1907.

Freshman Football Schedule

The following schedule has been arranged for the freshman football team:

Oct. 25—Williamstown High school.

Oct. 28—Troy High school.

Nov. 8—Pittsfield High school.

A game with Drury will be added. All the games will be played in Williamstown.

VOL. 19 OCTOBER 16, 1905, No. 31

Commercialism in College Athletics

Reform seems to be the tendency of the times. It has placed its hand on organizations, and public office, but thus far has not reached the college world, where reform is badly needed. The other day President Roosevelt met the athletic advisors of Yale, Harvard and Princeton, and expressed to them his desire to eliminate brutality from the game of football. Unquestionably there is need of a change in the morale of the game, which can be brought about only through the co-operation of athletic officials with the rules committee. A question of far greater importance, however, should be considered first. Commercialism in college athletics has been, and is still, the bane of true athletic spirit in colleges. It must be stamped out at once, or college sport will lose its interest and degenerate into a business proposition. If the door is left open to the hired athlete, the intercollegiate contest will become a disgraceful masquerade. If there is to be any true spirit, culture or refinement, not to mention fair play, in the American college, commercialism must go.

During the past summer magazines and papers all over the country have deplored the existence of this evil. The Outlook devoted almost an entire number to the subject. The attack made upon college athletics in McClure's Magazine last spring, has not been forgotten yet. The New York Evening Post satirically remarked that the athlete might be forced to work for his degree, and said that Princeton, once a famous country club, was in danger of becoming, under the preceptor system, a mere institution of learning. Of late the discussion has waned a bit; the need of reform, is, nevertheless, present still, and with the football season in full sway, has become more evident.

Commercialism should be distinguished from professionalism. The mercenary spirit accompanies both, but in the latter is an individual matter. Professionalism is a problem more easily solved, by intercollegiate agreement among captains to obey the rules governing amateur contests. Commercialism, on the other hand, is more general, for it is openly practiced by coaches and captains, and appears to be tacitly permitted by college authorities. Briefly, the educational institution that hires players to uphold its athletic prestige, is guilty of commercialism.

Examples are many and well known. The athlete of recognized ability has all his expenses paid at a preparatory school. The same applies to college. In some cases the financial part of the agreement takes the form of a situation offered, with fabulous pay attached. Again, the athelete takes the good end of a large wager that the car will run off the track. The question becomes one of money, and the highest bidder wins.

All small colleges are not free from commercialism. In the majority, however, it is entirely absent, and in others less pronounced than in the large universities. In contending with an institution that maintains a team of hired players, the small college is under a disadvantage. It has recourse to but one method of defense—lowering the standard of scholarship, by easing up on entrance requirements.

Occasionally a step, never radical enough, is taken in the right direction. But commercialism is not a question to be settled by rules and regulations, and agreements of professional coaches; alumni, athletic supporters, or captains. The solution rests with the faculty and trustees. When athletics take such a turn that they are detrimental to the best interests of an institution, the time is certainly at hand when reform should come from the power that regulates the affairs of the college and determines its policy.

Cap and Bells Elections

At the final trials for Cap and Bells, the dramatic club, held Thursday evening, the following men, all members of the freshman class, were elected to membership: John Howe Carlisle of Passaic, N. J., Joseph Osgood Hanson of Chicago, Everett L. Hazelton of Portland, Me., Almet R. Latson jr., of Brooklyn, N. Y., Henry B. Pennell jr., of Portland, Me., Louis E. Tifft of Springfield; Stillman F. Westbrook of Ogdensburg, N. Y.

STUDENT CONFERENCE

Third Annual Meeting at South Hadley—Program and Speakers

The third annual Connecticut Valley student missionary conference will be held at Mt. Holyoke college, South Hadley, Mass., Friday and Saturday, October 20 and 21, 1905. The members of the conference are Amherst, Berkeley Divinity school, Dartmouth, Hartford Theological seminary, M. A. C., Mount Hermon, Mount Holyoke, Northfield seminary, Smith, Y. M. C. A. Training school, Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams and Yale.

Special rates have been granted by the railroads, making round trip tickets from Williamstown cost $2.20. These tickets are good going from Oct. 19 to Oct. 23, and returning from Oct. 20 to Oct. 24.

The annual meeting of the Student Volunteer Union of Western Massachusetts will be held Friday afternoon. The opening session of the conference will be addressed by Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd, D. D., general secretary of the Protestant Episcopal board of domestic and foreign missions. Other addresses will be given by the Rev. S. M. Zwemer, of Arabia. Mr. Harlan P. Beach, Mr. J. B. Rodgers, and the Rev. H. St. George Tucker.

Geological Specimens

Through the generosity of a friend of the college, a valuable collection of tertiary fossils was purchased during the past summer, and added to the college museum in Clark Hall.

The purchase was made from Mr. Wells of Sturgis, S. D., an aged geologist, who had collected the specimens from the bad lands of South Dakota. The fossils are in an exceptionally fine state of preservation; they include a number of skulls, both large and small, a large turtle, and several hoofs. A full description of them will be given later.

In addition to this collection, a number of models of instruments made by prehistoric men have been placed in Clark Hall. These include models of carved bone daggers and knife handles, pieces of mastodon tusks with figures of mastodons carved in them, and other articles of ornament and use belonging to the stone age.

ALUMNI NEWS

'85—Hon. Bentley W. Warren, on account of pressure of other duties, has resigned his position on the state civil service board, of which he was chairman.

The New Quadrangle

two east entrances to East and probably over the two west entrances.

The interior of the addition will be fitted up in the best possible manner, with two suites, of a study and two bed-rooms, on each floor. Each of these suites will have extensive bath-room fixtures. In addition, since the ground falls away so rapidly toward the rear, three single rooms can be accommodated in a fourth lower floor. General toilet accommodations will also be placed in the basement. All the studies and single rooms will be provided with fire-places.

The addition will be partially fireproof, being built throughout in what is known as slow-burning construction. All the halls and floors will be of hard maple. The building will be plastered on wire lath, and the staircases will be of metal with slate treads. The brick wall at the south end of South College will be left untouched, thus affording a secure fire partition between old South College and the new addition. The architect's estimate of the cost of the addition is $25,000.

The New Dormitory

The new dormitory will be 115 feet long and 44 feet wide, will be three stories high, accommodating 42 men, and will be of the same general shape as Morgan Hall. The wings will extend to the eastward, and the straight side of the building will face South College.

Exterior Description

The exterior will be of simple colonial design corresponding in general character with East and South Colleges. This simplicity of design will be broken only by three marble colonial porches, one in the center of the west side, one in the center of the north end, and one in the center of the south end, corresponding in detail to the porches to be built on East and South.

The building will be built of a superior quality of dark red brick, with white marble trimmings. The cornice and trimmings above will be of glazed terra cotta to match the marble. Eventually East and South will probably be repainted to correspond with Berkshire Hall, or else Berkshire Hall will also be painted cream color.

Interior Description

The interior of the building has been planned to accommodate men of varying means. Elaborate suites, as well equipped and as expensive as any of the college dormitories, will be provided in the south wing, while in the central section and the north wing, as well as a few expensive suites, several single rooms are planned of moderate prices.

Fire Proof Construction

The interior structure will make the building absolutely fire-proof. The central section will be separated from each wing by a fire-proof wall, with a corridor the length of the building in the basement. All the floors will be of hard maple, resting on concrete floor slabs on steel beams, and the furring throughout will be of wire lath. The staircase will be iron with slate treads, and the roof will be of asphalt composition.

Both Berkshire Hall and the South College addition will be finished in brown ash, with corridors finished in hard plaster and all walls painted and ceilings tinted. Both buildings will be lighted by electricity and heated with direct steam.

The North Wing

The north wing of the building is designed to accommodate 14 men, in single rooms, and, in general plan will resemble one of the central entries of Morgan Hall. The rooms, 14 feet by 16 feet, will be on the northeast and northwest corners of each floor.

Back of each of these rooms will be a second single room of the same size, and a fifth single room is provided for on each floor, opposite the entrance on the first floor and over it on the second and third. In case there is little demand for single rooms, each floor can be changed into two suites with individual bedrooms, one containing two men and one three, or two two-man suites and one single room. Toilet accommodations for both the north wing and central section will be in the basement, since the contour of the ground, as in Griffin Hall, admits suitable light from the rear. Janitor's rooms, trunk rooms and store rooms will be constructed in the basement.

The Central Entry

The central entry is designed to accommodate sixteen men, is arranged on the same general plan as the east entry of Morgan Hall, and is, like the north wing, so arranged as to permit of single rooms or suites, according to the demand. The rooms will be used next fall as double rooms. On each side of the entrance will be a study 14 by 16 feet with two bedrooms, 8 by 11 feet, back of it. A fifth room, of nearly the same size as the bedrooms, just back of the entrance, will be used either as a single room, or as a third bedroom for one of the suites.

The South Wing

The south wing will contain six suites, two on each floor, and will accommodate twelve men. The suites will be located on each side of the entrance. The studies will be 16 by 14 feet and will all contain fireplaces. The bedrooms will be back of the studies, and will be reached by short private corridors. Each corridor will, in

The Cost and the Architects

The architects' estimate of the cost of the dormitory is $60,000, and the buildings are to be completed Aug. 15, 1906. Allen and Collins of Boston, who drew the plans for the Thompson Memorial Chapel, are the architects, and the contractors will be determined when the bids are opened Wednesday.

OBITUARY

'45—Rev. David Lyman Buttolph died on Aug. 7, at Msrietta, Ga., aged eighty-two years. Dr. Buttolph was the son of David Buttolph of the class of 1803; he was born in 1822 at Norwich, N. Y., and after graduating from Williams, went south where he taught school. After graduating from a theological school in Columbia, S. C., in 1852, he entered the ministry and was pastor of churches at Charleston, S. C., Midway, Ga., and from 1867 to 1887, of the Presbyterian church at Marietta. He received the degree of D. D., from the University of Georgia in 1879.

'48—Hon. Daniel Ephraim Safford died recently at his home in Hamilton, Mass. He was born in Hamilton; prepared at Andover academy, graduated from Williams in 1848, and from Harvard Law school in the class of 1850. Mr. Safford practised law continually from then until the time of his death, and for eighteen years was justice of the first district court. He was a member of both the Massachusetts House of Representatives and the State Senate.

'49—Rev. Timothy Allyn Hazen died at his home in Springfield on July 15, aged 79 years. Mr. Hazen was born in Agawam in 1826, prepared for college at Westfield and graduated from Williams in 1849. Having studied theology at East Windsor, Conn., and graduated from Union Theological seminary in New York in 1853, he was successively pastor of churches in Dalton, Broad Brook, South Egremont, Housatonic, Goshen (Conn.), Interlaken and Great Barrington. Ill health was the cause of his retirement from active work sixteen years ago.

'53—Hon. Egbert Henry Fairchild died suddenly of apoplexy at the home of his daughter in Minneapolis on Aug. 3, aged 72. He was born in Ogdensburg, N. Y., in 1833. After graduating from Williams, Mr. Fairchild studied law, and taught school. In 1858 he made New York city his home, and was engaged with his father in the construction of the "New Reservoir" in Central Park. He was afterwards secretary of the Hudson and Harlem River Canal Co., and later moved to Sioux City, Ia.

THE DARTMOUTH GAME

Coach Ely Thinks Team Has a Chance—The Line-ups

Williams meets Dartmouth at Hanover Saturday in her first big football match of the year. Dartmouth is this year both lighter and more inexperienced than last, and the Purple has almost an even chance to win. No basis of comparative scores is possible for the two teams, but Dartmouth's defeat by Colgate at Hanover last Saturday shows that the Green is not invincible.

In the line the two teams are about equal. Colgate was unable to make any gains on Dartmouth from tackle to tackle, scoring its touchdowns on brilliant end runs. Williams averages 200 lbs. from tackle to tackle and has the heaviest team in its history. Dartmouth's back-field is fast and very heavy, and it is the constant battering of these weighty, experienced backs that Williams has most to fear. The Dartmouth team is reported in condition, and the Williams eleven will all be in good shape by Saturday.

When seen last night, Coach Ely said: "If the team can play consistent football at the form they showed in the second half of the Columbia game, they will win. The line-men must play low, and the backs well together. The team as a whole is better than last year's team before the Dartmouth game, and Dartmouth is reported weaker, so if the men can remember to play hard football all the time, and not show the streaks of indifferent playing they exhibited much of the time at Columbia, we should have a fair chance. To play hard and play together all the time is the secret."

Dartmouth will start the game with the following line-up:

Church l. e., Bankart l. t., Thayer l. g., Dillingham c., Gage r. g., Laing r. t. R. Glaze r. e., J. Glaze q. b., Main (Capt.) l. h. b., Herr r. h. b., Rich f. b.

The Williams line-up, with ages, weights and heights of the players, is as follows:

Name	Pos.	Age	Ht.	Wt.
Elder	le	19	5.7½	158
Bixby	lt	21	6.2	185

FRESHMAN VICTORY

Sixteen-Point Margin Wins Annual Underclass Track Meet

The annual freshman-sophomore track meet was held on Weston Field yesterday afternoon and was won by 1909 with 66⅔ points to 50⅓ made by 1908. The weather was less of a factor than it was a year ago, and although a light rain fell during the early events the track was firm and in excellent condition. The thirteen events were not finished till five o'clock, the large number of entries in almost every event causing a delay.

While no surprises were developed in the line of new material, the times and distances were generally very creditable and lend promise of a well-balanced team for the coming spring. The best performances were made in the mile, half-mile and broad jump. The best individual work was done by Capt. Allen and Clark of the sophomores, each of whom won 10 points, and by Capt. Horrax of the freshmen, who captured four firsts and a third. Swain 1909 also did excellent work. The half-mile run and the finals of the low hurdles were well contested, the judges being unable to agree upon the winner of first place in the latter event. Following is the summary:

100-yards dash.—Clark '08 first, Green '09 second, Watters '08 third; time 11 sec.

220-yards dash.—Clark '08 first, Watters '08 second, Strobel '09 third; time, 24 3-5 sec.

440-yards run.—Johnston '09 first, Hoch '09 second, Fenno '08 third; time 56 1-5 sec.

Half-mile run.—Allen '08 first, Holmes '09 second, Leeds '08 third; time, 2 min., 8 4-5 sec.

One mile run.—Allen '08 first, Loomis '09 second, Goodbody '08 third; time 4 min., 55 sec.

120-yards hurdles.—Horrax '09 first, Matz '09 second, Mayer '09 third; time 17 sec.

220-yards hurdles.—Swain '09 and Mayer '09 tied for first, Dodd '09 third; time 29 4-5 sec.

High jump.—Atwater '09, Horrax '09, Matz '09 and Strobel '09 tied at 5 ft., 1 in., the tie not being jumped off.

Broad jump.—Horrax '09 first, 20 ft., 2 in., Jenkins '09 second, 18 ft., 3½in., T. W. Fowle '08 third, 17 ft., 7 in.

Pole vault.—Horrax '09 first, L. R. Fowle '08 second, Hoch '09, Tifft '09 and Searritt '08 tied for third; height, 9 feet.

Shot Put.—Marshall '08 first.

FIRST AT GOLF

Williams Team Champions—Two Men in Semi-finals

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17—In the finals of the New England intercollegiate golf tournament, played on the links of the Wollaston Golf club at Montclair this afternoon, Williams defeated M. I. T. by a score of 10 to 4, winning the championship title. The team play in the morning resulted in a decided victory for Williams over Amherst, and the defest of Brown by Technology. The score in the Williams-Amherst match was 23 to 0, not a single Amherst player being able to score. Under the ordinary straight hole system of scoring the result would have been Williams 36, Amherst 0.

The match with Technology was closer, but at the end of the first nine holes it was evident that Williams would win by a comfortable margin. In the morning round Mitchell scored a 77, bogey for the course; Wilcox made both rounds in 79, the best total for the day.

At the meeting of the executive committee Monday evening it was decided to adopt the Tuxedo, or intercollegiste system of scoring, a point for the match, and half a point for every hole won. Tufts, Dartmouth and Bowdoin were represented, but did not enter teams in the championship contest. These colleges will probably enter players in the individual contest.

The first round resulted as follows:

Williams		Amherst
A. Mitchell	4½	R. H. Flynt	0
E. Clapp	2	A. M. Rowley	0
L. Mitchell	7½	N. F. Faunce	0
H. Wilcox	5½	F. Thayer	0

CONTRACT AWARDED

L. D. Willcutt and Son to Construct Berkshire Hall—The Cost

The bids for the construction of Berkshire Hall were opened in Boston yesterday noon at the office of Bentley W. Warren '85, in the presence of Mr. Warren, President Henry Lefavour '83 and President Hopkins. The contract was swarded to the lowest bidder, L. D. Willcutt snd Son of Boston, who built the new chapel. The contrsct price was about $60,000, and did not include plumbing, heating or grading. The total cost of the dormitory will probably be about $75.000. Work will be begun on the foundations at once.

As the plans of the South College extension were slightly altered, no bids were recieved on this portion of the work. President Hopkins said last night that the probable cost of the sddition would be $25,000.

Dr. Cadman to Preach

Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, D. D. of Brooklyn, will preach in the chapel next Sunday morning and will also address the Y. M. C. A. meeting in Jesup Hall at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Cadman was the pastor of the Metropolitan Temple for five years, and since 1900 has been pastor of the Central Congregational church, Brooklyn. Dr. Cadman has been heard in Williamstown several times in recent years, and is a powerful speaker who always commands careful attention.

Missionary Conference

All men intending to attend the missionary conference at South Hadley tomorrow and Saturday should see either Perry '06 or secretary Pettit at once. A party is planned to leave Williamstown Friday afternoon. By obtaining registration cards from Perry or Pettit, members of the party will be entertained Friday night in South Hadley. Details of the conference were published in the last issue of The Record.

Two-hour Courses

The Williams curriculum, as at present arranged under the group system, consists almost wholly of courses in which the recitations are held three or more times a week, with practically no classes whose recitations are held less frequently. That these large time-divisions are unwieldy is apparent. More than one course, especially in the language departments, must be subdivided, the study of the course proper claiming its portion of time, while the study of other subjects related to it but not forming an integral part of it demands a third or fourth hour, as the case may be. Again, in other courses relics of the old term system survive, and essentially different divisions of a study may be given together as a united course. Thus a student wishing to include a desired topic in his schedule is often obliged, in these subdivided courses, to devote a part of his time to other studies included in the course which may be distasteful or useless to him.

Nor does the difficulty lie only in the fact that often the wheat and the chaff can not be separated in our intellectual food. To make the statement that courses are not given because of this three-hour limit which seems to have crystallized would be farcical. The point remains, however, that there are certain subjects, whose nature demands two-hour limits, which could well be offered at Williams today. Brief periods, units in themselves, too short to be treated in a three-hour semester course, and too important to be united with other courses, lie in this class. Particular phases of a subject, not admitting of long detailed treatment, but of distinct importance, as (in language courses) composition, conversation, life and manners, etc., require a two-hour limit.

Thirdly, a general establishment of two-hour courses would permit greater specialization in many studies where at present specialization is lacking. A student's energies could be concentrated on a particular brief period or phase, and his individual bent allowed to develop itself in the more minute subdivisions of a subject.

To pick flaws in any curriculum is easy, to point their remedies difficult. The group system, from the stand-point of the student body, has worked out with unusual success. This subdivision of present courses, and elimination of desired courses which, if given, must naturally be two-hour courses, is today the only large defect in its general plan. In the addition of new two-hour courses, and the resolution of some present three and four-hour courses into their component two-hour courses, lies the cure for the defect.

We would not argue for an arrangement of courses like that at Wesleyan—under the university system, to be sure, but comparable with Williams when the registrations of the two are considered—where 60 per cent of the courses are two-hour courses, but we do believe that, through a golden mean between present-dsy Wesleyan and Williams, through the presentation of a proportion of two-hour courses about the same as at Dartmouth, where 15 per cent are for that time, would result an improvement in the curriculum of the college.

IN CLARK HALL

The Wells Collection of Extinct Vertebrates Purchased

It is usually impossible to purchase specimens of extinct vertebrates that have been collected by competent men. Recently Williams college was so fortunate as to secure in this way a collection of exceptionally fine skulls and other portions of the skeletons of tertiary animals from the Bad Lands of South Dakota. This collection has been mounted and placed on exhibition in Clark Hall. Among the specimens of this collection the most striking are the following:

A skull, vertebrae and some of the leg bones of Titanatherium, an animal which attained elephantine proportions. The most striking feature of the head is the saddle-shaped skull with two horns on either side of the nose. In order that the appearance of the animal may be understood, a restoration of the whole animal, in plaster by Knight, is placed by the skull. It is expected that, in the near future, the horns necessary to complete this skeleton will be secured and the mounted skeleton placed on exhibition. The evolution of the horns is shown by restorations of a series of five heads representing the line of descent.

Another remarkable specimen, which will be on exhibition soon, is that of a giant pig of the tertiary, with a head almost a yard long, the cheeks of which extend down below the lower jaw. A photograph of the restoration of this animal gives an excellent idea of its appearance in life.

The shell of a Tertiary sea-turtle is now on exhibition. The skull and jaws of a sea-reptile, Mososaur, are now being prepared and will be on exhibition before the close of the winter.

The skulls of a number of smaller animals, although less striking in appearance, are equally valuable for teaching purposes, since they show the progress of evolution of the families which they represent. Mention should also be made of the restoration in plaster of the huge reptile, Brontosaurus. This animal was, as far as our knowledge goes, the longest that has ever lived, attaining a length of eighty feet.

Individual Champ'onship

Boston, Oct. 18—The medal round for the individual championship was played this morning.

The following sixteen qualified:

H. Wilcox, Williams	83
A. Mitchell, Williams	83
E. Clapp, Williams	83
W. G. Pfeil, Technology	84
C. D. Mercer, Brown	84
O. W. Potter, Technology	85
A. Gregory, Williams	85
W. F. Garby, Dartmouth	85
L. W. Mitchell, Williams	88
T. M. Gilmer, Technology	88
R. L. Flynt, Amherst	88
N. F. Faunce, Amherst	89
F. R. Upton, Bowdoin	89
P. H. Brown, Bowdoin	90
R. H. Peck, Dartmouth	91
R. B. Jones, Brown	91

The weather was as clear as yesterday, but a stiff wind blowing across the course prevented low scoring. Three Williams players tied with an 83, for low score.

The first round was played this afternoon and resulted as follows:

A. Mitchell, Williams, 4 and 3 from L. Mitchell, Williams; Mercer, Brown, 8 and 6 from Faunce, Amherst; Peck, Dartmouth, 1 up (21 holes) from Potter, M. I. T., Wilcox, Williams, 4 and 3 from Flynt, Amherst; Pfeil, M. I. T., 5 and 4 from Upton, Bowdoin; Jones, Brown, 1 up from Garby, Dartmouth; Gregory, Williams, 2 and 1 from Brown, Bowdoin; Clapp, Williams, 5 and 4 from Gilmer, M. I. T.

Second Round

[By telephone to The Record]

Boston, Mass., Oct. 19, 2 p. m. In the second round of the individual championship, played this morning, the results were as follows: A. Mitchell, Williams, won from Mercer, Brown, 1 up, 19 holes; Peck, Dartmouth, won from Wilcox, Williams, 4 and 2; Pfeil, M. I. T., won from Jones, Brown, 2 and 1; Clapp, Williams, won from Gregory, Williams, 5 and 4. The match between A. Mitchell and Mercer, runner-up in last year's championship, was hard fought. Mitchell went out in 38, two under bogey, but Mercer squared the match by winning the last three holes. On the 19th green Mitchell won his way to the semi-finals by holing a long putt.

Class Prayer Meetings

The regular class prayer meetings will be held Friday at 7:30 p. m. in Jesup Hall. The subject will be "Christian work in this vicinity," Matt. 9; 36-38.

Leaders are as follows: 1906, Lowe; 1907, Mathews; 1908, Fischer; 1909, Morgan '06.

Former Dartmouth-Williams Football Games

Dartmouth and Williams first met at football in 1888 and since that time have played each other in every year except 1900. Out of the sixteen games played, Williams has won three times, in 1890, 1891, and 1899. Williams has scored 72 points, Dartmouth 260. It is interesting to note that Williams has kept Dartmouth from scoring but once, in 1890, while the Purple has failed to score seven times. The scores of the games follow:

Year	Williams	Dartmouth
1888	6	36
1889	9	20
1891	14	6
1892	12	24
1893	0	20
1894	0	10
1895	5	10
1896	0	10
1897	0	52
1898	6	10
1899	12	10
1900	No game
1901	2	6
1902	0	18
1903	0	17
1904	0	11

COLLEGE NOTES

Fire hoses have been placed on all the standpipes in Morgan Hall.

The first regular meetings of the literary societies were held last evening.

Mr. Lewis will be out of town every Friday, teaching at the Yale Divinity school at New Haven.

The out-door board track is being put in position on the old campus.

President Hopkins was in Boston Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday on business connected with the new dormitory.

Mr. Edward Baxter Perry of Boston will give a pianoforte lecture recital at the Opera House at 8 o'clock, Saturday evening.

Ground has been broken for the new baseball cage. It will be situated on the old campus to the south of the baseball diamond.

The college catalogue is in the hands of the printer. First proofs of the pages containing the class rolls will be posted in Hopkins Hall for correction very soon.

At a meeting of the Wesleyan debating team Tuesday night, it was decided that Nomer '06 should open the debate and Case '07 deliver the closing speech.

Prof. Spring is writing a "History of Williams College" as an article in "The History of Berkshire County," soon to be published at Pittsfield.

The following alumni have been in town this week: Post '58, Fitch '92, Waterman '98, Gibbs '00, Baldwin '00, Slade '02, Cox '03, L. Brown '03.

Prof. Russell will be the principal speaker on Nov. 11, at the 39th annual joint convention of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Mass. and R. I. at Westfield.

Up to Oct. 14 the men of 1908 head the list of those who have taken no cuts in any subject, with 25. The sophomores boast 7, the juniors but 4, and the seniors 6, making 42 abstainers in all.

Cross-country runs will be held four times a week until the middle of November. At that time a class cross-country run will be held from South Williamstown to the gym., as last year, with prizes for the first three places.

Owing to Amherst's decision last spring not to support a basketball team, Williams' basketball schedule will not include the Purple and White this winter. The schedule will be completed in about two weeks.

Westermann '08 has presented the Clark Hall museum with an Egyptian tear-jug, found in a tomb near Cairo, a shot fired at the siege of East Haven, Conn., during the Revolution, dug up there recently, and an iron flat-iron-stand, brought to Pennsylvania between 1680 and 1690.

On Nov. 10 he will address the High school division of the Franklin County Teachers' association at Shelburne Falls on the same subject, and will speak before the entire association on "Sincerity in Teaching."

Prof. T. C. Smith will spend Saturday in Cambridge in consultation with Albert Bushnell Hart, LL. D., editor of the 28-volume history now appearing, entitled "The American Nation. A History." Prof. Smith's book, which is now completed, is vol. 18 of the series and is entitled "Parties and Slavery." Ten volumes of the history have been published and the others will follow as soon as ready.

PURPLE OUTCLASSED

Dartmouth's Fast Team Wins 24 to 0—Rally in Second Half

The Green scored their most decisive victory over the Purple in years at Hanover Saturday, making 24 points, while Williams was unable to score. Dartmouth was heavy and fast, and in these two words lies the whole explanation of their victory. Their line played brilliantly, with Gage and Bankart the stars. Capt. Bixby was the only Williams line-man who held his own, while at the other end of the rush-line Williams' weakness was so apparent that Dartmouth directed play after play with success at that one spot. The Williams ends played a fair game.

Back of the line again, Dartmouth's superiority was apparent. The giant Rich and Herr made gains every time they took the ball, especially on an effective formation with Gage called back of the line. Williams' secondary defense was uniformly good, but the Dartmouth backs kept their formation so well after coming through the line that it was impossible to prevent four and five-yard gains. The aggressive work of the Dartmouth linemen spoiled Williams' attempts at consistent ground-gaining. Late in the second half, however, Williams braced gamely and had steadily advanced the ball well down the field when time wss called. Of the Williams team Waters played much the best football.

The game was called at 3:18. Bixby kicked off to Ralph Glaze, who ran the ball in to the center of the field. By tackle bucks, Rich and Herr generally carrying the ball, Dartmouth went straight down the field for a touchdown, checked only by a penalty for offside on the 3-yard line. Rich scored the touchdown, but R. Glaze missed an easy goal after a punt-out. Dartmouth kicked off to Waters, who was nailed by Glaze, the big end receiving an injury which later caused his retirement. Waters gained 5 yards on the first play, but was forced to punt. The pass was poor, Rich and Bankart broke through and carried him over for a safety. Dartmouth scored two more touchdowns in this half, Herr making the last on a 27-yard run, shaking off three tacklers. When time was called the ball was in Dartmouth's possession on Williams' 4-yard line.

Gage kicked off to Williams in the second half, but the Purple was forced to punt, after a good

HEADS OF COLLEGES

Fourteen Presidents to be in Williamstown—List of Delegates

On Thursday, Nov. 2, and Friday, Nov. 3, the forty-ninth annual meeting of the association of colleges in New England will be held in Williamstown. In addition to President Hopkins and Prof. Hewitt, the official representatives of Williams, each college, except Yale, will be represented by its president and one other member of its faculty. Twenty-seven delegates from fourteen colleges will be in attendance. The members of the Williams faculty will be present at the conference, but will not take part in the discussion except by special request.

The visiting representatives of the colleges, with the places at which they will be entertained, are as follows:—

Harvard—President Charles W. Eliot, President Hopkins': John G. Hart, secretary of the faculty of arts and sciences, Prof. Clarke's.

Yale—President Arthur T. Hadley. Prof. Hewitt's. (The name of Yale's second delegate has not yet been received).

Brown—President William H. P. Faunce, Prof. Clarke's; J. Irving Manatt, professor of Greek literature and history, Rev. J. H. Denison's.

Dartmouth—President William J. Tucker, Rev. J. H. Denison's; Gabriel Campbell, professor of intellectual and moral philosophy, Prof. Russell's.

University of Vermont—President Matthew H. Buckham, Prof. Hewitt's; Harry H. Cloudman, instructor in hygiene and physical director, Prof. Wild's.

Bowdoin—President William DeWitt Hyde, President Hopkins'; Roswell C. McCrea, professor of economics, Prof. Mears'.

Middlebury—President Ezra Brainerd, Mr. Sabin's; Edwin A. Burt, professor of natural history, Prof. McElfresh's.

Amherst — President George Harris, Prof. Spring's; George B. Churchill, associate professor of English literature, Prof. Maxcy's.

Trinity—President Flavel S. Luther, Mr. Sabin's; Gustavus A. Kleene, professor of economics, Prof. Morton's.

Wesleyan—President Bradford P. Raymond, Miss Hopkins'; Walter P. Bradley, professor of chemistry, Prof. Mears'.

Tufts—Acting President Frederick W. Hamilton, Dr. Bascom's; William R. Shipman, professor of rhetoric and logic, Prof. Howard's.

Boston university—President William E. Huntington, Prof. Wahl's; Dallas L. Sharp, assistant professor of English, Mrs. A. L. Perry's.

Clark university—President G. Stanley Hall, Prof. Nelson's; Carroll D. Wright, president of Clark college, Prof. Morton's.

BASEBALL CAPTAIN

Frank R. Neild 1906 Chosen to Lead Team

At a meeting Friday afternoon of the men who made their "W" in baseball last year, Frank Rollinson Neild 1906, of Holyoke, was elected baseball captain to succeed

FRANK ROLLINSON NEILD

J. O. Westervelt 1906, who has left college to enter business. Neild prepared at Williston, where he played four years, and captained the team in his junior and senior years. He has played on the 'varsity for three years, covering second base in his freshman year and since then third base.

Neild is also basketball captain for next yesr, having played center on the 1902, 1903 and 1904 teams.

Our Religious Education

At Sunday vespers President Hopkins proposed the election of four men by each of the upper classes to serve as college deacons, a plan in successful operation at Yale. These eight men are to confer with the president and faculty to devise ways and means for enlarging and bettering the religious culture of the college. Thus it is hoped that the religious side of our education, which at present occupies a minor place, can be brought to assume the position it should hold in the life of the college.

Freshman Clark Scholarship

The best examination taken for admission in September 1905 was passed by Harry Linn Fisher, 1909. He thus becomes eligible for the freshman Clark prize scholarship, by the terms of the catalogue to be awarded to the member of the freshman class "regularly and faithfully participating in and duly completing the exercises and duties of that year, who upon admission to the college shall have passed a better examination than any other such members of the class."

CALENDAR

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 25

2:30 p. m.—Williams-Worcester Tech football game, Weston Field.

AT SOUTH HADLEY

Third Annual Missionary Conference—Addresses by Noted Men

175 delegates from fourteen colleges, besides 300 students of Mount Holyoke, attended the third annual Connecticut valley student missionary conference at South Hadley Friday and Saturday. Those present from Williams were Secretary Pettit, Gates, Leland, Lowe '06, Davis, Hart, McCleary '07, Nelson, Schofield '08, Palmer '09. Other Williams men who registered were Duley '97, Huntington '00 and Bacon '04.

The annual fall meeting of the student volunteer union of western Massachusetts, was held Friday afternoon in the Mount Holyoke chapel. Addresses were given by Miss Helen B. Calder, formerly general secretary of the Mount Holyoke Y. W. C. A., Rev. Harlan P. Beach, snd Rev. A. S. Lloyd.

The conference proper began at 7:30 Friday evening in the college chapel, being addressed by Rev. A. S. Lloyd. The Saturday morning meeting was opened by President Woolley of Mount Holyoke, followed by an address by Rev. S. M. Zwemer of Arabia, appealing for workers in that country. Addresses by members of the different colleges followed, Pettit speaking for Williams on "Why do not more students join mission study classes and where does the fault lie?"

The closing session of the conference was addressed by Rev. J. B. Rodgers on "The Philippines", Rev. Harlan P. Beach on "China," and Rev. H. St. George Tucker on "Japan," all the speakers being workers in the fields which they described to the conference. The conference adjourned at 4:00 p. m.

Williams' representative on the executive committee for 1906 will be elected soon. A meeting of the new executive committee will be held in May, which will then decide the meeting place of the conference next fall.

Worcester Tech Game

Williams will meet the Worcester Polytechnic institute in football on Weston Field Wednesday afternoon. Worcester Tech has a strong team this year, with one player in the first rank, quarterback Peters. On Saturday Holy Cross was able to score but 12 points against them, while Tech scored 6 points and outplayed Holy Cross in the second half. The Worcester team's line-up will be as follows:—Harrington r. e., Crowther r. t., Cottrell r. g., Beamen c., Quimby l. g., Manning l. t., Labrit l. e., Peters q. b., Lawley r. h. b., Hedberg l. h. b., Merrill f. b.

VOL. 19 OCTOBER 23, 1905. No. 33

The Dartmouth Game

The Purple went down in defeat at Hanover Saturday 24 to 0. Outclassed and outplayed by the Green, Williams put up a very indifferent exhibition of football. After such an occurrence it must be confessed that the outlook is dark. Nevertheless, several things must be taken into consideration. The quality of ball played by Dartmouth Saturday left no question about the strength of that team—the Hanover eleven has been greatly underrated from the beginning. The steady pounding of the Dartmouth backs against a weakened line accounted for the result. Two of Williams' players in the line were in no condition for the game, and furthermore, it is not unlikely that the whole team was overtrained.

It is easy to find fault when fortune smiles on the other team. But why does it come so hard at Williams to stretch out a hand and help? The season is only half over and the Colgate game is still two weeks off. Let this be the last call for candidates, and let the coaches have the best that can be had. After that, let the college attend the game in a body.

Changes are likely to be made in the team this week, and it can safely be said they will be for the better. If the eleven can feel that the college still has confidence in its ability, we believe Williams will score a victory on the team that defeated the Green.

The College Publications

The Williams Record and The Williams Literary Monthly are publications issued and managed by undergraduates, who hold their positions by competition, under a system not unlike that used in choosing a college athletic team. In one way only do they differ from the athletic association—the surplus, if any is made, reverts to an individual. If, however, we should take away the remuneration, two most undesirable results would follow. In the first place, the publications would suffer in management. In the second place, two positions of student employment would be lost. If this contention is satisfactorily answered, The Record and the Lit., as student enterprises, are on the same basis as other college organizations. They deserve from the student body an equal amount of support.

The business firms whose names appear in their columns have thus evidenced their interest in the college by supporting college journalism. They are at the same time entitled to a return of the money invested, which can come only through the undergraduates. Other things being equal, it seems only just that the students of the college should patronize them to the exclusion of others. For the convenience of subscribers, we shall publish in an early issue a complete list of Record advertisers.

The second method of student co-operation with the college publications is evidently by subscription. A large subscription list is as essential to a paper's existence as its advertisements. In their efforts to produce a paper representative of the college, the expenditures for The Record have this year been greatly increased. To every undergraduate not on the Record subscription list we present these facts, (1) the contract price for each issue from March 1905 to March 1906 is considerably larger than the previous year (2) the expenditure for half-tone illustrations has been doubled (3) Vol. XIX of The Record will contain, excluding the five daily numbers during Commencement week, five more issues than Vol. XVIII.

Passing by the question of college loyalty to a student organization, we ask this question: What chance is there of improving this paper by increasing the reading space, if the student subscription list continues to decrease and the undergraduates fail to show a spirit of reciprocity towards its advertisers?

Another Prejudiced Action

The recently published basket-ball guide, containing the official rules as accepted by the amateur athletic union, disposes of the college teams in an article entitled "Intercollegiate Basketball." written by Harry A. Fisher, forward on Columbia'a team last year. The article awards "the undisputed title of 'Intercollegiate Champions of the United States'" to the Columbia team, and mentions no eastern team outside of the five others in the intercollegiate league.

The A. A. U. has long played a dictatorial part in college basketball, but has been tolerated by the colleges until last year. Its attempt last winter to remove Yale from amateur standing, and with Yale all teams it played afterward, including, among others, Williams, Syracuse, Brown, Colgate and all the teams of the intercollegiate league, was the last straw. The incapacity then exhibited by the A. A. U. was rightly followed by an intercollegiate withdrawal from its control.

This same incapacity, reappearing in an association which could permit a championship in any sport to be awarded editorially by a member of one of the teams competing for that championship, and that, too, in an article which did not mention the strongest competitors for that championship, again justifies the colleges in their action. Rule from within always betters rule from without. Williams does well to rid itself of the A. A. U., for the intercollegiate association.

BASKETBALL GUIDE

Columbia "Undisputed" Champions—Colleges Make New Rules

The official basketball guide for 1905-6, containing the rules as adopted by the A. A. U. and Y. M. C. A. organizations has appeared. The changes in the A. A. U. rules are insignificant, the most important differences being a greater definiteness of statement throughout, a new rule on dribbling, and the removal of the line from which fouls are to be thrown from 15 ft. to 20 ft. from the basket.

In an editorial article by Fisher, right forward on Columbia last season, the "undisputed" title of "Intercollegiate champions of the United States" is given that team, on the ground that Minnesota, the western champion five, was beaten by them by a score of 27 to 15. The score of the Williams-Minnesota game was 32-11 in favor of the Purple. Colleges outside of the intercollegiate league are not mentioned, nor are the scores of Amherst, Dartmouth, Wesleyan, or Williams given.

Williams will not play under A. A. U. rules this year but will join all the colleges in the intercollegiate association. The book and rules of this association will appear later. This change has long been contemplated, and, by the Yale fiasco of last year, when the A. A. U. declared that the Yale team, for playing a practice game with a semi-professional team, had made themselves professionals and could play no games with amateurs, was practically forced on the colleges.
